EASTERN RAILROAD.

The Eastern Railroad has received more causeless abuse, we believe, than any other corporation in the country. Not that it has always been managed with perfect wisdom. We dare say its direction has sometimes yielded when it should have been firm; or been obstinate when it should have yielded. But it has been, on the whole, exceedingly well managed, and with great attention to the comfort and safety of its passengers. The following story, which we copy from the Boston Traveller, illustrates, in some degree, all the points to which we have alluded above:

A STUBBORN RAILROAD SUPERINTENDENT.—The public think that the Superintendent of a railroad should be an obliging and conciliatory man. He should endeavor to please, not only the President and Directors of the road, but he should in all cases strive to please the patrons of the road. It is a self evident fact that stock in a railroad which has no patronage is indeed poor property.

In speaking of the Superintendent of the Eastern Railroad, we shall "nothing extenuate or set down aught in malice."

Every reasonable person will acknowledge that the storm which commenced on Thursday, Dec. 29, was a hard one for travellers, and the deep "cuts" through which the Eastern Railroad passes between this city and Newburyport, are good receptacles for drifting snow.

It appears that the road was opened and the track cleared, between this city and Salem, on Saturday; several hundred men with snow shovels having been employed, and every passenger who purchased a ticket here was told that he could not get farther than Salem, unless the up-train had got through. When the cars arrived in Salem, the passengers were informed that the up-train had not arrived and probably would not before morning. Most of them made themselves as miserable as they could, and anxiously waited for the morning to dawn; but when that came it brought with it no up-train.

Our readers will bear in mind that there is only a single track on the Eastern road below Salem.

It appears in the sequel that the Superintendent had telegraphed to the Conductor in Newburyport, thus:

"Take four engines, and two hundred men with snow shovels. If you cannot bring the passenger cars, leave them. Start at once."

The answer was, "I have started without the cars."

The hours of the Sabbath moved slowly along with the anxious crowd. Old men, who never missed attendance at church unless confined to their beds by sickness; young maidens, who knew their mammas and beaux would be almost worried to death; and men who had fond and anxious wives looking for them—all, all combined, and declared that it was "too bad."

During the day the Superintendent was walking back and forth through the depot, consoling the timid and nervous by answering their questions, by words of encouragement; and assuring the crusty old bachelors that the whole train, engine and all were probably buried up under twenty feet of snow.—Three large engines, which had been kept fired up, were ready, and good fires kept up in the cars and depot rooms. It was past ten o'clock in the evening, and the Superintendent, weary with watching and chilled with cold, said to his people, "I will go to my house and try to sleep an hour or two; but look out for the upward train, and call me instantly."

He had just lain himself down when he heard voices without and people at his door. He rushed down, supposing that some accident had happened, and there found twelve or fifteen of the passengers, who informed him that an indignation meeting had been held by the passengers, and that they had been appointed a committee to wait upon him and insist that he should put the engines on and take the passengers through. He told them to repair to the rooms in the depot and he would be with them anon.

He was with them instanter; and what did he say? Simply this: "I regret that you are detained here; I can regulate the engines and cars, but I can not regulate the storm; and I tell you, gentlemen, that no engine or car shall leave this depot for the Eastward tonight, nor to-morrow; no, not for one month, unless I get good and sufficient information from that quarter!"

Then did these gentlemen commence to shower abuse upon the devoted head of the Superintendent, with language too profane to be used, with epithets too vulgar to be repeated. Preferring to withstand the cold outside rather than to face the storm within, he left the room. At that moment his quick, experienced ear caught the sound of the steam whistle. He knew that the engines had passed through the deepest "cut." Shortly after, those four powerful engines, harnessed together, came rushing through the Salem tunnel at race horse speed, and entered the depot. The Superintendent then waited upon the "Committee," and informed them that the "three fresh steam horses" would be harnessed immediately, and convey them to their several places of destination in safety, which would (he thought) be quite as agreeable to them as it would have been to have started on such a night, and taken a journey to the spirit land, which they inevitably would have done had he acceded to their wishes.

NEWSPAPER COMPOSITION.

This is a distinct and difficult art. Its principles must be somewhat carefully studied by those who would succeed in it. The disregard of these principles is the cause of the prosiness which characterizes so much of our newspaper literature. The newspaper is not a thing to be studied; scarcely one to be read. It is to be glanced over. The articles, then, must be so written as to attract and hold attention. Processes of thought and reasoning are to be shut out; results only are to appear. Argument is to be suggested, rather than stated. Usually one point is enough for an article. Some single nail should be struck fair upon the head, and then left at once.—Introductions are a nuisance. Inferences are always skipped. The sentences should be short. Every word should leap with life.—Condensation should be extreme. Subordinate thoughts should be thrown away. The object is not to treat a subject in full, but to produce a certain effect. All that is not necessary to the effect should be discarded. He who has nerve to do this with a soul that fires with great thought, and the manliness to utter it freely, may wield a power with the pen which no sceptre can rival.

The tendencies in professional life are to deterioration of style. The constant didacticism of the pulpit often degenerates into diffuseness. The reiteration of points at the bar, and the precision of legal style tend to produce dryness and repetition. In no way can the professional man more effectively make his words instinct with life and power, than by weekly practice in the columns of a newspaper.—Examiner.

CARGOES, RECLAMATION, &c.—The late arrival of a number of clippers at this port from the Atlantic states, has called forth attention to the condition of their respective cargoes. Now, although in the present depressed state of trade, the arrival of any and all vessels from the east is not desirable, still the fact of the condition in which they discharge their cargoes is worthy of note. Notwithstanding the whole fleet experienced severe and stormy weather off Cape Horn, (which was against them,) it is stated that the Comet, Raven, Witch of the Wave, North Wind, Hurricane, Mandarin, and Trade Wind, have all turned out their cargoes, as far as discharged, in excellent condition.

This augurs well for the character of the vessels, and is alike creditable to masters as well as builders. The ship Sabine, which arrived some time back with a full freight of miscellaneous goods, discharged her entire cargo in the best possible condition, the whole amount of reclamation not counting up to the sum of One Hundred Dollars. These things are worthy of more than a passing notice, as it will be recollected that a short time since, much complaint was made of the damaged condition in which cargoes arrived from Atlantic ports. Scarcely a vessel arrived which was not loudly complained against on account of damage done the cargo from various causes, the most conspicuous of which was sweating. The late arrivals are free to a certain extent of all complaint, and whether sweating has been avoided from proper stowage or careful ventilation does not appear; certain it is, however, that complaints are not made against the vessels named.—San Francisco paper.

A letter from Anspach states that the mysterious affair of Casper Hauser, which created such an excitement some years ago, is again coming before the public, an innkeeper having declared that he wished to make some revelations concerning the murder of that unfortunate individual, whose adventures and fate excited so universal an interest.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.
"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade,
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621wly

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JAN. 13, 1854.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

The Portland Argus informs us that on Tuesday the Senate occupied the session in debating the order from the House, which had been under discussion several days. At the close of the session the order was laid on the table.

On the same day, in the House, it was Ordered, that a message be sent to the Senators elect, that the House of Representatives does not concur with the Senators elect in their proposition to meet in Convention for the purpose of supplying a part only of the vacancies existing in the Senate—to wit, in the 2d and 5th Senatorial Districts.

Mr. Abbott, of Norridgewock, was charged with the delivery of the message.

To any person who does not understand how the parties are situated, these notices may be all Greek. A few words of explanation may make them more intelligible. There are 13 Senators only, chosen by the people, leaving eighteen vacancies, or thereabouts.—Of the 13 Senators present, 7 are democrats, and 6 whigs; but these are not a quorum, and the Senate cannot organize. This democratic 7, wish to meet in convention with the House, to fill the vacancies in two districts only, which must be filled with men of their own party; by which means the Senate will have at once a quorum and they a majority. They would then, of course, choose a President and Clerk from their own party; and the four Senators might vote on the remainder.

To this the House says No:—but we will convene to fill all the Senatorial vacancies. If this were done, the majority would pass over to the coalition of free democrats, temperance democrats and whigs, and the offices would pass over also.

The Argus says:

"We desire the people to mark distinctly upon whom the responsibility of the present delay rests. Every day's session of the Legislature costs $500. The Senate are ready to organize—the House refuses."

But the special telegraphic despatch to the Argus, in another column of the same paper, says, under date of Augusta, Jan. 11:

"A message was received from the Senate, proposing to fill the vacancies in two of the five Senatorial Districts. The House nonconcurred. Yeas 86, nays 62. The House proposed to the Senate to fill all the vacancies in the Senatorial Districts. Laid on the table in the Senate.

The Argus says the coalitionists "intimate that they will hold a bogus convention, consisting of the coalition majority of the House and such of the minority in the Senate as will join them, and thus fill the vacancies in the higher branch!"—but the editor don't think they have the needful courage. We should not deem it courage at all, but folly, and should think the coalition had taken counsel of Mr. Verigreen, if they did any such thing.

The Argus evidently does not expect this, but looks rather, as we do, for a masterly inactivity in the House. It says:

"We do not expect that any remonstrance we can make, will change the purpose of the coalitionists of the House. They want the offices, and to this great want the general welfare must be subordinate. If they cannot have them, no others shall. They will fill the Senate—or there shall be no Senate; Mr. Morrill shall be Governor, or there shall be no Governor; Mr. Fessenden must be U. S. Senator, or Maine shall be but partially represented in that high body. And the men who thus autocratically determine the destiny of Maine, were elected by a minority of the people. Many of them are mere waifs upon the sea of politics, brought up to the surface by the liquor excitement."

If these things are true;—if temperance men are in the House, who were never before afloat on the stormy sea of politics, we think they will hold on, and wait till Spring;—because if there is no Senate, their favorite law cannot be disturbed, and by its continued execution will grow stronger every day.

The state of things at Augusta must be quite interesting. It is a pity Jack Downing is not there to report the doings.

CARPETS AT LOW PRICES.—Our friends of the New England Carpet Company, whose warehouse is located at 75 Hanover Street, Boston, are now "selling off" their immense stock of Carpetings at reduced prices, in consequence of making extensive alterations in their warehouse. Persons wishing to furnish their houses, now have a rare opportunity to do so at low prices.—Boston Daily Bee.

The estimated sale of beef cattle, stores, sheep and swine at the Brighton market during the past year amounted to the enormous amount of $5,051,362—exceeding by more than one million and one hundred thousand dollars the sales of the previous year.—Boston Chronicle.

A great part of this advance, we believe, is not in the additional amount of provisions sold, but in the outrageously high and increased prices—the blessing (over the left) of the poor man with a large family.

A few days ago, as one of the clerks employed in a wholesale toy establishment of Baltimore, was nailing up a package of eight thousand torpedoes, the concussion produced by the hammer caused them to explode with a loud noise. The clerk escaped, fortunately, with but slight injury.

APPLE TREES.

Capt. Solomon Marsh, of Litchfield, Conn. has on his premises an apple tree, which measures fourteen feet around the trunk—and yielded the past season 20 bushels of good fruit. Previous to 1835, it yielded about one hundred bushels per year! The tree was brought from Hartford by the first settlers of Litchfield, and has borne delicious fruit one hundred and thirty years.

The note of admiration in this little paragraph, may mean, either that the statement before it is remarkable, or that it is incredible. It is remarkable, but not incredible. The old custom of planting a single row of trees on the border of a field near the highway, or all round the sides of one or more fields, was more favorable to the raising of a large tree, able to bear a large crop of apples, than planting trees in an orchard,—though there are some well known advantages in the latter course.

There were, forty years ago, on Gravelly Ridge, in Portsmouth, and the adjacent town of Newington, some hundreds of old and large apple trees, of which a few yet remain, bearing a little fruit at the age of 150 years.

One of such large trees, then 100 years old or thereabouts, stood until within 40 years, a few rods north of the spot now occupied by the Woodbury school, on land now owned by Nath'l D. Miller. From this tree we helped to pick in one afternoon, five horse cart loads of apples, amounting to 90 bushels. This was more than the common crop from the tree; but it was an annual bearer, and 50 bushels was not uncommon. We have no doubt that large trees in good ground on other farms at that time, were equal or superior to it, in quantity of fruit.

The modern way of training trees, to grow quick, bear early, and have the fruit within a moderate distance from the ground, we regard as decidedly better than the old. But there is not room on our small trees for so many apples to grow, nor wood enough to bear them if they did grow, to the number borne with ease by the old giants which sprung up from the virgin soil, and increased in size and fruit, long after the hands that planted them had rested from their labors & lain down in grassy beds beneath their shade.

For the Chronicle.

A PICTURE.

I crossed the meadow through the door, when shades began to fall,
When birds unto their mates began a merry evening call,
When from a crimson bed of clouds the setting sun was peering,
For well I knew the blessed time when Lizzie left
her spinning!

Her wheel was in the cottage door, the dog in front was lying,
Her grandame in the window sat, her worsted needles plying;
And underneath the moss-grown eaves were babbling swallows flitting,
Perhaps they gossipped wondering, why Lizzie left her spinning.

Her Sunday dresses for a year I could have told each one,
But ah! this eve I do not know what gown my love had on,
So seeming shy to own her worth, so sweetly gay and winning,
I only saw the cheek I kissed, when Lizzie left
her spinning.

Last eve we pledged our vows of love, beneath the apple blossom,
And sweeter than the apple buds I clasped her to my bosom;
And for her grandame's blessing now, my vows,
my wishes bringing,
I crossed the meadow through the door when Lizzie left her spinning.

One hand was on the turning wheel, and one the thread was trying,
While o'er the fields with startled looks her tender eyes were prying;
For I am sure some tell tale wind my step to her was singing,
Or love himself had caught her ear when Lizzie
left her spinning.

I saw her grandame drop her work, I heard her thin voice chiding,
Now prating of her stent undone, now mourning
o'er her idling;
But soon I caught her withered hand, nor ceased till spent with winning;
Next night she sat her cap aright, when Lizzie left her spinning.

J.

WORTH OF THE BIBLE.—"As the Bible circulates, down go the images, and away the superstitions;" so says the Lord Mayor of London. "The Bible," says Lord Shaftsbury, has created a great advance of intellectual power; It is the chief defence of nations.—Certainly then, it is their glory! Within a few hundred years a citizen of London was compel ed to ride with his face toward the tail of his horse, and with sheets of the Bible pinned on him for his disgrace among his fellow citizens, because he had assisted in the translation and publication of the Scriptures! Mark the contrast; now the Bible Society meets under the roof of the chief magistrate of the city, that magistrate himself presiding over a jubilee meeting of the institution established to translate and circulate those very Scriptures.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Daniel Colman, jr., a lad about 18 years of age, son of Daniel Colman, Esq., who was out at Byfield, gunning, on Wednesday, was wounded in the bowels by the accidental discharge of his gun about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He was taken to the house of Mr. Herman D. Rogers, and surgeons procured as soon as possible, but we learn that it was expected the wound would prove fatal.—Newburyport Herald.

LOCAL.

NO GAS.—The crier was about yesterday afternoon, giving the very interesting information that there would be no gas in the evening. At the works, we learned that from some cause the pipe which leads to the Gasometer from the manufactory had sprung a leak, so that the chances are that the water will have to be all drawn off, and what gas there may be in the gasometer wasted, before the leak can be stopped. The agent is in hopes to supply customers to-night, though it is quite uncertain.

Last evening was rainy and foggy; the old oil lamps were fished up out of their hiding places, trimmed, and made almost as good as now: and tallow candles went more briskly than of late.

We should hardly know the worth of a good light, if it always shone steadily.

ODD FELLOWS' LECTURE.—The audience to hear Mr. Moore's Address on Odd Fellowship, Wednesday evening, numbered at least thirteen hundred—about as many as could be packed into the Temple. The order of exercises observed was,—an opening Ode, by the choir, finely set to music by Mr. T. P. Moses, for the occasion; prayer by Rev. Br. Willis; singing by the choir; Address by Rev. Br. Moore, who was introduced by A. Q. Wendell, a Past Grand of Piscataqua Lodge; with concluding Hymn by choir; and Benediction by Rev. Br. Moore. The clear and musical reading of the hymns by T. G. Senter, Chaplain of Piscataqua Lodge, was in itself a treat; and the efforts of the ladies and gentlemen who gave the audience such good and acceptable instrumental and vocal music, were duly appreciated by the Order and the crowd of eager listeners. We give on our outside this morning, the Order of Exercises on the occasion.

MUSIC.—It has become fashionable in this vicinity, especially during the present winter, to enliven and improve every public occasion with music. There has hardly been a lecture or public meeting of any sort, this season, without something in this line to interest the audience. The Lyceums are sad exceptions—and it is to be hoped another season will see them supplied with music of some sort. We see mention made in papers elsewhere, of brass bands entertaining the auditors before and after lectures—adding much to the pleasure of the meeting; and certainly the managers of Lyceums here might provide a Grand Piano or something of the sort. The music at a lecture is often as attractive a feature as any—and in case of a poor lecture, it is well to have something else to fall back upon.—We are for music any where and every where.

☞ We learn that at the Annual Parish Meeting of the Middle Street Baptist Society in this city, on Monday evening last, it was decided to increase the salary of their Pastor from $800 to $1000. This is a well-deserved tribute of appreciation and regard on the part of the Society, and must be the more grateful and pleasing to a faithful and devoted minister, being unasked and unexpected. Mr. Lamson has been settled over this Society five or six years, and has refused repeated calls to locate elsewhere, with offers of much larger salaries than he is now to receive. He is among the most talented clergymen here or elsewhere, and we hope may long continue to enjoy the fruits of his labors.

TEMPERANCE WATCHMEN.

By announcement in our advertising columns, it will be seen that the Club of Temperance Watchmen in this city, have changed their place of meeting to Washington Hall—the commodious room in Market street recently fitted up and beautified by the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association. This is an inviting room, and in every way suited to the wants of such a body.

Since the able exposition of the intentions and merits of the Order, by Rev. Br. Peck, in this city, a few weeks since, there have been numerous applications for admittance to the Club—and it is to be hoped the institution will now receive the consideration, countenance and support it merits from every friend of "Temperance, Humanity and Progress," in this community. It is the only organization which is at present doing, or is able to do, anything for the promotion of Temperance; and there is no reason why every earnest well-wisher to the cause should not join in the movement.

Between Br. Peck of the Watchmen, and Br. Moore of the Odd Fellows, it seems to us that the trivial objection to or cavil at either Society, or any Society, because there is some little, and in itself considered unimportant, secret ceremony in conducting their business—must have been entirely done away from any candid mind who heard either of their lectures. It is neither expected nor desirable that the opponents of Temperance be pleased with the proceedings of its promoters; but it is due the cause that every true temperance man should put himself in the way of doing it the greatest possible good, by becoming

A WATCHMAN.

MUNICIPAL.—In the Board of Aldermen, last evening, the ordinance respecting the clearing sidewalks of snow was referred to a special committee.

The committee on the Fire Department reported that the new Engines would arrive on Tuesday next.

Mr. Alfred M. Hoyt, so long Preceptor in the Haven (South) School in this city, entered the private school at the Academy, with Mr. Israel Kimball, at the commencement of the new year. Mr. Hoyt is succeeded in District No. 3, by Mr. Christopher Littlefield, late of Wells, Me., who commenced his duties here on Monday last.

CONGRESS.

IN SENATE, Jan. 11.

The Bulwer and Clayton Treaty resolution was taken up, and Mr. Cass made an able speech in his own defence.

An executive session ensued, at which the nomination of Mr. Redfield as Collector of the port of New York was received, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

The Senate then adjourned.

HOUSE.—The Ingraham resolution was taken up, when Mr. Phillips moved an amendment, which vindicated the right of Koszta to protection as an American citizen.

Mr. Perkins offered a resolution calling for all correspondence with foreign governments relative to similar cases.

The Ingraham resolution was debated at length by Messrs. Perkins, Disney, Preston and Phillips, when Mr. Clingman moved the previous question. Ayes 82, noes 58.

Mr. Dean, who reported the resolution from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, closed the debate in the following words:

"We have taken our position as to European colonization on this continent and its adjacent islands. We are now called to step forward, and assume distinctly our position as to the rights of those who are entitled to the protection of our government, whether they be naturalized citizens or not, and that position is, that the deck of an American ship is in all places sacred, and the spot on our own soil or on foreign soil on which a person invested with American nationality stands, is as inviolable as the sanctuary of the Gods."

The House refused to refer to the Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union. Ayes 30, noes 153.

The amendment of Mr. Phillips was voted down without a discussion. The resolution was then adopted in the form as originally reported. Ayes 174, noes 9.

This disposes of the Ingraham question most effectually, as far as the House is concerned; but it dodges all questions of the Why and Wherefore, as to Koszta. Somebody doubted whether Koszta were not a black man, as the Smiths were debating;—and this doubt, or something similar, seems to have taken all the color out of the resolution.

SHIP CANAL AROUND THE FALLS OF NIAGARA.—Early in the session of the present Congress, Mr. Seward of New York introduced a bill into the Senate to grant a portion of the public lands to aid in the important work of constructing a ship canal around the Falls of the Niagara, on the American side of the waters. A similar grant was made by the last Congress to aid in the construction of Sault Ste Marie canal, which is to connect the navigation of Lake Superior with that of the chain of Western lakes, and as the terms of the proposed grant are liberal to settlers, there can be no propriety in refusing it.

This is a most important commercial movement for the country. The Boston Courier says:

Mr. Hotchkiss, the agent of the Ship Canal Company, is now in this city, having in his charge a memorial, to which signatures of our business men are asked for, in assistance of this grand project. He has passed down the whole line of railroad from Ogdensburg to Boston, and has been favored with the undivided acquiescence of the leading men of Vermont and New Hampshire in aid of the project, without any distinction of party or locality. The memorial is headed in Boston by Abbott Lawrence, Nathan Appleton, Robert C. Winthrop and Rufus Choate. It will be presented immediately to the merchants and leading men of our city, and it is to be hoped that they will fill it up in a respectable manner. The feeling of our part of the country is in favor of the enterprise.

CRUELTY ON SHIPBOARD.

In Boston, on Wednesday, Captain Levi Hotchkiss, master of the ship 'Harvard,' was examined before United States Commissioner Merwin, on a charge of assaulting Stephen Whately, one of the crew, in an unjustifiable manner, on the 15th of October. He struck him several blows with a belaying pin for some alleged offence. The captain was held for trial in the sum of $1000. He is to be examined on a charge of brutal treatment towards another of his crew, named William H. Pritchard, who died on Saturday, on board the 'Harvard,' in the harbor. The coroner who investigated the circumstances attending the death of Pritchard, found that he came to his death at about 11 o'clock, A. M., 7th inst, on board the ship Harvard, in Boston harbor, from disease of long standing, and that death was hastened by brutal treatment received at the hands of the captain, Levi Hotchkiss, and the mate, John Farnum, of said ship Harvard, while on a voyage from Calcutta to this port." The mate has also been arrested.

The case looks badly for the officers.

BOSTON MARKET—PRICES.—From the Courier of Thursday.—Coffee—prices for St. Domingo are hardly so firm, though no material change has transpired; small lots Java at 13 1-2 cents per lb, 6 mos. Flour—Prices for flour continue firm with a good demand we quote Ohio and Michigan common $7 62½ a 7 75; do fancy $7 75 a 7 87 1-2; and do extra $8 a 8 25 per brl; extra Genessee $8 25 a 8 50 per do, cash. Sales Corn Meal at $4 25 a 4 37 1-2 per do. Grain—The market for Corn continues buoyant and stock light; sales of yellow Corn at 84 a 85 cents for new; do white 78 a 80 cents per bushel; steady sales Oats at 55 a 56 cents per bushel, cash. Molasses—Sales of Cuba sweet in small lots to the trade at 24 a 25 cents per gal, and some parcels sour at 23 cents per gal, 6 mos. Provisions—Pork continues quiet at former rates. Sales of Beef to the trade at $14 a 15 50 per brl, 4 mos. Lard and Hams not very active. Butter sells at 18 a 20 cents for good and choice, and 12 a 16 cents for common grades.

Mrs. Payne has died of the injuries received in the railroad accident at Bergen. She was married on the morning of the accident.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.
I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.
There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple hell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.
The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar smell, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.
Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.
Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has prepaid the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

FORBES'S
Universal self-recommending Gutta-Percha Water Repellent.

This Compound being water repellent, and unaffected by water, is equally adapted to wet and dry weather, as the leather to which it is applied, may be washed without destroying the lustre.—And as a small quantity is required, a single jar will last six months or a year. For sale by
d12 MATHES & VARRELL.

This Compound is entirely free from Acid. A single application of it, which is made with very little trouble, is sufficient to impart an immediate permanent polish.

The leather produced by the application of this Compound is not only water proof, but lasts twice as long as that polished in the usual way. It is economical, as it is a permanent immediate polish.

ORDER OF EXERCISES

ON THE OCCASION OF

A LECTURE ON ODD-FELLOWSHIP,

AT THE TEMPLE,

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JAN. 11, '54.

OPENING HYMN—BY CHOIR.

Music Composed for the occasion by T. P. Moore.

Stars that o'er sorrows of earth mildly gleam—
Full on our hearts your soft radiance beam,
Rise in your beauty—illumine our sky—
With your bright presence bid darksadows fly ;
Let your pure lustre rejoice every eye—
Truth, Friendship, Love.

Strengthen the feeble with evil to cope,
Give to Despair the assurance of Hope—
Shine where disease sits enthroned in her gloom ;
Aid where the victim is mark'd for the tomb—
Comfort the mourner—his dark hours illumine;
Truth, Friendship, Love.

Stars, from whose founts purest blessings o'erflow,
Aye round our pathway your genial light throw,
In health or in sickness forever appear,
Glad'ning the joyful and drying the tear—
Glowing the brightest when death hovers near:
Truth, Friendship, Love.

Stars of bright promise ! dispense with your light,
Shine in your splendor, unclouded and bright,
Beacons to guide us through life's devious way,
Beam on our Order your soul-cheering ray—
O, may each Brother acknowledge your sway ;
Truth, Friendship, Love !

PRAYER.

ODE—BY CHOIR.—Tune, "Majesty."

When Friendship, Love and Truth abound
Among a band of Brothers,
The smile of joy goes gaily round,—
Each shows the bliss of others.
Sweet roses grace the thorny way,
Along the vale of sorrow ;
The flowers that shed their leaves to-day,
Shall bloom again to-morrow.
How grand in age, how fair in youth
Are Friendship, Love and Truth,

From these delightful fountains flow
Ambrosial rills of pleasure ;
Can man desire, can Heaven bestow,
A more resplendent treasure !
Adorn'd with gems so richly bright,
We'll form a constellation,
Where every star, with modest light,
Shall gild his proper station.
How grand in age, how fair in youth,
Are Friendship, Love and Truth.

LECTURE—BY REV. BR. H. D. MOORE.

CLOSING HYMN—BY CHOIR.

Tune, "Wardlaw."

ONWARD ! ye noble band ! a prayer
And blessing with ye rest,
Wove from the motto that ye bear,—
The noblest and the best.

Onward ! still in your proud career
Bind up the broken heart—
Be by the couch of him whose soul
Is waiting to depart.

Onward !—through scenes of weal and woe
Thus firmly have ye stood ,
Linked hand in hand, a glorious band,
A noble brotherhood.

Oh, those are holy words ! deem not "Love, Friendship, Truth," are vain ;
Those magic words, the brightest links
In life's unsevered chain.

And when in this our changing world,
Those holy links are riven,
Oh, deem it as a broken chain,
Still to be clasped in heaven.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar,—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE,

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, MASS.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous illnesses arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETIZER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla, or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"[$500 00] On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

MINISTRY AT LARGE AT LOWELL.

Rev. Mr. Wood, the minister at large in Lowell, Mass., has lately made his annual report, parts of which are published in the Lowell papers. We make a few extracts from the Herald:

Beggars are becoming less successful. Mr. Wood related one instance where a widow woman begging at the doors was sent to him. He visited her house, and found in three rooms a good stove and clock, a ragged boy and coughing girl, but no furniture, and only a handful of flour, and no wood to burn. Thinking the house might have been stripped for effect, he proposed visiting the cellar. He was told that it was half full with water.—Nevertheless he persisted, and there found no water, but a load of wood, a barrel of flour, tables, chairs, looking glass, &c., &c. He ascertained that there were three children at work in the mills, and the whole family abundantly able to take care of themselves. Mr. Wood is suspicious of beggars, and none has a better chance to know than he. He says most of them dread a searching eye, and do not want to come to the light.

The report comes out strongly in favor of a public bath and wash house.

Mr. Wood speaks very well of the condition of the poor, last year, stating that probably there has never been in this city a twelve-month when the condition of the needy has been so comfortable and so much ameliorated. He attributes it to a high degree of health, the unusual mildness of last winter, better employment, a reduced population of poor, and the greatly reduced quantity of intoxicating drinks!

"The feelings of my heart change as I pass from this bright picture to another dark and foreboding, which last year was bright with a rejoicing sun, now blotted out for a season, but we will not believe for more than a season, we trust, a short one. In the last report I gave the facts and statistics, which none could gainsay, and which were of the most convincing nature, relative to the immediate effect in Lowell of the Maine Law, aiming at the suppression of intoxicating liquors, except at a legalized Agency store. The effect was a triumphant proof of the wisdom and practicability of such a law. It was carried out. All the great interests of the city were favorably affected. Drunkenness was rare. Crime greatly diminished. Poverty also.

* * * * * * *

Alas! a sudden change. Raw winds blow. Storms are brewing. Dark, foreboding clouds shutting down upon one after another of the homes of the needy! The beautiful colored leaves of hope now fast fall. The trees are already stripped to the blast. Cold, desolate winter is creeping through the casement, no fire burns on the hearth, none in the heart. Life is a wretchedness bordering on despair.

* * * * * * *

Why is this? Because of doubts raised on the meaning and mode of action of the law, because of a strong opposing influence exerted from the head quarters of influence in the State, because of the opposition of interest and appetite, but far more of interest than appetite.

Mr. Wood was evidently much pleased with the operation of the law on morals and comfort, while it did operate—but displeased at the return of the tide, the moment the law was nullified in Lowell.

WHAT IS DONE WITH THE DIGGERS' MONEY.—We take the following extract from an entertaining new book entitled "A Lady's Visit to Australia:"

Having had occasion to make a few purchases in the linen drapery line, I entered a good establishment for that purpose. It was before noon, for the later in the day the shops are so full that to get a trifling order attended to would be almost a miracle. There was only one customer in the shop, who was standing beside the counter, gazing with extreme dissatisfaction upon a quantity of goods of various colors and materials that lay there for his inspection. He was a rough-looking customer enough, and the appearance of his hands gave a strong indication that the pickaxe and spade were among the last tools that he handled.

It is a shiny thing that I want, he was saying as I entered. "These are what we should call shining goods," said the shopman, as he held up the silks, alpacas, etc., to the light. "They're not the shiny sort that I want, pursued the digger, half-doggedly, half angrily. "I'll find another shop; I guess you won't show your best goods to me—you think mayhap I cant pay for them—'but i can though,'" and he laid a note of fifty pounds on the counter, adding, "may be you'll show me some shiny stuff now."

Unable to comprehend the wishes of his customer, the shopman called to his assistance the master of the establishment, who being I suppose, of quicker apprehensions, placed some satins before him. I thought the paper would help you to find it out. I want a gown for my missus. What's the price? "Twenty yards at one-ten—thirty pounds.—That do sir?" "No, not good enough! was the energetic reply. The shrewd shop-keeper quickly fathomed his customer's desires and so displayed before him a rich orange-colored satin, which elicited an exclamation of delight.—"Twenty-five yards—couldn't sell less, it is a remnant—at three pounds the yard." "That's the go!" interrupted the digger, throwing some more notes upon the counter. "My missus was married in a cotton gown, and she'll now have a real gold 'un."

EXTRACTS FROM PUNCH.

A Political Problem Solved.—Why are diplomatic papers called circular notes? They are called circular because they frequently arrive at no definite end.

Aberdeen for China.—An English ambassador is needed for Canton. We beg to propose the earl of Aberdeen. Such a selection would be a great compliment to the Chinese,—the noble earl being very like a tea-chest; namely, varnish without and lead within.

A House Made of Paper.—We read in Household Words an account of a house sent over to Australia, which was made, chimney-pots and all, entirely of paper. This is not the first establishment of the kind that has been so constructed, for looking at Austria, who never has any money, and is always begging for money, may we not say that the house of Hapsburg wouldn't be standing at the present moment, if it wasn't for paper?

Modern Philosophy.—The Gammon of Bacon.

The dangers of infancy.—The two serpents that Hercules strangled in his cradle were a couple of bottles of Daffy's Elixir and Godfrey's Cordial. If he hadn't killed them they would have killed him.

The Oldest Lawyer.—We see announced the "Death of the Oldest Lawyer." How old he was, we cannot say—but we always thought "The Oldest Lawyer" was what is properly called "The Nick of Time."

The Englishman's Castle.—The Englishman's house (says the proverb) is his castle; and so it is, but then it is a castle which is subject to many attacks, (such as the house tax, poor tax, &c. &c.,) and which requires for its defence no end of shot. The expenses of its support are fearful—so much so, that frequently is the castle swallowed up in its keep.

Rev. Dr. D'Aubinge, the distinguished divine and historian, was recently in Dublin, on his way to Belfast, for the purpose of delivering the inaugural address at the opening of the Presbyterian College.

The four great western powers intend demanding—as a remuneration for their protection of Turkey against Russia—the repeal of all laws which interfere with Christian residents in that country.

The Oxford University Commissioners recommended the study of Locke. Thereupon Dr. Pusey pronounced Locke to be "one of the shallowest writers who ever treated of the human mind," and, moreover, "the forerunner of infidelity."

A HORSE IN A WELL.—At Newton Lower Falls, on Thursday, a horse belonging to Williams's express, and employed in hauling some coal, while backing into a yard, found himself suddenly in a well about eight feet deep, that had been concealed by the snow. He presented a very ridiculous appearance with his nose just perceptible above the brink. He manifested a little chagrin at first, but very soon after, when his owner had procured a tackle, his equanimity was restored. The next day he was at work with no apparent inconvenience from his cold bath.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.
"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621wly

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, JAN. 14, 1854.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

The telegraphic despatch to the Portland Argus, dated Augusta, Thursday, Jan. 12, says:

In the House a motion was made to take up the message from the Senate to fill two of the five vacant districts. This was debated, but no question taken. The Senate nonconcurred the message from the House to fill all vacancies. Ayes 7, nays 6. Vinten's order instructing the Committee on Senatorial votes to report all vacancies but the 3d, was lost. Yeas 6, nays 7.

There! the Senate gives the House a Roland for its Oliver—and appears as if it would say, You shall give us the President of the Senate, or else you shall not have a Governor, a Senator, or any thing else. Well, perhaps those stubborn Coalitionists in the House may give way, and fill the vacancies in the 2d and 5th Dist. only, with Democrats. We think it not unlikely they would, if it were not for one thing, viz.: the apprehension that the seven democratic Senators now in office, strengthened by the addition of four more of the same sort, would then utterly refuse to convene with the House, and thus stave off the choice of Governor and Senators for this whole year.

We cannot see why the majority of 11 might not do this, as well as the present majority of 7. The legal rights, in the two cases, seem to us exactly alike; and so do the moral.

BAD NEWS FOR TURPEMEN.—A late number of the Mobile Register contains the following:—

Sallie Waters, the pride of her owners, the boast of her breeders, the dependence of the State, and the victress of every contest save the last, was seized with lock-jaw on Wednesday. She is a sad loss to her owners.

She cost an immense sum in Kentucky last year, and was considered a trump card for the "State game," to be played next March on the "Metaire."

CHEATING THE INSURANCE OFFICES.—In Portland, one Joseph Haskell, grocery and provision dealer, has been arrested for attempting to burn his store, on Wednesday night, in order to obtain the amount of his insurance. His stock was insured for $500, and those who know, say there was $50 worth in the store. Every circumstance seems against him.

SAILOR'S RIGHTS.—A meeting of leading business men of New Orleans was held on the 29th ult. to take measures to protect seamen from the abuses which are practiced upon them. Some startling cases of the practices of the "land pirates" were given, and one speaker, Mr. Harmon, said that "these modern cis-Atlantic Shylocks have dragged the poor sailor to the very death, to induce his enlistment on board the ship, and that, in numerous instances, the officers of vessels have found themselves at the Balize manned with the dead!" Messrs. Woodruff, Sumner and Maxwell, were appointed a committee to memorialize Congress on the subject, and another committee was selected to take counsel with the Mayor.—Boston Courier.

These are startling statements; amounting to no less than the assertion that the sailor landlords and shipping office keepers of New Orleans systematically make the seamen drunk, rob him, and then send him to sea dead or alive. Total abstinents among seamen, keep clear of all this danger.

Quite a number of the curious coin and mineral specimens, belonging to the Natural History Society, were taken from the ruins of the Custom House, on Wednesday, among them the stone from the Connecticut River, with foot prints, recently purchased for the society by Mr. McCobb.—Portland Argus.

MAINE LAW IN PENNSYLVANIA.—At a caucus of the members of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives favorable to the Maine Law, fifteen were disposed to submit the question to the people, and seventeen for unconditional legislation. It is believed that the latter proposition will be sustained by a large majority.—Boston Courier.

We grieve to hear that little Paul Jullien lies dangerously ill at Buffalo, that his life is almost despaired of. Brain fever is his disease. Camilla Urso has been engaged to supply his place in Mme. Sontag's troupe.—Dwight's Journal of Music.

It is stated that Samuel Colt, of pistol celebrity, has already realized a profit of one million dollars from his patent right, and the Commissioner of Patents estimates that the profits yet to accrue before his patent expires, will amount to as much more. Efforts are being made to extend his patent so as to cover a term of seven years more.

Mr. Lindenmuller, a German, who keeps a restaurant at 118 Chatham street, New York, gives dinners to all poor Germans gratis every day, between the hours of one and two o'clock. Though especially for Germans, he says, all other poor may come, and welcome. He hopes, with the assistance of some friends, to continue his good work till the winter season is over.

A BOY KILLED BY BED BUG POISON.—Last Saturday evening two boys entered a house in the outer part of this city, when the family were out, and searching about found a bottle of what they supposed to be "good to take." One tasted of it and pronounced it good and handed it to the other. He took a long draught of it and died the next morning. His name was Stark. He was about 13 years old.—Manchester Mirror.

DEAN DOXE.—It is now stated that the Rev. Mr. Dean never did disappear mysteriously from Portland. The public car has been dinned enough with this Dean business, and it is time it were done—din, dean, done!—Boston Times.

Exactly so.—Eastern Argus.

Not exactly. The man says he was carried off, by a combination of force and fraud, robbed, maltreated, and well nigh frightened out of his senses. If his story be true, the robbers, who are doubtless men who live near him, should be ferreted out if possible, and punished.

If, on the other hand, his story is false, let it be shown to be so, and let the man himself be branded as a liar. If he is insane or imbecile, and has been entrepped and abused as he describes, those who injured him are worthy of double detestation.

It is remarkable that a whole nest of little stories got in circulation against the man while he was missing; and it has seemed to us, as several of them have been proved false and groundless, they must have been started by the men who carried him off, or by some confederates of theirs.

In some such way, newspaper paragraphs were distorted, so as to act against him. For example, a late Eastern Argus says:

"When the Rev. Mr. Dean so mysteriously disappeared at New Bedford, we remarked that if it were the same Brother Dean who once figured somewhat in Portland, he would 'turn up' again. We ventured the prediction, with christian-like desire to comfort the afflicted people of the city of New Bedford, who were dragging ponds and prowling about marshes for his dead body, to say nothing of the expense of an extra police, $250 reward, and great public meetings. Predicated upon the fact that their Mr. Dean was our Mr. Dean, we felt safe in mingling the 'oil of consolation' with the whale oil of New Bedford."

Out of sayings like this, another paper makes the following statement, which was widely copied.

"The Portland Argus states that Mr. Dean once disappeared from that city in pretty much the same manner, and afterwards re-appeared to claim $3000 reward that had been offered for him in the meantime."

To which the Argus replies,

"We never said any such thing."

The Boston Times says that since the gentleman's return to New Bedford,

"He pronounces the charge in the Portland Argus, that he left that city under suspicious circumstances, unqualifiedly false. He left the city in an open and public manner."

The Argus replies,

"We didn't say otherwise."

This accusation, then, falls to the ground; the Argus did not make it; but asserts that he left Portland openly. And as far as our examination of the case has gone, his story is still credible, and must have credence till it shall be disproved.

TERMINATION OF THE ERIE GAUGE WAR.—A despatch dated Dunkirk, Jan. 11, to the New York papers of last evening, announces the termination of the Erie gauge war. The despatch says:

"The train from Erie has just arrived, and passengers announce the termination of the railroad war at that place.

Meetings have been held to-day at Erie and Harbor Creek, and resolutions were passed to offer no further opposition to the company in prosecuting the repairs of the road.

The superintendent says that two or three days will suffice to make the road passable.

The mob, seeing that the law was about to be enforced, thought it best to acquiesce, though the excitement has been more intense to-day than ever. They were divided among themselves, however, and to that is owing the favorable turn matters have taken."

TERRIBLE DOUBLE TRAGEDY.—A correspondent of the Shasta Courier, from Salmon River, details the horrible particulars of a double tragedy which occurred at the trading post of Trick & Crambaugh, on the evening of Nov. 27th:

Between the hours of 6 and 7 in the evening, a man by the name of John Murphy, (formerly of Boston,) entered the house, apparently slightly intoxicated. In passing to the back part of the room he abused several persons, and there addressed himself particularly to a young man by the name of Antony Walton, formerly of Iowa, who was acting as cook in the establishment. Some words passing between them, Murphy struck Walton with his hand in the face, when a general row commenced, resulting in the death of both Murphy and Walton. Walton received four stabs in his breast, two penetrating the lungs, one on each side; the others were quite superficial, the ribs intercepting the point of the knife. He survived but a few minutes. Murphy received seven balls through different parts of his person, three entering the anterior and one the posterior portion of the head, the latter causing instantaneous death. Walton was killed by Murphy, and Murphy by William J. Trick, who acted in defence of Walton and his house. He immediately gave himself up for trial, and after a full and fair investigation, was triumphantly acquitted of all blame in the matter.

DEVELOPMENTS.—In the New York Senate on Monday, Mr. Dickinson, of Steuben, made some curious develoments. The Legislature, a few years since, passed a bill granting 250,000 acres of land to a railroad company for the purpose of constructing a railroad through the wilderness of Hamilton and Herkimer counties. On the 30th of December last, a large amount of this land had been sold to Mr. DeRay, the Governor's private secretary, and Mr. Glen, a clerk in the Treasurer's office, for 25 cents an acre, when it was worth at least $5 an acre for the timber alone.

LOCAL.

☞ The second Lecture of the series to Young Men will be delivered at the Middle Street Church on Sabbath evening next.—Services to commence at 7.

☞ Rev. A. A. Miner, of Boston, will preach at the Universalist Church to-morrow.

☞ Elder Witham will preach in the Hanover Street Chapel to-morrow.

☞ Rev. Mr. Miner, of Boston, is to lecture on Temperance at the Temple on Monday evening next; and will doubtless call out a good audience on his general reputation as a lecturer, and his known decision and firmness as an advocate of temperance.

PREJUDICE—Our neighbor of the Gazette, before the introduction of gas, did not hesitate to put his paper to press after dark. Now, the gas having failed, he ignores tallow candles, and does his press-work by daylight.

☞ In consequence of having no gas lights, the Free Evening School will be omitted this evening.

For the Chronicle.

LIGHTING PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

How often persons pass in the street without bowing, and afterwards, when reminded of it, excuse themselves by saying "the sun was shining in my eyes, so I could not see you." This often happens to persons walking in Broad or Congress streets, towards sunset.

If a strong light is shining in a person's eyes, his power of vision is diminished in proportion to the unnecessary strength of the light. To examine an object well, it must be illuminated; but the sun, or lamp, should stand so, as not to shine in the eyes of the examiner.

If an unshaded solar lamp be placed on a round table, and a company be seated around it, they cannot see one another's faces, nearly as well, as if the lamp were removed to another part of the room.

It is strange that when this is so well known, it should be so common, in this city, to place lights in our public halls so as to shine directly into the eyes of the audience. Every church or hall should be lighted from the sides, or, better, from behind.

At the Temple, if you look at the speaker, you find two flaming balls just over his head. At the Baptist Church there is the same each side of the speaker. At the Cameneum there are also unshaded lights on the stage. At the Episcopal Chapel we find the same unnecessary and annoying display of unshaded light, just at the point where all eyes are directed.

Light is a blessing, but every source of light a nuisance; and sun shades, fire screens and lamp shades show that men think so. Why then be unmindful of the fact?

In a theatre there is no lamp visible on the stage: all the foot lights are shaded, and other lamps are placed behind the scenes.

Every sermon, lecture or play is more appreciated if the listener is made comfortable as to heat, light, good seat, &c.

The reader of a lecture must have light, and that should be a study lamp shaded and entirely screened from the eyes of the audience, exactly as a foot light is, in the theatre; and no other lamp should be placed in front of the audience.

In the belief of the writer, these remarks express the opinions of a large proportion of the community. X.

SHIP CANAL AT NIAGARA.

It is a matter of some interest to our merchants and business men, whether this project shall succeed or not. They can give it aid and comfort by signing a memorial to Congress for an appropriation. A memorial, similar to that signed by gentlemen of all parties in Vermont, in New Hampshire as far as canvassed, and in Boston, may be seen and signed at the Atheneum in this city. Gentlemen who frequent that room are requested to examine its merits, and sign it if they see fit.—If presented, as we hope it may be, business men generally would sign it readily.

THE SAN FRANCISCO.—The Telegraphic operator here, informs us that he received last evening, at 6 o'clock, a despatch from New York, directed to Mrs. Winder of this city, wife of Lieut. Wm. A. Winder, informing her of his safe arrival in New York on Friday.

We telegraphed to Boston for further information, and learnt only that the steamer San Francisco foundered on the fifth (!);—and that two hundred and fifty lives were lost.

☞ The packet ship Chauncey Jerome, jr. of New York, from Liverpool, went ashore off the Tavern House, on Thursday morning at 6 o'clock, in the fog. Her masts are all gone but the mizzen mast, and she has four feet of water in her hold. Passengers and crew saved. The ship was 1100 tons burden, worth $60,000, and her cargo $150,000.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.

SENATE.—Mr. Chase presented a petition from John Jay and John P. Hale, praying for the abolition of slavery, and for the prohibition of slavery in all the territories of the United States. Mr. Chase moved that it be laid on the table, but gave notice that at an early day he would move that it and all other like petitions be referred to a select committee.

Mr. Clayton commenced his speech in reply to Mr. Cass.

In the House a communication was received from the President, covering the letter of the Secretary of the Navy to our naval officers, relative to the protection of American fishermen on the British coast. Laid on the table.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE BALTIC.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.

The steamship Baltic arrived below, this morning about one o'clock. She left Liverpool about nine o'clock on Thursday, the 29th ult.

The difficulty in the British cabinet has been patched up, and Lord Palmerston retains his office of Home Secretary.

Accounts from Vienna of the 24th, state that the Persians and Russians had opened direct communications, and that the Russian General, Yermoloff, commands the Persian forces.

There has been a violent tempest in the Black Sea. Eighty vessels are reported to be lost. The whole Russian fleet left Sinope, after staying two days to repair.

By a despatch, dated Vienna, Wednesday evening, we learn that a Russian steamer had set two Turkish villages on fire by throwing red hot balls into them.

From Constantinople we receive advices that the peace project has been commenced, and that the Porte manifests a pacific disposition.

The latest accounts received report that the only sign of anticipations of war noticeable in the state of trade, was a rise in prices of some imported articles.

War had been officially declared against Turkey by Persia.

The combined fleets were still at Briscos.

BERLIN, Dec. 24.—Negotiations are pending between Sweden & Denmark, for a league offensive and defensive between the two states.

INDIA AND CHINA.—The details of the news by the overland India and China mail are at hand. Bombay dates are to November 28, and dates from Shanghae to November 2.

There was no new feature to report in the war. Constant fighting continued, but with little result on either side.

A correspondent of the London Times says that the proceedings of the American Commissioner and American Vice-Consul, as regards neutrality, were considered somewhat equivocal, and the insurgent chief has addressed a letter on the subject. The British Consul has intimated that no more duties will be paid by British traders until the city is again under Tartar sway. On the other hand, Mr. Marshall insists on payment in silver, against which the American merchants have vehemently protested.

Of the progress of the insurrection in the North we have no reliable accounts. Ningpo was quiet.

Amoy, on the 5th of November, was expected to be speedily retaken by the Imperialists.

At Canton there was nothing new. The city remained quiet. Trade in imports was again languid, and the late improvement in yarns and shirtings was not maintained. Exchange had fallen to 5s. 2d. per dollar. The price of tea was maintained, and fine qualities were scarce.

At Shanghae, shipments of tea were active. In imports there was but little doing. Exchange on England 6s. 6d.

At Whampoa, U. S. ships of war Macedonian, Mississippi, Powhatan, Supply.

At Macao, storeship Southampton.

At Shanghae, ship Vandalia.

SEIZURE OF VALUABLE SMUGGLED GOODS—CONTERFEIT BILLS.—New York, Jan. 14.—The Custom House officers have within a few days seized smuggled property, consisting of diamonds, watches and jewelry, to the amount of $150,006. It is said that $90,000 worth was found on the premises of Levison & Brothers, in John street. Another portion was found in Jersey City. The goods are supposed to have been smuggled in the Cunard steamers.

One dollar bills of the State Bank, of Providence, altered to twenties, are in extensive circulation in this city.

DESTRUCTION OF A NEW SHIP.—The St. John New Brunswicker of the 5th inst., announces the total loss of the new ship Recorder, which was launched on the Monday before, below the falls, on the Carleton side, opposite that city. After safely reaching the water, the anchor which was intended to bring her up, parted from the chain, when a second anchor was let go, but this also broke, and the tide swept her into the falls, where the vessel struck on a ledge of rocks known as Blind Island, and became hard and fast. The Recorder was a beautiful ship of 1215 tons register, and was built by Messrs William Parks & Son. She was partially insured.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.
I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., (my General Agents for New Hampshire) for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.
There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.
The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.
Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.
Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

FORBES'S
Universal self-recommending Gutta-Percha Water Repellent.

This Compound being water repellent, and unaffected by water, is equally adapted to wet and dry weather, as the leather to which it is applied, may be washed without destroying the lustre.—And as a small quantity is required, a single jar will last six months or a year. For sale by
d12 MATHES & VARRELL.

This Compound is entirely free from Acid. A single application of it, which is made with very little trouble, is sufficient to impart an immediate permanent polish.

The lustre produced by the application of this compound is not only water proof, but absolutely water repellent. Applied once a week is sufficient, as it is a permanent immediate polish.

FORGOT HOW TO MIX IT.—An old fellow in Missouri, who was in the habit of "not belonging to the temperance society," was in the act of taking a nip one day before a young Virginian.

"What do you drink?" asked the latter.

"Brandy and water," was the reply.

"Why don't you drink mint juleps?"

"Mint juleps?" queried the old man, "why, what in the name of drinks is that?"

"A most delicious drink," was the answer, "and I'll show you how to make it, as I see you have mint growing almost at your door."

The young fellow soon produced the julep, and the old man was delighted with it.

About a month after, on his return home, the Virginian thought he would stop at his old friend's and "indulge;" but judge of his surprise when his enquiries at the door for his friend was answered by an aged female darkey, with—

"Oh, Massa's dead and gone dis two weeks!"

"Dead!" exclaimed the young man, "why, how strange! What did he die of?"

"Oh, I d'no," returned the old woman, "only a feller come along about a mouf ago and larst him to drink grass in he run, and it killed him in two weeks."

SAMUEL COOPER,

Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

The British Quarterlies

AND

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz:

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will afford a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz.—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Black wood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases in ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but twenty-two CENTS a year for "Blackwood, and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantageous inducements to applicants, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in cash, on receiving notice of patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most faithful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin; curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a fritz of 850,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the testimonials given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The effects of the fluid succeeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind. The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot: 123 Chatham street, New York, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effective remedy for the numerous illnesses arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS ENVIGORATING.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Under the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green wich street, New York.

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub.ic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE
is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street, ... PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three inserions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

FUN IN CALIFORNIA.

We don't know when we have enjoyed a more side-shaking and uprorious laugh than over the contents of a little paper printed at San Diego, Cal., called the San Diego Herald. This paper is not in general remarkable for its spice or facetiousness, but is a grave and respectable Democratic sheet, which supported John Bigler for Governor. The editor, Judge J. Judson Ames, just before the election was called away by business to another part of the State, and entrusted the Herald during his absence to the charge of John Phœnix, Esq. But in his haste to get away, the Judge had neglected to inquire into the politics of the editor pro tem., who proceeded, forthwith, upon assuming the charge of the Herald, to run up the whig flag, bearing the name of William Waldo, the whig candidate, for Governor. Judge Ames, it may readily be imagined, was sorely graveled when this intelligence came to his ears, and he at once wrote to Phœnix, directing him to restore the Democratic banner to its proper place. On receipt of this letter, Phœnix, with a facility of principle which would do honor to a politician on the Atlantic slope, immediately declared his Democracy; averred that his support of Waldo was a mistake, and asked forgiveness, avowing himself ready "to embrace Democracy with ardor, slap her on the back, and declare himself in favor of erecting a statue of Andrew Jackson on the plaza."

Whatever is, is right, (says Phœnix,) as the old gentleman sweetly remarked when he chopped off the end of his nose with a razor, in endeavor to kill a fly that had lit thereon when he was shaving, and applies the remark to the election of Bigler, and adds—If this election should, however indirectly, cause San Diego to assume its proper position as the first commercial city in California, I shall revrence the name of John Bigler forever, and will bestow that honored appellation upon my youngest child, and have it engraved upon a piece of leather or other suitable material, and suspended about that tender infant's neck, until such time as he shall be old enough to learn and love the virtues of his honored godsire.

On retiring from the editorship, Mr. Phœnix writes a characteristic valedictory, thanking Heaven that Judge Ames has returned, and giving the following rich description of his arrival:

Coolly we gazed from the window of the office upon the new town road, we descried a cloud of dust in the distance, high above it waved a whiplash, and we said 'Boston' cometh, and 'his driving is like that of Jehu the son of Nimshi, for he driveth furiously.'

Calmly we seated ourselves in the arm chair, and continued our labors. Anon a step, a heavy step, was heard upon the stairs, and 'Boston' stood before us. 'In shape and gesture proudly eminent, stood like a tower * * * but his face deep scars of thunder had entrenched, and care sat on his faded cheek; but under brows of dauntless courage and considerate pride, waiting revenge.' We rose, and with an unfaltering voice, said, 'Well, Judge, how do you do?' He made no reply, but commenced taking off his coat. We removed ours, as also our cravat.

* * * * * * *

The sixth and last round is described by the pressman and compositors as having been fearfully scientific. We held 'Boston' down over the press with our nose (which we had inserted between his teeth for that purpose), and while our hair was employed in holding one of his hands, we held the other in our left, and with the 'sheep's foot' brandished above our head, shouted to him, 'say Waldo.' Never! he gaspeil—

Oh! my Big—ler, he would have muttered,
But that he dried up 'ere the word was uttered.

At this moment we discovered that we had been laboring under a misunderstanding, and through the amicable intervention of the pressman, who thrust a roller between our faces (which gave the whole affair a different complexion) the matter was finally settled on the most friendly terms, and without prejudice to the honor of either party. We write this while sitting without any clothing, except our left stocking, and the rim of our hat encircling our neck like a ruff of the Elizabethan era—that article of dress having been knocked over our head at an early stage of the proceedings, and the crown subsequently torn off; while the Judge is sopping his eyes with cold water in the next room, a small boy standing beside the sufferer with a basin, and glancing with interest over the advertisements in the second page of the San Diego Herald, a fair copy of which was struck off upon the back of his shirt at the time we held him over the press.

Mr. Phœnix, in concluding his valedictory, magnanimously declares that if he has given offence to any one, he is ready to accept their apologies. He adds that, commencing as an independent journal, he has gradually passed through all the stages of incipient whiggery, decided conservatism, dignified recantation, budding democracy and rampant radicalism. He closes the series with what he calls an entirely literary number, and a great pictorial sheet, which is a capital satire upon Yankee pictorials. The first of the illustrations, which occupy two columns of the paper, is a picture of an ox, and is called a Portrait of His Royal Highness Prince Albert, the son of a gentleman named Coburg, who is the husband of Queen Victoria, of England. He is the inventor of the celebrated Albert hat, which has been lately introduced with great effect in the United States army. The Prince is of German extraction, his father being a Dutchman, and his mother a Duchess.

Then followed some common newspaper cuts of houses, which are designated severally as being the mansion of John Phœnix, Esq., San Diego, California, house in which Shakespeare was born, Abbottsford, the residence of Sir Walter Scott, author of Byron's Pilgrim's Progress, the Capitol at Washington, and residence of Gov. Bigler at Benicia. A newspaper picture of a man looking through a quadrant, is denominated Cornelius Agrippa, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, looking into futurity.

He has also a view of the battle of Lake Erie, by Hannibal Caracci, which is made up of old cuts of ships and steamers, and in regard to which Mr. Phœnix volunteers the statement that everybody knows that this great fight was fought in 1836. on Chesapeake Bay, between the U. S. Frigates Constitution and Guerriere, and the British troops under Gen. Putnam. Our glorious flag there, as everywhere, was victorious, and long may it wave.

The last illustration is the shell of an oyster once eaten by General Washington, showing the General's manner of opening oysters, represented by two oysters and an arm and hammer.

With one more specimen of fun from this most racy journal, we bid adieu to Mr. Phœnix, regretting most profoundly that he is not permanently settled on a tripod of his own.

We carelessly threw a bucket of water from our office door the other day, the most of which fell upon an astonished Spaniard, sitting on his horse before the Colorado House. He made the brief remark, Curajo, meaning that we were courageous; and on observing his stalwart form, and the ferocity of his expression and moustaches, we thought we were.

THE COLONIZATION LAW IN VIRGINIA.—It is stated in the recent message of the Governor of Virginia, that in the three years during which the law of 1850 was in operation to aid in the removal of colored persons to Liberia, only four hundred and nineteen free blacks were removed from that State, at a cost to the treasury of $5,410. Under the present law, which was passed 6th of April last, two hundred and forty-six colored persons have been sent to Liberia from Virginia, at a cost to the treasury of $5,800, being at the rate of four hundred and eighty per annum—sufficient, as is supposed, to prevent any increase of the free colored population.

Messrs. Editors:—The above I cut from the Boston Traveller of the 12th inst., that it might have a place in your columns, and for the purpose of asking our colonization friends if they understand the object of this Colonization Law of Virginia. Do they know that it is to present the increase of the free colorek population in order to make their property in slaves more secure? I wish to ask them if the operation of the whole scheme of colonization has not been to perpetuate the slave system, and to continue the wicked prejudice against the colored population?

Believing as I do that this is the operation, I think it an imposition upon the public to give aid and encouragement to the Agents of the American Colonization Society. N.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.
"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621w1y

SIDE ISSUES.

Let Temperance be made a test question at the ballot box next March, and the "unterrified democracy" will be greatly terrified and find itself in the minority and out of power. Temperance is rank poison to it, and will kill it outright. No wonder that the editors of that party are haunted by its ghost night and day, and day and night, and read their political cards in every movement of its friends.—Belknap Gazette, whig.

The whig and abolition papers throughout the State are endeavoring to make a party question of the Temperance cause, and to convert it into an engine, by which enough democrats may be drawn off from the support of the regular democratic ticket to enable the "Holy Alliance" of whiggery and abolitionism to carry the Legislature. By such a manœuvre they hope they will secure the election of two United States Senators at the next June session.—Nashua Gazette, democratic.

These two little extracts give as fair a specimen as may be, in so small a space, of the talk on temperance, from the two parties represented. We do not see, on the one hand, a very great prospect of any two Senators, except Democrats; nor on the other have we as yet seen any thing like making "a party question of the Temperance cause," that is, of making a party in its favor, by any body.—We see regularly, five whig papers in this State, and three which may be styled abolition or free democratic. Not more than two of these have openly advocated the adoption of the Maine law, this year, and no one, so far as we have seen, has advocated its adoption as a party measure, or a platform plank. We have seen, in two or three of them, some provoking taunts, like the above from the Belknap Gazette, intimating that their political opponents must needs be defeated if a temperance issue were made. There must be a right side to this question; and if any party shall take that side, all will be well, so far. It is quite certain, that in this city, temperance men are not confined to any one party,—nor are the intemperate thus confined.

We have six or seven democratic exchanges in the State, and every one of them warns its readers, not to be led away from the good old paths of democracy, by any whig or abolitionist pretending to have the cause of temperance near his heart, but in reality intending to betray the State into the hands of the federal abolition coalition.

We have already noticed an article of that kind from the Meredith Bridge Democrat, and copied from the same article some excellent remarks on temperance aside from parties. The Democrat, in the same article, says:

"It becomes evident that the temperance question is to become an important element in the coming election in this State. Nothing in any of the other questions of a public nature appears to contain enough of vitality to produce any sensation, or to serve the purpose of controlling votes."

We have no doubt that the Democrat is right in the statement that temperance will affect the next election, but we are very uncertain how much or in what manner.

The Nashua Gazette, at the close of the article from which we made the extracts at the head of this, comes out distinctly against the passage of the Maine law in New Hampshire, using the following language:

"The temperance question is the hobby they are now riding, hoping and expecting, that they can ride into power upon it. The fact that the Maine Law question has been settled in this State by the decision of our highest court, is enough to satisfy every reasonable man of the utter futility of attempting to place it upon the New Hampshire Statute Book. Our Superior Court, without a dissenting voice, has declared that law as far as this State is concerned unconstitutional. If it stood upon our statute book, it would be delared null and void, and the attempt to enforce it would only lead to useless expense, and the certainty, in the end, of bankrupting in costs and damages, those who attempted to carry it into effect.

Let every democrat vote the regular democratic ticket, and secure a Legislature that will send two men to the United States Senate, who will sustain the administration of Franklin Pierce."

If we remember rightly what the Judges of our Superior Court did say, they thought some provisions of the bill unconstitutional; but were very careful to say, they would not bind themselves to decide in that way, till some case came up under the law, and then they would consider and act. Nevertheless, we regarded their decision, such as it was; together with the action of the Senate; and the subsequent popular vote, (small as it was,) as settling the question against the law in this State, for two or three years.

We supposed, moreover, that there was much apathy on the subject; this is certainly the case here. We were, therefore, somewhat surprised to find, from the best informed Democratic papers in the interior of the State, that there is so much feeling and action on the subject around them, (not in the newspapers but among the people,) as to induce demagogues to ride temperance as a hobby.

That the moral and financial condition of our city and whole community demands some strong movement for temperance, we cannot doubt. We are by no means certain that it must be the Maine Law or any law! But if the people decide that so it shall be, the bill can be so varied as to conform with the Constitution, and we shall acquiesce in it.

Having no party interest to take care of, we cannot feel great anxiety for or against coalitions of parties,—but deem the Granite State a safe place yet; and hope she will carry the standard of morals generally, and of temperance in particular, as much higher than her neighbors, as her hills rise above the level of theirs. Let partisans take care of parties: let the people take care of themselves.

THE SAN FRANCISCO.

The same mail which confirms the hope and establishes the joy of one anxious domestic circle, justifies the fear and deepens the sorrow of another. Thus, in the additional particulars given, as to the loss of the San Francisco, by Saturday's mails, the reader who has a soul, can hardly fail, at some points in the narrative, to rejoice with those who do rejoice, and in others to weep with those who weep.

It now appears that the steamship San Francisco was caught in a gale on the night of the 24th December and disabled; soon after a heavy sea swept her decks, and washed overboard 240 passengers. The ship drifted about until January 5th, when she was fallen in with by the ship Three Bells, from Glasgow, bark Kilby, for Boston, and the ship Antarctic, for Liverpool, in lat: 38 lon. 59, which vessels took off the crew and the remaining passengers. The troops were divided among the three vessels. Major F. O. Wyse and Lieut. W. A. Winder were on board the Three Bells. Major Gates, Major Marchant, Capt. Judd, Lieut. Fremont, Lieut. Loeser, Lieut. Van Voest, and all the ladies who were saved, are on board the bark Kilby, bound to Boston. Lt. C. S. Winder and Lt. T. C. Chandler are on board the Antarctic. The Three Bells arrived at New York on the evening of the 13th inst.

The San Francisco's spars and sails were blown away on the night of the 24th December. On the morning of the 25th the engine stopped, the piston rod breaking off, leaving the vessel totally unmanageable, the sea striking her tremendous blows under the guards, and tearing up the planking fore and aft on both sides; at the same time she began making water, when the troops were organized into water bailing gangs. At 9 o'clock, on the 25th, a heavy sea struck her amidships, carrying away both smoke stacks, all the upper saloon, staving the quarter deck, and washing overboard a large number of passengers, including Col. Washington, Major Taylor and wife, Capt. Field, Lieut. Smith, two ladies, (names unknown) three civilians, (also unknown) and 150 U. S. troops; at the same time three were killed, namely, Brooks, a waiter, the barber of the boat, and the carpenter's brother, named Duckett. On the 28th the steamer spoke bark Kilby, of Boston, bound to New York, who lay by until 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the 29th, getting passengers on board. Upwards of one hundred got on board, men, women and children, including the officers before reported and their families, Capt. Judd and wife, Lieut. Fremont and family, G. W. Aspinwall and J. L. Graham. At night wind increasing, with squally weather, the Kilby let go the steamer's hawser at 10 o'clock and nothing was seen of her afterwards by the San Francisco. The gale continued throughout the 30th and 31st, and a large number of men were sick and dying. On the morning of Jan. 1st spoke British ship Three Bells, which lay by the wreck off and on until the 3d, when her boat came alongside. On the same day the ship Antarctic from New York for Liverpool, came in sight and bore down for her. On Wednesday, the 4th, both ships commenced taking off her passengers, provisions and water, and at sunset on the 6th had them all on board. The next morning they took off the crew and officers, Capt. Watkins being the last man to leave the San Francisco. The Three Bells brought into port 233 souls, including passengers, troops, officers and seamen of the steamer. There were eleven deaths among the crew of the steamer from the time she was disabled up to Jan. 8th, including two washed overboard.

NEW YORK, 14th.

Those on board the San Francisco when she left this port, so far as we can at present learn, may be accounted for as follows:

On board the Three Bells at this port	230
" " " Antarctic for Liverpool	170
" " " Kilby for Boston	100
Killed or washed overboard	150
Total	650

The Kilby, being short of provisions and having only one cask of water on board, would probably make the nearest port. She has not yet been heard from.

The number of troops lost, according to Lieut. Winder's computation, is nearly or quite 160. Four officers were swept off by the wave that cleared the deck of over 100 souls. The troops on board the Three Bells have lost nearly every article of clothing; many of them are prevented from coming on shore for want of apparel. Capt. Watkins, Mr. Schell, the purser, Mr. Barton and Mason, 3d and 4th officers, Washington Duckett, carpenter, Lieut. Chandler, U. S. A., all went to Liverpool in the Antarctic. The remaining officers of the ship returned in the Three Bells to New York. The San Francisco was scuttled before being abandoned.

The ship Lucy Thompson is below with passengers from the San Francisco, having probably been transferred from the ship Antarctic.

The steamer San Francisco was 3000 tons burden.

LOCAL.

FIRE.—On Saturday evening, about seven o'clock, fire was discovered in the wood-house belonging to Mr. George Pendexter, in the rear of his house No. 10 Vaughan street; the fire immediately extended to the stable occupied by Mr. William Dennett, to a wood-house belonging to the Mendum estate, and to the stable of Parry & Plumer, bakers. For a time a general conflagration was severely threatened, but the prompt and persevering exertions of firemen and other citizens, kept the fire within this cluster of buildings, which stood together; and thus the surrounding dwellings were saved from any greater damage than a severe scorching. The two wood-houses are quite destroyed; but two-thirds of Parry & Plumer's stable, and a part of Dennett's are still standing.

The danger at one time was so imminent, of a general conflagration, that not only did the occupants of the adjacent houses remove their furniture, but the traders on Congress street made arrangements for clearing their stores, by packing their goods. Large cinders fell like rain in Pleasant street, and had it not been that the roofs of the houses were water-soaked and frozen, more buildings must have been burned. The case must be set down as a providential and quite narrow escape from a great and destructive fire.

The actual loss by the fire, aside from that occasioned by the hasty removal of furniture, is not large, probably not more than $1000.

☞ Rev. Mr. Miner, of Boston, is to lecture on Temperance at the Temple this (Monday) evening; and will doubtless call out a good audience on his general reputation as a lecturer, and his known decision and firmness as an advocate of temperance.

☞ Mr. Ingham will preach this evening in the Advent Chapel, Hanover Street; services to commence at 7 o'clock.

☞ The Piscataqua Association of Congregational Ministers will meet in this city (at Rev. Mr. Moore's) on Tuesday morning.—The Sermon will be preached in the North Church, on Tuesday evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock, by Rev. B. F. Parsons, of Dover.

☞ The free evening school will be again postponed this evening, for want of light.

WORTHY OF IMITATION.—The School Committee of District No. 1 have furnished each of their Schools with a copy of Worcester's Large Dictionary, for the use of the pupils as a book of reference.

Rev. Thomas W. Brown, of Trenton, N. Y., formerly of this city, has accepted an invitation from the Unitarian Society of Grafton, Mass., to become their pastor.

SAFETY OF THE PASSENGERS BY THE KILBY.

We are indebted to Capt. Ichabod Goodwin for the following despatch, received by him on Sunday:

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.

The passengers by the Bark Kilby, were taken off, and after much suffering, safely arrived in New York on Saturday, about midnight.

From previous accounts, much anxiety was felt for that portion of the passengers of the San Francisco, taken on board of the Kilby, she being short of provisions and water.—This will be joyful news to the friends of those on board.

Rev. A. W. Sawyer was ordained pastor of the Baptist Church in Lawrence, Mass., Dec., 27th; sermon by Rev. Dr. Stone, of Boston. Mr. S.'s father, grandfather, and four uncles, have been Baptist ministers.

Rev. E. A. Edwards was ordained pastor of the Baptist Church in South Hampton, N. H., Dec. 28th; sermon by Rev. Mr. Patch.

CONGRESS.—In the House on Friday the Homestead Bill was referred to the Committee of the Whole; a bill was reported and passed some stages, making the children of American citizens, born abroad, citizens of the United States; the Senate bill; changing the mode of appointing the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, was rejected by a vote of 107 to 70. Adjourned to Monday.

NEW STORIES.—Another Round of Stories by the Christmas Fire. This is the title of a ninepenny pamphlet of Tales, by Charles Dickens, which is destined to have a great run. The tales are seven in number; of which we have read two, that are worthy of Dicken's reputation. Fetridge & Co. Boston, are the publishers. It is advertised here by Mr. Shores.

THE ERIE TROUBLES.—Erie, Jan. 13.—The railroad company have put up one bridge, and are raising the other. The track is also being laid down at the street crossing.

A CARD.—The subscribers would render most sincere thanks to the Fire Department and citizens generally, for their vigorous and successful efforts in staying the fire on their premises on Saturday evening. JOPEPH FARRY,
Jan. 16. GEO. W. PLUMER.

A CARD.—The undersigned renders his thanks to the Firemen and citizens of Portsmouth, for the prompt manner in which they saved his property from fire on Saturday night.

MARINE CHRONICLE.

PORT OF PORTSMOUTH.

SATURDAY, Jan. 14.

Sld ship Granite State, Billings, Mobile.
ship Brother Jonathan, Tucker, Charleston.

Ship Nightingale, Mather, was at London, 28th Dec. for Boston, with despatch Ship George Raynes, Penhallow, fm Callao, ar at New York, Jan 14.

THE EXPRESS.—Our marine list, on Saturday, gave an account of an accident to this ship, as we found it in a Boston paper, but from want of confirmation, we are led to doubt its accuracy.—The ship was reported to have sailed from Shanghae, Oct 31, for Boston, and to have returned Dec 12; whereas she did not sail until Nov 4, and then for London. It is probable if the ship leaked so badly as was reported, Capt Salter would have made some nearer port than Shanghae, from which he had sailed 22 days previously. Undoubtedly the report was confounded, by Telegraph, with the ship Emblem, Slater, for Boston, which put back to Cadiz, Dec 12, leaky, and was run ashore to prevent her sinking.

THE CHINESE REBELS.—A letter from Shanghae, dated Oct. 26, written by the Rev. Mr. Culbertson, to a friend in San Francisco, and by him communicated to the San Francisco Pacific, says:

The Imperialists had no artillery to batter the gates, but were provided with scaling ladders to the number of two, which on trial were found to reach half-way to the top of the wall. On the first of October, another fight took place, and the insurgents came down over the wall, and had a battle just in front of my house. Both parties were afraid to come to close quarters, and when one advanced the other retreated. The detachments were about equal, numbering two or three hundred.

Nine mission families have been obliged to vacate their houses. The only danger is from stray balls, both parties being desirous of maintaining friendly relations with foreigners. The leader of the rebels, Lew, is a miscrable slave of opium, and his followers must be, most of them, mere vagabonds. Yet they have behaved admirably. All plundering was punished, in the most summary manner, by beheading. A few such executions, within a few hours after the crime, have most effectually stopped everything of the kind. The imperialists, on the contrary, prowl over the country, plundering all they meet. They carry off doors, tables, chairs, and everything of wood, for fuel, and spread dismay among the poultry and the poor people who have invested a little stock in fowls. They carried off the gates of my court yard, and one of my own servants was attacked just at my door, and would have been plundered, had I not come to the rescue. The fellow wore the Imperial uniform, and had a formidable long knife in his hand. The knife had a keen edge, as I can testify, for my finger, happening to come in contact with it, proved that it could easily draw blood. In the scuffle with with my man I wonder he did not use it.

The rebels are abundantly supplied with money. Two or three days ago, a workman in the temple of Confucius dropped a tile, and it fell upon a place that seemed to be hollow underneath. An examination was made, and very soon a rich silver mine, or rather a mine of syce, that is, silver cast in ingots without alloy, was revealed. The amount of the buried treasure is variously stated at from 200,000 to 600,000 taels, (from $280,000 to $840,000.) The smaller sum, no doubt, is nearest the truth.

LOSS OF THE NEWBURYPORT SHIP CONSTITUTION.—The Belgian barque Bellona, at New York, reports "Jan. 1, at noon, lat. 39 18, lon. 70 37, passed American ship Constitution, lying on her starboard side, abandoned and full of water, had a golden star on the cathead, masts painted white, and painted ports; the jibboom was broken off, the jib and flying jib hanging; her bottom was coppered; the name Constitution on the quarter." The above is a splendid new ship of 1200 tons register, built in Newburyport, in May last, and sailed on her second voyage Dec. 29, from New York for Havre, with a cargo of breadstuffs. She is owned by Captain Bunting, in command, and others of Newburyport. The cargo, which is valued at $150,000, is partially insured in New York; the ship, valued at $65,000, is insured in Boston. Great fears are entertained for the safety of the officers and crew, as we have yet no tidings respecting them.

STEAMBOAT COLLISION—SEVERE STORM.—Albany, Jan. 13.—As the ice in front of the city began to move about half past 11 to-day, the Hudson River and the Boston Railroad boats happened to be in the middle of the river, and were placed in a precarious situation for a time, and finally came in collision, doing considerable damage to both boats. It is thought that they may be rescued without further damage, providing the ice does not dam up below.

The most severe storm of the season was experienced last night, accompanied with lightning. The water in the river has risen six feet, and is still rising.

ILLNESS OF MAJOR HOBBIE—M. BEDINI. Baltimore, Jan. 13.—No mail beyond Washington.

Major Hobbie is lying at the point of death. M. Bedini is on a visit to Washington, to take leave of the President before sailing from the United States.

SLAVES—HIGH PRICES.—Yesterday was the annual day for selling and hiring slaves in this city, and never before were such prices paid. More than fifty of different ages and sex were sold. Children from four to six years brought $300 to $500; girls, eight to twelve, from $500 to $800; women, $600 to $1000; men, $900 to $1250. One girl sixteen years of age, black and not very likely at that, sold for $990. A woman thirty-one years of age, a common field hand, sold for $875; three men, field hands, aged respectively 21, 25 and 35 years, sold for $1,050, $1,225 and $1,250. A woman, 26 years of age, a good cook and washer, sold privately for $1,100.

These are indeed enormous prices, and it shows one of two things, that either money is very plenty or negroes very scarce.—St. Louis News, Jan. 3d.

This is a very nice item for a future Uncle Tom's Cabin; or a new edition of Slavery as it is.

THE CASE OF BRUTALITY ON SHIPBOARD.—Commissioner Woodbury, in Boston, on Thursday examined the case of Capt. Levi J. Hotchkiss, of ship Harvard, who was charged with assaults upon W. H. Pritchard, one of his crew, and also with cruel and unusual treatment, in consequence of which he died. After receiving the testimony of Drs. Stedman and Ainsworth, and all the crew of the vessel, the Commissioner held that the latter portion of the complaint was not made out, but that the defendant was answerable for assault.—Capt. Hotchkiss was thereupon ordered to give bonds in $500 for his appearance before the District Court.—Transcript.

The Captain gets off very easily. The coroner's jury found that the man died in consequence of the injury and neglect. But the Commissioner finds that he did not.

Notice to the Druggists of New Hampshire and Vermont.
I HAVE commenced an action for damages against Ordway & Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., my General Agents for New Hampshire for counterfeiting and adulterating the medicine known as KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY. I earnestly request you not to sell any of said medicine which came to you from Ordway & Wadleigh.
There are three varieties of the counterfeit, all of them containing more or less of the genuine, as I could not find a bottle of the genuine which came from them in the State of New Hampshire. One kind is thick and dark like unsettled coffee, another is like port wine with a purple bell when shook in the bottle; the other is near the color of the genuine, but is diluted and clouded and very weak; a tumbler full of it could be taken without any inconvenience.
The genuine is near the color of cider, with a peculiar taste, which can never be imitated, described, or forgotten.
Every paper in New Hampshire and Vermont is requested to give the above six insertions among their "Special Notices," and send their bills to my address, 120 Warren street, Roxbury, Mass.
Every paper that advertises my Medical Discovery and Ordway & Wadleigh as Agents, is respectfully requested to send me a copy. Any person who has printed the outside wrapper of red paper with the letters, "Kennedy's Medical Discovery," will confer a favor by informing me of it.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz:

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	6 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in Money, or Bank Notes of money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Founded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot: no manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable, it is recommended to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green street, New York.

"A Splendid Remedy."

DEVINES' COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGE THE WONDER OF THE WORLD

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fall disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not no idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

OVERLOADED SHIPS.

An experienced and now retired shipmaster, a man of sound judgment by the way, but one who never writes for the newspapers, states to us that he regards the San Francisco as an overloaded ship;—and without undertaking to say that this was the sole cause of the disaster, must set it down as a probable or partial cause. He also regards the very common practice of overloading or improper loading of ships, for the sake of a little more gain in freight or passage money as really destructive of the interests of owners, skippers and insurers; and thinks the latter class, in consideration of recent heavy losses, ought to take some decisive action on the subject.

☞ The late gales and numerous disasters, have stirred up the people on the South Shore of Boston Bay, to construct a ship canal across the inner end of Cape Cod, between Wareham and Sandwich, where nature has nearly provided a passage through, having male creeks and marshes on either side, which are divided only by about half a mile of high land.

We should not be at all surprised to see the late disastrous loss of officers and soldiers on board the San Francisco, urged as a reason for making a military railroad across the United States to California. Pres. Pierce seems to be in favor of such a military road.

THE WEED IN CONNECTICUT.—Probably few of our readers are aware of the extent of the culture of Tobacco in Connecticut. In many towns, in the valley of the Connecticut river, Tobacco is the principal crop grown, and of course is profitable. A "Tobacco Growers' Convention" was held at Hartford last week, and a company was formed with a capital of $25,000, for the purpose of opening a Tobacco Inspection Warehouse in that city. It is to be governed by a large board of directors representing the various tobacco growing districts, with a President, Treasurer and Secretary as Executive officers. The capital invested is to be used to buy or advance on such crops as must be realized on by the owners the season they are grown, and to defray the necessary expenses. The company is to prepare suitable warehouses in which to pack, inspect and store the crops that may be consigned to them; to keep the same insured, and hold till fully cured, then to sell and pay over the net proceeds to the owners.

Many years ago, it was common for the farmers in some parts of Rockingham Co. New Hampshire, to raise tobacco for their own use. Afterwards, the low price of the manufactured tobacco caused them to leave off raising it. But at the present prices we have no doubt it would pay. We think it rather a pity however, to raise such a stinking weed where Indian Corn might grow.

☞ A hen-pecked husband, residing in a small village in the interior, thus announces the departure from his "bed and board" of his dearly beloved:

"My wife, Ann Maria, has strayed or been stolen. Whoever returns her will get his head broke. As for trusting her, anybody can do so who sees fit—for as I never pay my own debts, it is not at all likely that I will lay awake nights thinking about other people's."

"NO ONE'S ENEMY BUT HIS OWN."—"No one's enemy but his own" happens, generally, to be the enemy of everybody with whom he is in relation. "No one's enemy but his own" runs rapidly through his means; calls in a friendly way on his friends for bonds, bail and securities; involves his nearest kin; leaves his wife a beggar; quarters his orphans upon the public; and after having enjoyed himself to his last guinea, entails a life of dependence on his progeny, and dies in the odor of that ill understood reputation of harmless folly which is more injurious to society than some positive crimes.

MRS. PARTINGTON IN THE LEGISLATURE.—"So you are going to qualify the governor," said Mrs. Partington as she reached over the railing in the Senate chamber and addressed the member who sat nearest to her. He assented. "Well," said she with a broad look at the Bennington drum and gun, "I think it would have been a good deal better if you had seen that he was qualified aforehand." There was a wisdom equal to four of Webster's comprehensive dictionaries in her look as she said this.—Post.

THE WAY TO DO GOOD.—We heard yesterday of a new way to relieve the sufferings of the poor, and with a hope that good may be accomplished by its recital, we here give it. It appears that in a small house in one of the courts of the city, three widows lived, a mother and her two daughters. The mother was 80 years of age, her eldest daughter 50, and the youngest 28 years, and she had two children. The mother was bed ridden, and the entire time of the eldest daughter was taken up with the mother. The youngest sought for work, obtained it from a tailor, and by her exertions, making pantaloons at 20 cents per pair, was enabled to earn about eighty cents in the course of the week.

Their deplorable condition came to the knowledge of a member of the Brotherhood of the Protestant Episcopal Church, who visited the family and found them in almost a starving condition.

Among this gentleman's acquaintances were a number of young men, who were in the habit of expending a shilling a day for lunch; he proposed to them to give one half of that amount each day, or twenty five cents per week. All agreed to the proposition, and immediately a baker was ordered to leave a certain quantity of bread each day, at the house of the widow. Rice, sugar and tea were purchased and the family made comparatively comfortable on this small account contributed by those, who were willing to take a fip lunch, in the place of a shilling one.—Philadelphia Reg.

LOSS OF PROPERTY.—The record of the last month presents an enormous amount of property lost by fire and storm. Great fires have raged in crowded cities, and the coasts have been strewn with the wrecks of vessels. Much of this loss was inevitable, so far as human foresight could guard against; but much of it might have been saved by proper precaution. We have no fire proof buildings, or next to none, in this country. Wood enters largely into the construction of all our warehouses, where brick and stone and iron might be substituted. On the sea, immense risks are run in the competition for short passages, and ships are lost to gain a day's sailing.—These things should attract the attention of builders and merchants.—Providence Journal.

AN INCIDENT.—A correspondent writes: "Shortly after the late great snow storm, a vigorous, athletic person was passing along the avenue from Pemberton square, by the missionary rooms, when a large powerful black dog came up to him and suddenly snapped at and severely bit him in the hand. He immediately seized the dog by the head, and holding him down in the snow with one hand, with the other he succeeded in getting out and opening his penknife, with which he forthwith cut the animal's throat. The bloody vestiges of this execution and the criminal's carcase remained for several days, as monuments of this act of prompt justice."—Boston Courier.

MURDER TRIAL.—The trial of Charles R. Drew, for the murder of Dr. Gillis in September last, has just been concluded in the court of sessions, San Francisco Drew shot Gillis under the belief that he had seduced his wife. Verdict, "manslaughter." The district attorney stated before the jury that twelve hundred murders had been committed in that city and county within the last four years, and that only one man had been convicted before a jury. Drew, we believe, formerly belonged to Lowell.—Boston Post.

John Avery Parker, who lately died in New Bedford, leaving a fortune of over a million dollars, was, when a young man, warned out of the town of Westport, for fear he would become chargeable to the town.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621w1y

TUESDAY, JAN. 17, 1854.

WRECK OF THE SAN FRANCISCO.

The larger papers fill their columns with the various accounts and particulars of this disaster, and with the happy escape of so many persons who have arrived safe. We have to make a selection, and therefore take, as the most connected and interesting statement, the narrative furnished by Lieut. Wm. A. Winder of the army:—

The steamer San Francisco, as you are aware, sailed from New York on the 22d of Dec., with United States troops for California. The day was beautiful, and everything promised a pleasant and prosperous voyage. The ship was well provided with every thing which could render us comfortable, and every luxury that could be procured was placed on board. All these things, together with the gentlemanly and efficient officers of the ship, and pleasant company in the cabin, served to render us happy and contented. But, alas for all human calculations! about nine o'clock the second day our a gale sprung up, and continued to increase all night. At daylight it was perfectly frightful. During the night—I think about 12 o'clock—our engine gave out, and soon after our foremast was carried away, which left us entirely at the mercy of the wind and waves. The scene in the cabin during this time was truly distressing. Nearly all had turned out of the state-rooms, despair depicted on the countenances of all.

A few of us who occupied the upper cabin left it, and went below; and well it was for us, for soon after day—I think about 8 o'clock—a sea broke over our starboard wheelhouse, and with frightful force dashed against the after cabin, carrying away all of the cabin, and about one hundred and fifty people, among whom were Col. J. M. Washington, Major George Taylor and his wife, Capt. H. B. Field, and Lieut. Smith, two or three males and females who were unknown to me, and two citizen passengers; Mr. Rankin, our sutler, the other names I have not learned, were swept off, but the return wave brought them back. I had gone below but a few moments before this terrible crash, and was lying at the foot of the steps at the time. I never experienced such a sensation as when the water came pouring into the cabin, together with the debris of the upper cabin, down upon my head and breast. I was swept across the cabin with terrible force, but after three attempts succeeded in regaining my feet. I supposed that the ship had broken in half, and that we were fast sinking. I followed after some I saw going on deck, and on reaching it my blood ran cold at the sight of the poor fellows struggling among the fragments in the sea; the waves were, to my eyes, frightful, and we could render no assistance whatever, and, in fact, expected ourselves that we should go down every minute.

With great difficulty we clung to the deck, the sea making a perfect breach over us, and the cold so great that an hour longer must have finished us. Close by me was Major Wyse, his young wife and babe. It was truly a heart-rending sight. The poor child must have been nearly frozen. About this time Mr. Mellus, the first officer of the ship, than whom no braver seaman lives, came aft with an axe; this not only surprised me, but greatly raised my hopes. I watched him closely until he approached the only remaining mast. He attempted to cut it away, but the sea ran so high that he was unable to do it. This was the first time I was aware that the ship was not full of water. Soon after this our gallant Commodore Watkins came along. I asked him what our chances were; he replied "Good." The sea was making a fair breach over the ship at every roll. About this time we discovered that there were many persons, principally ladies, in the lower cabin. Two or three of us determined to go down, and afterwards induced Major Wyse to bring his wife and child down into the cabin. The ship was not so far gone as we supposed. We found the ladies, children, and some of the officers collected in the after-part of the cabin, and a large portion of the deck of the lower cabin crashed in by the force of the sea.

We nearly all went aft and covered ourselves up with blankets to endeavor to keep warm. We were all suffering severely from cold. We remained there nearly all that day, supposing that it would not be long before the vessel would sink. Some time during the evening, Capt. Watkins came into the cabin and requested that we would all go out and bail, to keep the ship afloat. Two officers went out and set our men at work in parties, the officers were relieved every two hours and the men as fast as they gave out, which we continued all night, the water gaining on us, and the pumps refusing to work. This bailing was kept up for four or five days and nights, until the pumps got to working, and the sea went down, and the ship ceased to make water. After the sea went down we gained on the water, and by great exertion on the part of the engineer, succeeded in getting the pumps to work and in clearing the ship of water. The captain and officers of the ship, after extraordinary exertions, succeeded in stopping some of the leaks, and repairing portions of the deck, with sails and planks. We kept reliefs of three or four men, with mattresses at each end of the shaft to prevent water from coming in there. Water came in there by the bucket full when the ship rolled. About this time we were cheered with the prospect of getting the machinery in working order.

A temporary steering apparatus was erected, and an attempt was made to get the ship under way, wind blowing very high and ship rolling heavily. After one or two revolutions of the wheels the machinery gave out, and the attempt to make it work was pronounced hopeless, the engineer stating that nothing more could be done with the engine than to keep the pumps working. During all this time the ladies behaved admirably, preserving their fortitude. Two sails appeared in sight within two or three days; one spoke us, and the other, seeing a ship alongside, did not approach. The one which spoke us first was the Napoleon; we were then lightening ship. The Napoleon was short of provisions, and picked up a part of those which we threw overboard. We lost her in the night. We were also throwing over everything heavy that we could get at. The Napoleon promised to lie by us, but went off at night. We made ourselves as comfortable as possible under the circumstances, and prepared some provisions to eat, and also began to get some dry clothes. The next vessel which appeared was a British brig, which spoke us; we lost her. I cannot give any account of her, as I was in the engine room.

All this time we continued to have very rough, boisterous weather, until the bark Kilby spoke us. Our captain went on board of her, and made a contract with her to take off all the passengers to the nearest port, Capt. Watkins intending to stay on board and make one more effort to save the ship. He called for thirty volunteers from our men, and in ten minutes he had the number required to stay by him. As soon as he made the contract we sent an officer and twenty men on board the ship to throw over her cargo and make room for the passengers. About 2 P. M. we commenced shipping the ladies and children in small boats, and by night succeeded in getting on board about one hundred in all, men, women, and children, intending to complete the transhipment next morning. About 7 o'clock that evening we were alarmed by the cry of fire, and found the ship on fire near the cook's galley. We soon put it out. Sometime during the night a heavy gale sprung up, with a frightful sea; the vessel commenced leaking again very badly, and we had to go to work bailing. The pumps having stopped working, we bailed that night and the greater part of the next day before we got the pumps working. The men by this time were so much exhausted that it was with great difficulty we could encourage them to keep at work. They had nothing but hard bread and raw pork to eat.

When the morning broke the bark was no longer in sight; she was very short of provisions, and we supposed that she had made for the nearest port. This morning was about the darkest and most hopeless period we had experienced. During that day, after getting the pumps to work, we all settled down, and got a little more comfortable. We were pretty quiet then, and could keep her free without working the men at bailing. We cut holes through the deck for the purpose of throwing over coal and other things from the hold. Nothing of any consequence occurred for more than two days, until this ship, the Three Bells, Captain Creighton, came in sight. He first saw our lights during the night, and we kept firing signal guns until morning.—He kept by us all night, and in the morning bore up, but it was blowing so hard that we could only communicate by means of writing on boards. He made reply to our request to lie by us, that he was short of provisions, and leaking badly. The next time they wore ship and passed, they gave us three cheers as signals that they would stick by us. We returned them heartily, I assure you. He drew ahead and laid his vessel to windward of us, and remained by us during the night.

The next morning the wind was very high, and he having only two boats we made two rafts, but found that the passage would be impracticable on them. On the third night we came very near losing them. On the fourth day another sail appeared in sight to windward, and both bore down to us together. The second ship proved to be the Antarctic, bound for Liverpool. Both lay by us during the fourth night; it being very rough, we only succeeded in putting a few men on each ship; the Antarctic lost two boats in doing so. On the fifth day, it being fine weather, and the sea smooth, we succeeded in transferring all the persons on board the ships excepting some twenty-five or thirty men, including ship officers and firemen; during that day we succeeded also in getting some provisions on board the Three Bells; I came on board this ship (the Three Bells,) and kept the men on board at the pumps during the day and night. The next morning we got off the remainder of the men and officers left on board the San Francisco, and we made sail for this port. The Antarctic went on to Liverpool. We found the leak in the Three Bells and stopped it.

We have had a short supply of provisions, and for the last three days have been on an allowance of water. There is now only one half day's allowance on board. A day or two previous to falling in with the Three Bells, a sort of congestive diarrhœa broke out among the men. They had broken into the hold and taken from thence several barrels of preserved meats and pickled cabbage—the combination of cold and fatigue with such food, was the cause of the disease. The men died at the rate of fifteen or twenty daily—probably one hundred have died altogether. We have lost thirty men since we came on board this ship. Corporal Smith, of Company G, came to me and said that his child was sick. I sent the doctor to her. Soon after he sent word that he was sick and dying—both he and his child soon died. I had his wife and remaining child and her sister carried into the cabin, and both mother and child soon died. Sergeant McIntyre went on board the Kilby and was carried off during the night, leaving his wife and children on board. Sergeant Brown deserves the highest credit for his behavior—he labored for five nights and days without once closing his eyes.

Everything has been done for us that could possibly be done, since we have been on board the Three Bells.

The steam tug Titan arrived at New York on Saturday night, from ship Lucy Thomson, from Liverpool, which vessel spoke the Kilby at 9 o'clock on Friday morning, 60 miles N. E. of Sandy Hook, and took off all the passengers rescued by that vessel from the San Francisco, with the exception of Mr. Falcon, the Brazilian Consul, Madame Bessee, Mr. and Mrs. Abris and ten or fifteen soldiers, who decided to remain by the Kilby.

The passengers, (103 in number,) after escaping from the horrors of a fatal shipwreck, suffered much in the Kilby, for want of provisions and water. Had it not been for a part of the cargo, consisting of corn, and abundant falls of rain, they must have perished. They speak in the highest terms of Captain Low, of the Kilby, which vessel has, doubtless, been blown out to sea again, but the Lucy Thomson supplied her with provisions and sails.—A steamer has been sent after her.

THE KILBY WITH HER PASSENGERS SAFE.—New York, 16th.—The barque Kilby was spoken at 4 o'clock, P. M., yesterday, 50 miles east by south of the Highlands, in tow of the steamer City of New York, bound for Boston. The captain of the vessel speaking her offered to take off the remaining passengers, but the captain of the Kilby declined, saying he would take them to Boston.

The New York merchants have voted to give a piece of plate to each of the captains who took off the passengers, and to petition to congress to indemnify them and their owners for losses.

Mr. Mellus, the mate of the San Francisco, states that she was not scuttled, but thinks that she must have gone down in less than 24 hours after she was abandoned.

The following is believed to be a tolerably correct list of the persons lost.

LOST.

Washed overboard on the 24th:

Major and Brevet Lieut. Col. J. M. Washington.
Capt. and Brevet Maj. George Taylor, commanding Company A, and his wife [one account says Mrs. T. was saved, and is on board the Kilby; this we fear is a mistake.]
First Lieut. and Brevet Capt. H. B. Field, commanding Company K.
First Lieut. R. H. Smith.
Brooks, colored waiter; The barber, colored.
F. Ducket, steerage waiter.
—— Alexander, seaman.
Mr. Tenny; D. C. Stockwell; Mr. Gates; Miss Belton.

Died.—Levi Heath, steerage steward, Jan. 7, and Walter Heath, waiter, Jan 8; both from Haverhill, Mass., but not near relatives.
Wm. Wilron, colored waiter, Dec 31.
Louis Testador, colored waiter, Dec. 29.
Johnson, colored, head waiter, Dec. 28.
Arthur Henry, fireman, Jan. 7.
Walter Watkins, fireman, Jan. 6.
Corporal Smith, Co. G, wife and two children.
Also, Charles Sanford, colored, insane, jumped overboard while on board the Three Bells, Jan. 8.

Total named above, 25; and 84 soldiers washed overboard, as nearly as can be ascertained from the sergeants of the companies, as follows:—A, 9; C, 7; G, 18; J, 2; K, 6; L, 17. Total 109 The losses of the other companies are not stated.

The following are the names of the soldiers lost, besides the officers mentioned above, as far as ascertained:

Sermon by Rev. B. F. Parsons, of Dover.

VIOLENT ASSAULT.—Last evening between 6 and 7 o'clock, as Mr. Abraham Holmes was passing quietly up Islington street, near the jail, he met two men and two women. One of the men said, "You —— Irishman, go on the outside." Mr. H. answered, I am on the right hand, and kept on, when he was knocked down by a blow from a slung shot, or such a weapon, and kicked after falling. On rising, the women were gone: and on asking the men why they treated him thus, he was again knocked down, with oaths and curses.

Mr. Holmes offers $25 reward for their detection. These fellows are probably identical with the thieves mentioned in another paragraph.

LOOK OUT FOR THIEVES.—Light articles have recently been pilfered from front entries, not long after sunset. Keep your street doors fastened, while some known thieves are on a visit in this city.

COLONIZATION.

We publish the following article at the request of a gentleman interested in promoting universal liberty. It was printed on our outside, Monday, but contained some errors now corrected.

For the Chronicle.

THE COLONIZATION LAW IN VIRGINIA.—It is stated in the recent message of the Governor of Virginia, that in the three years during which the law of 1850 was in operation to aid in the removal of colored persons to Liberia, only four hundred and nineteen free blacks were removed from that State, at a cost to the treasury of $5,410. Under the present law, which was passed 6th of April last, two hundred and forty-six colored persons have been sent to Liberia from Virginia, at a cost to the treasury of $5,800, being at the rate of four hundred and eighty per annum—sufficient, as is supposed, to prevent any increase of the free colored population.

Messrs. Editors:—The above I cut from the Boston Traveller of the 12th inst., that it might have a place in your columns, and for the purpose of asking our colonization friends if they understand the object of this Colonization Law of Virginia. Do they know that it is to prevent the increase of the free colored population in order to make their property in slaves more secure? I wish to ask them if the operation of the whole scheme of colonization has not been to perpetuate the slave system, and to continue the wicked prejudice against the colored population?

Believing as I do that this is the operation, I think it an imposition upon the public to give aid and encouragement to the Agents of the American Colonization Society. N.

Senor Gallegos, who has a seat in Congress, as the delegate from New Mexico, is a Hispano-Mexican Roman Catholic priest, of considerable power in his own region, fond of bull-fights and the cock-pit, and opposed to papal jurisdiction on this continent.

$25 Reward

WILL be paid by the subscriber for evidence sufficient to convict either or both of two young men, who knocked him down with a slung shot or some such weapon, on Monday evening, in Islington street, near the jail.

MAINE LEGISLATURE adjourned over the Sabbath, without untying the Gordian Knot. They are to come together to-day, and begin anew on their hitherto fruitless labors. So far as we can understand, each party has the legal and constitutional right to hold its ground. It is a case wherein the most patient may expect to prevail,—or where the least scrupulous may win over some soft men from the opposite side. The immortal seven in the Senate, are surely not obliged to convene with the House to fill all vacancies at once, because the Constitution does not say so. And the equally immortal Coalition in the House, are not obliged to convene for filling just two, without knowing whether the Senate will ever vote to convene again.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says:—The French claims will in all probability pass the Senate, but in the House the Speaker and Chairman of Ways and Means are both against them, and it will require no small effort to overcome their opposition. One thing is certain, if the claims do not pass now, the claimants need not again try their luck in Congress.

Not so. The claim is just, it can never become outlawed, and should never be abandoned while the Union holds together. The present race of politicians will die;—most of the old claimants are dead already;—but the claims will not die, and justice cannot die.

A LONG SPEECH.—General Cass lately made a speech in the Senate, which fills 15 columns of the Congressional Globe. It is said that the proof reader of the Globe has actually read it through, and that he bid a more than usually affectionate farewell to his family before he set out on this Great American Waste of words!

TRIAL FOR POST OFFICE ROBBERY.—The jury in the case of Theodore A. Rossi, a post office clerk, charged with purloining valuable articles from letters, which has been on trial in New York for several days, came in on Saturday morning unable to agree, and were discharged. It is said they stood 6 to 6. We believe that the facts were clearly proved, but Rossi's counsel urged that there was no theft, since the articles stolen were placed under the seals of the letters intentionally to test his honesty, and were not enclosed within the envelopes.—Boston Adv.

Then it will never answer to bait a trap to catch rats; or if caught, all such rats must be set free again. This is modern law, and seems to have grown up under the famous liquor dodge, wherein the Massachusetts Courts throw out the testimony of a man who bought on purpose to prosecute the seller.—Mr. Rossi in this case has crept so far through the same hole, as to get a new trial, we suppose.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRRIVAL OF THE EUROPA.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.

The Royal Mail Steamship Europa, Capt. Shannon, from Liverpool Saturday, Dec. 31, arrived at this port this morning. Her news offers nothing exciting.

There had been no further operations along the line of the Danube, but the Russians were still concentrating their forces, apparently with a view to attack Kalafat, which is strongly fortified.

Trifling skirmishes continue, but nothing of importance has yet occurred.

No further news from the seat of war in Asia has been received.

Lord Dudly Stuart is at Constantinople, endeavoring to cause the Porte to enroll an European Polish legion, in order to entice the desertion of Poles from the Russian army.

The ratification of the treaty between Russia and Persia was done at St. Petersburg, Dec. 18. The Persians were daily expected to attack Bagdad. Turkey has accepted Persia's declaration of war.

The Shah of Persia has dismissed all French, English, German, and Italian officers from his army.

The British Parliament is convened for the despatch of business, on January 31st.

A decree of Napoleon 3d, removes the restrictions from the import of Cotton from England into France.

It was rumored in Paris on the 26th, that Minister Soule had fought a third duel with the Duke of Alba, at Madrid, and was killed. This, however, wants confirmation.

THE REFORM BILL.—The Daily News says that Sir Fitzroy Kelly is now named as the member of Parliament, intrusted with the arrangement of the details of a contemplated Tory Reform Bill.

M. Visconte has died suddenly at Paris.

At Constantinople the Porte is acting in the most friendly accord with the representatives of the powers.

At the latest dates from London and Liverpool, money was in demand, at unchanged rates. Cotton firm; slightly dearer. Provisions, little doing. Lard lower; lots closed at 50c. [probably 5d—possibly 50s per cwt.] Flour 1s per bbl. dearer;—Corn 1s a 1s 6d advance per qr.

NAVIGATION OF THE AMAZON.—It having been publicly announced that a company has been incorporated for the alleged specific objects of transporting passengers and freight between the port of New York, and the various ports on the riv r Amazon. The Brazilian Consul at this port has been directed to give notice that no foreign flag is permitted to enter the said River Amazon.

A DOUBLE MURDER.—The New York Journal of Commerce states that a seaman, who was left on board ship Chauncy Jerome, Jr., wrecked near Sandy Hook, drank to excess, became delirious, and killed a shipmate and a passenger. He also attempted the life of Capt. Cone.

J. E. HAM,

TAILOR & DRAPER.

HAS just received another lot of fashionable Pantaloon Goods, Velvet Vestings, &c. &c., which will be made to order as low as can be had at any other establishment in this city.

Particular attention is giving to cutting Pantaloons, which is indeed one of the most difficult garments in the department of dress, and has heretofore received too little attention. The success we have had in this branch of our business enables us to ENSURE ALL with an easy and becoming FIT.

Gentlemen in want of any kind of Garment can be furnished at very short notice.

In the Coat Department, our customers have practical proof that we CANNOT BE BEAT.

Customers furnishing their own cloth will be attended to in the best possible manner.

☞ Wanted immediately 2 COAT MAKERS, to whom the highest prices will be paid.

Apply at No. 22 Market Street, up stairs.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'

IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be beleived, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.

The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can procure a remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without one single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Linimeut, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 249 Green wich street, New York.

On Wednesday, the Collector of Marblehead received orders from the Secretary of the Treasury, to pay the fishing bounties to the Swampscott claimants. Most of the boats from that place are small, and to a great extent tend the market, and objections had been made that the fish were not to be dry cured. In all the districts the bounty payments are larger than ever before, and the moneys received will essentially benefit the towns where the fisheries have so greatly failed in the last two years.—Newburyport Herald.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the fading interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz.:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per ann.	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases in advance.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but twenty-four cents a year for "Blackwood," and but twelve cents a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. K. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as solicitor of Patents. There were first, if not all persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Vine Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

CROOKED SPINES.

It is an old, but true saying, that "a stitch in time saves nine." But it is no more true in tattered garments, than when applied to the crooked backs of our young people. We see in every community numerous persons, whose backs are bent when walking, or standing at rest, at an angle painful to the sight, and detrimental to the health of the persons to whom they belong.

The whole thing may be obviated with very little thought and practice. Scarcely a person is born with a crooked spine. It is all brought on by habit or disease, and in most instances the former. If persons will stand with their heels, shoulders, head and elbows against the ceiling of their rooms, bringing at the same time their elbows hard against their waists, and then march around their rooms for three minutes five times a day, and when walking in the streets think of the importance of walking straight and practice it, many weak lungs will be strengthened and many cases of dyspepsia and frightful coughs relieved. One of the causes of this bending forward of the spine, is the low desks that youth are obliged to lean over at both public and private schools. The benches should not be all of the same height, but varied to suit the different pupils.

We see in every community persons with permanent curvatures of the spine from disease, nine-tenths of which might have been retained straight if parents or guardians had persevered in carrying out judicious surgical advice. But parents are apt to tire, and lose confidence in their finally succeeding in making and keeping the spines of their children straight.

Every one sees that these cases become fixed at last, but it has taken years to accomplish it. Now if judicious advice had been strictly carried out all of these years, the spine might, in most instances, have been retained nearly straight, if not quite.—Dover Gazette.

DOUGLASS AND BENTON.

Mr. Douglass, the "Little Giant," whose aspirations for the Presidency have, probably, only been whetted by the skirmishing of the last contest among the Democratic candidates, has reported back from the committee on territories, a bill for the organization of the territory of Nebraska, which provides for the admission into the Union of States to be formed from it, "with or without Slavery, as their constitution may prescribe at the time of their admission." This proposition is evidently intended to be a virtual repeal of the Missouri Compromise, wherein it was solemnly enacted that, in all the territory north of 36 30, "slavery and involuntary servitude, otherwise than in the punishment of crime whereof the parties shall have been duly convicted, shall be, and is hereby, forever prohibited."

The correspondent of the N. Y. Com. Advertiser says:—

Col. Benton has declared his intention to oppose the repeal of the Missouri compromise, as proposed in the Nebraska bill The opposition to that repeal is gathering strength, but it is hoped that it will not lead to another general convulsion. Politically, the anti-slavery men have not much strength at present; but politics may take such a turn, at any time, as will bring up the whole subject again. It is a troublesome question for Congress, let them touch it when they will.

The Tribune correspondent relates that General Wool dined with Douglass two days since. Mr. Everett sat on the right of Douglass and Dawson on the left, and Gen. Wool gave as a sentiment:—"Health to the whig candidates for President and Vice President."

FIRE IN EFROL, N. H.—We learn by letter, that the house of Capt. James F. Bragg was burned to the ground about 2 o'clock on the morning of the 9th of January. The inmates were aroused by the smell of smoke, and had barely time to escape with their lives, saving scarce a particle of clothing or furniture so rapidly did the fire spread. The night was very cold, and in consequence of the fire spreading so rapidly, they were obliged to escape in their night clothes, thereby suffering severely from the cold. It was with some difficulty a Mr. Wyman was got out and carried to the nearest neighbor, about half a mile off, he being quite helpless and having been confined to his bed some eight weeks. His wife had not time to put on her shoes and stockings, and in caring for her husband froze her feet quite badly. The origin of the fire is not known, but it is supposed to have been caused by a defect in the chimney. The house was partially insured This house has long been known as the half-way house between Dixfield Notch and Township Letter B. It has also been a great resort for trout fishing in summer and winter, being situated on the Androscoggin River and near Lake Umbagog.—State of Maine.

The Christian Register says it is able to state now, on the best authority, that the oath to "follow up" heretics is not administered to Roman Catholics here, and that it was certainly omitted in New York.

SEIZURE OF LIQUORS AT FALL RIVER.—We learn that a seizure of liquors was made in Fall River, on Tuesday, by the officers, assisted by a portion of the citizens, who organized themselves into squads under their direction and leadership, and visited those places in that town where liquor was supposed to be sold. About two hundred barrels were taken from the various shops and saloons that were examined and deposited in the basement story of the town house. Some few of the dealers got wind of the movement, and removed their stock beyond the reach of the officers; others, less wary, lost what they had on hand.

One man by the name of Collins, as we learn, resisted the execution of the law in his place, and knocked down several persons with an iron bar. He and his liquors were, however, finally secured. The excitement consequent upon the movement, was intense, and the suddenness of the affair was the topic of general discussion.

P. S.—Since writing the above, we learn that one man had a leg broken and another an arm, by the iron bar in the hands of Collins.—New Bedford Standard.

DEATH OF JOSHUA BATES, D. D.—This distinguished divine, whose name has for so many years been conspicious among the clergy of New England, died on Saturday, the 14th inst., at his residence, in Dudley, Mass., after a short and painful illness. Dr. Bates had reached the ripe age of seventy-seven years; years full of labor and honor. In 1803 he was ordained a pastor in Dedham. In 1818 he became President of Middlebury College, which office he held for twenty one years. That Institution was noted for the completeness and thoroughness of the education it afforded, and under his able and judicious government became one of the most popular colleges in the country. In 1843 he was settled in Dudley, where he has lived and wrought in the office of a minister till now.

MAINE.—The Senate and House of Maine still play at battledore and shuttlecock. The allied forces still preserve their ascendancy in the lower branch, and on Friday the House refused to take the Senate message, which proposed to fill the vacancies in that board with members of the dominant party, from the table, by a vote of 82 nays to 59 yeas. It may be stated, as a confirmation of the adage which pronounces that there is "no friendship in politics," that Lot M. Morrill of Augusta, is the leader in the Maine House of Representatives of the party which is opposed to the election of his brother to the office of Governor, the latter Mr. Morrill being a Maine Law Democrat.—Boston Courier.

TRAGEDY IN NEW BOSTON.—Manchester, N. H., Jan. 14.—Henry N. Sargent, twenty-three years old, discharged a pistol yesterday, four times, at Miss S. Jones, seventeen years old, and killed her instantly. He then shot himself with another pistol, and died in about six hours. It occurred at New Boston, N. H., where both lived, about fourteen miles from this city. Cause unrequitted love. She refused to marry him. Great excitement prevails. He had premeditated this for a long time, and left a long explanation in writing of his fatal act, and the causes that led to such melancholy results. They were both respectable.

Success makes men witty. Santa Anna, in his reply to Gen. Gadsden's proposition for a new treaty, said he did not see why the United States wanted another; they have had one treaty ratified which they refused to observe, and two negotiated which they refused to ratify.

Archbishop Hare gives it as his opinion that it is the duty of the Church of England to revise the English translation of the Scriptures.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.
"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621w1y

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 18, 1854.

THE GORDIAN KNOT.

HOW TO UNTIE IT.

The other day we merely supposed that the Seven Senators in Maine, might conclude, after they had got the Cumberland and Waldo vacancies filled, not to go any farther, but stop the wheels of government at that point.

Now we see that this course is seriously proposed.

The Kennebec Journal, a whig paper, says,

"The object which they (the seven senators and their backers,) propose to accomplish is not simply to obtain the permanent organization of the Senate—although that is a very important advantage in a party point of view. Intimations have been received from democratic sources, that beyond all this there is involved a scheme no less than to prevent the further organization of the government—after obtaining the Presidency of the Senate. We say there is good reason to believe that the Pilsbury men intend to stop there. * * * * With the five vacancies from Cumberland and Waldo filled, the Senators elect then become "a Senate"—and in that Senate the Pilsbury men have a majority. They proceed to elect a President of the Senate—and that President becomes Governor of the State, ad interim. In this state of things, they are very well satisfied—they want no other Governor—and care not a fig about a Council, so long as the offices and patronage remain so extensively in their own hands. So the remaining vacancies in the Senate may go unfilled, and "the coalition will be balked."

But to prevent this "the House has determined to stand firm in its resistance to the unusual propositions of the Senators elect, touching the filling of the vacancies—and to fall back upon its own constitutional rights, rather than yield to the schemes of factious and disorganizing men."

Almost to the same purport, only on the other side, speaks the Argus, a democratic paper, editorially:

The coalition at Augusta say less and less about the non existence of a Senate, and more and more about the right of the House to have all the vacances sent up at one and the same time. The House has no right about it. The Senate must determine its own vacancies, in its own way and its own time, and the House has nothing to do with them till they are reported; and then its duty is plain.

The Augusta correspondent of the Argus says:

The issue made by the House is simply a point of etiquette between itself and the Senate. Which shall yield? is the practical question. The one party has something in expectancy, which it desires to reach, and has therefore a motive for yielding. The other party has nothing in expectancy—sees nothing ahead but the guillotine—and to expect it to yield a point, for the sake of allowing the enemy to apply the knife to the political jugulars as speedily as possible, is as unreasonable as it would be to expect that a man sentenced to be hung, would consent to hasten the hour of his execution, for the sake of accommodating the hangman, who might wish to attend a masquerade.

Nothing could make these extracts plainer; the seven Senators will never give way. They will report no more than the five vacancies now—and after they are filled, the Senate thus made up will determine its own vacancies in its own way and time, that is, never—and the House can do nothing with the vacancies till they are reported. And the reason is honestly given, they do not wish to lose their power.

On the other hand, the Argus states that the Coalitionists have something to expect by yielding. We think not. They may yield; and if they do, will find themselves in a tighter place than now.

A friend suggests, that the House will probably do what we have stigmatized as folly, viz. go into Convention with six Senators or as many as will meet them, fill vacancies, organize, and go ahead,—as nothing could be done against such proceedings. His idea is that this would be no violation of the constitution, but only an act arising out of the necessity of a case, for which, unfortunately, the Constitution has not provided.

BEDINI, THE POPE'S NUNCIO.—A Philadelphia despatch of Jan. 16, says, there is an immense procession passing through the streets this evening, with an effigy of Mons. Bedini, who is believed to be in the city.

And a Baltimore despatch of the same date says,—Placards are posted in English, French, Spanish and German, announcing the intention of M. Bedini to visit the city, and calling on the citizens to treat him as a wild beast.

This is all wrong: yet it is the natural consequence of the national and sectarian hatreds which are imported with our immigrants from Europe, and kept alive by the fomentation of the priests and demagogues who come to take care of their spiritual and political welfare.

We can counteract such evil tendencies, as well as we can, by firm kindness, and by keeping up American Common Schools, in which the children of these foolish fighters can be educated together, in such a manner as will place the coming generation above the reach of such cursing craftsmen in church or state, as now do the thinking for such people as by return do their bidding.

☞ This day, Jan. 18, is to be observed in Boston, by the Webster Association, as the Anniversary of the Birth Day of Daniel Webster. The Dinner is to be at the Revere House.

MORALS OF NEWBURYPORT.

The City Marshal has compiled and published, from the records of the Police Court in Newburyport, a statement of the criminal business for the year ending Dec. 31, 1853.

The whole number of warrants issued for the year, is four hundred and ninety-one, and for the following offences, viz:—For intoxication, including those charged as common drunkards 247, assault and battery 91, larceny 30, violation of the liquor law 29, vagrancy 17, disobedient boys 17, malicious mischief and trespass 10, disturbance of the peace 9, disturbing schools 7, disorderly conduct 5, fighting 5, peace warrants 3, search warrants 3, insanity 2, present at gaming Lord's day 2, adultery 2, false pretences 2, indecent language 2, receiving stolen property 1, disturbing public worship 1, selling bad meat 1, perjury 1, bastardy 1, burglary 1, house of ill fame 1, bigamy 1, peddling without license 1. By the above report it will be found that more than one half of the complaints made were for the crime of intoxication, nearly one fifth for assault and battery, leaving a balance of less than three tenths for all other offences committed in the city.

The Herald also publishes an abstract of the Police Business for the last 6 months, in which the whole number of complaints was 270. For drunkenness 108, for being common drunkards 33, for assault and battery 50, &c.

The whole amount to be paid into the city treasury from the business of the six months, is $1677.72, from which is to be paid for officers fees, $536.59; for witness fees, $380.89; and for salary of the Justice, $300, leaving a balance of $460.24 to the use of the city.

In looking over these statistics (remarks the Herald) it will be seen that drunkenness is the cause of crime, there having been from drunkenness, common drunkards, vagabonds, and breach of the license law—all the doings of rum—no less than 158 cases, while at least one half of the other warrants were required from the same cause, so that four-fifths of all the crime and the expense of crime, in this christian city of Newburyport in the state of Massachusetts, with the Maine Liquor Law on the statute books, comes from the selling and drinking of spirituous liquors. Such a fact needs no comment, and we let it pass; every rational man will think of it for himself, and to the irrational it is useless to attempt to make the matter plainer and more impressive.

DISEASES AND DIET.—It is difficult to make some persons understand the very close connexion between disease and diet;—but nothing is more certain than the existence of such a connexion.

On board the ill-fated San Francisco, when all alike were wet, cold and exposed,—the first officer, Mr. Mellus, states that the sickness and death were entirely confined to the troops, firemen and waiters. Having no utensils of cooking on board, these people ate imprudently of preserved meats and fruits, which produced diarrhœa. There was no sickness among the cabin passengers or officers of the ship and crew.

The Erie War has broken out in a new place. The U. S. Marshal and his aids, who made the arrests of the Erie rioters, have themselves been arrested at Harrisburg, at the instance of the arrested rioters, for false imprisonment. They refused to give bail and went to prison, but were subsequently bailed out in the sum of $5,000 for each complaint. The U. S. officers will be so much harrassed by local suits, that they cannot protect the railroad men in relaying their tracks. The mantel of the old Pennsylvania whiskey insurrectionists has descended upon the people of Erie.—Boston Courier.

We should not wonder if some of the old whiskey itself, or some other and kindred spirits, were lingering on the mantel pieces, or behind them, or in some dark cupboards round Erie. There is evidently a mania of some kind there; perhaps it is partly mania e potu.

SETTLEMENT OF THE ANTI-RENT DIFFICULTIES.—The Court of Appeals on Saturday last announced their decision in the suit brought by the Attorney General, in behalf of the State, to test the title to the manor of Rensselaerwyck. The Court reversed the decision of Judge Harris, and unanimously declared the title produced and proved by the Van Rensselaers to be regular and valid.—The largest portion of the manor in the County of Albany, including the entire towns of Knox, Berne, Rensselaerville and Westerlo, has lately been purchased by Walter S. Church, Esq., of Angelica, and Oscar Toler, Esq., of Albany; and Mr. Church has also purchased a large portion of the manor in Rensselaer county. These gentlemen offer to release the rents and quarter sales for a sum in gross of which the interest at 6 per cent. will equal the value of the rent, estimating wheatat one dollar a bushel, (the average price for the last twenty years being 10s,) and the four fat fowls and a day's service with a team at $2.50, which is less than their average value. Thus the fee simple of a farm of 160 acres, drawing an annual rent, averaging $30,60, can be purchased for $416,66, or 2,60 an acre.

The terms are liberal, and such as the tenants are able to meet.—N. Y. Tribune.

HARD TIMES.—We hear much complaint of the scarcity of money, just about now. As an evidence of the fact, we saw a woman nineteen years of age sell on our block Tuesday last, for nine hundred dollars, and a small boy, in appearance about eleven, for eight hundred and ninety-five dollars. We should not be surprised if the wolf did come after all.—Wilkes (Ga.) Republican.

We should think the wolf had come, if some unknown but savage animal carried off young girls and boys; or if heathen men sold heathen children for bags of gold. But they do sell Circassian girls in Turkey, and Georgian girls in Georgia.

LOCAL.

ENTERTAINMENT THIS EVENING.

Mr. Moses offers unequalled attractions at the Temple, this evening. Besides a programme of music of the first class, to be performed by some of the best singers we have ever had in Portsmouth; and a Lecture or Address on Music and kindred matters, by Mr. M., which, coming from a thorough theoretical and practical musician and artist, cannot but interest and instruct; one-twelfth of the ticket-holders will be presented with valuable mementoes of the occasion. There will surely be a full house, and as surely a rich entertainment.

We shall publish the list of the fortunate recipients of presents, by Numbers, to-morrow. If we could do so this morning, we could probably realize more for the information.

☞ There was a fine audience of 800 or 1000 people in the Temple on Monday evening, listening with good attention, to an address on Temperance by Rev. Mr. Miner of Boston. The address was one of the most thorough and searching, in the application of principles, and yet mild and unexceptionable in its tone. The case with which the Temple has been twice filled recently to hear lectures on this subject, is sufficient evidence that the public interest therein has not ceased,—and that, even if it has been somewhat dormant, it may be thoroughly awakened.

MECHANICS' LYCEUM.—The lecture in the Temple on Tuesday evening, was delivered by Rev. A. A. Miner of Boston. It was a good lecture of the moral cast, in which our lyceums have abounded this winter. It was specially addressed to the Young Men of a Young Republic; and maintained the position that the elements of all true success lay in Rectitude of Thought and Action. This position was fortified by argument, and variously illustrated in a well written delivered lecture.

The lecture on next Tuesday evening, is to be by Mr. Haskell of Boston, (the editor of the Transcript we believe.)

THE ASSAULT.—We have received a different version of the story told by Mr. Abraham Holmes of the assault on Monday evening, and contradicting much of it,—which shall be published to-morrow.

RAILROAD TO MANCHESTER.

The Manchester American says, the time is fast approaching when there must be some connection between Manchester and the Portsmouth road; whether this will be by way of the Hooksett or Candia Branch, may perhaps be doubtful; but present appearances indicate that the Candia route is to be the one adopted. The travel is increasing from the east, and especially is the travel increasing between Manchester and Maine. We publish below the estimate made some years ago respecting the two Candia routes. The cost of completing the road now, cannot be far from the estimate made at that time. It will be perceived that by one route the distance is greater, while the cost is less than the other.

By the Candia route, the distance from this place to Portsmouth is 39.429 miles, and by the Hooksett route the distance is 42.812 miles. The estimated expense of the Hooksett route is $139,740.76, and of the Candia, $155,656.18.

To this we add our wish that the time would not only approach but arrive.

☞ Ship Kilby, with 6 passengers, 17 soldiers and a sergeant, from the steamer San Francisco, arrived at Boston on Tuesday morning. So the passengers are all landed, except those in the Antarctic, bound to Liverpool.

Mrs. Lear, of New Castle, one of the passengers, arrived in this city on Tuesday evening. Her husband was washed overboard from the San Francisco.

THE VERMONT SENATORSHIP.—The Judiciary Committee of the United States Senate have acted upon the right of Mr. Phelps to hold his seat in the Senate, and have come to a decision without any party leanings. Mr. Pettit of Indiana made the majority report, which was signed by himself and by Mr. Geyer of Missouri, Whig, and by Mr. Williams of New Hampshire, and which was in favor of the right of Mr. Phelps to hold his seat.—Judge Butler of South Carolina, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, made a minority report, which was signed by himself and by Mr. Bayard of Delaware, both being Democrats.

We think the Committee have decided wrong; though we can have no wish for Mr. Phelps to lose his seat. It is of no consequence, however; the principle once settled, must be as fair for one as another.

ARREST.—Patrick Burke was arrested at Albany on Friday, on a charge of having committed a rape on a young girl in Williamsburg in December last. The act is said to have been one of the most heinous of the kind. A reward of $250 had been offered for his apprehension by the Common Council of Williamsburg.

ACARD.—The Officers and Members of Engine Co. No. 4 would hereby tender their sincere thanks to Daniel Rogers, Esq., for the bountiful Collation provided for them at his residence, on the night of the 14th inst.

The Best Entertainment in the Country.

CHAPPELL'S GREAT

KINETOSCOPE

OF THE

ISLAND OF CUBA!

The most Magnificent Panorama in the World!

THIS Splendid Painting, which has attracted so much attention, was executed by the Great AMERICAN ARTIST, CHAPPELL, Who with the assistance of two talented artists, devoted more than seven years to this great work.

Major Felch, of Boston,

Having purchased this wonderful production of art, now fully completed, at a nett cost of FIFTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, respectfully informs the citizens of this place, that he will open it AT THE TEMPLE,

ON MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 23d,

For a short time only.

On Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, an entertainment will be given for Ladies and Children.

Here are represented, in the most beautiful style of art, with its elegant Parks and Paseos, the beautiful

WALLED CITY OF HAVANA,

Its Streets, Palaces, Fountains, Customs, &c. with a correct view of the MORO CASTLE. Also, rural life in Cuba, with a series of views showing the Process of MAKING SUGAR; Sugar Cane growing, &c.; the cities of MATANZAS & TRINIDAD; Interior Views of Sugar and Coffee Plantations; Palm, Orange, Cocoa Nut Trees, &c.; CUBAN CITY LIFE truthfully portrayed. All objects of prominent interest are here represented and more knowledge of the Social Character and Natural Scenery of this Island, the

QUEEN OF THE ANTILLES,

Can be obtained by visiting this Exhibition than by reading volumes on the subject.

That nothing may be wanting on the part of the management, to make this the best entertainment ever offered, an engagement has been effected, at a large expense, with the celebrated

SIG. MORILLO,

Who will introduce at each exhibition, his renowned LILLIPUTIAN FAMILY, or

ITALIAN FANTOCCINI,

In their wonderful performances, representing animated nature in such a life-like manner, as to completely amaze and astonish the beholder.

In connection with the whole will be given a Grand Vocal and Instrumental Concert, By Miss Isabella Merrill & Mast. Colman Blodgett, the Celebrated Infant Performer. Making the most highly chaste, intellectual and mirthful entertainment ever offered for your consideration.

☞ Tickets only 15 cts. Doors open at 7; to commence at 7½ o'clock.

FELCH & BARTLETT, Proprietors.
A. S. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ The management respectfully announces that, owing to engagements previously contracted, this great Work of Art can remain but a short time, and they would therefore urge upon their friends and patrons the necessity of an early attendance. On Wednesday and Saturday afternoons an entertainment will be given; and so excellent are the arrangements for darkening the room, &c., that the illusory effect is quite as perfect as at the evening exhibition. j18

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, Jan. 16.

SENATE.—Mr. Pearce, of Maryland, offered a resolution for the appointment of a joint committee, to express thanks to the rescuers of the San Francisco passengers. Mr. Pearce supported his resolution at some length, recapitulating the prominent features of the disaster, and concluding with the expression, that the acknowledgment to the rescuers to be grateful, should be as prompt as possible.—He was followed by Mr. Shields, who had just had an interview with the Secretary of War, and had prepared a resolution on the subject, after consultation with that officer. He contended that the matter belonged to the War Department, and he proposed to offer his resolution as a substitute for that of Mr. Pearce.

A discussion ensued, partly as to the authenticity of the information before the Senate, in the course of which Mr. Shields said that the War Department had sent to New York, and was collecting information. His resolution did not conflict with the other, except that it did not contemplate bestowing thanks or having any action on newspaper reports alone. Both resolutions were finally adopted.

Mr. Dixon, of Kentucky, gave notice of an amendment to the Nebraska bill, repealing that part of the act admitting Missouri, which prohibits slavery north of 36 30. The amendment was ordered to be printed. It proposes to add an additional section, providing that so much of the 8th section of the act admitting Missouri as prohibits slavery or involuntary servitude, other than as punishment for crime in the territory, obtained in the session of Louisiana, lying north of 36 30, shall be deemed wholly inapplicable to the territory of Nebraska and all other territories of the United States, the people of which shall alone have the right of deciding whether slavery shall or shall not exist therein.

A resolution for printing 50,000 copies of the abstract of the Census was adopted.

The Clayton and Bulwer treaty was then taken up, and Mr. Clayton proceeded with his remarks until the adjournment.

HOUSE.—In the House, Mr. Orr introduced a bill for the relief of the survivors of the army saved from the steamer San Francisco, which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. Chandler offered a resolution providing for the appointment of a joint committee, to report in what form the acknowledgments of Congress and the gratitude of the nation can be best expressed for the gallantry and humanity of those who rescued from death so many citizens of the republic. Adopted.

Mr. Bissell of Illinois, (chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs,) offered a bill providing for the payment of four months pay to each officer and private who embarked on board the San Francisco. In cases of death in consequence of the disaster, the allowance to go to the widow, or children if no widow. Referred.

Mr. McDougall introduced a bill to establish a line of military posts, opening a common road, and authorizing the construction of a telegraph line and railroad from the Mississippi to San Francisco, and moved that it be referred to a special committee. Agreed to.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The Senate, in executive session, to-day, received and referred a large number of nominations.

The rumors of Cabinet changes are entirely premature.

Mr. Gadsden's treaty with Mexico, if such as represented will encounter strong opposition. Gen. Houston declares he will not pay a farthing for the Mesilla Valley, it being ours already.

The amount of stocks redeemed during the last week was $201,500.

New York, Jan. 16.—The Steamer Europa was seized to day by the officers of the customs. Two individuals, one of them the steward, were detected in smuggling lace.

The grain merchants met at the Corn Exchange to-day, and passed resolutions expressive of their admiration of the heroic conduct of the captain of the Three Bells, Antarctic and Kilby, and appointed a committee to procure appropriate testimonials to be presented to them.

THANKSGIVING.—The officers of the 3d Artillery, with their families, who were rescued from the San Francisco, will meet tomorrow morning at Grace Church, to offer up thanksgiving for their escape.

THE SMUGGLING BY THE EUROPA.—New York, Jan. 17.—Dr. Winston, Surgeon of the Europa, is one of the parties arrested for smuggling. When arrested, lace to the amount of $1600 was found secreted on his person. The other party is John Beyan, the bar-keeper, who had in his possession a large quantity of watches. They are both in prison. Information of the intended smuggling was given to the officers by Mr. Cunard, agent of the line. The Europa was not seized. Officers went to Boston to watch the Europa.

HUNGARIANS IN TURKEY.—New York, Jan. 17.—Private letters received here from Kossuth, state that he had postponed his departure for Constantinople in order to make further preparation. He states explicitly that he has been invited to Turkey by government, and adds that provision will be made to transport thither from the United States all Hungarians who desire to go.

SMALL POX AND FRIGHT.—A correspondent of the Manchester Mirror, writing from Upper Gilmanton, N. H., mentions several cases of small pox in that village, and adds—"It is hard telling now to what extent it may spread. The people in the village have about made up their minds that the work has just commenced. Our selectmen have been here and ordered the traders to close their stores until further orders. We are a law abiding people."

CROTON FALLS, Jan. 16.—The express train on the Harlem road got off the track this morning, killing James Baird, engineer, and the fireman. Seven passengers in the baggage car were badly injured, but none in the passenger cars were hurt.

SUICIDE.—Mr. David Nayson, formerly of Mass., a woolen manufacturer, committed suicide on Sunday morning in Epping, N. H., owing probably to partial insanity.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

It is said of the late Duke of Wellington, that he resembled Napoleon in the uncommon faculty of commanding instantaneous sleep; however critical the moment, he could surrender himself to nature's sweet restorer, whether on a bench, under a tree, or anywhere, to awaken refreshed as a giant, and ready again for any work.

The N. Y. Tribune, referring to Bishop Hughes' proclamation respecting preaching in the street, justly remarks, that "if an Archbishop may quell a riot, so likewise he may foment and create one."

A writer in a Baptist newspaper says that four thousand ministers are wanted immediately to supply destitute Baptist churches; also, three hundred for the foreign field.

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz:

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous volumes of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	6 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum.	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE. Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $20; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the date of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of fifteen, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———.
"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

FORBES'S
Universal self-recommending Gutta-Percha Water Repellent.

This Compound is entirely free from Acid. A single application of it, which is made with very little trouble, is sufficient to impart an immediate permanent polish.

The lustre produced by the application of this compound is not only water proof, but absolutely water repellent. Applied once a week is sufficient, as it is a permanent immediate polish.

This Compound being water repellent, and unaffected by water, is equally adapted to wet and dry weather, as the leather to which it is applied, may be washed without destroying the lustre.—And as a small quantity is required, a single jar will last six months or a year. For sale by

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that full disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Premissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($500 00) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.
WILLIAM DEVINES."

Certificates of cures to be relied on, found in the circulars left with the agents. Let all the afflicted try it faithfully. Sold by Druggists and Dealers generally.

THE COLD FRIDAY OF 1810.

The 19th of January, 1810, was a day the intense coldness of which will be long remembered by those who experienced its rigor.—Those who were not out of doors, but had reached an age rendering them capable of retaining impressions then received, have doubtless a recollection of occurrences taking place around them. The evening previous was as mild as those we have been favored with in such numbers this winter; but in the night the wind changed, suddenly became cold, and the mercury in less than 16 hours descended to 13 degrees below zero. A boisterous wind prevailed, by which trees, and in some cases houses were blown down, and the day became memorable in New England as the Cold Friday. Here in Concord, as near as recollection serves, there was very little going from place to place. Farmers piled on the wood and attended to their cattle, and that was about all for the day. In this village, such as went to the neighbors or to a store, upon errands which could not be deferred, sped over the ground like squirrels, and were fortunate if they returned with no flesh frozen by the intensity of the cold.

From vol. v. of the New Hampshire Historical Society's Collections, the following account is taken of an occurrence on that day in the town of Sanbornton.

On Friday morning, the 19th of January, Mr. Jeremiah Ellsworth, of Sanbornton, finding the cold very severe, rose about an hour before sunrise. It was but a short time before some part of his house was burst in by the wind. Being apprehensive that the whole house would soon be demolished, and that the lives of the family were in great jeopardy, Mrs. Ellsworth, with her youngest child, whom she had dressed, went into the cellar, leaving the other two children in bed. Her husband undertook to go to the nearest neighbor, which was in a north direction, for assistance, but the wind was so strong against him that he found it impracticable. He then set out for Mr. David Brown's, the nearest house in another direction, at a distance of a quarter of a mile. He reached there about sunrise, his feet being considerably frozen, and he was so overcome with the cold that both he and Mr. Brown thought it to be hazardous for him to return. But Mr. Brown went with his horse and sleigh with all possible speed to save the woman and her children from impending destruction.

When he arrived at the house, he found Mrs. Ellsworth and one child in the cellar, and the other child in bed, their clothes having been blown away by the wind so that they could not be dressed. Mr. Brown put a bed into the sleigh, and placed the three children upon it, and covered them with the bedclothes. Mrs. E. also got into the sleigh. They had proceeded only six or eight rods before the sleigh was blown over, and the children, bed and covering, were scattered by the wind.—Mrs. Ellsworth held the horse, while Mr. Brown collected the children and bed, and placed them in the sleigh again.

She then concluded to walk, but before she reached Mr. Brown's house, she was so benumbed by the cold, that she sank down to the ground, finding it impossible to walk any further. At first she concluded she must perish, but stimulated by a hope of escape, she made another effort by crawling on her hands and knees, in which manner she reached her husband, but so altered in her looks that he did not at first know her. His anxiety for his children led him twice to conclude to go to their assistance; but the earnest importunities of his wife, who supposed he would perish, and that she could survive but a short time.

Mr. Brown having placed the children in the sleigh a second time, had proceeded but a few rods when the sleigh was blown over and torn to pieces, and the children driven to some distance. He then collected them once more, laid them on the bed and covered them; and then called for help, but to no purpose. Knowing that the children must soon perish in that situation, and being pierced to the heart by their distressing shrieks, he wrapped them all in a coverlet, and attempted to carry them on his shoulder, but was soon blown down, and the children separated from him by the violence of the wind. Finding it impossible to carry them all, he left the youngest, the one who happened to be dressed, placing it by the side of a large log. He then took them one under each arm, with no other covering than their shirts, and in this way, though blown down every few rods, he arrived at his house, after being absent about two hours. The children, though frozen stiff, were alive, but died in a few minutes. Mr. Brown's hands and feet were badly frozen, and he was so much chilled and exhausted as to be unable to return for the child left behind.

The wind continued its severity, and no neighbor called until afternoon, when there was every reason to believe the child left was dead. Towards sunset a physician and some other neighbors having arrived, several of whom went in search of the other child, which was found and brought in dead. The lives of the parents were saved, but they were left childless.

Mr. Brown, as we are informed by a gentleman of Sanbornton, lived until a few years ago, but never recovered from the effects of that day. He became nearly or quite blind, and continued thus as long as he lived.—N. H. Statesman.

GOING BAIL.—Lawyers frequently subject persons who offer themselves for bail to unnecessary badgering. A case of this kind occurred in Superior Court Chambers, New York, not long ago. Old Mr. Jacob Abrams, a man worth a quarter of a million of money, offered himself bail for a Jew fur dealer, who had been arrested under the Stillwell act.—The amount of bail required was $4,500.

Counsel.—What does your property consist of, Mr. Abrams?

Abrams.—Sir, I'm willing to swear that I am worth more than $4,500, over and above all. I think his honor, the Judge, will tell you that is sufficient, without going into particulars.

Counsel.—No, sir, it is not sufficient. We have a right to know what this property is.

Abrams.—Very well, sir, I've got your own bond and mortgage on the house you live in, for eight thousand dollars, and I consider it worth full the amount of the bail.

[Much laughter, in which the Counsel joined.]

Counsel.—We do not wish to ask any more questions, Mr. Abrams. [To the Judge.]—We are satisfied with the bail, your honor.

[This is a true incident. Mr. Abrams had just taken the bond and mortgage from an Insurance Company, who wanted the cash for it.]

A GOOSE THAT WAS A GOOSE.—The following is from one of Willis's letters from "Idle-wild:"

But I had a laugh at a goose, yesterday—with a lesson in it too. Coming home, toward evening, with my wagon full of children, the air over our heads was suddenly darkened by the wings of a very big bird—my neighbor's fattest waddler, who, chased by a dog, had concluded to up feathers, fly over the barn, and take refuge in the ever reliable and long tried bosom of the river. But it was the day after the first sharp frost, and the stream, though as clear as crystal, was of icy smoothness, and as impenetrable as a rock. Down came the goose, with full faith in it for long tried water—and the way she slid over, and brought up on the frozen bank opposite, after that heavy bump upon her egg-basket, was boundlessly delightful to the children. Besides the instruction in it, as to a winter trial of summer friends, it was a comfort with a pleasant spite in it, to have one good laugh at a goose that waddles and screams after me, every time I trot past my neighbor's barn yard.

A CHINESE OATH.—The Chinese, when brought into court as witnesses in California are sworn in the manner peculiar to their country. An oath, written in Chinese characters upon tissue paper, is subscribed with their names, and burned to ashes. The purport of the oath is, that if the witness does not tell the truth, he hopes that his soul may be burned and destroyed as is the paper which he holds in his hands. Notwithstanding the severity of this oath, the evidence of the Chinese taken in court is not generally of a very reliable character, and the Recorder is often obliged to discharge prisoners against whom there is nothing but Chinese evidence, the contradictions and discrepancies of which are always discovered in their testimony.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621wly

SHIP STAFFORDSHIRE.

At last, we have, from the Boston Journal, the particulars of this calamitous wreck. It appears that forty-seven persons only were saved of passengers and crew. On Monday, Mr. Aldea, chief mate of the ill-fated ship Staffordshire, reached Boston by railroad, having travelled the entire distance from Barrington, Nova Scotia, to Waterville, Maine, by stage—most of the way through snow drifts, and exposed to great suffering by the cold. He has furnished the following authentic statement of the loss of the Stafford-shire:—

On the 23d of December, in a tremendous gale of wind, twisted the rudder head, and secured it with chains as well as we could.—Rigged a temporary tiller outside the ship, and with it managed to proceed pretty comfortable till Wednesday morning, 28th, at 4 o'clock, when in a gale, lost bow sprit, fore topmast, fore yard, and everything forward, leaving the foremast only standing. The wreck of spars, in floating astern, carried the temporary rudder with it. Captain Richardson went aloft after daylight to examine the trais, to see if it were practicable to rig another fore yard, and in coming down, his foot slipped, and he fell thirty-five feet and struck on his back, badly injuring his ancle and receiving other serious injury. I immediately, with assistance, bore him to his state room, where he received the attention of Dr. Malony, ship's surgeon.

I then cleared the wreck and made all snug as possible, and prepared to get a new fore yard aloft. The rudder then was useless; ship had no steerage way; worked all Wednesday night and succeeded in rigging another tiller in the cabin.

At 3 o'clock A. M., Thursday, 29th, the wind was from the eastward, heavy rain and blowing heavy. Run the ship all day Thursday on her course until 7 o'clock, evening, the barometer being very low—28.46. Made all snug for the night. At 8 P. M. came on a hurricane from west-northwest.

At that time judged ourselves 35 to 40 miles south of Seal Island. Consulted with Captain Richardson, (who was confined to his berth,) who ordered the ship to be kept to the northward until 12 o'clock, and then to wear ship. It was then the second mate's watch on deck, who was ordered to call me at 12 o'clock. At ten minutes before 12, the second mate saw Seal Island Light, and immediately called me. I at once informed Capt. Richardson, who remarked the current had set the ship in shore, and immediately ordered her to be wore round. This was done without loss of time, and when coming up on the southern tack the ship struck. It was then blowing a tremendous gale of wind, with snow, and very thick. The rigging and decks were covered with ice. The ship struck several times, and then went off into deep water.

I immediately sounded the pumps, and found fourteen inches. Informed Captain Richardson, and set all hands at the pumps. Sounded pumps again in ten minutes and found four feet of water in the hold: Got her head to the eastward, by the captain's orders, and intended to beach her. In twenty minutes after, the wheel ropes parted, and she came up into the wind. Then all chances of saving the ship being lost, measures were taken to save the lives. The fourth mate—Stephenson—previous to this had left the ship, with nine sailors and one woman passenger, in one of the quarter-boats. The other quarter boat was swamped in launching, and was immediately cut away to launch the other boats. Got the small life-boat out—at that time the ship settling fast, and sea coming in over both rails.—Told them to launch this boat, and save what they could—and nine or ten reached the shore in her, after having two planks stove while alongside the ship, before they could get clear. None of the mates were in this boat. The small boat was immediately put upon the starboard davits, and was instantaneously filled with people; in lowering her to the water she stove a hole in her, and was hoisted up again.

The long boat was then launched to the side with great difficulty, and thirteen men, including the second mate, jumped into her. While they were launching her I went into the cabin for the third time to endeavor to save Capt. Richardson, and told him that all hopes of saving the ship were gone, her lower hold being full, and six inches of water in the cabin, and offered to carry him in my arms and put him into the boat. He refused, saying the ship was so near shore that she would strike before she could go down. I then said, it is impossible, for she will sink in a very few moments. The captain answered, then if I am to be lost, God's will be done, which were the last words I heard.

Finding it impossible to move him I then left the cabin, and found the long boat was just leaving. I threw my big coat into her as she was leaving the ship. I went aft, and the boat came to under the stern, when I jumped from the taff-rail into the boat. We immediately got clear of the ship to prevent being drawn in when she should go down. We had only two small oars and no thole pins. The wind was blowing very heavy, as before, with snow. Saw the ship and lights for about twenty minutes, and then all was darkness. We shipped a sea which half filled the boat. Kept her off before the wind and sea till she was bailed out; then came up to the wind and remained till daylight, thinking to save lives, if any were above water. Not a stroke was pulled till daylight, when nothing was in sight. We laid still another hour, when we discovered land. We pulled for it, and landed in about ten hours after leaving the ship, all exhausted, and more or less frost bitten.

The other two boats had landed about two hours previous. We were about nine miles from Barrington, on a small island called Sable Island. We were kindly treated by the fishermen and their wives, and next day I proceeded to Barrington.

Before leaving Barrington for Halifax, I went back to where we landed to see that the crew were provided for, and found that parts of the wreck had drifted ashore—the cabin work, houses on upper deck, &c. I left the crew and five passengers who were saved, as comfortable as circumstances would allow, and proceeded to Halifax, thence to St. John, where I missed the steamer about five hours. I then came on to Waterville by stage, and took the cars there for Boston.

Capt. Richardson, previous to the ship's sinking, had been removed from his berth, and was placed on a mattrass on the cabin table. He did not consider himself very seriously injured, and up to the time of the disaster was in good spirits. In reply to a remark by the mate, he said—"We shall be in by new year's day." The captain's ancle was much swollen and dislocated, and was very sore; and he also complained of soreness in his back. Mr. Malony, the ship's surgeon, was unremitting in his attention to Captain Richardson, as was also the stewardess.—Both of them were lost. The doctor was standing in the cabin door when Mr. Alden jumped from the sinking wreck into the boat. He belonged in Dublin, and was a skilful physician and surgeon, and a very excellent man. The passengers generally did not realize the danger they were in, but expected that the ship would be run ashore and they would escape. The women dressed themselves to land, putting on their best bonnets and other apparel.

THE ERIE GAUGE WAR.

We have been reading two columns of small type, in the New York Herald, of letters, city ordinances and other documents, relating to the Erie Gauge War, including a bill now before the Pennsylvania Legislature.

The principal new matter amounts to this: the company did not change the road from a six feet gauge to the four feet ten inch gauge, until by special act of Legislature they had obtained the right to do so. At the close of the last Legislature, in 1853, the Pennsylvania gauge was repealed, and immediately after the six feet ten inch track, which extended from the city of Erie to the Pennsylvania State line, a distance of ninetoen miles, was taken up, and the four feet ten inch track laid down. The passage of the act of the Legislature by which the company obtained the right to make this alteration, it is alleged by the people of Erie was effected by bribery, and cost $50,000. The construction of the new four feet ten inch track was commenced, and the work went on very rapidly till it came to the city of Erie, and here the local authorities—the Mayor and Common Council—interposed by two ordinances; one of which forbids the laying of any such railroad track through their streets; and the other forbids Franklin Canal Company from aiding the railroad company by the use of their bridges and privileges.

The Legislature of Pennsylvania have now before them a bill to repeal the charter of the Franklin Canal. The intelligent correspondent of the New York Herald sums up the matter as follows:

The Erians want a break at their city, because it would give them a share in the profits derived from the transportation and transfer of freight. They want the road to run down to their harbor, knowing that it would greatly improve their commerce, by the employment of their vessels in the transportation of freights to the various ports on Lake Erie. If the road is permitted to run through their city without a break, they will derive no benefit from it; but nearly in the proportion of the profit which they would derive from its running to the harbor would be the loss to the Buffalonians. Here, then, you see the interests of the two States, so far as these cities are concerned, come in direct conflict, and this the people of Erie do not deny.

Then, again, they want a road of their own, the Sunbury, for which they obtained a charter several years ago, but which they have never been able to complete, nor will they, they believe, complete it for many years to come, if the four feet ten inch track is permitted to run through their city. Now, if the Sunbury was completed, a large part of the travel and freight which now goes over the two New York Roads, would pass over it.—This is one of the reasons why the present question interests the whole State of Pennsylvania, and it is also another reason why the State of New York, consulting her interests, should endeavor to defeat its construction. It is a fight in which the New Yorkers have the act of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, altering the gauge of that State, on their side, and in which the Erieans are aided by their local authorities, standing on their municipal rights and in opposition to the act of their own Legislature.

To this we may add, that the whole quarrel is unworthy of honest and liberal men on both sides; and that the numerous law suits arising from it will doubtless enrich a dozen of the ablest lawyers; as well as "keep the wolf away from the door" of a hundred legal practitioners, of less power, for months or years to come.

In the mean time, public travel and business are interrupted, that one of two rival cities may flourish by that interruption. Never did the "love of money" appear more contemptible, than in the sun-light of the 19th Century, when on one day we chronicle the market price of boys and girls at auction, and the next day must set down the sadder sale of conscience and principle for a little business rivalry.

☞ The Portland Advertiser says, Patrick Donnely, a one armed man, well clad, was picked up drunk, Monday night. He was discovered to have between thirty and forty dollars in his pockets, evidently collected by begging, as he was known to be in that line of business. He was sent to the House of Correction.

GIFT CONCERT.

Mr. Moses' entertainment at the Temple, on Wednesday evening, was every way successful. We shall have more time to speak of the performances to-morrow. At the close of the Concert, Mr. Moses proposed N. K. Raynes, Esq. for Secretary; and Messrs. R. A. Prescott, of Epping, W. F. Laighton and Ezra A. Stevens, of this city, for a Committee to distribute the Gifts by lot. These gentlemen were accepted by the audience, and settled their part of the matter as follows:

The Presents will be ready for delivery at Mr. Moses' Music Room, on and after Monday next, Jan. 23d.

☞ Upon further hearing of the affair, an account of which we published on Tuesday from the relation of Mr. Abraham Holmes, it appears that his statement was incorrect in most respects. The fault evidently was on the part of Mr. Holmes—the young men drawn into it being well known among us as peacable, moral, and quiet in their demeanor, unaccustomed to pugilism, and unused to profane language. The statement we have received was from one of them, and shows that they acted in self defence, and as most persons would have acted under the circumstances. No weapons of any sort were used.

☞ The Atlantic (formerly Franklin) Engine Company, No. 6, paraded the streets of our city yesterday afternoon, in neat uniform, and had a supper in the evening at the City Hotel.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.—The Portland paper, called "the State of Maine," of Wednesday, learns from Augusta that two propositions have been submitted; one by Mr. Fessenden, and the other by Mr. Littlefield, for a reference to the Supreme Court of the pending questions between the two Houses, and that until answers are obtained to these inquiries things will remain in statu quo.

[It seems a pity that we cannot give credit for a six line paragraph without a clumsy circumlocution, half as long as the item, but with the State of Maine we cannot do better.]

☞ Thursday, April 13, has been appointed as a day of fasting and prayer in N. H.

FROM WASHINGTON.—Washington, Jan. 18.—A number of confirmations of Collectors, Pension Agents, Receivers, &c., have recently been made.

Mr. Redfield's nomination has been brought up, but was objected to on account of the absence of Mr. Seward. It was hid over.

Gen. H. S. Foote, by request, addressed a large audience last evening at the National Hotel. His speech was characteristic and severe. He denounced Gen. Taylor and Mr. Seward, and lauded Messrs. Fillmore and Webster; compared President Pierce to James the Second of England; said Mr. Cushing sent despatches to Mississippi to defeat his (Foote's) election to the Senate; praised Messrs. Dickinson and Bronson, and declared that the whole south were for them; held up Senator Douglass as the man of the age, and concluded by imploring God that the President might awake, or the people would rise in their majesty. Mr. Stanton presided.

BENTON MEETING IN ST. LOUIS.—Washington, Jan. 17.—By private advices received here, we learn that the regular committee of the great Benton meeting at St. Louis on the 8th of January, declined to report a resolution approving the present administration.

A resolution approving of the Kosta matter was passed, but one endorsing in general terms the administration, offered by Samuel Holmes, was thrown out, and all mention of it excluded from the official account of the proceedings of the meeting.

☞ Rev. Benj. D. Peck, was arrested in Portland on Tuesday, for a libel on Hon. E. L. Osgood of Fryeburg, published in the Temperance Watchman. Mr. Austin Willey was also arrested on a similar charge, for a publication in the Inquirer.

FRANKLIN.—A monument to Franklin is to be erected in Boston, by the Mechanic Association, aided by Abbott Lawrence, Messrs. Everett, Winthrop, and others.

☞ The Musical Repository, No. 10, contains "A Ride I once was taking, trab, trab, trab,—a ballad by Fred. Kucken." Published in Boston, by F. Parker, 35 Washington street.

The Pondicherry House in Bridgeton, Me., was destroyed by fire on the 8th inst. The hotel was owned by Mr. Richard Gage, and was partially insured.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, Jan. 17.

SENATE.—In the Senate, Mr. Douglass gave notice that he would move to take up the Nebraska bill on Monday.

Mr. Walker reported a bill for relinquishing to Wisconsin the lands reserved for Salt Springs.

Mr. Hamlin, from the select Committee on French Spoliations, reported a bill appropriating $5,000,000 to pay those claims.

A letter was received from the Postmaster General, stating the causes of the failures of the southern mails, and suggesting a remedy. Referred.

The bill providing for the extension of the preemption privilege to California was passed.

Mr. Sumner gave notice that he would offer the following amendment to the Nebraska bill:—Provided that nothing herein contained shall be considered to abrogate or in any way contravene the act of March 6th, 1820, entitled "an act to authorize the people of Missouri territory to form a Constitution and state government, and for the admission of such state into the Union on an equal footing with the original states, and to prohibit slavery in certain territories wherein it is expressed that in all that territory ceded by France to the United States under the name of Louisiana which lies north of 36 30, north latitude, not included within the limits of the state contemplated by the act, slavery and involuntary servitude, otherwise than in the punishment of crime whereof the parties shall have been duly convicted, shall be and is hereby forever prohibited. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—In the House the Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred the resolution of Mr. Ewing of Kentucky, proposing an amendment of the Constitution, as to the mode of electing the President and Vice President of the United States, made a report, stating that there were evils inseparably connected with the present mode of election, and offered a resolution for the appointment of a joint committee to consider the matter and report a remedy.

Mr. Ewing's amendment proposes to abolish the intervention of electors, to destroy the general ticket system, and to substitute a division of the states into the same number of districts each state has senators and representatives.

A motion to lay the bill on the table and print it was discussed until the morning hour expired, when the House went into committee, and took up the Deficiency Bill.

Mr. Walsh of New York got the floor, and made a slashing attack on the administration and the New York Soft Shells.

In the course of Mr. Walsh's remarks an amusing side discussion sprung up between him and Mr. Smith of Alabama and Mr. Cutting, in which Mr. Smith likened the quarrels between the Hards and the Softs to the Lilliputian squabbles, as to whether an egg should be broken on the broad or little end; and Mr. Cutting bitterly berated Southern gentlemen for their desertion of the Hards.

After a very lengthy debate, the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

ADULTERY AND SEDUCTION.—The Springfield Republican has a sad story of human frailty, by which two respectable families are severely afflicted. Rev. B. W. Wright, pastor of the Methodist church in Pelham, met a young girl, daughter of a deacon of his church, by appointment, at Palmer, whence they proceeded to New York together, remained a day or two, and then returned, he to Pelham, and she to Wilbraham, by steamboat and railroad, he wearing false whiskers, and she not appearing to be in company with him in the cars. The girl said she had been home, but was suspected, and has confessed. She had resided in Mr. Wright's family on the occasion of the illness of his wife. He is from thirty-five to forty years old, and is the father of a family; and he now lies in Springfield jail, on a charge of seduction and adultery.

Ike was glancing over a book upon chemical formations, and came upon the words "iron pyrites." "What's the meaning of iron pirates, I should like to know?" said he, looking up. Mrs. Partington paused in her knitting. A gleam shot across her features, like a flash of steel filings in a candle blaze.—"Iron pirates? I think it must mean steel," quoth she—"pirates that steal, like them in New York, who have stole the good name of your aunt, Isaac, to deprive you of your bread and butter, and schooling and edication. May the Lord reward 'em according to their works!" She felt inwardly rebuked for uttering the prayer, a moment afterwards, and hoped heaven would be forgiven for it, but the world would excuse it, if called upon to decide, on account of the great wrong done her.—Boston Post.

FOREIGN ITEMS PER EUROPA.—Death of the Rev. William Jay.—The Rev. William Jay departed this life Dec. 27th, about half past six o'clock, P. M., at Bath, in the 85th year of his age. It is on record that he preached at Surry Chapel when only 16; and we may be sure that Rowland Hill descerned something extraordinary in the lad whom he permitted to occupy such a post. Mr. Jay's regular ministry was confined to Bath, and interrupted only by annual visits to London and to the coast. By his writings, however, he was so extensively known, that few persons of any denomination omitted an opportunity of hearing him.

Lady Peel, widow of the late premier, has gone over to the Church of Rome, with one of her daughters. It is said that both, now on the continent, intend to take the veil.

Letters have been received in Dublin from Smith O'Brien, dated New Norfolk, Sept. 18, three days later than his reported escape from that place.

Letters from Madrid to the 23d December make no mention of any such duel having been fought as is rumored, in which Mr. Soule is reported to have been shot.

On the 23d of December, the waters at St. James's Park, London, were frozen over so that four thousand persons were skating and otherwise amusing themselves upon the ice. On the Serpentine, about 3000; on the 'Long Water,' Kensington Gardens, 800; on the 'Round Pond' 1250, while on the Regent's Park the ice swarmed with partakers in these pastimes.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be beleived, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sex Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green wich street, New York.

SAMUEL COOPER,

Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office.

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

HENRY B. REDWICK, L. D. GALE, J. H. LANE, Principal Examiners.
T. R. PEALE, THOS. H. EVERETT, F. SOUTHGATE SMITH, WM. CLARKE LAYDDON, Assistant Examiners.

From long acquaintance and intimate official relations with Mr. Cooper, I fully and heartily concur in the foregoing recommendation made by my late colleagues.

The British Quarterlies

AND

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz:

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsletters, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily journal, and the ponderous tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers who look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per annum	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to the inventors here, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal of the application within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and of these were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fall disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lung is sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1854. VOLUME 3. NO. 147.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

is published by

FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,

At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,

Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,

A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

REMUNERATION.

A letter from a gentleman at New York to the editor of the Boston Transcript, on the 15th, says:

"I have just visited Col. Gates and his family, and such a tale of peril and privation I never wish to hear again. They all bear the marks of mental anguish and scarcity of food. Two of the children were ill with the measles at the time of the catastrophe. Col. G.'s son, a noble young man, twenty-five years old, was washed off with the hurricane deck. My object in writing you, however, is not to enter into new details of a calamity so well chronicled already, but to urge upon you, as a public journalist, to advocate the payment, on the part of the United States government, of a complete remuneration to those gallant officers for the loss of property incurred in the nation's service. Col. Gates lost everything but the clothes on his back. His outfit was complete for a two years' residence in California; his entire wardrobe, and that of his wife and children, his plate, furniture, books, money—all his earthly possessions are gone; and why? Because he and his soldiers were sent in an overloaded steamship, with poor machinery, and of an inappropriate model for such a voyage. A bill of ample remuneration should be instantly passed by Congress."

To this we respond, with a hearty Amen. And not only would we recompense the officers but the privates, for their losses,—and their widows and children also. Perhaps this is as good a time as any to say, that it seems to be strange policy for the United States to send an army of 500 men round Cape Horn in time of peace.

A FREE FIGHT.

The following apologue from the Savannah News, in illustration of the Eastern Question, is amusing, and was apparently apropos at the time it was written:

Once there war a bar tuck a phansy that he'd like to eat a gang of turkeys—so he sot to work to pick a quarrel with the head gobler of the flock, about some of his domestic affairs. The gobler allowed it was none of his business, and said he'd not be dictated to, not by no bar that ever walked on 3 legs. The bar said he didn't want to make no disturbance, and he hoped the turkeys would'nt oblige him to ring none of their necks, but they must do as he wanted 'em too, or ho'd make 'em see sights. The turkey said he was willen to do what was right, and that he had never dun nuthin else; but he would be buried under his own roost pole before he'd allow the bar, or anybody else, to interfere with his concerns.

About this time along came a lion and a rooster. They sed it wouldn't do for them to let the bar eat up the turkeys, or the next they'd know he'd be pitchin' into them. So the lion ax'd "is this a free fight?" He, turkey, told him "it are." He sed he was imposed upon by the bar, and if they thought him right they might see him out. "Stand your ground, old hoss," ses the lion, and "count me in." The rooster jined the lion, and bristled up on the side of the turkeys. With that the bar, not minding neither of them a feather, just jumps right slap over into the turkey pen, and opened his mouth wide enough to swallow the whole party.

The lion backed himself up in the corner, and drappin his tail between his legs, ax'd "are this a free fight?" and the bar told him, "yes it ar."

"Waal," says the lion, "count me h'out."

What became of the turkeys nobody don't know yet; but if the bar didn't eat 'em up, neck and gizzard, it was because he found 'em tuffer than he thought they war.

The lion and the rooster made a terrible to do about the circumstances—but they tuck monstrous good care to keep out of the reach of the bar.

The New Haven Register says that in pulling down a very old house in North Haven, belonging to Harvey Stiles, coins were found in the crannies, one of which, a little larger than a silver dollar, is of a mixture of metals, but looks like iron—having a lion (rampant) for a device, and bearing date 1047. A small gold coin, supposed to be of the reign of George First, and several old coppers, are among those found.

A singular phenomenon occurred at Royalton, Vt., during a recent snow storm.—While it was snowing fast, and the wind high, a white appearance in the air resembling a flock of wild geese was observed, but it was soon ascertained to be balls of snow collected in the air by a thousand whirlwinds. They increased in size and number for about twenty minutes, when they fell to the ground, covering more than an acre. On examining the spot where they fell, balls were found from one to twenty inches in diameter.

THE SOCIAL CIRCLE in Concord, an association originally formed about the year 1777, within two years after the Concord Fight, held its annual meeting on Tuesday evening last; when, according to ancient custom, the Constitution was read and a Secretary chosen. The circle consists of twenty-five members, and meets once a week at their houses in succession. When business is to be transacted, as the admission of a member or some other proceeding, the gentleman at whose house the meeting is held is generally chosen chairman for the evening. During the past year, the Circle has been engaged in preparing memoirs of the lives of its past members, from 1777 to the present time, who have deceased.

One of its earliest members was Duncan Ingraham, we believe an uncle to the present Capt. Ingraham, who distinguished himself in the Koszta affair at Smyrna. The Circle is probably one of the oldest existing Social Associations in the country, and the list of its members contains the names of many highly respectable and distinguished persons. Its original Constitution provides that the entertainment of the evening shall be "moderate," to consist of "grog, toddy or flip." In the course of years, as the temperance principle came into operation, the Circle determined to be "moderate in all things," and directed that the "grog" should be passed round only once in the evening. At a still later period, the Circle excluded all intoxicating drinks from their social meetings, and the entertainment is now confined to fruits, with cold water or lemonade; and as many of the members are fruit growers, the entertainment for a part of the year is a kind of a weekly horticultural show among themselves.—Bunker Hill Aurora.

TABLE MOVING NOT A NEW DISCOVERY.—A Russian paper, the Abeille, says that the supposed Yankee invention of table moving has been long known and practiced among the priests of Buddha. When a priest is applied to by an individual who has lost something of value, and is desirous of knowing where to look for it, he sits down before a small table, and placing his hands upon it, commences repeating a passage from some religious book. Soon he rises, and moving backwards and forwards, is closely followed or preceded by the table, which seems to be suspended in air. After a certain time the table gives a whirl and falls to the ground, and the seeker is directed to look for the object of his search in that direction. On one occasion the table was known to move eighty feet through the air before falling. On the same day a Russian peasant living near by committed suicide. This act created suspicion, and upon search the stolen property was found in his domicil. The country people have the most implicit faith in the efficacy of this mode of search, and their constancy of belief is such that it cannot be shaken by repeated failures.

ARREST OF CAPTAIN STROUT.—It is stated that Captain Strout, of the brig Napoleon, has been arrested in Portland, and given bail for his appearance in Boston, to answer to a charge of brutal treatment to one of his crew.

The steamer "Charity," 1500 tons burden, left Liverpool for Portland on the 12th inst., and will be followed fortnightly for the winter months by other boats of the Canadian Steam Navigation Company. The Charity is a new first class boat and has been purchased by the company.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d622w1y

FRIDAY, JAN. 20, 1854.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

Rev. Mr. Dean.—Private but reliable information from New Bedford, enables us to say, that Rev. Gardner Dean's statement which we copied verbatim, is believed, by those who know him best, to be strictly true: and that it is also believed by the principal city officers, whose duty it is to investigate police matters.

The probable solution of the mystery, is, that some men who were enraged against Mr. Dean on account of his zeal for temperance, waylaid and carried him off, and robbed him. The case has its counterpart in another of recent occurrence, quite as flagrant.

Gen. Asa Howland, a justice of the peace in Conway, Mass. and a most respectable citizen, was called into the neighboring town of Greenfield, to hold a justice's court, on the 12th, for the trial of A. E. Reed and others, charged with selling liquor, contrary to law. The trial continued through the day, and the Court adjourned till the next morning. Justice Howland took lodgings at the Mansion House, kept by Mr. George Field. About 12 o'clock at night, three men made their way into the house, and up stairs, to the chamber occupied by Gen. Howland, burst open the door, and took him by main force from his bed, and carried him out of the room. His cries aroused the keeper of the house, (Mr. Field,) who from the next room started in his night-clothes to the scene of action.

As he entered the chamber occupied by Gen. H. two men rushed by him. The third he encountered and received a kick from him, as did also Gen. Howland. The three men made their escape, although the bar-keeper was in one of the rooms below, sitting up with a friend. Gen. Howland is somewhat advanced in years and was feeble from having been recently confined to a sick bed. He bore the marks inflicted upon him by the villains, but was not prevented from occupying his seat in Court next morning.

He bound Mr. Read over for trial, and during the week previous had bound over two men for alleged violations of the liquor law.

The burglars were disguised; and it can only be conjectured what they meant to do with him.

Such a proceeding in such a place as Greenfield, produced, as well it might, a state of intense excitement. A large public meeting was held to devise measures to bring the perpetrators of the outrage to justice, and an energetic committee was appointed in pursuance of that purpose. The Selectmen of the town have offered $500 for such information as shall lead to the detection and conviction of the ruffians, to which Mr. Field adds $100. The Greenfield Gazette says that Geo. Burnham has been arrested and committed to jail, on a charge of being connected with the affair.

A Frightful Catastrophe Avoided.—On Saturday evening last, the fireman having charge of the large steam boiler under the Fitchburg Railroad depot, by which the building is heated, left it with a large fire underneath the furnace, thinking there was sufficient water in the boiler for safety. The person having charge of the depot afterwards went down, and noticing that a large fire was left, tried the boiler, and to his great astonishment found the water nearly exhausted and an immediate explosion apparently inevitable. He at once warned all the inmates to leave the building, and then proceeded with one of the engineers of the road and raked the fire from beneath the boiler in season to prevent the dreadful disaster that would soon have ensued. Too much praise cannot be awarded him and the engineer who assisted him, for their presence of mind and bravery. —Boston Journal.

Such a catastrophe is avoided in the Portsmouth Steam Factory, by having the boiler in a house by itself. We know it is not always convenient or cheap to make such an arrangement; but putting a steam boiler under a fine depot like the Fitchburg, seems to us about as wise and safe as it would be in a ship of war to have the cook's galley well down to the keel, with the spirit-room as a closet on one side of his caboose, and the powder magazine on the other. With this arrangement, the crew might go across the ocean—but more probably they would be blown upward on short notice.

Yews.—Will the Boston Courier, (which is edited by scholarlike men, and has an excellent proof reader,) tell us why it is that their reporter of the Cambridge Cattle Market always speaks of Yews, rather than Ewes, when he means female sheep. We always supposed a Yew was a tree, somewhat common in English Churchyards.

The San Francisco Rescuers.—The cash testimonial to the rescuers of the people on board the San Francisco, from the meeting at the New York Exchange, amounted to $4,297. The Committee of the New York Corn Exchange reported the amount of $1500, and the books of both committees were still out. The Journal of Commerce says it has heard of other very liberal subscriptions, including one of $500. Capt. Creighton of the "Three Bells," was on Tuesday pursuaded to appear on 'Change' and was enthusiastically received.

LOCAL.

RAILROAD TO MANCHESTER.

The Manchester Mirror keeps the Candia Railroad before the people by an occasional article. The Mirror of the 17th inst. contains the following remarks and statements, to which attention is invited.

We have, at several times within the six months past, called attention to the importance of a branch railroad from Manchester to the Portsmouth & Concord road in Candia. We have no direct communication with the east, by railway, and if we wish to visit Exeter, Dover, Portsmouth, or Portland, we must either go across the country at great inconvenience, around by Concord, which is an awkward way, or southward to Lawrence, and thence making a very acute angle, direct our course eastward. To do this, much time is required, and great perplexity endured.

It is generally known that a charter has been obtained for a branch intersecting, as we have already indicated, and that there was a time when the road could have been built at a cheap rate, the contractors taking a large proportion of their compensation in stock. And we believe that favorable contracts could now be made so as to complete the road without heavy pecuniary burdens. The distance is about ten miles, over a route affording good facilities for construction and interposing no great difficulties. There are men along the line who will give their lands for the track or take pay in stock, and do all they can to carry on the work.

The time will come when the Connecticut & Merrimack rivers road will be completed between this city and the Connecticut River, shortening very much the distance over the present routes; and when that is done, there will be a demand for a more direct communication with the seaboard than is afforded at present. The heavy trade from this section of the State and onward to the Vermont line, and much from that State, may be carried on with the Portsmouth importers and wholesalers to greater advantage than at any other seaport. At Portsmouth, cars can go directly to the wharf, saving thereby, the labor and expense of cartage, and what is worthy of consideration, the distance being shortened, an important item of expense is saved on the freight.

Besides vast amounts of salt, iron, fish and other heavy articles, to be carried into the country, the travel from this section to the east, will of itself pay a fair dividend on such a road.

There is another consideration which has not been very generally taken into account—that of ultimately extending the road from Candia through Nottingham and Madbury to Dover. This is a route where a road will some day be needed, and when considered in connection with the Candia branch, gives new importance to the original project. Shall we not have the opinion of others in relation to this enterprise.

Municipal.—In Board of Aldermen last evening, a petition for alteration in Engine House No. 6 was referred to Committee on Fire Department.

Committe on Fire Department reported the arrival of the new Fre Engines.

The vote authorizing the sale of Engines 1 and 6 was rescinded, (they will be kept for use in case of need.)

The Committee reported that they have disposed of the two old axe boxes for 15 dollars.

City Lyceum.—Rev. Mr. Rust, formerly of this city and now of Lawrence, gave the Lecture at the Cameneum on Thursday evening. He modestly called it a Glance at the Intellect; but in real merit it must rank much higher than some essays of more lofty pretension.

The lecturer glanced at the Senses in succession, as the inlets of knowledge, and then at Memory, Judgement and Imagination: and in the exact compass of a single hour gave us a well written and plainly delivered Lecture on the Mind, at once philosophic, popular and practical. It must be set down among the good lectures of the season, worthy of repetition elsewhere.

The lecture on next Thursday evening, is to be by Rev. Mr. Willis of this city.

The Gift Concert, by Mr. T. P. Moses, at the Temple on Wednesday evening, was attended by an audience of a thousand. The music, instrumental and vocal, was worthy of the high reputation earned in our own city by the teacher and director; and every way creditable to the performers. The audience listened with apparent pleasure and frequent applause.

The address on Music was a good literary performance, containing many valuable hints and some decided hits. It was for the most part delivered with spirit, and favorably received.

☞ Mr. T. P. Moses being about to leave this city for New York, has resigned his situation as organist and choirister at the Middle Street Church. It will not be easy to fill his place in any department of music—and in conducting devotional or other singing he is perhaps without superior. "Long may he wave."

Mr. Parkinson has also resigned the charge of the Organ at the Universalist Church.

☞ A poor woman now in this city, has a splendid little boy just three years old this day. Her circumstances are such that she is willing to give him to some good person to be adopted. Would prefer a place for him where there are no small children. Apply immediately at the office of the City Missionary.

New Engines.—Those engines, so long expected, have at last arrived, and were received yesterday afternoon with open arms by all the boys in town. No. 1, to take the place of the Cataract, is called the Granite State; and No. 6, to supersede the Franklin, is called the Atlantic. They are alike except in name and number, and are of a beautiful blue color. The cylinders are six inches in diameter, and the machinery is generally of the same description as the present No. 2. They were made by Hunneman & Co., Roxbury, Mass. Some pleasant day next week they will be taken out for a trial of power.

The members of No. 1 were so impatient to test their new toy that they could not get by the reservoir on the Square without unlimbering. The result was very satisfactory, considering that everything was frozen, and that the engine had several inches of snow in it.

Our Fire Department is now in first rate condition so far as machinery is concerned.

The supper, by Company No. 6, at the City Hotel Wednesday evening, was one of the most pleasant occasions of the kind. A capital feast was prepared by Messrs. Fernald, and a chief attraction was the absence of all strong drinks. Speeches were made by His Honor Mayor Walker, E. M. Brown, J. Trundy, W. W. Dow, and several others. It was a most sociable, rational and successful entertainment. We regret not being able to accept the polite invitation tendered us to enjoy it.

For the Chronicle.

Gentlemen:—Will you be so obliging as to allow me to occupy a small place in the columns of your paper, for the purpose of replying to a portion of the article in the last Messenger, relating to the new engines, especially to Cataract, No. 1. My object is to free the members from the complaint made by "a neighbor" as being "noisy until they went home," and that they did not "go home till morning." I am well aware that a few of the members did not go home until morning, but I defy that one neighbor (out of the six or eight) whoever he is, to come forward and back up his statement in regard to the noise, &c. You are well aware, that the committee on the new engines reported that they would arrive in this city on Tuesday, and on the strength of that report, the members voted the evening previous, to meet at the engine house, at half past 1 on Tuesday and march to the depot, for the purpose of receiving and trying their new engines, and also, to have a supper on that evening at the engine house, which they had. The company partook of their supper, and afterwards enjoyed themselves by singing, &c., until about half past 10 o'clock, at which time a part of them went home, and the rest remained longer, perhaps "until morning." As for the noise, I deny the statement made in the Messenger of being "noisy until they went home," any more than what ordinarily happens on similar occasions, such as conversing, &c., which I candidly think could not be heard three feet from the engine house.

Yours, &c.,
C. F. Adams, Foreman of No. 1.

☞ We are informed that the Pleasant Street Baptist Society are making preparations to hold a public Fair on the evening of the 14th of February, St. Valentine's Day—the proceeds to aid in improving their Church.

For the Chronicle.

Gentlemen:—Allow me to ask, through your paper, if all convenient haste is made in repairing the gas works, which have now been lying idle an entire week, subjecting all who use the gas to great inconvenience, and some, as I can certify, to positive loss. If a breakage in a pipe causes such a delay, should not some means be taken, by duplicating the pipes leading into the gasometer, or by sufficiently testing them before they are laid, to obviate the delay attendant upon repairs so extensive or difficult as to require a week to complete them? When are we to have the gas again?

We don't know, but hope it will come soon.

Complimentary.—Messrs. J. D. Bates & Co., of Boston, have purchased a clipper ship of 1100 tons which was launched in Newburyport a few weeks ago, for $65,000, and have named her the Starr King.

☞ The Mrs. Lear, of Newcastle, mentioned as saved from the San Francisco, is Mrs. Lee, whose husband is lost. There were two other women from Newcastle, wives of soldiers; one of them has gone to England in the Antarctic.

Woman's Rights, alias Riots.—A despatch from Erie of the 17th, says:

The railroad bridges were again destroyed here to-day by the women of the city. After finishing their work the women were escorted through the town, headed by a band of music, and waving a flag, on which was inscribed, "Six feet, eight and a half inches." Our streets are thronged, and the greatest excitement prevails.

Death of Captain Partridge.—Capt. Alden Partridge, the well known military instructor, died at his residence in Norwich, Vt., on the 17th inst., after an illness of a few hours.

The medical faculty of New York are making an effort to induce the Legislature to legalize dissection. It seems that while the medical colleges are required by law to teach anatomy, they are forbidden by another law to impart that knowledge in the only way in which it can be acquired—that is, by dissection.

The Best Entertainment in the Country.

CHAPPELL'S GREAT
KINETOSCOPE
OF THE
ISLAND OF CUBA!
The most Magnificent Panorama in the World!

THIS Splendid Painting, which has attracted so much attention, was executed by the Great AMERICAN ARTIST, CHAPPELL, Who with the assistance of two talented artists, devoted more than seven years to this great work.

Major Felch, of Boston,

Having purchased this wonderful production of art, now fully completed, at a net cost of FIFTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, respectfully informs the citizens of this place, that he will open it

AT THE TEMPLE,
ON MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 23d,
For a short time only.

On Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, an entertainment will be given for Ladies and Children.

That nothing may be wanting on the part of the management, to make this the best entertainment ever offered, an engagement has been effected, at a large expense, with the celebrated

SIG. MORILLO,

Who will introduce at each exhibition, his renowned LILLIPUTIAN FAMILY, or ITALIAN PANTOCINI,

In their wonderful performances, representing animated nature in such a life-like manner, as to completely amaze and astonish the beholder.

In connection with the whole will be given a Grand Vocal and Instrumental Concert, By Miss Isabella Merrill & Mast. Colman Blodgett, the Celebrated Infant Performer. Making the most highly chaste, intellectual and mirthful entertainment ever offered for your consideration.

☞ Tickets only 15 cts. Doors open at 7; to commence at 7½ o'clock.

Felch & Bartlett, Proprietors.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 18.

SENATE.—Mr. Cooper of Pennsylvania, introduced a bill granting land to Pennsylvania to aid in the completion of the Sunbury and Erie Railroad. He pointed out the benefit to result from the completion of the railroad connecting between Philadelphia and Erie, and argued the justice of allowing the old states to share in the public lands or their proceeds.

Mr. Wade of Ohio thought the application came with very bad grace from Pennsylvania, while she permitted the railroad outrages at Erie. If this grant was to be made it should be with a condition that Pennsylvania would permit other states to form connection between roads over her territory.

Mr. Cooper said that there was an unwritten history of the events leading to the Erie troubles which, when known, would place the matter in a different aspect, and the wrongs and insults endured by the people of Erie at the hands of railroad companies of other states would then appear. Bill referred.

Mr. Phelps's question was postponed in consequence of the illness of Mr. Phelps.

HOUSE.—In the House, Mr. Bissell, from the Military Committee, reported a bill for the relief of the United States troops, who are sufferers by the recent disaster to the San Francisco. It provides that there shall be paid, under the direction of the President of the United States, to each officer, non-commissioned officer, musician or private, who, on the 21st of December, embarked at New York under orders for California, in the steamer San Francisco, and who was on board the vessel in the recent disaster, a sum equal in amount to pay and allowance for four months. If any such officer, non-commissioned officer, musician or private shall have died before receiving this payment, his widow, if one survives him, and if not, then his children, if any, shall be paid a sum equal in amount to six months pay and allowance. Passed.

The House then took up and passed the bill making appropriations for the West Point Academy.

Mr. Gerritt Smith opposed the bill in a long speech, in the course of which he denounced the war spirit as a relic of barbarism, and contended that all debts incurred by a nation in the pursuit of war, were unjust, and that it was the duty of the people to repudiate them. No doctrine, he said, should be more indignantly scouted than that one generation, in pursuit of such an object, should lay claim to the earnings and mortgage the industry of the coming generations.

Mr. Smith was frequently interrupted by calls to order, but the Speaker in each case decided in his favor.

The Deficiency Bill was then taken up in committee, when Mr. Smith of Alabama resumed his remarks in reply to Mr. Cutting, occupying the time of the House until the adjournment.

APPOINTMENT OF APPRAISER IN BOSTON.—Aaron Hobart of Boston has been appointed assistant Appraiser at our Custom House, in place of Samuel Eveleth, deceased. This is a good appointment of a proper man for the station. Mr. Hobart has been the victim of political circumstances. As a Democrat of the first water, he has figured with some influence and distinction in the politics of Norfolk and Suffolk counties. He might have been Collector of Boston, had General Cass been chosen President instead of General Taylor. He might have been Naval Officer of Boston under General Pierce, if more potent influence than he possessed had not been exercised against him. He might have preserved his reputation as a straight-out Democrat, if he had not found it convenient to become one of the Coalition cabinet of Governor Boutwell. He might have been Mayor of Boston, if the Democrats who nominated him to that office had been strong enough to elect him and had stuck to him after he was nominated. But he has been made an Appraiser by the Secretary of the Treasury, and he has capacity and intelligence sufficient for the duties of the office, and we congratulate him and the appointing power upon the election.—Boston Post.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 17.—The wire suspension bridge between Newport and Covington, on the Licking River, gave way last evening, while two men were driving some cattle across. The men fortunately escaped.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.—The final success of Senator Phelps, of Vermont, is doubted at Washington, though a majority of the committee reported in his favor.

The appointment by the House of a select committee on the Pacific Railroad is considered a decisive indication that the measure will pass.

MAINE.—In the Maine Senate on Tuesday, the minority of the Committee on Elections reported all the vacancies which exist in that body, and also the constitutional candidates to fill them. They said:

Finding all efforts entirely ineffectual to induce the majority of the committee to make a full report, they having for the past ten days voted down all propositions of the majority to proceed in the performance of our duties, and have utterly refused to make any further report. We, the minority, having an earnest desire to proceed with the organization of the government, and to the performance of those duties enjoined upon us by the constitution, beg leave to make a report in full.

The report was signed by Newel Blake, William Lowell, Franklin Muzzy and Nathaniel Blake. The reception of the report was objected to by Mr. Moore, the Chairman of the Counting Committee. The presiding officer declared it out of order, and could not be sustained and upon an appeal threw the casting vote to sustain his decision.

AN ALTERNATIVE.—Mary Wilson, a modest appearing girl, was brought into the Police Court, yesterday afternoon, charged with spending her evenings in the street, for immoral purposes. Her appearance but little indicated a foundation for such a charge, yet it was substantiated, and she was allowed two days, in which to gather her effects and leave the city, or as an alternarive, a home for three months in the House of Correction. Mary has respectable relations, among whom is a sister, married to a merchant in Portland, but the shame of her past misdeeds, leads her to avoid their society.—Boston Com.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Mosquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Diarrhœa in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

SAMUEL COOPER,

Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newspaper, female special correspondence, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz.:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews, per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases in ADVANCE. Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $30; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $80; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 42 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice and opinions rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business, or transacted the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fatal disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box.

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., SATURDAY, JANUARY 21, 1854. VOLUME 3. NO. 148.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

is published by

FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,

At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,

Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,

A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

The Boston correspondent of the New York Herald, writing concerning the action of the Legislature, says:—"The rum law repeal has not been taken up, but it will not be allowed to wait long for action. A counting of heads is said to have shown a majority in favor of repeal, so far as the opinions of the representatives on the subject are known; but as there are more than fifty members whose opinions are unknown, it would be hazardous to depend upon any calculation. The question will be decided, but not with reference to its own merits, but to the effect of action in party politics.

The most devoted partisans are rather afraid of it. The whigs, being in power at present, have the most to fear. It might be dangerous for them, as a party, to sustain the law fully—and it would surely be dangerous for them to come out as a party for its repeal. There is a division of opinion in every party on the question:—but a large majority of legal voters in Massachusetts, (we should think three fourths of all besides Boston and its non-resident business men,) are in favor of sustaining the law, with such amendments as to make it operate easier and with more effect.

IRON STEAMERS.—These vessels possess some advantages undoubtedly—but when they break up, it is done so suddenly and so quietly that those on board have but a poor chance to escape a ducking. The late English papers contain an account of the unceremonious sinking of one, the Perseverance, in the English Channel off the Isle of Wight. During pleasant weather, when about six miles from Dunmore, one of the stokers suddenly rushed on deck, greatly alarmed, and exclaimed that the vessel had sprung a leak and was fast sinking. Such was found to be the fact, and the crew had only just time to lower the boats, when the vessel went down in twenty fathoms of water. The crew succeeded in reaching Ventnor. The Perseverance was an iron boat and only two years old.

THE BACK OF A LADY'S HEAD.—Of the beauty of the back part of a woman's head, the Home Journal has the following:

We forget in what gallery of Europe (but we think in Dresden,) we first saw the portrait of the back part of a lady's head. It was a new revelation to us—a Vespuccian discovery of another half to the world of woman's loveliness. We stood before that delicious picture, we remember, profoundly astonished that we had never before noticed what wonderful beauty there may be in the back of a lady's neck—in the grace of the curves from the shoulders up, and downwards from the dark mass of the proportionately poised head; in the two arches with which the roots of the hair bend away from the spine; in the rich fullness of the massive braids swelling up to the knot; in the roguish lawlessness of the short curls which had escaped from the comb at the edges; and, (in this particular picture) in the slight tan with which the glowing fresh color was shaded on the rounded fullness of the shoulders, while a chance loosening of the dress revealed by a line of pearly whiteness, the limit to which the sun had been permitted to kiss. Whatever this lady's face may have been, it would have been a most dead-letter office injustice not to have left to the world this portrait of the back of her head. It was rarely beautiful. The beauty itself is rare.—We have already looked for it since, of course, and have wondered at the utter unconsciousness with which this beauty on the reverse side is worn by many a plain-faced possessor of it. The present fashion of ladies' bonnets effectually smothers all distinction in the matter, making all ladies alike as we walk behind them—(very wisely and properly so, as we sit behind them in church,)—but it is surprising that no self-appreciation or vanity has ever been awakened on the subject, and still more surprising that artists have shown an indifference to it."

THE EVILS OF FALSE TEETH.—Not long since a gentleman who glories in the appellation of weigher and gauger to the United States, was employed in measuring a hogshead of molasses on South Market street.—The measurer had also in a fine set of upper teeth fresh from the dentist's laboratory. Just as he drew his measuring stick from the bung hole, he was so very unfortunate as to give a tremendous sneeze. The explosion consequent on this operation had hardly burst from his mouth, when he clapped his hand to his face and shouted, "where, where's my teeth—my new teeth?" The sneeze had proved too much for the ivory. A vain search was made for the missing teeth, when a bystander remarked that he saw something go in at the bung hole. A couple of laths were procured, nails driven in, and after two hours' paddling in the molasses, the teeth were drawn out all dripping from the dark liquid. This is a true story, but the measurer is not now in office.—Boston Trav.

SURE RECEIPT FOR HAPPINESS.—One of the wealthy merchants of Boston whose death the past year was universally mourned, often told his friends an anecdote which occurred in his own experience, and which was recommended to all those who desired to enjoy a serene old age, without allowing their wealth to disturb their peace of mind. He said that when he had obtained his fortune, he found he began to grow uneasy about his pecuniary affairs, and one night when he was about sixty years of age, his sleep was disturbed by unpleasant thoughts respecting some shipments he had just made. In the morning, he said to himself, "This will never do; it I allow such thoughts to gain the mastery over me, I must bid farewell to peace all my life. I will stop this brood of care at once, and at a single blow." Accordingly, he went to his counting room, and upon examination found he had $30,000 in money on hand. He made out a list of his relatives and others he desired to aid, and before he went to bed again he had given away every dollar of the thirty thousand. He said he slept well that night, and for a long time after his dreams were not disturbed by anxious thoughts about his vessels or property.—Transcript.

The late Col. J. M. Goodhue, original editor of the St. Paul Pioneer, was a wag and satirist. At one time, while seated in a public place with a number of his friends, a man whose habits were not of the fast kind, but whose laziness was proverbial, passed on horseback. One of the company involuntarily exclaimed—

"How did G. ever get on that horse?"

"He got on when it was a colt," returned Goodhue.

On another occasion, he had purchased some cedar posts of a St. Anthony merchant, and as they were not on hand at the appointed time, he wrote in pencil mark on the margin of his paper addressed to the merchant, "Don't post-pone my lumber;" which had the desired effect—the posts were forthcoming immediately.—St. Anthony Ex.

☞ Every one has admired Parthenia's definition of love, to Ingomar:

"What love is, if thou would'st be taught,
Thy heart must teach alone—
Two souls with but a single thought,
Two hearts that beat as one."

Some protane cynic, having no fear of Cupid before his eyes, has perpetrated the following villainous parody:

"Love is a nightmare with one foot;
Two children with one bun;
Two turnips with a single root;
Two cabbage-heads as one!"

A man in Wisconsin, who recently inserted a long advertisement in the papers, offering his farm for sale, closed it in the following sublimely ridiculous style: "The surrounding country is the most beautiful the God of nature ever made. The scenery is celestial—divine—also, two wagons to sell and a yoke of steers."

A NEW KIND OF RATTLESNAKE.—Lieut. Aubrey, in his journey last summer across the country from the Pacific shore to the Rio Grande, encountered many rattlesnakes of an uncommonly large size, and differing from the ordinary species in the fact that their tails were covered for a distance of some six inches from the point, with alternate white and black rings of hair or bristles, about a quarter of an inch in length.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston,

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621w1y

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, JAN. 21, 1854.

CHARITIES AND HONORS.

The editor of the Boston Transcript is receiving subscriptions for a Miss Eliza Carroll, who was in the family of Major Charles S. Marchant, and who has lost everything by the wreck of the San Francisco, her health being also impaired by suffering and exposure. She belongs to Newburyport, and is said to be every way deserving of aid.

A correspondent of the Boston Post urges raising, by subscription, money to remunerate, in some degree, the brave sailors who aided in rescuing the passengers from the San Francisco steamer. He offers ten dollars for himself and ten more from friends. "We hope, (says the editor of the Post,) this matter will be taken in hand by some benevolent person disposed to wait upon our citizens generally, and thus ascertain what can be accomplished. If any such person will call on us we shall be happy to communicate to him the name of our correspondent, and to render him any further aid in our power—material and otherwise."

We hope so too:—for the sailors had to stand the brunt of the labor and danger, and ought surely to come in for a share of the honor and the reward.

R. B. Forbes, Esq., is collecting a purse for presentation to Captain Watkins, of the San Francisco, and has already procured $1000. It is a matter independent of the merchants' collection.

FRENCH SPOLIATIONS.

The following view of these just claims, from the Eastern Argus, is commended to general notice.

Mr. Hamlin, from a Select Committee, has reported to the Senate a bill to satisfy the just claims of American citizens for French spoliations upon our commerce prior to 1800. We are glad to see this; although so many bills of a similar character have passed one branch of Congress, and been lost in the other, that our hopes for success of Mr. Hamlin's bill are somewhat less confident than the merits of the case are calculated to justify. Yet we are glad the measure has been introduced, because there are some good reasons for believing that Congress will at last do justice to the claimants. The condition of the Treasury is favorable to such action, and we understand that in some quarters, where effective opposition has heretofore been made to it, the disposition now is more favorable. A bill to satisfy these claims passed the Senate during last Congress, and there was probably a majority in the House who were favorable to it. But it was never reached for final action, in consequence of a decision of the Speaker, which had the effect to suffocate it under a great mass of other business upon the Speaker's table. Thus it not only died itself, but had the effect to kill a good many other bills, which its enemies would not act upon lest they might reach the French bill, which they didn't want to reach.

We hope Mr. Hamlin's bill will meet a better fate. It has been started early, and has a fair chance, therefore, to be acted on. Its success would carry joy to many families in Maine, for there are numerous claims existing in this State which have never been arranged, and which are held by those who need very much their just value.

We do not add anything with reference to the general merits of these claims, because they have been so much discussed during the last thirty years by the press, and in Congress and State Legislatures, that the people must be quite familiar with their character. We hope the discussion is now to be finally closed by the passage of a bill for their satisfaction.

UNPROFITABLE AGENCY.—The city agent in Worcester, Mass., sold, during the last quarter, liquor to the amount of $250.98. The profit on this would not pay store rent.

We find the above in the papers, and suppose it to be correct. Worcester has a population of 17,000. If the unlicensed sale of liquors is not extra large, Worcester must be a temperate city. It would be worth while to know something about that;—with the number of paupers there, the crime, arrests, &c. for purposes of comparison.

THE PRESIDENT ON THE ERIE RIOTS.—A letter from Senator Chase, dated at Washington, 12th instant, appears in the Cincinnati Gazette of Tuesday last. He says:—"Having been informed of the rescue by a mob, from the custody of the Marshal, of several rioters, I called, with Mr. Wade, upon the President, to ascertain what course would be adopted in case the rioters should persevere in their resistance to federal process. The President said he should act with decision whenever a proper case for the intervention of government was presented, but as yet the necessary evidence of obstruction to law by a combination too powerful to be suppressed by ordinary political proceedings or by the Marshal had not been submitted. The Secretary of War expressed the same views."

The American Colonization Society held its annual meeting at Washington on Tuesday evening. It appears from the report of the Secretary, which was read, that the receipts for the past year were $84,450. The expenditures were considerably more, leaving the Society in debt about $20,000. During the year 783 emigrants were sent to Liberia. The colony is represented to be in a prosperous condition. Her commercial and political importance is rapidly advancing.

Mr. McMullen, member of Congress, has been arrested and bound over to keep the peace, on the charge of assaulting the bar keeper of Brown's Hotel.

OBEDIENCE TO GOVERNMENT.

A gentleman in Manchester, N. H. has sent us an admirable Sermon, preached in that city on last Thanksgiving day, by Rev. Samuel C. Bartlett, pastor of the Franklin street Church. We have no knowledge of the author or his denomination; but if this sermon be a fair specimen only, of his workmanship, neither he nor his friends need to be ashamed of it.

The Sermon is from two texts, viz. Rom. XIII: 1, 25. Let every soul be subject to the higher powers, &c.—and Acts IV: 19, 20. Whether it be right to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye, &c.

The following brief extract shows the character and design of the discourse.

In the passages of scripture which furnish the basis for this discourse, we find two diverse exhibitions: on the one hand, the strenuous injunction of conscientious obedience to civil authority, even when the government was a despotism, and Nero was its head; and on the other, the equally strenuous refusal of the apostles to obey the great council of their nation, and the vindication of that disobedience as then the plainest act of duty. And observe the point at which these paths unite. Obedience is enjoined, because government is the ordinance of God, for the Lord's sake, for conscience' sake,—because and so far as God's authority is in it; the refusal was also as an act of obedience to God, because they must obey God rather than men,—because and so far as obedience to the civil authority would have been in opposition to the plain commands of God, and no further. Plain duty to God is the basis and the limit. The rule and the exception rest on the same great principle; the exception admits the rule, and the rule approves the exception. The proposition which I shall discuss is this: The Divine institution of Civil Government establishes the duty and the limitations of civil obedience.

I propose to discuss neither parties nor measures nor men, but principles, moral and religious; and as these lie wholly within my province as a minister of the gospel, I propose to range that province with perfect freedom. If my hearers will suspend their judgment till the close of my discussion, I am not without the hope of gathering the scattered fragments of truth into a consistent whole, acceptable to all.

We think the author does very nearly what he promises—and that is praise enough.

WARNING TO DEMOCRATS.—The Eastern Argus says, in tones of warning:

Are our democratic friends of the Granite State aware that a combination is in progress between the whigs, free-soilers, and certain temperance politicians of the Dud. Palmer school, to carry their Legislature at the next election? We can assure them that it is so, and that the contest will be no child's play.—Through the length and breadth of the State, they are to be denounced as "rummies," and the great moral element of the "Maine Law" will be brought to bear against them with great power. We speak from the book, for some of the wire-pullers are down here in Maine, and we have had a peep behind the curtain. A delegation from this State will soon be perambulating New Hampshire, whose purpose will be to induce the people to override their party attachments, for the sake of the Cause. These men will profess to be wonderfully democratic themselves, and disavow earnestly all political intentions. They need watching. If our New Hampshire friends would know what can be done by a false use of a noble question, let them look to Maine.

We wish our readers to remember that we have thus sounded the note of alarm. If any of that "delegation" from Maine come along this way, we shall go to hear them, and if they dare to "denounce our democratic friends as rummies," we shall be out upon them with our "organ for defence." There are no better temperance men in this city than some in that party. The orators must be foolish to denounce them. Rev. Messrs. Peck and Miner, the last lecturers here, did not do anything like it, Any one who did, would not make out much in this city.

☞ The Whig Senatorial Convention for Dist. No. 1, is to be held at the Franklin House in this city, on Tuesday next.

FIRE.—The new City Hall, in Chambers street, New York, was partially destroyed by fire on the evening of the 19th. Loss on building $50,000; contents $25,000; library $10,000.

THE NAPOLEON.—Great complaint is made of Capt. Strout, of the brig Napoleon, for his deserting of the San Francisco in her distress, after cheering their hearts by promising to be by them during the night. Some of the crew of the Napoleon say that they could have accommodated forty or fifty people. Capt. S. says he was short of provisions—but that was not the question. There were provisions enough aboard the S. F. It is an unhappy position for any master to be placed in, with this odium upon him of deserting a vessel in so frightful a position as was this steamer.—Portland Argus.

SAD CATASTROPHE.—On Tuesday, Jan. 17, as Mr. William H. Griffin, of Rollinsford, was riding in a sleigh, under the railroad bridge, near Hussey's Brook, in North Berwick, his horse became frightened by the approach of a train of cars, and, suddenly turning, threw Mr. Griffin violently against one of the abutments of the bridge and produced instant death. Mr. Griffin was 73 years and 10 months old.—Great Falls Journal.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 19.—A bill forfeiting the charter of the Franklin Canal Company passed a second reading in the Senate, and was then laid over. [The Franklin Canal Company has a short railroad, which is connected with those of the western companies.]

LOCAL.

FIRST PAGE.—Many articles, prepared for the inside of one day's Morning Chronicle, are unavoidedly laid over; and they are very commonly inserted on the first page of the next day's paper. So, without any special direction, let the reader look at every page of the paper

☞ At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Thursday evening, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, in behalf of themselves and the city, present their thanks to the Fire Department and other citizens, for their prompt, energetic and successful efforts in extinguishing the fire in Vaughan street, last Saturday evening, which at one time threatened the destruction of a considerable portion of the city.

NEW ORGANS.

Every true musician must hail with delight the invention of new and beautiful instruments in his own art; and if any one could discover a process whereby a very cheap and simple instrument may expand itself into one of the most complex and powerful, he would be hailed as a genius or suspected as a wizard.

Our musical neighbor of the Messenger used to speak of our daily morning melody as the blowing of a tiny horn—but all at once (about a week ago) he waked up and found out that we were playing an Organ, that monarch of instruments, in describing which he very ingeniously characterized the instrument as an organ for "defence," which we should suppose ought to be a very substantial affair. In the same paragraph he plays second fiddle to our unknown correspondent L., who composed a plaintive movement against the Post Master, to which we played an accompaniment rather stronger than the air itself, and seemed to cover it up.

We responded as musically and pleasantly as we knew how, to L., by correcting all his important errors, and getting him as nearly on the track of harmony as possible. No sooner had we got him there, however, than the Messenger secondo comes out with a new role against the Post Master, as follows:

"To get all the compensation possible for his official duties, he keeps back the list of letters to be advertised until the mails are opened on the morning of the day of publication, so as to make the list as large as possible."

These statements do not exactly harmonize with the truth; for the publication of the list, large or small, does not affect the post master's compensation to the extent of a single copper: and he does not include the last mail received in the list of letters remaining.

Now, having run over the whole scale of the Post Horn, and offered this little response on the Organ, we come to a rest, waiting the motion of the distinguished artist who presides at the Great Bellows. And as the whole instrument is an immense concern, the musical public may have (as in the present case) to wait a week for the wind to travel from the Bellows to the Pipes.

Coda.—We cannot say, certainly, for the above reason, whether this is the finale, or the finality, as the politicians have it; or whether another concert will come off shortly.

WORTHY OF ATTENTION.

We congratulate our citizens on having an opportunity to enjoy, at the Temple, a view of that truly beautiful and justly celebrated work of art, Chappell's great Kinetescope or moving view of the Island of Cuba. By an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that Major Felch is to exhibit this magnificent panorama in this place on Monday evening. We need not bespeak for him as large an audience as the Temple can hold.

This splendid painting has been exhibited in Boston and vicinity for four or five months past, and has met with unparallelled success;—in some places so great has been the desire to see it, that it had to be exhibited twice every evening, for several consecutive evenings. Eminent citizens of Havana who have seen it exhibited in Boston, testify to its strict accuracy of delineation, and "recommend it as a faithful representation of their country, and worthy of every protection." John Neal, of Portland, whose taste in works of art will not be doubted, says of it, "parts are worth framing for exhibition as pictures, and so beautiful is the Moorish architecture—not Spanish—with its aerial distinctness, and the water through all its changes, and the atmosphere, so rich, so warm and vapory, and so strongly tinted are the landscapes, huts, buildings and foliage, with the hues of a tropical region, as to leave no doubt of their truth."

The Transcript, Traveller, Herald, Register, Post, &c., of Boston, speak in the highest terms of the work; and as a panoramic delineator Major Felch is regarded as second to none.

That nothing might be wanting to render the entertainments satisfactory to all tastes, the proprietor has engaged the celebrated Signor Morrillo with his Lilliputian family, whose performances alone are worth the price of admission. He has also secured the services of Miss Merrill and Master Blodgett to discourse music to the audience.

Royal W. Pierce, brakeman on the Providence and Worcester Railroad, who was so severely jammed between the cars last Thursday, died on Sunday morning, after intense suffering. He belonged to North Kingstown.

ST. LOUIS, 20th.—The weather here is very cold, and the river so frozen that teams cross it safely. About two hundred vessels are at Cairo waiting for the river to open. A large number of emigrants are also there in a destitute condition.

In 1840, the population of Chicago was 4853. It is now 60,625. The present rate of increase is 16,000 a year.

FIRE AT SAVANNAH.—A despatch from Savannah says a large fire occurred in that city on Tuesday, destroying five stores. Loss $100,000.

THE NEW TREATY WITH MEXICO.—New York, 20th.—The Herald this morning publishes the following important news from Washington exclusively.

The steamer Texas, at New Orleans, brought Gen. Gadsden's treaty with Mexico. The boundary agreed on commences 3 miles north of El Paso, thence southwest, a league south of Lake Guzman to 31st deg. of latitude, and 111th deg. of longitude west from Greenwich, thence northwest to a point two leagues above the mouth of the river Colorado.

The United States' new territory embraces nearly all of Pimeria, about 39,000,000 acres. The eleventh article of the treaty of Gaudaloupe Hidalgo is cancelled. Mexico is to receive $20,000,000 in fifteen months; $3,000,000 on the ratification of the treaty, and the balance in tri-monthly instalments, with interest, and of which $5,000,000 are to be set apart to pay American claims, including the Garay indemnity; but it is stipulated that before the Garay people receive any portion of the indemnity, they shall release to the Mexican government all title to land now claimed by them on the Isthmus.

This is all the mention made of the Garay company in the treaty. If the United States wish, they can pay the whole amount mentioned at once, and save interest. A Board of Commissioners is to be appointed at Washington, to adjust all claims.

Santa Anna is going for a short time to his Hacienda. Gen. Salas is to be the despot ad interim. The Empire will be proclaimed as soon as the treaty is ratified.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, Jan. 19.

SENATE.—A resolution of inquiry was adopted as to the propriery of extending the law regulating pensions to widows of revolutionary soldiers, and to the widows of soldiers of the war of 1812.

Mr. Gwin offered a resolution of inquiry as to the disposal of the naval force of the United States at the time the Sonora expedition left California. Mr. Gwin supported his resolution at some length, contending that the naval force at present on the Pacific was totally inadequate either to protect our commerce or prevent fillibustering expeditions from California. He referred to the Sonora expedition, and stated that a single vessel with but a single gun would have been sufficient to have prevented it. He thought it useless for the President to issue proclamations against fillibustering, unless such proclamation was accompanied with an adequate force. He believed that expeditions were now going, and would continue to go, to Sonora, in spite of proclamations, or of any force at present in the Pacific, and concluded by expressing the hope that the treaty which has been negotiated with Mexico embraced all territory which that government would not defend. If it did not, he would endeavor to have it so modified.

Mr. Gwin was replied to by Messrs. Petit, Badger, and Shields. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The Committee on Military Affairs was instructed to inquire into the expediency of a military road from the Great Salt Lake to California.

The House went into committee on resolutions referring to the President's Message—Mr. Keitt, of South Carolina and Mr. Hughes of New York occupying the floor—the former in defence of South Carolina and Slavery, and the latter with a labored exposition of the causes which led to the breach in the New York Democratic party, and a defence of the conduct of the Softs.

When Mr. Hughes had finished, Mr. Cutting made an unsuccessful attempt to get the floor for a personal explanation, when, pending the debate, the committee rose and the House adjourned.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.—News from California to the 30th ult. received, but the despatches came sealed, contents unknown.

The California mail was brought from Acapulco to Vera Cruz in 52 hours and 14 minutes.

There are rumors of the loss of another Pacific steamer on Christmas day. Passengers and property saved.

There are rumors also of failures among the banking houses of San Francisco.

AN EMPIRE RUINED BY WAR.—The public debt of Austria is stated at over $500,000,000 at the present time—and the average annual deficit in its income, at $30,000,000.

TWO MOOSE AT ONE SHOT.—A few days since a boy about 14 years of age, son of Barlow Hall, of Ellsworth, Me., while out hunting, shot two fine moose at one discharge of his rifle. The carcasses were brought to Ellsworth, and sold for about twenty dollars.

SUICIDE OF A CLERGYMAN.—D. C. Clark, a Methodist minister, committed suicide at Harrisburg, La. He belonged to Brooklyn, N. Y., and has resided in Washington City.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON THE HARLEM RAILROAD.—The Harlem Express train from Albany met with a terrible accident at Mechanicsville, about forty-five miles from New York, on Tuesday morning. The disaster occurred at a curve in the road, on an embankment, and was attributable to the breaking of the flange of one of the engine wheels. The train was going at the rate of forty miles an hour at the time, and such was the momentum of the engine, that it turned completely round in going down the embankment, throwing the baggage car which was attached to it, some seventy feet behind it into a pond of water. Fortunately the pin which connected the passenger cars with the baggage car was thrown out by the shock, and the passenger cars remained on the track, none of the inmates receiving any injury. James Baird, the engineer, and Michael Lippard, the fireman of the train, were both killed. The following persons, who occupied the baggage car, were severely injured: L. J. Griffin, a farmer from Lake Malropac, leg fractured and serious internal injuries; Peter Smith, brakeman,—shoulder dislocated; Edward Lockwood, baggage master, and Henry Lewis, contractor of wood for the company, both badly injured, but particulars unknown.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Sweelings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

SAMUEL COOPER,

Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

HENRY B. RENWICK, J. D. GALE, J. H. LANE, Principal Examiners.
T. R. PEALE, THOS. H. EVERETT, F. SOUTHGATE SMITH, WM. CHAUNCY LANGDON, Assistant Examiners.

From long acquaintance and intimate official relations with Mr. Cooper, I fully and heartily concur in the foregoing recommendation made by my late colleagues.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hasty written newspaper pseudo speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases in advance. Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but twenty-four cents a year for "Blackwood," and but twelve cents a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as Nature's Kindest Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

FORBES'S
Universal self-recommending Gutta-Percha Water Repellent.

This Compound is entirely free from Acid. A single application of it, which is made with very little trouble, is sufficient to impart an immediate permanent polish.

The lustre produced by the application of this compound is not only water proof, but absolutely waterproof, and applied once a week is sufficient, as it is a permanent immediate polish.

This Compound being water repellent, and unaffected by water, is equally adapted to wet and dry weather, as the leather to which it is applied, may be washed without destroying the lustre.—And as a small quantity is required, a single jar will last six months or a year. For sale by

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption cure is cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($00 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

THE SAN FRANCISCO.

The army officers resident in New York and vicinity, held a meeting at the Astor House, on Tuesday, and passed resolutions expressive of the appreciation of the officers of the army present, of the gallant conduct and unwearied devotion of the officers and crews of the several vessels who assisted in rescuing the passengers from the wreck of the late steamer San Francisco. The Secretary of the Navy was requested to place a copy of the resolutions in the hands of the British minister at Washington.

Dr. Wm. P. Buel, who was surgeon on board the San Francisco, publishes a letter, dated Pittsfield, Jan. 16, in which some important statements are made in regard to the sickness and death on board the steamer. It will be remembered that those who furnished the accounts of the disaster, ascribe the sickness to dissipation and gluttony, by excessive indulgence in preserved fruits and meats, together with the drinking of spirituous liquors. Dr. Buel contradicts all these statements, and gives the following account of the sickness:

"The true cause of the fatal and distressing sickness which broke out in the San Francisco on the sixth or seventh day of the wreck, was identical with the cause of mortality in our emigrant ships, only more intense in degree Listen to a true statement of facts.

Previous to the storm 400 soldiers had been berthed on the main deck. After it, all except 125 washed overboard, were driven below, and being added to those already there, made an aggregate of 500 men, women and children, crammed into quarters never designed for more than 200.

The sickness, which was essentially malignant cholera, was most fatal in the second cabin, occupied principally by soldiers' families. This apartment was arranged as follows:—On both sides of a central space of about ten feet in width was arranged a kind of alcove twelve feet in depth, athwart-ships; in two tiers of three each, the foot of one berth to the head of another; a passage between of just sufficient width for a person to pass. Each alcove had a large air port, which in good weather would have afforded sufficient ventilation. Not one was opened during the entire period, or could have been without sinking the ship. These alcoves formed perfect culs de sac. Here, among the women and children, the cholera commenced. They had never seen or tasted any of the preserved meats or fruits. On this point I made the most particular inquiries. Their food had been hard bread and cold water, and nothing else. It was all we had to give them, except that some had mixed vinegar or molasses with the water. These alcoves, after the first day or two, were filled with the sick, the dying and the dead. The atmosphere in them was such that I felt it to be at the risk of my life every time I entered them.

These unfortunates could not leave their berths to attend to the ordinary wants of nature. The result can be better imagined than described. We have here then, in operation, excessive overcrowding and accumulated filth, without ventilation; bad air, meagre and insufficient diet. Add to these the strong influences of moral causes, all the depressing passions, fear, anxiety, agony of mind. Shall we look any further? Not one in ten of these victims touched or tasted preserved meats or fruits.

Let me add that every effort was made to cleanse and purify these places, but in the existing state of things, it was morally impossible. Fumigations of coffee, sugar, vinegar, &c., upon hot coals, were resorted to. But these, though they may relieve unpleasant odors, cannot convert a foul atmosphere into a healthy one.

WIVES SAVE YOUR HUSBANDS.—The following should be read by every woman in the country, married or unmarried—yes, it should be committed to memory and repeated three times a day, for it contains more truth than many volumes that have been written on the subject:

"How often we hear a man say, I am going to California, Australia or somewhere else. You ask him the reason of his going away, and the answer is, in nine cases out of ten, 'I am not happy at home. I have been unfortunate in business, and I have made up my luck in California. The world seems to go against me. When fortune favored me, there were those whom I thought to be my friends, but when the scale turned, they also turned the cold shoulder against me. My wife, she that should have been the first to have stood by me and encourage me, was the first to point the finger of scorn, and say, it is your own fault, why has this or that one been so fortunate? If you had attended to your business as they have, you would not be where you are now.'

These and other like insinuations, often drive a man to find other society, other pleasures in consequence of being unhappy at home. He may have children that he loves; he cannot enjoy life with them as he would, he may love them as dearly as ever; yet home is made unpleasant in consequence of that cold indifference of the wife. Now I would say to all such wives, sisters, and in fact, all females, deal gently with him that is in trouble; remember that he is very easily excited. A little word carelessly thrown out may inflict a wound time never can heal. Then be cautious; a man is human—therefore he is liable to err. If you see him going wrong, ever meet him with a smile, or a kiss of affection, show that you love him by repeated acts of kindness; let your friendship be unbounded; try to beguile his unhappy hours in pleasant conversation. By so doing you may save yourself and children from an unhappy future.

When a man is in trouble it is but a little word that may ruin him; it is but a little word that may save him."—Merchants' Ledger.

PEEL'S FIRST EFFORT IN ORATORY.—Soon after Peel was born, his father, the first baronet, finding himself rising daily in wealth and consequence, and believing that money in those peculiar days could always command a seat in Parliament, determined to bring up his son expressly for the House of Commons. When that son was quite a child, Sir Robert would frequently set him on the table and say, 'Now Robin make a speech and I will give you this cherry.' What few words the little fellow could produce were applauded, and applause stimulating exertion, produced such effects that before Robin was ten years old he could readily address the company with some degree of eloquence.

As he grew up his father constantly took him every Sunday into his private room and made him repeat, as well as he could, the sermon which had been preached. Little progress in effecting this was made, and little was expected at first; but by steady perseverance, the habit of attention grew powerful, and the sermon was repeated almost verbatim. When at a very distant day the Senator, remembering accurately the speech of an opponent, answered his arguments in correct succession, it was little known that the power of so doing was originally acquired at Drayton church.—Memoirs of the Dean of York.

GREAT EXCITEMENT.—The ringing of the bells on Sunday last, about dusk, threw our town into a great excitement for a few hours, the fact being announced that Capt. Luther Crocker, who, we understand, has become partially insane by dipping too deeply into spirit-rappings, had left his home at noon, taking with him a boy about twelve years of age, and that they were seen going out of town at 1 o'clock, since which time they had not been heard from. Fears being entertained that they might perish during the approaching cold night, their friends caused the town to be alarmed, and a careful search of all the houses and barns in the direction where they were last seen was vigorously commenced. They were found, however, at about 7 o'clock in the evening, by Mr. Samuel H. Winslow, who had seen them in that direction during the afternoon, on the end of Smith's Point, stowed away in the Humane House situated there, and would have frozen to death before morning, had they remained undisturbed. The object of the insane man in going to Smith's Point appears to have been a desire to get on the island of Tuckernuck, to preach to the inhabitants there, but failing to procure a passage across the channel, and being fatigued by the long journey thither, he concluded to remain on the Point during the night.—Nantucket Enquirer.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621wly

PORTAIT OF THE BEECHERS.

DRAWN BY STARR KING.

In the Universalist Quarterly for January, Rev. T. Starr King has given a good natured review of Dr. Edward Beecher's famous book, the Conflict of Ages. In doing this, he has sketched the following word-picture of the Beecher Family, at which all who know them must look with admiration of the family likeness and individual traits; and over which, unless we greatly mistake the character of the Beechers, their family circles will have at least one hearty laugh.

Mr. King, being a young man, may not have known, as he certainly does not mention, the fact, that the Old Doctor, Lyman Beecher himself, was assailed as a heretic and innovator, a dozen years ago, or more, by some of his conservative Presbyterian brethren at the West, where he then dwelt: and that the old patriarch, in his defence, complimented his assailants with the title of "Dry Nurses of the Church."

Hoping that this little dab of Uncle Toby's brush will not spoil Mr. King's picture, we copy it to please ourselves and the reader.

The association of the name Beecher with some form of uncompromising utterance or uncanonical speculation, has been so common, that a hasty reader is not likely to be surprised with any new and startling theory that may be linked to that heretical sign. The venerable Doctor has been called the father of more brains than any man in America. Certainly he is the father of more non-conformity than any other man can point to. The brains which owe their parentage to him have no sleepy quality, but attest their presence by the general mental effervescence in the region where they work. The Pastor of the Plymouth Church, in Brooklyn, enjoys (we use the word in its active sense) a widely questioned reputation for soundness. It has been said of him by a distinguished divine, and said as a reproach, that the only positive article of his creed, is, that men ought to be better; and as to the three cardinal evils, slavery, intemperance and bigotry, he has certainly published his creed pretty widely, and interpreted it so that nobody could misunderstand him. His brother, the Rev. Charles Beecher, is known by two printed discourses against all creeds, and a report endorsing the Tartarean origin of spirit-rappings. Miss Catherine Beecher attacked the dignitaries of Yale College, for upholding a young clergyman who had trifled with the affections of her friend, and gives us an amusing account of her flight from town to town, to evade her "various brothers in full pursuit" till the volume could be committed to the press. Mrs. Harriet, has struck a blow upon the heathenism of the state and the hunkerism of the church, which no masculine muscles could have swung, and which is echoing yet in the public sentiment of every nation. If the new theory be true, with which the name is now connected, and which we are to consider in this article, to what family of schismatic and chivalric angels that fell with the great apostate, must they be referred? Milton tells of none quite worthy to be their darkened ancestor.

The conservative feeling and thought of the family-stock, seemed concentrated in Dr. Edward Beecher, of Boston. He has always been reckoned a man of such substantial orthodoxy, such cool judgment, wide learning, and gravity of sense, as to stand for a counter weight to the unreliable impulses of his kindred,—the contribution made by the family blood to established ideas in order to maintain some equilibrium of influence in society. He has been regarded as a sort of pledge that the stock was not theologically lawless, and has even been looked upon as atoning for the rhetorical and emotional friskiness of his relations, by the weight and stamina of his allegiance to the recognized body of divinity. And yet it has been reserved for this man to crown the pyramid of eccentricities which his kindred have reared, and to lift his name the highest of all as a dissenter from the standards of Orthodoxy.

Mitchell, who is pleading so eloquently for the emancipation of Ireland, says of slavery: We do not hold that it is a crime, or even a peccadillo, to keep slaves to their work by flogging or other needful coercion, and we, for our part, wish we had a good plantation well stocked with healthy negroes in Alabama.

Poor Mitchel; he does not see how plainly he exhibits a brutal and ferocious spirit; nor can he be aware how exactly he displays the traits of Legree, in Uncle Tom's Cabin; but we think the American public are able to perceive that Mr. Mitchell does not understand the alphabet of freedom. He has been brought up in a bad school; and it is difficult for most men to correct their errors in mature life. We have much charity for the man; but can give his errors no quarter.

The Erie Amazons, it appears, were German women. The viragos to the number of about one hundred, armed themselves with axes, saws, and other manly instruments, and with genuine Amazonian spirit, tore up the offensive bridges and rails like men. Men and boys, it is said, were obliged to stand aside and let the work of destruction go on.

The papers don't say how much Lager Beer these ladies had imbibed, nor how much they knew about the merits of the quarrel. This move adds no dignity to the proceedings of our Erie brethren, and can do their cause no good.

THE LIQUOR LAW IN RHODE ISLAND,—Providence, Jan. 20.—The bill to repeal the Liquor Law, and substitute a license system, with no liquor to be drank on the premises, was laid on the table in the Senate this morning, by a test vote of 17 to 7.

UNIVERSALIST QUARTERLY, AND GENERAL REVIEW.—Vol. 11, No. 1, for January, contains the following articles: The Bible a sufficient Revelation; the Argument of Analogy, by T. B. Thayer; A Review of the Conflict of Ages, by T. Starr King; the Kind and Amount of Evidence necessary to establish the doctrine of endless hell-torment, by Massena Ballou; Christ the Light of the World, and the Life of the World, by the editor, Hosea Ballou 2d.; Literary Notices.

Published in Boston by A. Tompkins: Agent in Portsbouth J. P. Morse.

☞ "HOME SCENES AND HOME SOUNDS," by Mrs. H. Marion Stephens, is the title of a new work, just published by Ferridge & Co. The book embraces about 300 pages, and is handsomely got up. Mrs. Stephens is a beautiful writer, and "she has woven wreaths of beauty that have found their way to the great heart of the million, and been alike admired by those whose nicer sense of discrimination have invested them with the power of competent criticism."

So says somebody, we don't exactly know who—and "so say we all of us"—who have read the book. The book is destined to have a great run; for the writer paints a passion, and points a moral at the same touch. It is for sale by J. F. Shores, jr.

O. A. BROWNSON AND THE PROTESTANT CLERGY OF ST. LOUIS.—A correspondence has taken place between the Protestant clergy of St. Louis and O. A. Brownson. The former, assuming an article which appeared in a Roman Catholic paper, to convey a challenge to them, have addressed a letter to Mr. Brownson, in which they state that they are prepared to name the man to whom they are willing to commit the defence of the principles of Protestantism, in a public debate with him.

Mr. Brownson declines the challenge, in a letter, in the course of which he states, that he is not responsible for the article alluded to; that he is no friend to oral public discussions, from which he has never seen any good results, and adds:

"I could not, permit me to say, consent to meet your chosen champion, in the way you propose, without in some measure compromising the rights of my religion, conceding that the question between Catholics and Protestants is a debatable question, and granting that Catholicity and Protestantism in some sense stand on the same level—a concession to heresy and error, and an indignity to truth, of which, I trust in God, I shall never be guilty."

Will every reader, Protestant or Catholic, please to peruse the above sentences with care, and ponder them well. It seems to us that Mr. Brownson's assumptions are at once arrogant and contemptible. The rights of his religion are briefly summed up in this text, "Stand by thyself, come not near to me, for I an holier than thou." Job would say to him and such as he, "No doubt ye are the men, and wisdom shall die with you." And Solomon would add, that a fool is wiser in his own conceit, than seven men that can render a reason.

It would seem that some Brownson of the olden time must have set for all these pictures.

THE ERIE TROUBLES AND THE SOULE DUELS.—The Washington correspondent of the Tribune says a Cabinet meeting was held on Thursday to consider the Erie troubles.—Also, that it was rumored that Senator Houston would offer a resolution calling upon the President for information respecting the Soule duels at Madrid, and suggesting that the public interest will be subserved by Mr. Soule's recall.

CONSPIRACY FOR WAR.—We believe that there is much ground for the following assertion in the Washington correspondence of the New York Journal of Commerce It should awaken the attention of thoughtful citizens, of those "old fogies" who do not hold to the general right of fillibusterism, and who believe that national faith and treaty obligation mean something:

"There is a grand scheme on foot to get up a foreign war through the means of our foreign citizens. This country will be obliged to take up the quarrels, old and new, of the foreigners who flock to our shores. As soon as they declare intention of citizenship, they may go back on their mission of mischief. What with this element and our native fillibusterism, we cannot hope long to remain at peace."

We think that our government does quite enough for the oppressed and the discontented of the whole earth, when it offers them an asylum and extends to them the opportunity to earn an honest livelihood. It is not required to invest them with the rights of citizenship, on their simple declaration, and then to follow them all over the world, making their disputes national and taking up all their quarrels. When a bona fide American citizen is oppressed or injured by any power on the face of the earth, we would have his rights vindicated at every hazard; but when a native of another government, who has spent all his life in conspiracies and insurrections at home, comes here, declares his intention of becoming an American citizen, and illustrates his intention by immediately leaving our shores and plunging anew into the old conspiracies and insurrections, we think that he should be left to his own fighting.—Providence Journal.

RUMORED LOSS OF THE BRIG MARY JANE AND 144 LIVES.—Halifax, Jan. 20.—The brig Mary Jane, from Dublin for New York, with passengers, is reported ashore at Jedore Ledges, and out of 150 souls, only six are said to be saved. Cannot vouch for the truth of the statement,—will give particulars when known.

Latest Despatch, 12 o'clock.—No signs of the steamship Niagara.

LOCAL.

THE OLD ENGINES.

We are glad to see that the City Fathers have rescinded the vote to sell the two old Fire Engines, just displaced by two new ones.

We suggest for consideration by the citizens, the propriety of organizing new companies to work these old tubs. If they should be laid by and neglected for three or six months, they would be worth nothing except for old iron and fuel.

Now, at our very last fire, it is said they did good service. Why not man them, then, and have them located, one somewhere near the eastern end of Deer street, and the other not far from Long wharf. A look at the map of the city will show that there is room for them, at or near these points. There are men enough to handle them: eight engines are not too many: we have them on hand: why not use them?

LISZT AND MENDELSSOHN.—The New York Musical Review copies the letter which we received from a Music Teacher, who was offended with the article on the "Pupils of Liszt and Mendelssohn,"—and says:

Who the writer of this paragraph is, we know not; but it is a natural inference that he is one of the German musicians exposed in the article alluded to; that is, "one of that class of foreigners who came among us because they had not the knowledge or ability to stay at home."

If a sound musician and good teacher, there was nothing in the article alluded to, at which he could take offence. By wearing the cont he admits that it fits him. It is only quacks who are angry when quackery is exposed.

We are determined to pursue the work we have commenced, in which we have the sympathy of really good German as well as American musicians.

We have seen a letter from a musical man of eminence in New York, in answer to one from a professor in this city, in which he says, "the teacher you mentioned, was the one who wrote the offensive letter,"—meaning a letter published in the Musical World, and republished here. The author of the statement has the means of knowing its truth or falsity, and the whole case will probably be smoked out in due time. The honest men interested need not hurry the process now. Quackery needs the aid of falsehood:—talent and merit can afford to despise it.

VALENTINES.—St. Valentine's day is near at hand, and all sentimental young men and women, and some that are not sentimental, will want some of the interesting missives named after the St., with which to please or vex their acquaintances. Mr. J. H. Head has just received a choice assortment. For particulars see advertisement.

☞ We have at this present writing, (Saturday P. M.,) six inches of new snow, level and damp. They have about the same quantity at Portland.

FIRE.—The wooden block on Factory Island, Saco, in which the Union was printed, was destroyed by fire on Thursday morning. There were three stores in the block. Insurance known $3,375. Loss considerably more.

☞ Rev. A. B. Muzzey, of the Lee street church, Cambridge, has received a unanimous invitation to become the pastor of the Unitarian church, in Concord, N. H.

A CLERICAL SCOUNDREL.

The Lowell Journal of Friday, says, under the head of a "WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING:" we mentioned some weeks since, the arrest in this city (whither he had come to supply one of our pulpits,) of a Rev. J. W. Cooper, preacher to a mixed congregation at Groton Junction. The arrest was made on complaint for breach of promise. He had promised, it was asserted, to marry two Groton damsels. Immediately after the arrest, he did marry one, a daughter of Calvin Fletcher, Esq. of Groton. Cooper had managed himself into membership of Rev. Mr. Bulkley's (Congregational) church in Groton. This church, in consequence of the charges brought against Cooper, called a council to act upon his case. He was charged before the council with falsehood, with being a fugitive from justice, and with forgery of license to preach; all which charges were, in the opinion of said council sustained. His father-in-law, who had up to this time had unshaken confidence in his uprightness of character, now discarded him and bid him begone. He suddenly left the town and his young wife behind, for parts unknown. These facts we state on the authority of a member of the council.

The preliminary report of Governor Stevens, of Washington Territory, is, unexpectedly, favorable to the extreme northern route for the Pacific Railroad. He reports that Cadotte's Pass, in the Rocky Mountains, latitude forty seven and a half, is fifteen hundred feet lower than the South Pass. There is plenty of water, timber and coal, and the land is level all the way.—New York Com. and Eaq.

AWFUL SICKNESS AT CAIRO.—The Louisville Journal gives a sad account of the condition of affairs at Caiso. In consequence of the suspension of navigation, fourteen large steamers have been compelled to lay up, and have set ashore about two thousand deck passengers, chiefly immigrants. These persons were suffering dreadfully from want, and sickness was rapidly diminishing their numbers—very many dying daily from cholera and yellow fever. They were staying in the adjoining woods, keeping up large fires, and at last accounts there was no possibility of their getting away.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—In the House to-day, the debate on New York politics was resumed by Messrs. Cutting and Perkins.

Mr. Wade obtained the floor, when the Committee rose, and the House adjourned till Monday.

SAILING OF THE BALTIC—THE NEW YORK SUBSCRIPTIONS—DEATH OF M. BODISCO.—New York, Jan. 21.—The steamship Baltic sailed to-day at noon. She takes out no specie.

The subscriptions in this city for the San Francisco testimonials, amounted yesterday to $13,000.

M. Bodisco, the Russian minister, died at Washington yesterday.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 21.—At 4 o'clock this morning, a fire broke out in one of the stores under the Blossom Hotel. The fire made rapid progress, and the entire block from St. Paul east to Crystal Palace block, was soon a mass of ruins. The wind blew a stiff gale from the west, and at one time there appeared little doubt that the space from St. Paul to Clinton street would be swept. The loss is roughly estimated at $300,000.

The blocks on St. Paul street were occupied as boarding houses above, with stores below.

It is the largest fire that has occurred in Rochester for years.

FIRE!—About five minutes past 1 o'clock, Saturday morning, the store in Water street, Newburyport, occupied by Mr. David Scribner, was discovered to be on fire, and was completely destroyed. Loss on the stock of goods estimated at $17,000, and only 200.—Loss on the buildings about $600 and no insurance.

The fire when discovered was confined to that part of the building where friction matches were kept, and may have been caused by the cat in the store going among them after mice.

An explosion in the building after the upper part of it was well on fire, operated to spread the flames.—Herald.

ESCAPE OF A FORGER.—A young man named Philip Delannie, who was committed to jail in Provincetown, New Jersey, in September last, eloped a few days since with his jailor's wife. The "fair" one carried off about $400 with her, and the twain are supposed to be now on their way to Europe.

Mrs. Douglass, the lady convicted of teaching negro children to read in Norfolk, has been sentenced to one month's imprisonment and committed to jail.

SOMETHING NEW AT MOUNT VERNON.—On Saturday night, Mrs. Washington, the accomplished lady of John A. Washington, presented her husband with a large and beautiful son. This is the first male child ever born in the Washington mansion. This mansion was built, except the wings, in the year 1746, by Lawrence Washington, who left it to the General. It is consequently 108 years old.—Baltimore Sun.

Mr. H. Southwick has been arrested in Providence, on a charge of bigamy. He is said to have married in Providence, three weeks since, Miss Patience C. Hutchins of Bristol, having another wife and two children residing in Fall River.

A GOOD JOKE.—The city authorities of Marysville, California, recently passed an ordinance for the removal of outside stairs in that city. While the Council was in session a few days subsequently, the stairs leading to the Council Chamber were removed, and the dignified members of that body, according to the Herald, were compelled to "shin down the posts of the building.

BABIES IN FOR PREMIUM.—At the next State fair, in Augusta, Ga., southern babies are to be admitted as competitors for premiums. The babies must be between six months and two years old. The following is the list of premiums:

First premium—Silver pitcher, $50, for the handsomest and finest babe two years old.

Second premium—Silver pitcher, $25, for the handsomest and finest babe one year old.

Third premium—Silver goblet, $10, for the handsomest and finest babe six months old.

The children are to be clothed in the domestic fabrics.

The society is for the encouragement of home products.

The paper from which we copy the above important information, does not say whether the babies are to be black, white or mixed.

AN ITEM OF INTEREST.—Three Germans having been arrested last week in New York for burglary, one of them, Charles B. Bley, confesses that they were convicted of the same crime in Brunswick, Germany, in 1851, sentenced to the penitentiary, and pardoned by the Duke of Brunswick upon condition that they would come to the United States, and never return to Germany!

Accounts from Prince Edward's Island, report that the gale of the 23d Dec. was most destructive there, blowing down houses and barns, uprooting trees, and killing a large number of cattle. St. Paul's Church at Charlottetown, was unroofed and badly damaged.

FORGERY IN MANCHESTER.—The city marshal of Manchester, N. H., has made complaints against Joshua Dean, of Manchester, for forging certain notes and deeds to the amount of $1185. The forgeries are of the name of E. C. Page, a brother-in-law of Dean, who died suddenly at Dean's house in Oct. last, concerning whose death there was suspicions of foul play. Dean left Manchester a week before the discovery of the fraud.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner,'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be beleived, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothaches, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green wich street, New York.

SAMUEL COOPER,

Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

The British Quarterlies

AND

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between hastily written newspaper paragraphs, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE. money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and inquiries should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, for obtaining Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——.

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fall disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., TUESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1854. VOLUME 3. NO. 150.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE
is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three inserions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

DIOGENES' DICTIONARY OF MUSIC.

Chest voice.—A voice which comes from the chest, and which, if properly cultivated, brings a great deal into it. Tenors, possessing chest-voices, with real C's at the end of them, are gradually becoming extinct; and tenors with voce di testa, or voices which are detestable, are rising on all sides to the terror of civilized Europe. The Emperor of Russia used to be the chief speculator in tenors, but America has now come into the market, and threatens to outbid him completely. If the present demand for genuine tenors continues long in America and Russia, their value will become so enormous that England and France will not be able to afford anything more expensive than basses, and an occasional baritone. We believe that the terms on which Mario has been engaged to sing in America are as follows:

1. A salary of £10,000 a year; being twice the amount received by the President of the United States.

2. Half the receipts for three nights in the week, and a clear benefit on the other three nights.

3. Certificates of bronchitis, inflammation of the larynx, and other vocal disorders, to be at his command, whenever he feels indisposed—to appear on the stage.

4. The Manager to receive him at the door of the theatre, walking backwards, and holding four wax candles in each hand.

Chorus.—A musical composition written for many voices; also the proprietors of the voices for which the said musical composition is written. The chorus is principally employed in operas for the following purposes:

1. To congratulate the proprietor of a village on his return to his birth-place. Choruses of this description may be said to belong to the "Hail, happy-day" school, and will be found to be written more or less upon the model of the subjoined specimen:

Hail, happy day!
Happy day! Happy day! Happy day!
Hail, happy day!
Let's be gay! Let's be gay! Let's be gay!

2. To celebrate the triumph of a monarch. The raw material for this species of chorus is, "Long live the King!" to which the obligato rhyme is of course "sing."

3. To celebrate the downfall of a monarch —"Down with the Tyrant," &c.

4 To make a viva voce declaration of war against the inhabitants of some neighboring kingdom, none of whom are present at the time of the declaration being made. The most remarkable thing about a chorus of this description is, that the singers generally deliver it in the same attitudes as those in which they congratulate the proprietor of the village on his return to his birth-place.

At some minor theatres the chorus and ballet consist of the same persons. It has hitherto been impossible for us to find out whether these persons are singers who have not yet learned to dance, or dancers who have not been taught to sing.

Contralto.—In operas, a woman who has a man's voice; in cathedral choirs, a man who has a woman's.

Cornet.—A junior officer in an orchestra.—We beg pardon: we mean a tenor wind instrument in a cavalry regiment.

Counterpoint.—A musical representation of the jokes made by shopmen across the counter.

Country Dance.—A series of violent exercises, performed to the noise of music, and which, strangely enough, have not yet been adopted by jockeys and prize fighters anxious to lose weight.

Critic.—A gentleman, or other person, assuming the office of judge, and taking particular delight in summing up against the public, who, in most musical trials, should be allowed to play the part of jury. Critics of music are remarkable for their fondness for technical terms, and are supposed to be great admirers of all musical dictionaries (excepting, of course, the present one.) Some criticisms of music are so full of notes, keys—chords, and modulations, that one might imagine they were written with a clarionet, or the bow of a violin, and that they were intended not to be read, but to be played on the dulcimer, sackbut, psaltery, and all kinds of musical instruments. It is pretended that the great object of musical critics, in introducing a superfluity of musical expressions, is to render their articles unintelligible to the general public. It would be sufficient, however, for them to endeavor to write English correctly, in order to attain that desirable end with the greatest certainty. We have seen some criticisms so full of "stringed instruments," "the wood," "the brass," "instruments of persecution," "massive orchestration," "phrases for the oboe," "passages for the corni di bassetto," and all other sorts of uninteresting and frequently unmeaning details, that to look at the newspaper which contained them was sufficient to give one the headache. Musical criticisms are generally full of "sound;" sometimes of "fury;" always, we may add, "signifying nothing." We have known instances of an English critic finding fault with the accent of an Italian prima donna, who had lived nearly all her life in Florence; but in order to be able to perform this feat with any degree of confidence, it is essential that the critic should never have quitted Brixton. The golden rule for criticising music resembles the rule for criticising pictures, as given in the Vicar of Wakefield: "Say that the composer would have succeeded better if he had taken more pains with his orchestration, and praise the works of Sebastian Bach."

Cremorne.—A garden, where music, dancing, and a variety of "plants" are cultivated.

Dilettante.—A gentleman, who, under pretence of admiring singing, falls in love with singers.

"Director and Composer of the Music."—Signor Costa: a gentleman who conducts the orchestra, but does not compose the music.

SAN DIEGO HERALD.

Judge Ames of the San Diego Herald has again left his post, and left a Monsieur Borax in his place. We think some fun may be anticipated from the following leader—the first under Borax's administration:

DEPARTURE OF THE GREAT AMES.—Again is the sorrowing journalist compelled to record in the blackest ink, and with bottomless regret, another exodus of the able-bodied Ames. Accompanied by the usual umbrella, attired in his wonted costume from head to foot, and accurately balanced upon the middle of the spine of an ancient and rat-tailed mule with very thin legs, the worthy editor left this gay and festive scene of his labors and ambled gently out of the village at a somewhat late hour for an early start, on the morning of one of the hot days towards the latter part of the week. His ultimate destination happening to be no hotter place than San Francisco (in this world we mean) the transportation of the inseparable umbrella exhibits to us infinite tact and judgment, and the distance of that retired place from here being a trifle of six hundred miles or so, the selection of a mule as a vehicle of conveyance reveals at once that ready perception of the fitness of things and practical adaptation to circumstances which has ever been the admiration of the civilized world.

Before setting out he came to us with a solemn face and the keys of the sanctum, and delivered himself with great majesty of the following sentiments:

Ames—Borax, my boy, take the paper in charge and don't for (—) sake meddle with politics. Steer clear of them, and you may do what you like with the paper and all that belongs to it. I've tried proxying once and——

Borax—Sir you had better stay at home and edit the paper yourself. Every trumpet should be blown by its own mouth-piece, and the rule holds good with regard to tin whistles.

Ames—But business, my dear fellow——

And politics, too, my good judge——

Ames—Takes me occasionally to San Francisco, and when absent the paper should echo my sentiments, and not those of my erratic friends.

Borax—Sir, shall a man stifle his own convictions under the wet blanket of personal friendship, and incessantly ram his head into a meal sack to avoid the light——

Ames—Let your convictions slide, old fellow, and let's take something to drink. I know you'll regard my wishes.

Borax—(resignedly)—Then so be it. (Imbibes.) 'Boston,' here's luck.

Monsieur Borax is probably the same individual who has heretofore figured as "John Phœnix."

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.
"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621w1y

TUESDAY, JAN. 24, 1854.

LAW QUESTION.—We see it stated that Mr. Choate has argued the Constitutionality of the Liquor Law, before the Supreme Court of Massachusetts; and Mr. Goodrich, formerly of this city, its unconstitutionality. We suppose it is not to be taken and deemed, that these two gentlemen actually believed the views they thus advocate; but only, that, as Mr. C. is for the government, he must uphold the law—and as Mr. G. is for a defendant, he must try to break it down.

Nevertheless, these two able lawyers are competent to state all the pros and cons of the law; and therefore we are glad they have taken hold of it.

We have seen it stated that Mr. Goodrich considered the seizure, use and destruction of the liquors to be unconstitutional: but we cannot see why the penalty for breach of the law might not be levied on liquor as well as on money or land; nor can we see why bad liquor should be more sacred than bad drugs or bogus money. We have wondered, though, that no one of the numerous legal opponents of the Maine Law, has ever urged against it the very serious difficulty which it interposes in the way of getting a jury trial by appeal. It has always seemed to us, that a man accused of crime, though he be a poor man or a bad man—ought to have a chance to get his case easily and cheaply before a jury of his fellow citizens; and that all defendants in civil actions should have a similar right. We do not say privilege, for we mean right.

Our impression as to the Massachusetts law, is, that the obstacles in this regard, are somewhat less formidable than those in Maine, but that they are still so considerable as to make appeals too expensive and troublesome for poor men, while the rich accused have appealed in every case that we have noticed thus far.

Perhaps, however, something like this is inseparable from the operation of all human laws, and in a special manner of laws which are opposed by a combination of appetite and avarice. The evils against which these laws are levelled are indeed gigantic; and therefore the laws themselves should be most carefully constructed, and guarded as far as possible against abuse.

By the time the State of New Hampshire gets ready for a change of laws on the subject, those of Maine and Massachusetts will have been tested; and we can walk in the light of our neighbors' experience.

DEMONSTRATION.—At Cincinnati, Thursday afternoon, some drunken fellows circulated among the Irish laborers a statement that the German freemen contemplated turning out in procession, with the intention of attacking the cathedral and the bishop's house, and destroying those edifices. Soon after dusk, in the vicinity of the cathedral there were assembled over two thousand Irishmen, armed with clubs and pistols, and some with guns, to protect the property from being attacked. They remained about the cathedral until a late hour, when, at the solicitation of the Mayor, Capt. Lukens and Archbishop Purcell, they quietly dispersed.

There seems to be a very bad state of society there, engendered by the national jealousies and sectarian bitterness, among immigrants, who are easily imposed upon and roused to angry excesses.

We know no adequate remedies for the evil but time and education. Laws can do something—but we must consider that many of these angry men are legal voters, and of course help to make the laws, and to choose those who execute them. The Mayor and Captain of Police, when joined by the Archbishop, succeeded in sending the people home. It is doubtful whether they could have done so without him. We cannot greatly blame the people, however, for wishing to defend their property.

EFFECTS OF THE ERIE RIOTS.—The Ohio papers state that the farmers have lost full forty cents per cwt. upon their pork in the fall of price during the railroad riot at Erie.

In the United States Senate on Wednesday, Senator Wade of Ohio, in commenting on the proposition to grant a large tract of the public lands in aid of the Sunbury and Erie railroad, said—

"I suppose that it is a fact that there is obstructed on its way to market there, by reason of that hostility, hundreds of thousands of dollars worth, and I do not know but millions, of perishable property that will probably be lost in consequence of this resistance to the laws of the government."

Besides, the Eastern section of the country needs the articles that are thus kept back.

THE STAFFORDSHIRE.—The Halifax papers contain declarations by the passengers who were saved from the Staffordshire, to the effect that the officers did all in their power to save those on board, but owing to one of the boats having been stove in as soon as launched, the passengers were afraid to leave the ship.

We are glad to see this; for there have been contradictory statements, some of them by no means honorable to the mate.

THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW, for Jan; 19th, contains a new Hot Corn Song, by Geo. F. Root; also a Part Song, by Lowell Mason; a sacred Opening Piece, by William P. Bradbury, all new; musical articles, sketches, anecdotes, news, correspondence, and a large amount of interesting musical matter.

The Review is issued once a fortnight by Mason Brothers, New York, at one dollar a year, in advance. Lowell Mason, Thomas Hastings, Wm. B. Bradbury, Geo. F. Root, and C. M. Cady are among its editors; and each number contains four pages of music and twelve pages of reading matter. Now is the time to subscribe, as a new volume has just commenced.

DODGE'S BARDS.—A few days since, in a neighboring town, we ran across this excellent company of vocalists, on their way from "down east" to Boston. They have been very successful, and have given universal satisfaction. Mr. E. F. Whitehouse, the tenor, and Miss Tanner, the beautiful alto, are spoken of in the highest terms. Mr. Whitehouse is a splendid singer, and from an intimate acquaintance we know him to be a high minded, upright young man—besides being a native of New Hampshire. They will soon be in Concord, N. H., to delight the good people of the capital city.

☞ We have just received from Putnam & Co., Crystal Palace, N. Y., a quadruple number of the Illustrated Record of the Industry of all Nations. viz. Nos. 19, 20, 21 and 22.

The illustrations are numerous, elegant and costly. Their expense in this number is said to be over two thousand dollars.

Another quadruple number will complete the work, when the price will be advanced to $4,50 cloth.

A VETERAN OFFICER.—Bishop Kip, the newly elected Bishop of the Episcopal Church in California, is writing to the Churchman a very interesting series of letters describing his journey to the new field of his labors. He mentions the following incidents, under date at Kingston, Jamaica:

On our way through town we stopped to see our consul, Col. Harrison. The old gentleman, now 84 years of age, is, perhaps, the only one living who held a commission from Washington. He is a cousin of the late President Harrison, his room-mate at school, and commissioned with him in the army. When 15 years of age, as he told us, being in England, he was pressed for a sailor, and remained for several years on board British ships-of-war. At last, in the Mediterranean, there came an old admiral, who, before the Revolution, when stationed on our coast, had been entertained by his family in Virginia. He made himself known to him, and was at once released and restored to his country. He has now passed more than fifty years in the West Indies.—Last year he visited New York, after an absence of fifty-two years. What a change must he have witnessed! It was like dropping down on a new planet.

CASES.—A Boston paper says that on Friday evening a gentleman somewhat inebriated made a sort of blind surge against the new granite building at the corner of Court street and Cornhill, and dashed in one of those large panes of window-glass. He was taken into the store and a constable summoned, who recognized the individual as respectably connected and residing out of town. On being made fully aware of the damage he had done, he was fully disposed to make reparation, by paying for cost of repairs. This was all the proprietors asked.

A man, with a horse and wagon from Lynn, was found in Brattle street, utterly incapable, from intoxication, of taking care of his team. The man was taken to the Centre Watch-house—but the horse, not having wilfully committed any breach of the peace, was allowed comfortable quarters at the City Stables.

AND STILL ANOTHER.—Elopements are becoming quite fashionable in this vicinity. Last week one of the most spontaneous cases of matrimony took place that we have heard of lately. The mother of the young lady sent her out to buy a pair of shoes, but, much to the astonishment of the old lady, the maiden did not return. Nothing was heard from her for several days. A few days since, however, a man presented himself at the door of the parental domicil bringing to the old lady her shawl which the missing daughter had worn away, and with it information that the bearer was her daughter's husband.—Portland paper.

The Boston Post says a new act has been introduced into the Rhode Island assembly to supersede the existing liquor law. It provides in substance that cities and towns may grant licenses for the sale of liquors in quantities not less than one quart—the party licensed giving bond that he will not allow any such liquors to be drank on the premises where the same are sold—that he will not sell to any person under the influence of intoxicating drink—nor upon Sunday, or on any week day after ten o'clock in the evening—nor sell any liquors not pronounced pure by a commissioner appointed for that purpose—nor give credit for any liquor sold. Hotels not to be limited in the quantity sold. Another act for the suppression of tippling shops was introduced at the same time, which possesses provisions similar to to those of the Maine law, with regard to complaint of parties and seizures.

The cities of San Francisco and Sacramento, and the State of California, are all deeply in debt, or as one of the papers expresses it, "knee deep in gold, and over head and ears in debt."

The old steamer "Bangor" is now employed in running between Constantinople and the combined fleet in the Bosphorus.

LOCAL.

LIGHT COMING.—We are requested by the Agent of the Gas Company, to state that in all probability, he will be able to supply customers with gas to-night. He had hoped to make enough for use last evening, but owing to the long suspension of the works and the extreme cold weather, he found it impossible.

By conversation with the agent, we were convinced that all practicable diligence has been used to repair their damages, which, as we have before stated, was the breakage of the main pipe in the gasometer, below the water. He states that this is the first accident of the kind that ever occurred in the United States, and is the first proof that has ever been given that the manufacture of gas was in danger of being impeded by ice, which was the cause of this accident. Ice formed in the gasometer to the depth of six inches.

COCHECHO RAILROAD.

Are our men of business and men of wealth doing what is indisponsable to success, in promoting this object?

A Dover correspondent of the Boston Mail says,

On taking the Cochecho cars at Alton Bay, on Wednesday evening, and finding twenty-three long freight cars filled with freight, attached, we could but help thinking that had it a connection at the Weirs with the B. C. & M. R. R., and the Portsmouth & Dover R. R. been built—which it seems strange cannot be when six per cent. is guaranteed on its cost by the Eastern R. R.—what an enormous freight would flow over the road, bringing, as it would, the Canadas 56 miles nearer the seaboard, by this route, than by any other.

☞ A writer in the Exeter News Letter states that "Many Goods can be bought in Portsmouth to better advantage than in Boston; and the freight home would be much less."

☞ At a caucus of the Free Democracy, the following gentlemen were chosen delegates to attend the Senatorial Convention to be holden at the Court House, Tuesday next.

Ward One—Benj. Cheever, J. P. Morse, Wm. Martin, E. M. Robbins. Ward Two—Hall Varrell, E. A. Dresser, John Trundy, C. C. Whittemore, B. Hutchings, Wm. Claggett. Ward Three—A. T. Joy, T. J. Whittem, Wm. G. Nowell, Wm. M. Conant.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

STRAFFORD COUNTY.—At Dover last week, Judge Minot presiding,—the Grand Jury (John H. Wheeler, Foreman,) after two days sitting found 92 bills of indictment, most of which were for rum selling. The docket was immediately called, and a large number of actions set down for trial by the jury.

The case of Austin vs. M'Intire & Walker, on the Stocking Loom, was tried again; and is thus reported in the Boston Herald.

No. 2 was first in order. Elijah Austin et al. vs. Richard Walker et al. of Portsmouth. This was an action for covenant broken. It appeared, during the trial, that Walker, one of the defendants, had invented a rotary stocking-loom, and in '39 obtained a patent for the same: that an agreement was entered into between the parties that, for the sum of $1000, the defendants should sell the plaintiff's said patent-right, and the right to make and sell these machines in all the world, with the exception of this country: that plaintiff should send a suitable agent to Europe to make sale of the patent-right, and that when the sales amounted to $2500 the plaintiffs should pay defendants the further sum of $1500: that if plaintiffs were unable to sell said patent-right for enough to pay the agent's expenses, then the defendants should pay back $1000 and a reasonable proportion of the expenses arising from the agency. Christie & Kingman, for plaintiff; Wells of Exeter, Hatch and Emery of Portsmouth, for the defence. The closing argument for the defence was made by Mr. Wells, on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Christie followed, on Friday morning, in an argument which continued for three and three-quarters hours. The jury retired, late on Friday afternoon, after an impartial charge from the Hon. Court.

The jury after being out till Saturday morning, were discharged by the Court, being unable to agree.

"REFORM DEMANDED."—The Exeter News Letter says that the article which it recently published with this title, and which some papers attributed to Mr. Tuck, was not written by him, nor by or for any whig or free-soiler, "but it was written by the editor—at the special request of certain leading democrats of this State."

INSTALLATION.—We learn from the Haverhill Gazette, that the Rev. Jas. T. McCollom, formerly of Great Falls, N. H., is to be installed on Wednesday, the 25th inst., over the Congregational Church and society, in Bradford, Mass. The sermon of the occasion will be delivered by Dr. Dwight of Portland. The new pastor will enter upon his labors over a united and flourishing society, and with every prospect of success.

The editor of the Worcester Transcript has received a bunch of fine ripe strawberries, raised this winter directly under the eyes of Miss Lydia H. Lovejoy, of Pepperell.

Sunshine alone, 'twas thought had power
To swell the bud and form the flower,
But here a new power fructifies—
The beam that dwells in woman's eyes.

DEATH.—Judah Touro, well known for his benevolence, died in New Orleans on Wednesday night. His fortune is estimated at a million or a million and a half. It is reported that the bulk of it is bequeathed to the Public Institutions of New Orleans.

In Florence, Ala., the town council have raised the license for retailing spirituous liquors to one thousand dollars, and on billiard tables and ten-pin alleys to five hundred dollars.

DECIMAL COINAGE IN GREAT BRITAIN.—A public meeting was held at Liverpool, on the 28th ult., in reference to the decimal system of coinage and of accounts recommended for adoption throughout Great Britain.

Dr. Harriet K. Hunt of Boston, is in Washington, a guest of Gerritt Smith.

$709,25 were the net proceeds of the lecture given by John Mitchell in Boston.

7 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

HALIFAX, Jan. 23d.

The Royal Mail Steamship Niagara arrived at this port about 9 o'clock this morning, having left Liverpool about half-past 2 o'clock on Saturday, the 7th inst.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23d.—It is expected that Judge Douglass will open the discussion to-day upon the Nebraska bill. He will be replied to by Messrs. Sumner and Chase.—The President and Cabinet fully endorse the bill.

M. Bedini, the Pope's Nuncio, is still here, and is the guest of M. Sartiges, the French Minister.

M. Bodisco still lingers, but there is no hope of his recovery.

THE DISPOSITION OF THE SAN FRANCISCO FUND.—A meeting of the New York Committee, having in charge the fund collected to reward the San Francisco's rescuers, was held on Saturday. The Treasurer announced that the total amount subscribed in that city was $17,350, and the following disposition was made of it:

To the Captains of the Three Bells, Kilby, and Antarctic, twenty-five hundred dollars each and a gold medal, and silver pitcher, or a tea service.

To each of the mates, 250 dollars and a gold medal. Petty officers, 100 dollars each, and a gold medal. Seamen, 50 dollars each and a silver medal.

To the Captain of the Lucy Thompson a service of plate, value 1000 dollars and a gold medal.

To the officers and crew of the Lucy Thompson, each a gold medal, and sums varying from 250 to 25 dollars.

To Lieut. Murray of the Navy, a service of plate valued at 3,000 dollars, and a gold medal.

To Captain Watkins, a service of plate, value 1000 dollars, and a gold medal.

To Mr. Marshall, Chief Engineer of the San Francisco, 500 dollars and a gold medal.

To the first mate of the San Francisco, 250 dollars and a gold medal.

To the second mate, 200 dollars and a gold medal.

Resolutions were adopted that the committee continue to receive contributions to meet similar cases, to be applied by the Benevolent Life Saving Association.

The committee was instructed to pay the rewards to the sailors, and to call a public meeting for the presentation of the testimonials to the officers.

NEW MEXICO.—This is a strange country, if the statements of Mr. Greiner, Indian Agent, as communicated to the Ohio State Journal, are to be believed. He says:

"The people of New Mexico pay no taxes, and will not tax themselves. There is not a dime in either the territorial or county treasuries, nor even a probability of ever being any. There is not a single jail strong enough to hold a prisoner, and only a short time ago some Mexican prisoners were confined on a charge of murder at Santa Fe. Becoming disgusted with the accommodations they concluded to leave, and in a neatly written card to the sheriff they returned their thanks to him for his attention and watchfulness, trusting that circumstances might soon arise that would change their relative positions, and they would gladly reciprocate the many favors they had received at his hands. They escaped, and are still at liberty. Gov. Lane was placed in the predicament of either turning the prisoners loose, letting them starve, or advancing money out of his own pocket to feed them; he preferred the latter, and will probably have to pay for his humanity by losing all the money he advanced. Gov. Calhoun also suffered from the same cause."

INVASION OF CUBA.—A New Orleans correspondent of the New York Tribune, writes as follows, on the subject of an invasion of the Island of Cuba:—

At this time there is no expedition formed and the reports are without foundation. The "Order of the Lone Star" have the credit of getting up this new movement, but any one at all acquainted with the Order cannot but ridicule the idea. The friends of the Cuba cause will never do anything with an Order they have no confidence in—an Order composed of men who have no influence and can never be of any possible use or service. There is no doubt but at this time every exertion is being made by the friends of Cuba to revolutionize that island, and they are hard at work for the fulfilment of the object of their wishes. Of their ultimate success, no one acquainted with the present state of affairs in Cuba can doubt. At this time the Cuban Junta of New York are with us, and have established themselves here, so as to better direct any favorable demonstration which may be made.

There is no prospect of any immediate movement; but the moment we have news of a revolution, there are thousands in the South who will go to the assistance of Cuba; and the organization will be such that there will be no such word as fail. In less than a month after the blow is struck by the people of Cuba, there will be ten thousand men landed on that Island from the United States. That there will be a successful revolution before this year has closed, there is but little room to doubt. The leaders of former expeditions have profited by dear bought experience, and their future course will be one that will prove to the world that they have not entered into a new enterprise with every assurance that victory will crown their efforts.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.—Hartford, Jan. 19.—Namon Finch, a farmer residing in Southington, in good circumstances, got up this morning and went into the room of his daughter, an idiot girl, aged 22, and cut her throat from ear to ear, and then cut his own. He labored under an impression that he was about to lose his property.

ESCAPED AGAIN.—We learn that Whelpley, who sometime since got away from the Insane Hospital, and left town with a team which he borrowed to catch himself, but who was recently arrested in Lowell, Massachusetts, has again escaped from the Hospital.—He left on Monday morning, having, for that purpose, made his way through the ventilator of his room—a space 36 by 7 inches.—Augusta Journal.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be beleived, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

SAMUEL COOPER,

Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

The British Quarterlies
AND
BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newsitems, crude speculations, and dying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. Hitherto those Periodicals that readers much look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews, per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE.

Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWENTY CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advertising for Patents, as superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him to any of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S REMEDY KEMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub ic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"[$00 05] On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

CLERGY VERSUS CHOLERA.

Cholera, though subsided at Newcastle, is spreading in London. Propositions have been made to meet it, by the appointment of a day for general national fasting. The Presbytery of Edinburg have written to Lord Palmerston on the subject, and have a reply from that practical statesman to the effect that no national fast would be appointed by Royal authority, and that, in his opinion, if all the existing causes of disease be allowed to remain, they will infallably "be fruitful in death, in spite of all the prayers and fastings of a united but inactive nation." He adds:

"When man has done his utmost for his own safety, then is the time to invoke the blessing of Heaven to give effect to his exertions."

The Church of England has not been behind the Presbytery in calling for a national fast-day, or in appointing religious services for the purpose of imploring Divine interference in arresting the spread of the cholera.—We have no fault to find with this. Pious Churchmen may be edified by some special service; but, if prayers and fastings are to be a cloak for indolence, we cordially concur with Lord Palmerston in his opinion that they should be postponed until the Nation has exerted to the utmost the faculties that Providence has given to man to provide for his own safety.

The Clergy in many instances have been active in the cause of sanitary improvement, but it is much to be regretted that, when the interests, not of the Church, but of the Clergy themselves, are concerned, the health of the people becomes a secondary consideration, which must yield to the higher claims of the pockets of bishops, priests and deacons. On several occasions we have had to notice the interested opposition of the Clergy to the abolition of town grave-yards, and of the practice of burial in churches, and perhaps may do so again; but we must now confine our attention to one case which calls for special exposure.

The low-level regions of dirt and poverty on the south side of the Thames are the favored seats of cholera now, as they were in both our epidemics. One spot in particular in this district has been especially deadly.—This spot is the property of the Bishop of Winchester—the Bishop who has taken the lead in authorizing special religious services to be held throughout his diocese, to pray that the cholera may be arrested.

Three-fifths of the deaths from cholera in the present attack have been on the south side of the Thames. One third of these has been in the St. Saviour's district, and almost the whole of them (says the Daily News) in what is called "Clink Liberty," the property of the Bishop of Winchester. This estate yields a princely income to the Bishop, and has done to his predecessors; yet it is one of the foulest of all the filthy haunts of pestilence in the metropolis. There are no sewers. The refuse is conveyed to the river in open gutters or ditches. Last week the flow of the tide up these ditches flooded the houses to the depth of upwards of two feet; and this is not an unusual occurrence. Beneath the flooring of the lower rooms the black slimy filth envolves its deadly emanations, and poisons the inhabitants. This is where the Bishop of Winchester manufactures the pestilence which he implores the Divine aid to arrest!

The property in this district is leased on such terms that it is not improved, because it would not pay to expend money on it. It is leased on three lives; and, when one life falls, another name is inserted, on payment of a large sum to the Bishop of Winchester. In 1808 he received 14,000/ for the renewal of the lease of a portion of the estate held by Mr. Pott. Six years ago, 17,000/ was received as a fine for renewal, and 40,000/ more is expected to be received by the Bishop when other lives fall in. As tenants can claim no right of renewal, all inducement to improve the property by the tenant is removed. Increase in the value of the property by improvement would only lead to increase of the fine paid to the Bishop at the next renewal.

In 1851, an Act was passed, which removed all the legal difficulties that impeded the granting of leases of Church property on a satisfactory tenure, and the Bishop might extend the provisions of this Act to the estates of his see. He has been asked to do so, but has refused, because, he says, it would not be consistent with the interests of the Church. He lives in hopes that lives may fall in before he is summoned to give an account of his stewardship, and that he may clutch another 40,000/ from his see for his family. The miserable tenantry may be carried off by typhus or cholera amid the accumulated filth; the Bishop will give no practical assistance, but he sets an awful example of miserable mockery, by offering up prayer for Divine assistance to avert the evils his own selfishness creates.—London Times.

A New York merchant, while travelling in Wisconsin, some time since, was thrown from a stage coach and severely injured. He sued the proprietors of the line and recovered the sum of $6400

EIGHTY SLAVES EMANCIPATED.—The annual report of the American Colonization Society, read at the anniversary meeting in Washington, on Tuesday evening last, stated that Montgomery Bell, Esq., of Nashville, Tenn., had liberated and sent to Liberia an entire family of slaves, consisting of a man and his wife and thirty-six children and grandchildren. The same gentleman was also ready to send about eighty more slaves, and would give them a good outfit, pay their expenses to the port of embarkation, and one half the amount necessary to transport them to Liberia and support them there six months. The Society was anxious to find some generous friend who would pay the other half, $2400.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times writes that the generous friend has been found in the Hon. William Appleton, of Boston, a member of the House of Representatives, who was present at the annual meeting, and the next day transmitted a note to the Secretary of the Society, stating that he would contribute the sum necessary to send the people to Liberia. Thus, these eighty slaves will become freemen by the generous act of a slave owner at the South, and a liberal citizen of Boston.

A HANDSOME REBUKE.—The train from Lexington, Thursday morning, quite filled with passengers, stopped at Porter's, where there was quite a number of drovers waiting to go to Boston. They were informed by the conductor that they would be obliged to stand up if they entered the cars. They chose, however, to get in, rather than wait for the next train. When called upon for their tickets, they bluntly refused to give them up until they were furnished with seats. The conductor remonstrated with them for such a proceeding, as it could not but be evident to all how matters were situated; but they persisted in their refusal to pay unless accommodated as well as the other passengers, whereupon a number of lady passengers rose and politely offered their places to them. The conductor's face glowed with a mixture of exultation and gratitude as he bowed his thanks and accepted their kind offer. A murmur of applause ran through the car, while the gentlemen in question looked as sheepish as ever did the four-footed beasts whose sale had furnished them with the means to pay for their comfortable seats.

LITTLE TO DO.—The Cleveland Plain Dealer has the following:

An athletic specimen from the Emerald Isle called into the counting room of one of our River street merchants.

"The top of the mornin' to ye, Musther P——, I've been told ye're in want o' help."

"I've but little to do," replied P——, with mercantile gravity.

"I'm the very boy for yeas. I'ts but little I care about doing—and it's the money I'm afther, shure."

The naive reply procured him a situation with P——.

ANOTHER HIGHWAY ROBBERY IN PROVIDENCE.—As Mr. Welcome Arnold was coming down Carpenter street about 12 o'clock Sunday night, smoking a cigar, he met two men, one of whom asked him for a light. He handed his cigar, when the other man knocked him down. He remained some time insensible, and when he recovered he was half frozen, and his money, about $40, was gone.—Providence Journal.

NEWS FROM THE WEST INDIES.—The steamer Merlin arrived at Halifax with Bermuda dates to the 11th inst. It is stated in the Gazette that the number of persons who had perished in the late epidemic was 1146.

Cholera was raging on the island of Nevas, having been brought by an emigrant ship which touched there during her passage from Liverpool to New Orleans.

PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

Whenthe head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621wly

APOLOGY FOR ADVENTISTS.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

Is Uncle Toby then an Advent Believer? No: not in the modern and usual acceptation of these terms. If he were, he would make no apology for his belief, here or elsewhere; though he might give reasons for it, if he thought best, or if any body demanded them: but it is exactly in his line to speak for those who are spoken against; especially when the many speak against the few, and when the faulafinders are themselves no less faulty than those whom they censure or ridicule.

Not many days ago, a learned and talented clergyman, one who dealt kindly and fairly with all whom he named, in his sermon alluded to the Adventists in this manner:

Ten or twelve years since, there were a large number of Christian people around us, who believed that a general dissolution of all things earthly was about to take place, that the dead were then to be raised and judged, the sinners destroyed, and the saints to dwell and reign with their Savior on the new earth; and believing as they did, the speaker said, their prayers which they put up for preparation of themselves and others, were consistent and proper.

The learned and truly catholic preacher did not seem to be aware of the fact that the sect or denomination of the Adventists, instead of becoming extinct, have been sifted and consolidated, and are now preaching up the doctrine that the great Prophecies of Daniel, and of the Revelation to St. John, are so nearly fulfilled, that they expect the Lord Jesus to reappear this year, 1854. Yet such is the fact; and the writer of this article listened recently to a very earnest discourse, wherein the preacher placed before his hearers a view of the resurrection, general judgment, and the utter destruction of the present mundane system, as probable this year, but not certain. Others are more positive. The Portland Advertiser has this paragraph:

THE FOOLS NOT ALL DEAD.—The new paper at Lowell, established to advocate the Second Advent doctrine, starts with a circulation of 5000.

Now we would protest against such a name as Fools, being applied to the Adventists exclusively, when so large a portion of the visible church, aside from them, profess to believe nearly the same things, except the time only, —and when some of the most esteemed and widely read commentators agree with them very nearly, both as to the events, and as to time.

The Adventists believe in the plenary inspiration of the scriptures; believe that the Prophecy of Daniel and the Book of Revelation are parts of the inspired scripture; that the most important prophecies of both books are yet to be fulfilled; that these prophecies not only predict certain events, but fix and measure off the times for their occurrence;—and that, as they expound the Prophecy by the History of the World for the last 12 or 1300 years, there is little now left to be done in fulfilment, but to burn the earth, raise the dead, and judge the world.

Well; says the reader,—we know that the Adventists did believe these things, and some of them do now, perhaps;—but who else believes them? The writer answers, Sir Isaac Newton, Bishop Newton, and after them thousands of other divines, including most of our New England ministers of a past period. And we must add, that nearly all the standard books of the principal evangelical denominations contain their grand doctrine as to the events, and not a few of them agree with their time also.

Opening a newspaper this morning, the writer sees the following.

Sir Isaac Newton, among his other works, wrote a treatise upon the prophet Daniel, and another on the Book of Revelation, in one of which he said that in order to fulfil certain prophecies before 1260 years would be terminated—there would be a mode of travelling of which men of his time had no conception; say, that the knowledge of mankind would be so increased that they would be able to travel at the rate of fifty miles an hour. Newton's work fell into the way of Voltaire. Voltaire was an infidel and did not believe in the inspiration of the Scriptures, and he treated the great philosopher's assertion in the following style:—"Now look at that mighty mind of Newton, who discovered gravity, and told as marvels for us all to admire. When he became an old man, and got into his dotage, he began to study that book called the Bible; it seems that, in order to credit this fabulous nonsense, we must believe that the knowledge of mankind will be so increased that we shall be able to travel at the rate of fifty miles an hour. The old dotard!" Both Newton and Voltaire have been sleeping in their graves for years. The prophecy has been accomplished. Who was the dotard—he who believed in the Scriptures and prophecied, or he who did not and ridiculed.

Bishop Newton took similar ground to that held by the great Astronomer:—but not to dwell on old books, Uncle Toby would close by mentioning Scott's Commentary on the Bible, owned, it is presumed by hundreds of people who read this article. If any one will read Scott's Notes on Daniel and Revelation, and then call the Adventists Fools, he must call Scott and the Newtons fools also.

This then, is Uncle Toby's apology for the Adventists—not that they are correct, for then he could not apologize; but that if wrong, they have been led astray by great men, and are now in exceedingly honorable company.

INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS IN CONGRESS.

On Monday, Jan. 23, in the Senate, Mr. Douglas brought in a bill organising two new territories, viz. Nebraska and Kanzas. The bill was ordered to be printed; and is like other bills for new territories, except the following provisions for slavery, which are new, and which are the signal for a discussion of that subject in Congress, which may last till next summer.

That in order to avoid all misconstruction, it is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning of this act, as far as the question of slavery is concerned, to carry into practical operation the following propositions and principles established by the compromise measures of 1850, to wit:—

First. That all questions pertaining to slavery in the territories, and in the new states to be formed therefrom, are to be left to the decision of the people residing therein, through appropriate representatives.

Second. That all cases involving the title of slaves and questions of personal freedom, are referred to the adjudication of the local tribunals with the right of appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Third. That the provisions of the constitution and Laws of the United States, in respect to fugitives from service, are to be carried into faithful execution in all the organized territories, the same as in the states.

Mr. Jones of Iowa reported a bill granting a pension of five years, half pay, to the widow of Capt. Gunnison, who was killed by the Indians in Utah. Passed.

Mr. Hunter reported the Military Academy Bill. Passed.

Mr. Cass offered the following resolution: Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to communicate to the Senate, as far as he may deem compatible with the public interest, a copy of any correspondence which may have taken place with the government of the Papal States touching a mission to the United States.

Mr. Cass defended M. Bedini from attacks made upon him, refuting the charges of cruelty brought against him, and condemning the proceedings of the mobs in various cities.

Half a dozen others also spoke strongly against the lawless acts of the mob, believing it to be wholly the action of foreigners, and repugnant to every American citizen, and calculated to bring disgrace on the nation.

Mr. Weller of California defended the action of the foreigners, whom he argued had a right to assemble to express their opinions and grievances; and if Mons. Bedini was guilty of only half what his countrymen accuse him, then the people were right in what they did. [Applause in the galleries.] He knew nothing of the guilt or innocence of Mons. Bedini, and desired in no way to encourage a spirit of violence, but considered it useless to attempt to put down public assemblies peaceably convened to express their indignation for oppression and tyranny. Resolution adopted.

In the House, Mr. Wade entered into the subject of the railroad troubles at Erie, and severely denounced the conduct of Pennsylvania.

Messrs. Ritchie and Dunn defended the State. The debate was continued by Messrs. Campbell of Ohio, and Washburn of Illinois, in denunciation of the proceedings, when the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

2 WEEKS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE NORTHERN LIGHT.

New York, Jan 24.—The steamship Northern Light arrived at 9 o'clock, bringing San Francisco dates to the 31st, 300 passengers, $84,7381 in specie on freight, and a large independent mail.

The mail steamer Oregon left San Francisco on the 31st, with one hundred passengers, and $430,000 in specie on freight.

The Sacramento woman, Ida Brewer, who murdered Mary Lee, has been tried and acquitted in the face of all law and evidence, to the general surprise and indignation of the public. The papers are passing round the names of the jurymen.

The farmers are sowing a great deal of wheat, particularly in the Southern portion of the State, which is now beginning to prosper as a farming country.

It is reported that companies to reinforce the fillibusters are in course of formation at several points in the State.

The weather has been delightful during the fortnight with the exception of one or two days of rain. The miners are very much disappointed, there being far from enough water to fill the canals, or to permit washing in the small gulches.

The dry weather has driven the miners to work in the Banks, which in some places have found to be very profitable.

Tunnelling is coming more and more into practice.

The news from the Klamath mines is very favorable.

New diggings have been found on one of the eastern head branches of the Sacramento.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.—The January number of this monthly has been received in this city. The external appearance is the same as ever, but the customary illustrations on wood are missing from the pages, and the typographical execution of the work is fair, though not equal to former numbers. The publishers promise to remedy all deficiences in the next number. We have received our copy per J. P. Morse, from Federhen & Co., Boston.

THE MUSICAL REPOSITORY, No. 11, vol. 1, contains the Camp Polka, by Charles D'Albert; and the celebrated English Dance, Pop goes the Weasel. F. Parker, publisher, Boston.

LOCAL.

MECHANICS' LYCEUM.—The lecture at the Temple on Tuesday evening, was by Daniel N. Haskell, Esq., editor of the Boston Transcript. His subject was the History of Political Parties in this country, from the days of the Revolution to Mr. Monroe's Administration; including notices of the leading men in the old Federal and Republican parties; of the singular changes of policy adopted in both parties; of the bitterness of party spirit in the early days of the Republic, and of its gradual but great mitigation.

The great variety of the topics and statements, and the narrative form of the lecture, would require more room than we can spare for a sketch of them on an extended plan. We therefore content ourselves with a general expression of commendation of the performance, as a valuable contribution to our stock of popular political history; conveying much information to young men of all parties, in a form offensive to none.

The lecture on next Tuesday evening, is to be by Rev. Henry Giles.

THE GIFT CONCERT.—"The lot" in New England was once a common and very popular means of disposing of property. The papers of this State, published thirty years ago, contained numerous advertisements of "Teas, Wines, Groceries, and Lottery Tickets," by men who honored their business and considered themselves in turn honored by it. We have now almost daily evidence that the love of lotteries, or of the excitement and feeling of uncertainty which they engender, is as strong among the masses as ever; and although the law long since opened its batteries upon them, the executors of the law often find it for their interest and convenience to maintain an amiable ignorance of the illegal proceedings. We perceive by the Chronicle, that Mr. Moses, of Portsmouth, gave at the Temple, on Wednesday evening last, a Gift Concert, which was rounded off by distributing by lot among the ticket holders, $1200 worth of property, including two pianos, several gold and silver watches, pencils, carpets, paintings and books. We presume there was not a town in this county that was not interested in the concluding act of Mr. Moses's Concert.—Exeter News Letter.

Very true, but not the whole truth. Very many of the towns in this county were represented on this occasion, and were "interested" in all parts of the performance—musical, poetical, literary, &c. The entertainment itself was perhaps as well worth a dollar, as any for which that sum is paid.

Of the 1200 tickets issued, about 1100 were sold, 100 being left—which drew rather less than their par value. He realized but about $125 by the enterprise, as the gifts were put up at their regular retail prices. The splendid new rosewood pianos, from the manufactory of Hallet, Davis & Co., Boston; the superb carpets; fine gold and silver watches; rich gold pencils and pens, rings, chains and breastpins; nice silver butter knives and tea spoons; beautiful oil paintings, and elegant books, made a delightful display, at Mr. M.'s music-room and picture-gallery. The articles have nearly all been presented to callers.—The happy recipient of one of the pianos resides in this city; the other has been sent to Epping, where it was drawn by a gentleman able to use and appreciate so fine an instrument.

☞ This evening, (Wednesday,) the regular lecture in St. John's Chapel will be delivered, either by the Rector or Bishop Chase.

On Friday there will be service in the Church, when the Bishop will preach.

☞ The Kinetoscope of Cuba, was exhibited on Monday evening, at the Temple, and called together a pretty good company, considering the extreme cold. It is to be exhibited this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when schools and children will be admitted for 6 1-4 cents. It will also be open this evening at 15 cents, commencing at 7 1-2 o'clock. It will remain here this week only.

The views of Cuba are distinctly given, and said to be correct, by those who know; the description was plain and not too long; and the Lilliputian Family, which comes on for an afterpiece, was highly amusing. The movements were relieved and enlivened by music and songs; forming in the whole a very pleasant entertainment.

The Newburyport Herald said of it:

This popular exhibition of the Panorama of Cuba, has attracted large audiences for two weeks. It proceeds from here, we understand, to Portsmouth, where the people will, we venture to predict, be delighted with the treat which is afforded them, and with the courtesy of the gentlemanly manager, Major Felch, who combines with his many other good qualifications, that of having been a printer and publisher, which like the profession of the law, gives a man such an amount of general intelligence as to fit him for any business.

MR. CLARK'S SINGING CLASS.—The next lesson will be given this, Wednesday evening, at the Academy Hall. The time will be occupied in reviewing the elements of music.

On Thursday evening, the regular lesson of the course will be given at the above place.

TEMPERANCE.—The citizens of Exeter are invited to assemble in the Lecture Room in that town, this evening, at 7 o'clock, to consider the evils of intemperance among them, and to decide on such action as shall be deemed expedient to remedy said evils. The call is signed by nearly one hundred gentlemen.

RISE IN PRICES.

The Liverpool advices of Jan. 7, per Niagara, say Breadstuffs continue buoyant; prices of all articles having advanced daily, show large improvements on the week, viz:

Wheat 1s 2d dearer per bushel; Flour 3s 6d dearer; Corn 2s dearer. Western Canal and Canadian Flour 41s 6d a 42s; Philadelphia, Baltimore and Ohio 52s 6d a 43s; sour 36s a 37s; white Corn 49s; yellow 48s; mixed 47s.

The market closed on Friday, 6th, firm with a good demand. The advance was caused chiefly by the speculative feeling that the spring imports will be short of wants—Provisions about the same. Lard dull. Cotton, quotations firm and unchanged.

CHAPPELL'S GREAT

KINETOSCOPE

OF THE

ISLAND OF CUBA!

The most Magnificent Panorama in the World!

THIS Splendid Painting, which has attracted so much attention, was executed by the Great AMERICAN ARTIST, CHAPPELL, Who with the assistance of two talented artists, devoted more than seven years to this great work.

Major Felch, of Boston,

Having purchased this wonderful production of art, now fully completed, at a nett cost of FIFTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, respectfully informs the citizens of this place, that he will open it AT THE TEMPLE,

On Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Saturday Evening positively the last.

On Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, an entertainment will be given for Ladies and Children.

Also on Saturday afternoon.

That nothing may be wanting on the part of the management, to make this the best entertainment ever offered, an engagement has been effected, at a large expense, with the celebrated

SIG. MORILLO,

Who will introduce at each exhibition, his renowned LILLIPUTIAN FAMILY, or

ITALIAN FANTOCCINI,

In their wonderful performances, representing animated nature in such a life-like manner, as to completely amaze and astonish the beholder.

In connection with the whole will be given a Grand Vocal and Instrumental Concert, By Miss Isabella Merrill & Mast. Colman Blodgett, the Celebrated Infant Performer. Making the most highly chaste, intellectual and mirthful entertainment ever offered for your consideration.

☞ Tickets only 15 cts. Doors open at 7; to commence at 7½ o'clock.

FELCH & BARTLETT, Proprietors.
A. S. MERRILL, Agent.

CITY LYCEUM.—At the Camoneum.—The next Lecture will be delivered on THURSDAY Evening next, by Rev. Mr. WILLIS, of Portsmouth.
Doors open at 7—Lecture commences at 7½.

Good Black Ink.

JAMES H. HEAD, 18 Pleasant st, having received a large consignment of GILBERT'S BLACK INK, is now ready to dispose of it by the single bottle, Dozen, or Gross packages. It is also put up in pints, quarts, and gallon bottles; also by the bottle or draught in quantity to suit.

The above Ink has been thoroughly used since its first introduction, and proves to be the best in the market. For Letter Press Copying Ink, none better can be found; used in some of our Banks in preference to any other. j17

FROM EUROPE.

One of the most interesting items of news by the Niagara, is the mention of a great snow storm, and of severe weather generally.

Great Britain has been visited by the greatest snow storm that has been experienced for many years. All the railroad trains were blocked up for two days, and the mails, when the Niagara sailed, were altogether irregular.

French letters mention equally great detention in that country.

The Liverpool merchants on 'Change, in consequence of a lack of business, had recourse to a snow-ball fight. It was Cotton Brokers versus Stock Brokers, which ended in an unwarrantable interference of the police, and quite a row ensued.

In Belgium the snow lies some feet deep on the railways, and the troops are employed in clearing the track.

In Madrid the ice is thick.

In the north of Europe the winter is severe. The Baltic is packed with floating ice.

On the Russo-Turkish question, it is now said to be ascertained that on the evening of Dec. 20th the Porte accepted the note of the Four Powers. The Sultan says he would not, under certain conditions, object to an armistice, and continues to insist on the evacuation of the principalities. He consents to a Congress in a neutral city, and also to a revision of existing treaties, and to consider the propriety of further amelioration in the condition of Christians; but the integrity of the Ottoman Empire and the Sultan's sovereignty must be maintained.

The knowledge of this in Constantinople assembled a mob of 3000 Softas—but the English and French steamers and marines overawed them.

It was stated that Nicholas had formally rejected the Vienna protocol and the Note of the 5th, but would consent to receive and examine the Turkish propositions of the 20th, as above, although he persists in refusing to recognize the right of European intervention, in matters which, he says, concern Russia and Turkey alone.

The pith of this matter is to be found in the following

MANIFESTO OF THE EMPEROR OF FRANCE.

The Paris Moniteur contains a circular dated December 30, by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, to all the French legations, on the Eastern question. The document is moderate, but very firm in its style. After narrating the phases of the question, it declares that France, England, Austria and Prussia, have recently, by agreement at Vienna, solemnly recognized the territorial integrity of the Ottoman empire as one of the conditions of their political equilibrium; further, that the affair of Sinope took place against all provisions, (Russia having declared that she only desired a material guarantee,) therefore, to prevent the Ottoman flag or territory from a new attack by the naval force of Russia, the French and English fleets have received orders to enter the Black Sea. The circular terminates by expressing the hope that Russia will not expose Europe to new convulsions.

The French papers authentically further state that the French government, dissatisfied with the evasive conduct of Austria, has addressed that cabinet a strong remonstrance, intimating that any further secession on her part from the proceedings of the other three powers, will be taken as an indication of meditated hostilities, the result of which she must be prepared to abide by, whatever that may be; and that France will afford aid to the revolutionists of Hungary, Italy, &c.

The Paris Patrie, in a bulletin, gives a report that the Czar had given orders for making immediate preparations for crossing the Danube.

This, if true, seems to infer that the Czar has rejected the proposition of the Four Powers.

Advices from Constantinople agree that little hope is entertained of new negotiations leading to any satisfactory result.

In England, there is a domestic political trouble.

Much indignation is excited at the discovered interference of Prince Albert in politics. The more independent of the papers, and yet more loudly the public voice, protest that Prince Albert is the subservient tool of Russia, and that Lord Aberdeen is altogether under Prince Albert's influence. The Prince, it is said, betrays every secret of the British Cabinet to the Russian, Austrian and German Courts; and the important state affairs that are kept profoundly secret from the British public are freely known at St. Petersburg and Vienna.

The expressions of indignation against Prince Albert, who is, truly or falsely, regarded as the "tell-tale," are unusually strong.—He is popular in Manchester, Liverpool and with the manufacturing interest generally. Consequently the organs of that interest are silent on the subject, but radical and conservative papers alike join in declaring that his interference has reached a pitch dangerous to the Constitution. The affair will doubtless come before Parliament.

The returns for the financial quarter ending January 5, show a large increase in the revenue.

FRANCE.—The customary New Year's day levee was held on Sunday, the first, at the Tuileries. In addressing the Ambassadors, Napoleon said:—"I sincerely hope to be able to maintain the relations of amity which now subsists between my government and the Sovereigns whose representatives you are." Turning to the Ottoman ambassador, he addressed him thus:—"My good wishes, my sympathies and my efforts are in favor of your sovereign, and you will be good enough to communicate to him what I say."

The London Times reports as its correspondent's statement, that when required, seventy thousand Frenchmen will form a camp, one part near Adrianople and the other near Constantinople.

The report from the War Department states that the number of men available for arms in France, in the event of general war, is one and a quarter million for the land service. It is current in political circles, that the Czar does not cease to tempt Napoleon to desert the English alliance, and offers his consent to the French annexation of Belgium and Egypt. The Czar promising, also, to abandon the cause of the French Bourbons.

The Czar has just got a supply of twenty million roubles from the church.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Linimeut, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

SAMUEL COOPER,

Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

HENRY B. RENWICK, L. D. GALE, J. H. LANE, Principal Examiners.
T. H. PEARN, THOS. H. EVERETT, F. SOUTHGATE SMITH, WM. CHAUNCY LANGDON, Assistant Examiners.

From long acquaintance and intimate official relations with Mr. Cooper, I fully and heartily concur in the foregoing recommendation made by my late colleagues.

The British Quarterlies

AND

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz.

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written newspaper items, terrible speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:—

For any one of the four Reviews, per ann.	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews, per ann.	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews, per ann.	7 00
For all four of the Reviews, per annum	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine, per annum,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews per ann.,	9 00
For Blackwood & the four Reviews, per ann.	10 00

Payments to be made in all cases IN ADVANCE. Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $20; four copies of the four reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns, these works will be delivered, through Agents, FREE OF POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but TWENTY-FOUR CENTS a year for "Blackwood," and but TWELVE CENTS a year for each of the Reviews.

Remittances and communications should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers,

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS.—The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered by the numerous Agents, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the without fee will be returned in thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of title of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——.

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR,—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with the Office are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub ic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1854. VOLUME 3. NO. 152.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE
is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street, ...PORTSMOUTH, N. H.
TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

Selling off at Reduced Prices.

THE Subscriber has determined to close off at a great discount from his former prices, his entire stock of WINTER GOODS.

In order to secure a complete sale of every article, he will sell all of ninepence prints, consisting of 300 yds. best qual. dark Merrimack Prints, for 10c.

400 " dark fast colors sixpence Prints for 6½c.
200 " all Wool Ladies' Cloth, best quality, at $2½, former price $3.
2000 " Merrimack & Amoskeag Sheeting at 8½c.
500 " (in remnants from 1 to 5 yds each) stout Satinets, worth 75 cts, from 2 to 3 shillings.
1800 " dark shilling DeLaines for 12½ cts.
600 " Fig'd & Plain all wool DeLaines, 42 to 50.

And every other article usually kept in a Dry Goods store, at corresponding low prices.

His patrons and the public generally are particularly invited to call and examine this stock before making their purchases, as it is rare that such an opportunity occurs of getting desirable goods so very cheap. H. A. BIGELOW,

No. 22 Market Street, Up Stairs.—No. 22.

J. E. HAM,
TAILOR & DRAPER.

HAS just received another lot of fashionable Pantaloon Goods, Velvet Vestings, &c. &c., which will be made to order as low as can be had at any other establishment in this city.

Particular attention is giving to cutting Pantaloons, which is indeed one of the most difficult garments in the department of dress, and has heretofore received too little attention. The success we have had in this branch of our business enables us to ENSURE ALL with an easy and becoming FIT.

Gentlemen in want of any kind of Garment can be furnished at very short notice.

In the Coat Department, our customers have practical proof that we CANNOT BE BEAT.

Customers furnishing their own cloth will be attended to in the best possible manner.

☞ Wanted immediately 2 COAT MAKERS, to whom the highest prices will be paid.

Apply at No. 22 Market Street, up stairs.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'

IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.

The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

CHRISTMAS MUSINGS IN PORTSMOUTH.

BY AN ENGLISHMAN.

Come and spend your Christmas with us in New Hampshire, said a friend to us a day or two before the coming of the twenty-fifth of December last past, come to Portsmouth, and we'll give you a hearty, homely welcome in the old Granite State. W—— had not burst into our sanctum with a foremeditated and well considered invitation, nor did he send a daintily enveloped request that we would honor him with our company, &c. He improvised the invite. We accepted the invitation in the same jolly, hearty fashion in which it was tendered; and having bade a brief adieu to exchanges and constant readers, we crammed a small carpet-bag with the aids to cleanliness, and went off to keep Christmas.

It is only of late in New England, that Christmas Day has come to be at all celebrated—at least so we are given to understand; even now the observance is but partial. It is very different in the Old World, where the first day of the week is little noticed, but where the day of Christ's birth comes in with a general "All hail!" With your permission, we will gossip a little about Christmas in the Old Country, winding up with our experience of it in the New.

Even in England, Christmas is not what it used to be. Many of the old customs have died out. This is not exactly the place to speak minutely of the religious sentiments and services which belonged to the season.—We may merely remark that streets and pathways of city and country were crowded on Christmas morning, by rich and poor, young and old, gathering from all quarters to hear the particulars of the "glad tidings" proclaimed.

The great feature of an English Christmas Day is the dinner, to which sit down—as at Thanksgiving dinners in America—the gathered members of families; and the prominent feature of the dinner, to the "young folks at home," is the Plum Pudding. Plum Pudding, says a recent writer, is a truly national dish, and refuses to flourish out of England. It can obtain no footing in France. A Frenchman will dress like an Englishman, swear like an Englishman, and get drunk like an Englishman; but if you would offend him forever, compel him to eat plum pudding. A few of the leading restaurateurs, wishing to appear extraordinary, have plomb pooding upon their cartes; but in no instance is it ever ordered by a Frenchman.

The last paragraph for next number had been penned. No more copy wanted, was the welcome intelligence we received; so, flinging down our weary pen, we rushed to the rendezvous, where the son of Portsmouth was already waiting to meet us. It was close upon four, and post haste we hurried to the depot. Five minutes more, and we were flying eastward as fast as the wings of steam could convey us. "Tickets!" demanded the conductor, and we exhibited our bit of blue pasteboard; but we had, in our excessive care to be in time, taken the wrong train! Luckily, the error was one easily to be repaired by stopping at Lynn, and waiting for the next.—There is no better philosophy in such cases than thinking it might have been worse. Indeed, we were, after a bit, inclined to be pleased that an opportunity was afforded us of seeing something of the city of Cordwainers.

A thrifty looking place is Lynn. As we glanced at its stores, from the open doors of some of which came the odor of tanned hides, and marked what their fabrication had done for the town, we could not help thinking that the currier, in the fable of the town that required to be fortified, spoke truth when he said, "There's nothing like leather." And we remembered, too, that shoemakers figured honorably in literary history. We suppose their sedentary occupation may be the cause of their reflective habits. Be that as it may, certain is it that cordwainers are among the most intelligent of mechanics.

On the wheels again—and this time it is "all right."

Just as the church clocks were striking eight, we emerged from the terminating depot of our journey into the old-fashioned streets of Portsmouth. It was the first time we had ever set foot within its borders, and so, as is our wont, we kept our eyes open at both corners. Although we could not perceive at first the sort of sidewalk over which our friend hurried us, the soles of our feet acknowledged something like old acquaintance in the rude, irregular stones of which it was composed.—This footwalk was exactly such a one as you will find in old English villages and country towns, and it was really astonishing how readily and kindly our surprised toes took to it. When we surveyed the paths by daylight, it appeared to us that they were constructed of huge irregularly shaped blocks and balls of stone, which had been dropped alongside the road ages ago, and in process of time walked flat. To no other conclusion could we arrive.

Past a handsome house and old fashioned store; past a wide open space, with a great odd-looking building on one side, and a quaint white church on the other; passed a brilliantly lighted market house, and a tavern with a swinging sign, and an outlandish Indian name thereon. Past a Grecian fronted little church, its pillars gleaming in the starlight; past an old meeting house, with a bell turret; and now we stop before a house whose windows are lighted from within, and shine a cheerful welcome to us as we ring the bell. In another moment our friend and companion is in the midst of his family, who are making us, too, as welcome as though they had known us for half a century.

"No chicken" was that companion of ours; but, as he sat at supper, partaking of the mother-spread meal, we fancied that joint, part of which he was devouring tasted to him all the sweeter that its flavor recalled the cookery of boyhood. During our travels in this sublunary vale, we have eaten at many a board, high and low—but no viands, however exquisitely cooked, have to us so delicious a flavor as those which we now and then (at long intervals,) snatch when among "the old folks at home." We can, however, aver that on this occasion, the excellent mother of our companion so nearly in her manners and meats resembled our own, that we felt quite at home—more so, indeed, than we ever remember to have done on so short an acquaintance before. And the meal enjoyment was heightened by the incessant chatter of the little maiden already spoken of, whose tongue was the nearest approach to perpetual motion that we have ever heard or read of.

Well, it came Christmas morning—a twin festival this time—the Sabbath coming hand-in-hand with the twenty-fifth of December.—A clear, bright morning was it, and a stroll by the side of Portsmouth Harbor fitly prepared us for the fish which had recently been dragged therefrom to tickle our palates.

Fresh, rosy-faced folks were those New Hampshire people, who travelled past our frost-painted panes towards the various churches, whose bells sounded sharp and shrill in the clear atmosphere that Christmas morning.—Brightly shone the sun, his beams, as the day advanced, becoming even genial, as though, in honor of the particular occasion, the orb felt inclined to be a little warmer than usual in his greeting to the earth at that time of the year. Escorting a "lady fair," we joined the long lines of church-goers, and were soon snugly ensconced in a pew of Dr. Peabody's church.

Now we had some curiosity to gratify concerning this gentleman, who, as all the American literary world are aware, has just taken his seat in the Editorial chair of no less a serial than the North American Quarterly Review—a seat rendered vacant by the deposition or abdication of Professor Bowen, who certainly managed to make the North American the dullest periodical on the face of the globe. It is not every day one sees a quarterly Review editor in the pulpit, so we looked at Dr. Peabody with some little interest as he walked down the aisle and up the pulpit stairs.

He had decidedly a bookish expression of countenance, to which his spectacles, perhaps, contributed their quantum of gravity. His hair, not thin, but rapidly changing to gray, was smoothly disposed and combed over the forehead, leaving bare a high and broad temple. From the distant pew where we sat we could not easily discriminate the particular features, but we could see enough to feel assured that they belonged to no common man.

Dr. Peabody's sermon was one of those solid, substantial discourses, which evince extensive reading and a scarcely less extended knowledge of human nature. There was a solidity about it that was really refreshing, coming as it did after some sermons which were all froth and glitter. Of course it would be impossible, from a single sermon, to draw very correct inferences as to the general tone and character of the preacher's ministrations; but, judging from what we heard, we should say that Dr. Peabody was one who, having the fear of God before his eyes, has little of the fear of deacons or church members, when he is himself convinced that he is in the right. What sort of a Quarterly editor he will make, remains to be seen. One thing is certain—he cannot sink the "North American" lower than his predecessor has left it.

What a fine, homely Christmas dinner came off that day. It was not one of your starched up affairs, composed of foreign-kickshaws, with impossible names,—such as fricandea a la Monsieur le Duc de Fizgrig, or Potage a la Madame Shifky, but a genuine, substantial dinner, that one could eat without choking yourself in pronouncing the names of the viands. Of the dainty cates we say nought, but hurry on to our evening diversion.

It so happened that among our party was a "medium." Oh! Mary L——, we have, at this moment of writing, strong doubts, spite of thy angelic exterior with respect to thy diabolic gifts. Wert thou not in compact with a certain old gentleman, how could'st thou make a table talk and walk as thou didst? What magic lay in thy fairy hand, which, by its "so potent art," could cause a piece of pine wood to become endowed with sense and motion. Doubtless there was sorcery in thy digits as well as in thine eyes, for when our little finger touched thine, did we not feel a thrill through what Byron calls "the electric chain with which we're darkly bound?" We have sad misgivings with respect to thee, fair Mary L——!

So ended our Christmas Day. Next morning, business, with its rough voice, called us to our toils once more; but before we left Portsmouth, we paid a visit to the celebrated colored individual, who, as though he were the only chin-shaver in existence, has placed on either side his door a great sign, on which is inscribed "Sol Holmes the Barber." Our excellent friend, Mrs. Partington, hath been shaved and immortalized by Sol, who, learning that we, too, were one of the Press-Gang, smiled his politest, and boldly asserted (in expectation of a paragraph) that "he did'nt mind being blowed upon, if he was blowed upon in the right way." A hint, which it will be seen, we have taken.

IMPOSITION.—A scamp calling himself E. S. Peak, who has been occasionally loafing about Manchester, went to Derry a few days ago, put up at the hotel of E. Rauney, engaged a hall, and gave notice that a "grand concert" would be given on a certain evening by the "Harmonians," consisting of John Power, James Power, F. A. Reynolds, H. Siveri, and E. S. Peak. People assembled; said Peak tended the door, and just before the time for commencing arrived, he with the money collected was missing. He represented to the landlord that a large company would attend from Nashua, for which preparations were made at the hotel. We understand that he has played the same game elsewhere.—Manchester Mirror.

PAUPERISM PREVENTED.

Mr. John Ball, the widely and well-known City Missionary of Salem, Mass., has sent us his Annual Report to the Patrons and Friends of the City Mission. In this document, he speaks feelingly and to the purpose, in favor of preventive means whereby pauperism may be greatly avoided, and thrift and independence established. He gives some of his own experience in promoting these excellent purposes.

He recommends a farm school for boys, a hospital for the sick poor, and an asylum for aged and infirm widows. He says:

A Reform School for Girls is also needed. Hundreds are now suffering in the State, and will be ruined if there is not a place of refuge provided for them. It is hoped that the Legislature will take this subject into serious consideration, and establish a State Reform School for Girls, as speedily as possible.

It is for the want of these preventive establishments that so many miserable families and paupers remain miserable and poor, from generation to generation. One family of parents and children, now near this city, will forcibly exemplify this. The father is in prison half the year for intemperance, and the children, with but one exception, through the ignorance and obstinacy of their parents, bid fair to become charges to the town for life. This one exception is a boy, whom I succeeded in getting away from home influences, and he alone bids fair to become a useful man in a distant town.

Within thirty years a family in this county has furnished between thirty and forty paupers. The old stock is yet living in the alms house, and nineteen of her descendants have been there at one time. On searching the records of this establishment it was ascertained that a single family has furnished paupers for one hundred and fifty years!

The question naturally arises, is there no remedy? We say yes. Separate the children at an early age, and let them, if possible, be fifty or a hundred miles apart, away from the bad influences of their miserable parents, and there educated. Let their ambition be aroused, teach them habits of industry and frugality, and pauperism will soon decrease.

On begging imposters he has a good paragraph.

Cases of imposition are so often occuring that I feel constrained to refer to the subject in every Report. When calls are made by strangers for money, it is hardly safe to give, unless the applicant has a written recommendation from some one personally known by those to whom they apply. Were it needful I could relate several instances of imposition which have occurred, some quite recently, where by artful tales of sorrow, of loss of property by fire, &c., considerable sums of money were procured, and the impostors left the city before discovery was made. Were these vagrants in every case directed to the City Marshal or to my office, an end would soon be put to imposition, as has been the case with the bearers of printed certificates, of loss by shipwreck, not one of whom has ventured into the city for more than a year.

There are undoubtedly sometimes cases of real misery, but they will always meet immediate attention by referring them as above.

The practical usages of these extracts, are quite as obvious in Portsmouth as in Salem. The whole Report will well repay perusal by all who have any interest in the poor, or any thing to do with public or private provisions for their relief.

BEDINI, THE NUNCIO.

The special correspondent of the Courier and Enquirer, in alluding to this discussion, writes from Washington, under date of Monday evening, that Serious apprehensions are entertained relative to M. Bedini. Mr. Cass's resolution is adopted on the suggestion of the President, who wishes to show that M. Bedini is invested with diplomatic functions, and consequently entitled to civil protection against popular violence. M. Bedini's mission to Brazil has been revoked, and he is appointed the Pope's legate at Madrid.

M. Bedini is entitled to civil protection, and ought to have it,—not because he is a diplomat, but because he is a man. As men, he and Gavazzi must stand on the same level here.

As an envoy of the Italian civil government, Bedini is entitled to governmental respect, and to personal protection. But the press with its sarcasms, the orator with his charges, and the populace with their effigies, can hardly be restrained from handling a great Nuncio, or even a great Pope, as freely as they handle their own Presidents and Secretaries. If they keep within the bounds of their own police laws, Congressional resolutions are harmless and useless.

The charges of cruelty against Bedini may not be true; Mr. Cass says they are not.—Nevertheless, thousands of people, especially European immigrants, believe them; and therefore look upon Bedini with an evil eye, as the London brewers looked on Haynau the woman whipper.

DEATH OF A "PATRIOT."—Patrick O'Donohoe, who was transported to Van Dieman's Land for attempting to revolutionize Ireland in 1848, and who escaped from bondage recently to this country, died at Brooklin on Saturday. His wife and children arrived in time to follow his remains to the grave. It will be recollected that during a visit to Boston, he became involved in a duel affair, which, though it ended in smoke, occasioned some excitement and not a little merriment at the time.

THE GAUGE WAR.

A Pittsburg despatch of Jan. 23, says:

The Erie Rioters, Messrs. Sherwin, Jacks, Kirkpatrick and Kilpatrick, who were imprisoned on the 9th instant, have been to-day discharged on their own recognizances for $5000 each, to make their appearance on the second Monday in May.

A Washington correspondent of the New York Courier says:

The President has signified to the parties representing the Erie rioters here, that he will not longer tolerate their disorders, and that if further resistance be made to the civil officers of the government, he will order a military force to aid them in the discharge of their duties. Governor Bigler made a very full representation of the complaints of the people of Erie, and the causes of the recent disturbances. The road will be repaired, in pursuance of the order of the United States District Court of Pennsylvania, by the parties who committed the injuries, or at their expense. The parties most conspicuous in the riots, and most likely to be held responsible in their persons and property, have professed a willingness to submit to this arrangement, although in view of their frequent previous violations of faith, their sincerity may be doubted until proved by their acts.

LIFE AND HEALTH.—The Salem Gazette says that in Massachusetts, the annual registration report of deaths and marriages states that "Essex and Berkshire Counties have been slightly the healthiest in regard to consumption."

The same document says, "It will be perceived that, comparatively, as a class, paupers have lived to the greatest age; then follow in succession, agriculturists, public men, professional men, merchants, mechanics, laborers, and seamen."

We hope no one will infer from these facts, that pauperism is more favorable to longevity than any other condition; for we suppose they only prove that very poor people, when they happen to be very old, are commonly and very properly maintained by the town or city; and so when they die, are registered as paupers.

By the Niagara there is a report that another duel between Mr. Soule and Lord Howden was only deferred on account of the death of one of the members of the latter's family.

There has been some growling in the papers, against President Pierce for appointing this Mons. Soule our minister to Spain—but we always thought it a very fit appointment. If it is our manifest destiny to be a fillibustering people, and get all Mexico and Cuba, and other countries whose names have not yet transpired,—as it seems to be; and to do it by all sorts of means, especially by picking all sorts of quarrels; then Mr. Soule and his hopeful son are precisely the men to send abroad, and will represent us better than any body else. Only they may be a trifle too fast!

The New Bedford Mercury says the account of the attempt to arrest the fugitive slaves in that city, by the Portsmouth (Va.) Globe, is "a mess of stupid statements." It says there was no excitement in the city, and not ten persons knew anything about the matter at all. The Globe alleged that the bells were rung to alarm the people, and that the occasion furnished texts in the pulpits.

The slave-hunters were doubtless fearful of dangers that did not exist;—the bells were probably rung for some lecture or other common purpose, and the texts might be accidentally taken, or might relate to Gardner Dean's abduction. So they made an extravagant story. But the Mercury, though a pretty smart paper, does not know all that goes on in New Bedford. Its statement above quoted, confirms the truth of the story that there was such a hunt; and that it failed of its object.

An important order, with reference to the public health, has been offered in the New York Common Council, directing that a committee be appointed to investigate the cow stables and milk manufactories situated in the upper part of that city; with the number of cows which die weekly, through intoxications and other ills and diseases pertaining to their management.

If this committee does its duty thoroughly, we shall see some sad revelations of human life sacrificed to cupidity. The cows which are fed with slops from the distillery and brewery, begin to decline in health, almost at the moment when they begin to feed on this aliment, and to breathe the air of their prison.

HARPER'S NEW MONTHLY for January, comes without the pictures, (on account of the fire,) but the reading matter is as good as ever. The Two Cousins, and the Flower Bells, are fine stories. This, our second copy, is received from Fetridge & Co. Boston, through J. F. Shores, jr. of this city.

☞ It appears from the Boston papers, that the new city government will endeavor to execute the liquor law as well as others. They are to begin with those who sell illegally on Sundays.

A MAN FOUND DEAD IN A CARRIAGE.—A man was found dead in a carriage, at East Cambridge, on Tuesday. It is supposed that he died of small pox, and that he had been dead about three weeks. The carriage in which the body was found was in a shed, and had not been used for many weeks.

LOCAL.

TEMPERANCE WATCHMEN.—At the meeting of Eureka Club on Saturday evening last, the following officers were chosen for the current term:—W. M. Conant, S. O.; John Durgin, J. O.; Wm. C. Hatch, R. S.; Frank W. Miller, C. S.; Sterrit Anderson, C.; Cyrus Plumer, T.; David Tooke, M.; Adams Perry, jr., A. M. The P. S. O. will install the officers at the next meeting, on Saturday evening, Jan. 28, at Washington Hall.

☞ Bishop Chase will hold an ordination in St. John's Church on Friday morning, the services to commence at a quarter past ten o'clock. The rite of Confirmation will also be administered, at the same time.

☞ The editorial fraternity of this city, with several of the clergy, and other select friends, spent a very pleasant hour with Daniel N. Haskell, Esq., at the residence of Mr. Edward F. Sise, after Lyceum Tuesday evening. Mr. Haskell was a native of Newburyport, is now editor in chief of the Boston Transcript; but is probably better known among the readers of the Newburyport Herald here, as the former able Boston correspondent of that paper, over the signature of "Merrimack."

"CHRISTMAS MUSINGS," on our first page, will be found of interest. We have extracted the article from one much longer, published a few weeks since in the Waverly Magazine, a large literary and family paper of the first class, printed weekly in Boston. One of the editors—a native and till recently a resident of England—a gentleman of excellent literary acquirements, author of the interesting book recently published entitled "Passages in the History of a Wasted Life," among other works, made a visit here with a friend, and gives some random notes of what he saw and heard. We have clipped out what portions we deem of especial interest to our readers—much shortening the article, and injuring it as a literary performance.

"WASHINGTON PIONEER."—Alfred M. Berry, Esq., has removed from the editorial chair of "The Oregon" newspaper, in Portland, Oregon Territory, and purchased "The Columbian," at Olympia, Washington Territory. He has taken in company with him Mr. J. W. Wiley, the former publisher of the Columbian. The paper is now called the Washington Pioneer, and is of Democratic character. Both of the publishers are practical printers and qualified editors. They will undoubtedly issue a valuable paper. It is the first and only printing establishment in that Territory. It is located in the capital. The government patronage will ensure a handsome support. Having means sufficient at their command for facilitating business, they have before them a pleasing prospect of rare success. Mr. Berry is from our Granite State, a native of Greenland, and is one of the ten editors located in California and Oregon who graduated at the Newburyport Herald office.

CALIFORNIA NEWS.

San Francisco, Dec. 31.—The city has been lively during the fortnight.

On the 17th news arrived that the fillibusters still managed to maintain themselves at Ensenada. A good deal of excitement prevailed, but there has been no aid sent to them since the Anita left.

Reports are in circulation that another vessel is being fitted out, but it is doubtful, since public opinion and the press are disposed to consider the expedition and its objects as criminal, not only by the letter of the law but likewise by the spirit.

The export of gold for the year, as manifested in the Custom House returns, was $67,373,505. The total product of the mines during the five years ten months and a half since the discovery, is estimated at two hundred and sixty millions.

The arrivals of passengers by sea during the year, as shown by the Custom House records, have been 35,185, and the departures 30,316; the population having thus increased 4689. During the year 1028 vessels, of 555,794 tons, entered this harbor, and 1691 vessels, of 639,489 tons, cleared, being an increase of 22 per cent. on last year.

San Francisco claims to be the second commercial city in the Union.

A couple of very large auction sales of water property belonging to the city and State were made on the 26th and 28th. The property brought about $1,550,000.

Shocking Tragedy at Lexington, Va.—Thomas Blackburn, a son of Dr. R. S. Blackburn, of Charlestown, Va., and a cadet at the Military Institute at Lexington, was killed on Sunday week, by a young man named Christian, a member of Judge Brockenbrough's Law School. Christian had been paying attentions to a lady who was a cousin to Blackburn, and the latter had told her that Christian's character was not what it should be. She informed him of it, and he procured a bowie knife, met Blackburn as he was coming out of church with a lady, called him aside, and stabbed him in the neck, killing him almost instantly. There was a great deal of bad blood between the law students and the military young gentlemen about the matter. Christian evidently belongs to one of the "first families," for it is stated already that the deed was done "in the heat of passion," and he will probably escape justice.

Pittsburg, Jan. 21.—The Railroad Troubles at Erie.—Judge Irwin just decided that as the offence charged against Mayor King and Morrow B. Lowry is made subject to indictment by the second section of the Act of October, 1831, they cannot be held under the present process, and must be discharged with costs.

Erie, Jan. 23.—All is quiet here at present. It is understood that the Marshal will be here to-morrow to commence rebuilding the railroad bridges, in which case we shall probably have another exciting time.

CONGRESS.

Tuesday, Jan. 24.

Senate.—In the Senate, a bill was passed granting a pension to the widow of Gen. Jacob Brown.

The Nebraska bill was taken up and postponed until Monday next.

The French Spoliation bill was taken up and postponed until Monday week.

The resolution repealing the rules requiring executive sessions, and making all proceedings in open session, except where the Senate might specially direct, was taken up and laid on the table, ayes 23, noes 14.

Six private bills were taken up and passed, including the one for the relief of the captors of the frigate Philadelphia.

Mr. Badger offered a resolution that, as a mark of respect to the government of M. Bodisco, in amity with the United States, and in further respect to his memory and virtues, and to enable Senators to attend his funeral, that when the Senate adjourn it adjourn till Thursday next

This was debated. Messrs. Mason, Butler, Cass and Hamlin favored the resolution, and Messrs. Gwin and Johnson opposed it as a bad precedent.

Mr. Walker called for the yeas and nays, when Mr. Mason withdrew the resolution.

Mr. Weller said that to enable such Senators as desired to attend the funeral, he moved that when the Senate adjourn it be till Thursday. Agreed to.

Mr. Hamilton, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, reported a joint appropriation of half a million dollars to continue the works on the Washington aqueduct. Referred.

From Washington—Important From Spain.—Washington, Jan. 24.—To-morrow is set apart for the consideration of Mr. Redfield's nomination.

Intelligence received here indicates the preparation of a scheme for a coup d'etat at Madrid, having for its object the dethronement of the Queen, and the placing on the throne of the young Duke de Alba, with the aid of France.

The Republicans and ultra Liberalists of Spain have united in a project which contemplates the union of Portugal and Spain under one government.

The European War.—New York, 25th.—The Times learns from a private source, that the English government recently proposed to the French government, that if she would despatch two corps of troops against Russia, the one to land in Finland, and the other in Crimea, the English government would pay the expenses. This proposition was made on the assumption that war was unavoidable. It was declined by France, on the ground that the arrangement would leave the English government at liberty to withdraw from active participation in the war at pleasure.

Mrs. Partington and her Good Sayings.—Mr. Shillaber, who is the only real Mrs. Partington, or rather the only disseminator of her wise, quaint and homely sayings—in comparison with which all others are chaff and provender—is to issue a book containing the best of the good old lady's apophegms, under the publication of Phillips & Sampson, Boston.

PULVERMACHER'S

Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains

PRESENT themselves without being invited, as the only Scientific mode of instantly relieving and permanently curing

NERVOUS DISEASES.

If the intelligent people of Portsmouth are disposed to be pleased with a long extravagant advertisement, we are disposed to displease them; by a very brief notice, and simply announce that

1,000 DOLLARS

Will be given to any person, who is in need of money, who will produce so many well authenticated certificates from intelligent patients and scientific Physicians, of permanent cure of Nervous Diseases, a list of which may be found in a pamphlet of 34 pages, to be had (gratis) of the only Agent in Portsmouth, David Kimball. Do not fail to obtain a pamphlet.

The Electric Chains are particularly recommended for the usual diseases of Females. Ladies who are enceinte are requested not to wear them.

NEW MUSIC received at JAMES H. HEAD'S Bookstore, 18 Pleasant st. j6

A little girl who had accompanied her mother to a place of worship where the officiating "divine" was in the habit of "talking forcibly" to the sinners, to an extent which unconverted "outsiders" considered as sometimes almost bordering upon profanity, exclaimed, on her return,—

"Mamma, I don't like Mr. ——."

"Why, my dear," replied her mother, anxious to know the cause of such an expression of childish opinion.

"Because he talks sawy to God."

A little girl had a beautiful head of hair, which hung in "clustering curls" down in her neck. One hot summer day, she went upstairs, and cut all the curls off. Coming down, she met her mother, who exclaimed with surprise:

"Why, Mary! what have you been doing to your hair?"

To which she responded, that "she had cut it off and laid it away in her box, but that she intended to put it on again to-morrow, as Aunt Nancy did!"

A correspondent writes to the Post, that Geo. Lippard, Esq., the Author, is sick and destitute. He is residing, in an almost dying condition, without proper attendance or care, in the second story of an old house situated in an unfrequented part of Philadelphia.

Mr. Sanders, the American Consul at London, in one of his letters to the New York Herald, states that "Louis Napoleon is preparing for war on the grandest scale. It is known that he will have, by early spring, an invading army of seven hundred thousand men fully equipped."

FOSTER'S
CELEBRATED NERVE OINTMENT.

FOR the cure of Sprains, Bruises, Cramp, Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Stiff Neck, Pain in Breast, Back, or Joints, throat Distemper, Piles, &c.

This Ointment has been in the market for the last 25 years, and proved to be invaluable for the above complaints, and for bathing any part of the Body which may be afflicted with pain, and in most cases effects an immediate cure.

d23 WM. H. FOSTER, Market street.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Headache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Greenwich street, New York.

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,
Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have been several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

HENRY B. REWICK, L. D. GALE, J. H. LAYE, T. R. PEALE, THOS. H. BURNETT, F. SOUTHGATE SMITH, WM. CRAUCIE LANGDON,

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered by inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of specifications of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——.

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR.—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the most well-esteemed remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

An Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is rac ked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's revivifying Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. T. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. T. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6?1wly

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

HAS just received another lot of fashionable Pantaloon Goods, Velvet Vestings, &c. &c., which will be made to order as low as can be had at any other establishment in this city.

Particular attention is giving to cutting Pantaloons, which is indeed one of the most difficult garments in the department of dress, and has heretofore received too little attention. The success we have had in this branch of our business enables us to ENSURE ALL with an easy and becoming FIT.

Gentlemen in want of any kind of Garment can be furnished at very short notice.

In the Coat Department, our customers have practical proof that we CANNOT BE BEAT.

Customers furnishing their own cloth will be attended to in the best possible manner.

☞ Wanted immediately 2 COAT MAKERS, to whom the highest prices will be paid.

Apply at No. 22 Market Street, up stairs.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'

IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.

The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

RUM DROPS.—The allurements of the Club and of the occasional glass with a friend, have been sufficiently characterized. They have acquainted our young men with the evils flowing out of such indulgencies. Women, young and old, convinced of the impropriety, and of the injurious consequences of female winebibbing, have, as a rule, ceased to sip. In fact, all the evils whose origin lies in the too free use of strong drinks, are read and known by all men and women equally, and the libertine, now looks in vain, or, at best, but seldom finds an unnaturally flushed cheek on which to imprint his passion; a disordered imagination in the ear of which he dares to whisper. He has grieved at the change, and, as the opportunity for sinning became less frequent, had almost resolved to make a virtue of necessity and become an honest man. But he need not do it now. The devil seldom leaves his friends till their day of usefulness is over. The libertine cries out for victims, and the confectioner answers the call. Rum-drops, brandy-drops, and wine-drops, appeared, and were spread out temptingly on the tables of our fashionable saloons; and through them, the girl who would have been insulted by the offer of a glass of the sweetest wine, becomes familiar with the taste and exhilerating effects of the strongest and most alcoholic drinks.

As many of our readers may not have seen the article to which we refer, it may be well to say that these drops are made in the form of the ordinary peppermint drops, and are about five times as large. The sugar of the peppermint drop, however, is impregnated with the essence, and the moment the tongue touches it the presence of the essence is apparent. Not so the rum-drop. The outer composition, poisonous though it be, is free from taste or smell of ardent spirits. It is but the envelope. The rum is concealed within, so that before you are aware of its presence the sugar coating has prepared the way—the alcohol comes upon the tongue already covered with sweets; its unpleasantness to the unused palate is destroyed; its strength is not apparent, and any idea of its quantity confused.

No more ingenious method could be conceived for the purpose of producing alcoholic effects upon those who could not be persuaded to touch it in any other form.

These drops are not to be found in the saloons where men alone resort. They are not intended for the use of men. If you want them, go to our magnificent and respectable saloons—to those to which your daughters are conveyed for refreshments, at the close of the concert, when the play is over, or after a promenade on Broadway. There—in the afternoon, or from evening to nearly morning, you will behold scores of couples seated comfortably at costly tables. Wait until the ice cream is set aside, and you will see the willing waiter return with a mint julep for the young gentleman, and "a dozen rum drops" for the lady. Beholding this, is it any wonder that so many young women are led astray?—N. Y. Times.

REMARKABLE MEMORY.—John Franklin was a native of Canaan, Litchfield county, Conn. An instance of remarkable memory, when a lad of seventeen, will show that he was no ordinary boy. Having accompanied the family to the place of worship, the meeting house being only enclosed, but neither ceiled nor plastered, the beams and rafters were all exposed to view. John saw that his austere father sat through the sermon with great uneasiness, but could not divine the cause.

On returning home, "John," said the father, "it is my duty to give you a severe thrashing, (common in old times,) and you will have it presently, so prepare yourself."

"But you won't whip me, father, without telling me what for."

"No, certainly—your conduct at meeting, sir, is the cause. Instead of attending to the sermon, you were all the time gaping about, as if you were counting the beams and rafters of the meeting house."

"Well, father, can you repeat the sermon?"

"Sermon! no. I had as much as I could do to watch your inattention."

"If I'll tell you all the minister said, you won't whip me?"

"No, John, no; but that is impossible."

Young Franklin immediately named the text, and taking up the discourse, went through every head of it with surprising accuracy.

"Upon my word," said the delighted parent, "I should not have thought it."

"And now, father," said John, "I can tell you exactly how many beams and rafters there are in the meeting-house."—Miner's History of Wyoming.

AN UNKNOWN ISLAND.—The British brig Chatham was lately wrecked on an island in the Pacific, hitherto undiscovered. The captain gives an account of the adventures of himself and crew thus:—

"We were distributed among the people of the island, where we spent a most wretched night, expecting to be speared every moment. The next morning commenced our naturalization. We were all drawn together and armed with spears, and marched off to the north end of the island, as we supposed, to be there sacrificed to their gods, for they have many; but the training ended well, and we were each taken to our respective houses again.—For several days this training was carried on, differing only as their modes of worship differ, according to which of the gods they worship. We then found that we were considered supreme beings, and that we had nothing to fear as long as they thought so. The natives worship idols, departed spirits of their own race, and have godsmen, or a species of Pagan priests, among themselves,—whom they worship on particular occasions."

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JAN. 27, 1854.

SECTARIAN JEALOUSY.

The Journal of Commerce has an article on the anti-catholic tendency of the times, and regards as an ominous circumstance the formation of secret societies, the result of this tendency. It says:

Occasionally all the mechanics in manufacturing or other establishments join these organizations en masse. The most conspicuous societies of this character are the 'Guard of Liberty,' which is now said to number 5000 members, and the 'Know Nothings,' which probably number as many. The 'Order of United Americans' is reputed to number about 12,000 members. Cooperating with the above, or coinciding with them in all essential points, are many Germans, Orangemen, or Irish Protestants, and a number of Italians. The social incongruity here presented, of one portion of citizens arrayed against another with hostile intent, may be the precursor of untold evils. By no possibility can any good result from it. Better that a thousand lives were lost by casualty or disease, than one in religious strife.

The Journal of Commerce is quite too gloomy about the matter. We regret the hostility which the Catholics and the ignorant among the anti-catholics cherish towards each other; yet good will come out of these evil feelings on both sides. These demagogues who might be willing openly to court the favor and buy the votes of one side, will hardly be able to court or buy both of two opposite and hostile factions. The lordly assumptions of the Romish Hierarchy, transplanted into this country of free religion, free speech and free thought, are sure to provoke counter-acting institutions, and to rouse up resistance and clamor against their extravagant pretensions, especially among Europeans who have felt the iron hand of despotic power, nerved and directed by ecclesiastical polity.

EDUCATION DANGEROUS.

The "Shepherd of the Valley," a Catholic newspaper published in St. Louis, utters the following singular sentiments in relation to popular education:

"We are not the friends of popular education, as at present understood. The popularity of a humbug shall never, we trust, lead us to support it. We do not believe that the "masses," as our modern reformers insultingly call the laboring class, are one whit more happy, more respectable, or better informed, for knowing how to read. We think that the "masses" were never less happy, less respectable, or less respected, than they have been since the Reformation, and particularly within the last fifty or one hundred years,—since Lord Brougham caught the mania of teaching them to read, and communicated the disease to a large proportion of the English nation—of which, in spite of all our talk,—we are often the servile imitators.

We hope our Catholic readers will think of this, and say what they think. Is it better to be learned or ignorant? wise or foolish? Is it better to be able to read papers and write letters? or to have a priest read for us, and tell us what he pleases; write for us and think for us? These are the questions.

THE ERIE TROUBLES.—Buffalo, Jan. 25.—The U. S. Marshal arrived at Erie to-day, and the railroad men are making arrangements to relay their track to morrow. The excitement there has again commenced, and the people threaten to tear down the road as fast as it is built.

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—Governor Bigler, in his recent interview with the President at Washington, assured the latter that the laws should be enforced at Erie, and that the state militia, if necessary, would be called out to protect the railroad.

The election of Senator Cooper to the presidency of the Sunbury and Erie Railroad, is not satisfactory to the City Council, and an effort will be made to withhold the two millions subscription made conditionally, a few weeks ago.

This Erie nonsense cannot last always; it must be closed somehow; even if, as in the old Whiskey Insurrection, the militia of Pennsylvania, or of other States, have to be called out to suppress the riots.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE, for Jan. 1854, is on our table, from Leonard Scott & Co. New York. Its contents are

1. A Painter in Persia; a review of a book of travels.
2. The Quiet Heart, part 2: being a chapter of a novel.
3. Dives; poetic.
4. The English at Home, by a Frenchman abroad; descriptive; somewhat satirical; but not very unfair review.
5. The Past and Future of China; political.
6. The Last Fruit off an old tree; review of Landor's last book.
7. The Beverages we infuse; a fine, scientific, practical and moral essay on tea, coffee, &c.
8. The Aberdeen Cabinet; political.

The reputation of Blackwood is universal. This number does not fall below its usual high character.

In ten days, 21 fugitives, 13 of them from Covington, Ky., five of whom escaped from the mayor of that city, have taken the underground route and reached Canada in safety. It is related that one of these had money enough to buy himself, but came to the hasty conclusion, just a few hours before he started, not to part with his money in that way, but rather to spend it for a Canada farm.

ALTOGETHER TOO SMART.—John Mitchel, who wants a plantation in Alabama, well stocked with healthy negroes, says Daniel O'Connell was "a poor old nisi prius lawyer." Mitchel is evidently "a fast man," and has run his race in this country in very quick time.

The same John Mitchel says, in his Citizen of the 14th inst.;

"If there had been, as there ought to have been, an insurrection in Dublin in 1848, and if the women in the upper stories could have rained hell-fire upon the enemies of their country, they would have watered the revolutionary garden till it bloomed as the rose."

Montgomery's Pictorial criticises this strange sentence in the following manner:

All original similes, even in Irish, have power for good or evil, and this one will not be an exception to the rule. Let us see, then, what caused its conception: it was a desire for revolution in Ireland in 1848. But what manner of revolution? That kind which is not for the enfranchisement of the oppressed people; not for the breaking of those shackles which a cruel tyrant has forged and riveted; not for the assertion of a divine right to personal liberty, and the claim of man to stand before his God, erect and the equal of his fellow; but of that awful kind which is implacable, and cruel, and sanguinary, and which fills the earth with horror, and which results in the establishment of a dread and unblessed tyranny, such as king or kaiser never founded, nor could found.

These principles are infinitely more dangerous in a Republic like ours than they are in monarchies or despotisms. It was not by "hell-fire" that Washington and the chiefs of 1776, won for their country that rational and enduring liberty which we now enjoy. It is not by "hell-fire" that Americans cultivate the roses of their freedom, or hope to preserve the glory which they won with pain, and prayer, and trust in the great God of justice. And finally, Mr. Mitchel will soon learn that he will find no sympathy, no fraternity, no kind wishes, unless he looks to some other source of Irish enfranchisement than the kingdoms of Hell and Death.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Michael Gallagher, an Irishman, about 30 years of age, was found dead in his bed, at the residence of his brother in Market street, Newburyport, on Sunday morning. The day and evening previous, the deceased had been about the city as usual, but had been a hard drinker for some time past, and probably drank to excess before retiring on Saturday night. He must have died without a struggle, as his wife, a worthy, sober woman, by his side, had no intimation of it until she found him dead and cold in the morning. A jury of inquest was called who after a session of an hour and a half, rendered a verdict that "he came to his death by habitual intoxication."—Herald.

SHOCKING OCCURRENCE.—We learn that the house of John Thompson, Esq. of Centre Harbor, was burnt on Saturday morning last, about 4 o'clock, and that Mr. Thompson, who was its only occupant, was burnt in it! Mr. Thompson had been aroused, and had carried out a quantity of books from his Library, which was very valuable, and returned for other articles, when some part of the building fell, and he was seen no more. A portion of his remains were found in the morning among the ruins. Mr. Thompson was about 50 years of age and had no family; he was a native of Durham, a lawyer by profession, and son of the late Benjamin Thompson, Esq.—Dover Enquirer.

WHEELING, Jan. 25.—Attempted Suicide.—A very respectable young woman, named Mary Drake, attempted to commit suicide today by jumping off the Suspension Bridge into the river, a distance of 90 feet. Strange, however, to say, she was rescued uninjured after floating amidst the ice for nearly half a mile.

HARTFORD, Jan. 25.—The early train on the Naugatuck road met with an accident this morning between Winstead and Wolcottville. The cow catcher struck a solid body of ice which had formed across the road during the night, whereby the locomotive and tender were throwa from the track, instantly killing the engineer, and so badly injuring the fireman that he is not expected to recover.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The Star says that M. Bedini will receive a passport such as is usually accorded to an ambassador.

The funeral of M. Bodisco took place today, and was attended by the President, Secretaries, Congressmen, Diplomats, and a multitude of citizens. The remains were interred in Georgetown Cemetery.

On Friday last, the Salem Alms House narrowly escaped destruction by fire. In burning the chimneys, which were very foul, they became so heated as to set the surrounding wood-work on fire, which was fortunately subdued after great exertions, in which the women particularly distinguished themselves.

DRUNKENNESS AND DEATH.—Michael O'Conner, boarding with a family on Washington street, Portland, while in a state of intoxication, on Saturday evening, fell down a flight of stairs, and received injuries which caused his death in a few hours.

Jas. P. Jenkins, the young man recently arrested at Oneida depot, N. Y., for the forgery of pension papers, on being arraigned for trial before the United States District Court at Albany, N. Y., on the 17th inst., plead guilty and was sentenced to five years imprisonment in the State Prison at Auburn.—He has a young wife and respectable connexions.

Mons. Alexander de Bodisco, so long the Russian Envoy at Washington, died at his residence at Georgetown, on Sunday night last. He first entered the Russian service about fifty years ago, and acted a conspicuous part in the political affairs of the empire. It may be remembered, that soon after taking up his residence in Washington, he married the beautiful Miss Williams, celebrated as the belle in Washington circles. They have had seven children.

LOCAL.

MORE SNOW.

Winter (they say) never rots in the sky. Certainly it does not, this year. It is fresh and sweet, brilliant and cold. Down to zero, below, ten below, say some, on Wednesday morning. Then, on Wednesday night, or rather Thursday morning, we had four inches of new light snow, just exactly four inches more than the railroad men desired.

The trains were detained, so that the first passenger and mail train from Boston, only reached Newburyport at 10 A. M., and this city at about half past 11. The train from the east arrived a few minutes before one.

Speaking of late and large snows, the Lewiston (Me.) Journal says that the house of Mr. Hezekiah Gowell, of Peru, was so blocked up with snow by the late storm, that the inmates were obliged to excavate a tunnel seventy feet in length under the snow, to the front door. The snow was about three or four feet in thickness overhead. But a few rods from the house the ground was entirely bare.

The shower of snow balls at Royalston, Vt., this year, has been already noticed.

The papers have lately contained a little item about an old snow storm and drift connected with a courting story; in which a young man, after the storm had subsided, got out of the chamber window of his father's house, not far from Boston, and walked two or three miles on snow shoes to visit a young woman whose company he sought. At the end of this pleasant excursion he entered the chamber windows of her paternal mansion, where he was gladly received, as the story runs, both by the parents and the daughter, as callers about that time were not very numerous, and they were glad to see any body.—'Tisn't at all likely that was the principal reason—but some folks will tell a story that way—and then, as in this, leave us all in the dark as to the grand result of the journey. We warrant, however, that all sped well; and that some descendant of that young pair tells the story.

As a fit companion to this old story of snow and courting, we must tell another, not about courting, but about snow.

Aunt Mary, who is getting quite along in years now, says that in 1780, when she was a little girl of five winters only, there was a very great snow storm, which lasted several days, and piled up the snow so high before and around the house where her parents lived then, and where she lives now, (not far from the Railroad stations,) that the front door and all the front windows on the lower floor were completely covered and buried. The kitchen, being lighted only from two front windows, became and remained totally dark, while the family retreated, for light's sake, to the chamber above, and lived and cooked there for three or four days, until the snow had settled and was partially removed: the family in the mean time using the back door only, which had been less thoroughly blockaded, and was besides more important to be made available.

Years afterward, perhaps fifteen or twenty, another and similar storm fell perhaps a foot below the level of the other, on the front of Aunt Mary's mansion: having other means of lighting, the family did not retreat; but in digging a deep cut from the front door toward the rest of mankind, her father, who was a six footer and well built, declared that he knew not what to do with this new snow, for he had piled up the old snow on both sides, higher than his head.

Snow and ice are native products of our climate—and in their season, like all other things, must on biblical authority, be pronounced beautiful. Sleighing and skating, snow-balling and shovelling, are all pleasant and exciting employments,—besides being more invigorating than the less active diversions of softer climes.

We would not, like the boy in the old school-books, wish for Winter to last forever: but once a year we like to see it come; and afterwards we like to have it go off.

CITY LYCEUM.—At the Cameneum on Thursday evening, Rev. Mr. Willis lectured to rather a thin house, on China and the Chinese. The lecturer expressly disclaimed any originality of material, but gave us a carefully compiled and well written lecture, descriptive and historical.

The lecture on next Thursday evening is to be delivered by Rev. Mr. Armitage of this city.

☞ No business of importance was transacted in the Board of Aldermen, last evening.

Jefferson Hall was granted to the Pleasant street society for the purpose of holding a fair.

The ordinance respecting the clearing of snow from sidewalks was reported in a new draft, and referred to committee on bills.

STRAIT RAILROADS.—The State of Maine, (we mean the newspaper of that name,) contains a table, comparing the length of several important railroads. The straitest of them all is the Eastern, which, running from Boston to Portland, measures 105 miles; whereas the distance on an air-line is 99 miles; making a loss of 6 miles, or 1 mile in every 16 1-2. The crookedest is the N. Y. and Erie Road, which loses 1 mile in 1 18-19ths.

SENATOR FOR No. I.

The Whig Senatorial Convention for District No. 1 was held in this city at the Franklin House, Tuesday, Jan. 24. The Convention was called to order by I. Bartlett Claggett, Esq., member of the Whig State Convention. Ichabod Goodwin, Esq. was chosen President and Mr. Sanborn, Secretary. Marcellus Bufford of this city was unanimously chosen as the candidate for Senator. A good whig, and a good classic name. He will be elected undoubtedly, if he get votes enough—so says a prominent whig who gives us the notice.

☞ At a Free Democratic Convention held at the Court House in this city on Tuesday, T. J. Whittem was chosen President, and J. P. Morse Secretary; and Rev. SAMUEL HOYT of Newington, was nominated as Senator from District No. 1.

SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS.—A. H. Powell, a Methodist minister, in Mobile, proclaims the "spiritual manifestations" to be a reality, and the mediums not deceiving but deceived by the devil. He claims to have been a medium himself, but believes the devil was in him when he was one. He found the devil at a protracted meeting, as he says.

The sum of $25,000 was recently sent to the London Society for propagating the Gospel in China, by a person signing himself "Less than Least."

CAPT. STROUT.—The examination of Captain Strout, of the brig Napoleon, at Portland, on a charge of ill treatment and unjustifiable treatment of his crew, has resulted in his discharge.

HAVANA NEWS BY THE ISABEL.—The Courier des Etats Unis has been prohibited in Cuba, at the instigation it is reported, of Louis Napoleon.

The weather at Havana was warm, and the winter had disappeared.

The Audiencia had resolved to suppress all juntas; do away with the University and establish a Colonial board; they were also debating the introduction of free blacks from Africa.

It was understood that during the next week Spanish doubloons would be lowered to $16.

In Sugars there was no change of moment at Havana. Box Shooks were very scarce. Vessels scarce.

At Matanzas Molasses has declined in price—the scarcity of vessels being the principal cause. Hoops were scarce. Freights were advancing.

SAD END OF A LIFE MISSPENT.—A man named Hazelboom, who resides at 88 Atkinson street, Boston, complained at the Police Court, on Tuesday evening, that his wife, Rozena Hazelboom, was a common drunkard, and prayed that a warrant might be issued for her arrest, so that she might be placed beyond the reach of intoxicating liquors. The warrant was issued, and Wednesday officer Stratton proceeded to the house on Atkinson street for the purpose of arresting her. Not finding her at home, he went to the house of David Doherty, No. 10 Oliver street, and there found her dead body in a bed in one corner of the room, with Doherty and his wife lying drunk in a bed in another part of the room. Rozena's death was the result of intemperance.—Boston Courier.

MEETING IN RELATION TO MR. DEAN.—The friends of Rev. Gardner Dean held a meeting at Sears' Hall, New Bedford, on Saturday evening, for the purpose of hearing any charges that might be preferred against that gentleman's moral or religious character. No person appeared against him, although the invitation to do so was made general through the press. The Committee having the matter in charge are preparing a report which will probably be published.

STEAMER ATLANTIC.—The steamer Atlantic, on her passage from Boston, Saturday night, struck a rock off Thatcher's Island, and again off Boon Island, causing her to leak badly. She sailed again yesterday at 2 P. M., for Boston, to go into dry dock for repairs. —Portland Advertiser.

LIQUOR SEIZURE.—Saturday morning, officer Mason made a seizure of 212 gallons of rum, gin, and wine, which came in the steamer St. Lawrence from Boston. It was principally marked for places east. One barrel of rum was marked J. Spiller. It will probably get spilt.—Portland Advertiser.

ROBBERY ON BOARD THE SAN FRANCISCO.—On Saturday, two negroes, William Evans, formerly second steward of the San Francisco, and William Fields, a waiter on the same steamer, went into a jeweller's shop in Catham street, N. Y., and offered a large quantity of valuable jewelry at seventy-five per cent. below its actual worth. The suspicion excited by such an offer led to their arrest, when the following articles were found in their possession: One gold brooch, set with diamonds and red garnets; one ladies' lepine gold watch, double case, with chain and charms attached; one diamond cluster breastpin and chain, valued at $100; one pair pearl ear-drops, strawberry basket form; seven heavy gold rings for ladies and gentlemen; several gold watch keys, and a lady's pencil case. All the articles are in charge of Capt. Brennan, at the Sixth Ward Police.—The double cased lepine watch was identified by Capt. Fremont, of the U. S. Army, as the property of his wife.

The negroes have confessed their guilt, and it is supposed, that property to the amount of several thousand dollars has been stolen by them and their confederates, on board the San Francisco and the Three Bells.

THE GROTON MINISTER CASE.—The arrest of Rev. Jacob W. Cooper, an itinerant preacher of Groton, in Lowell, some time since, on charge of breach of marriage promise, is well known. It has since been announced that Cooper had married one of the girls he had engaged himself to. This arrest gave rise to suspicions as to his real character, and his character as a minister of the Gospel has been made the subject of examination by an ecclesiastical council at Groton Centre, called by the Union church of that place, over which Cooper presided. The result of this council was published in the religious papers of last week. The document is signed by Rev. Charles Packard, of Lancaster, Moderator, and by Rev. C. W. Wood, of Ashby, Scribe. It appears by it that Cooper is a young Englishman, who in May last commenced preaching at Groton Junction, under the character of a Methodist minister. Some time last autumn, Cooper proposed to become a Congregationalist, and after a thorough examination, and the exhibition of papers apparently of the first order, he was received into the Groton Centre church. Since the late rumors about his conduct, this council summoned him to appear before them. Cooper did not appear before them, and moreover said that he "was not amenable either to the council or to the church." The council, after expressing their surprise at his refusal to be present, state, that after the examination of various witnesses, and the examination of documentary evidence, that the charge brought against Cooper, of "deliberate and repeated falsification as to his personal history and ministerial character," is fully sustained.

The council further state, that he presented to the Middlesex Union Association "altered or forged documents as to his ordination and his church standing, purporting to be signed by Bishop Sampson of New York, and by Prof. Mattison of the John street Methodist Church, the first of which, Professor M. alleges, must be a bare-faced forgery."

The ministers composing the council therefore withdraw themselves from Jacob Wilson Cooper, and "recommend the church in Groton to immediately excommunicate him."—Lowell Herald.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.—On Friday afternoon last, Mr. William Douglass, freight conductor on the Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad, had both of his legs broken by an accident at Enfield, N. H., about twelve miles above Concord. He was sitting in a saloon car, attached to several others, freighted with ship timber, when, from some cause, the saloon car was smashed through, striking Mr. D. and knocking him out of the car upon the side of the road, where he lay, in the snow and hail storm, for an hour, before being picked up, it being some time before the accident was discovered by the brakeman and engineer. Another man, sitting by the side of Douglass was also badly injured. Mr. D. has a family and is 35 years of age, and is not expected to recover.

On Saturday forenoon, about eleven o'clock, a brakeman, by the name of Gould, was knocked by a bridge from the Concord up freight train, and severely injured in the head. Gould has since died at the Hospital, of his injuries. He was 32 years of age, and leaves a family.

HORSE THIEF.—A man calling himself Orin Hutchinson, went to Hill & Cheney's stable in this city last week on Friday, and hired a horse and sleigh to go to Candia. He represented that he was employed in the saw mill north of the Stark mills. Not returning as he agreed, inquiries were made, and evidence obtained that he crossed over to Bedford, and afterwards was seen on the road to Nashua. He was traced to Haverhill, Mass., where he exchanged the sleigh and received twenty dollars. Here he called his name John A. Smith. Thence he went to New Market, and disposed of the team, sleigh, harness and robes, and receipted therefor in the name of John A. Robertson. It was ascertained that he had gone to Maine, but he was pursued no farther.—Manchester Mirror.

The London Observer says that agents are on their way to the United States to purchase ships and arms privately for Russia.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United states, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green wich street, New York.

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 22 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and efficacial remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is ARMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's relieving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621wly

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

STRANGE CAVALRY.—The National Intelligencer says the following is an extract from a letter of one of the agents of the Hudson Bay Company to an officer of that company, in reply to one making inquiry of the approach of Gov. Stevens's party.

"Some days ago I had a visit from some Flat Head chiefs, and they informed me that three Black Feet, who came to trade at Hell-Gate, told them that a large American and British party was seen by the Black Feet to approach their country. This information, I infer, was given at Hell-Gate about the middle of June. The Black Feet said that the horses of the said party were half bears and half horses, and that their necks were clothed with iron and sounded like thunder; that their fore-paws were those of a grizly bear, so that, running up a steep rock, they could hold on by their nails.

I of course infer that these terrible cavalry are those of Gov. Stevens. The Black Feet description won d defy Homer himself. They said that these horses were harnessed in fire, and that their crests looked like the half moon in a storm; that the sounds of their hoofs and paws were war songs; and that clouds of burning dust and smoke rose from their nostrils, and that when they snorted the buffalo heard them afar off."

TO MAIDENS ON THE LOOK OUT FOR MATES.—If a man wipes his feet on the door-mat before coming into the room, you may be sure he will make a good domestic husband. If a man in snuffing the candles, snuffs them out, you may be sure he will make a stupid husband. If a man puts his handkerchief on his knees whilst taking his tea, you may be sure he will make a prudent husband. In the same way, always mistrust the man who will not take the last piece of toast or Sally Lunn, but prefers waiting for the next warm batch. It is not unlikely he will make a greedy, selfish husband, with whom you will enjoy no "brown" at dinner, no crust at tea, no peace whatever at home. The man, my dears, who wears goloshes, and is careful about wrapping himself up warm before venturing into the night air, not unfrequently makes a good invalid husband, that mostly stops at home, and is easily comforted with slops.

The man who watches the kettle and prevents it from boiling over, will not fail, my dears, in his married state, in exercising the same care, in always keeping the pot boiling. The man who doesn't take tea, ill treats the cat, takes snuff, and stands with his back to the fire, is a brute, whom I would advise you my dears not to marry upon any consideration, either for love or money, but most decidedly not for love. But the man who when tea is over, is discovered to have had none, is sure to make the best husband. Patience like his deserves being rewarded with the best of wives, and the best of mothers-in-law. My dears, when you meet with such a man, do your utmost to marry him. In the severest winter he would not mind going to bed first.—Punch's Pocket Book.

THE CHINESE AND JAPANESE.—Bayard Taylor says that the Chinese and Japanese races, although both sprung from Mongolian ancestry, are widely different in most respects. The languages of the two nations are somewhat similar, but the pronunciation differs both in intonation and accent. The Chinese is nasal and unpleasant, while the Japanese is pure, articulate and distinct. One peculiarity is, that while the Chinese have no sound for R, and invariably substitute L where it occurs, the Japanese, on the contrary, have no sound for L, and invariably substitute R. The complexion of the Chinese is yellow, a stolid stupidity rests upon their features, and in their manners they are awkward and ungraceful. The Japanese possess an olive complexion, have a handsomely shaped head, with broad foreheads, and are graceful in their motions and dignified in their appearance. The steam whistle seemed to be the only thing which in any degree disturbed their equanimity while visiting the American steamer. A few Chinamen were on board the ship; these they treated with contempt, and did not seem satisfied until informed that they were the servants of the sailors. The boats of the Japanese were generally propelled by sculling, and according to Mr. Taylor's account are of the same model as the yacht America! The peculiar talent of the Chinese is imitation. The Japanese do not content themselves with this, but are probably, next to the Yankees, the most inquiring race in the world, and would be inventors were it not for the restrictions of Government.

GREAT GUNS UP GARRET.—The Boston Herald says,

Yesterday two pieces of ordnance for the new company of light artillery, arrived in this city from the arsenal at Cambridge. It was necessary to take them to pieces in order to deposit them in the armory of the company, in the new building, at the corner of Portland and Traverse streets. We should think it necessary to have some other and more convenient place provided in which to deposit this ordnance, rather than have the trouble of taking it in pieces and carrying it up three flights of stairs and down at every time of use.

SATURDAY, JAN. 28, 1854.

POLITICS.

The Lowell Advertiser,—which is not exactly a whig paper, nor a temperance paper, but a pretty smart paper nevertheless,—thinks the present whig majority in the government are rather puzzled with the liquor law, not knowing whether it is most for the interest of the party to repeal or not to repeal. The Advertiser says:

Suppose the Maine Law is repealed, through the instrumentality of the whig party—what will be the consequence? It would afford a triumph to a class of mortals for whom the whigs care but a precious little. Besides, there are—don't doubt it, reader; we know it requires a great deal of faith to believe it, but there are—a few temperance whigs in the commonwealth of Massachusetts. They have uniformly voted the whig ticket, because it was the whig ticket, and nothing else, and they have been told, and tried to make themselves believe, there was no way to sustain the cause of Temperance, and the Maine Law, except by voting the pure, unadulterated whig ticket. Now to repeal the law, in the face and eyes of this sober, but somewhat green portion of the community, requires a greater degree of moral daring than our whig brethren generally possess. It is true these Temperance Whigs are some of them hypocrites, some of them honest, but extremely foolish, and some of them are any thing and every thing, provided they can only be whigs all the time, but then—their votes count, and every vote helps, in a closely contested election. The simpletons may be made to swallow almost any story that is told them, but there may also be a limit even to credulity itself, and it may not be exactly safe to strip off all disguise, and come out flat-footed for the repeal of the Maine law.

But let us try the boot on the other leg, and see if it will fit any better. Suppose the whigs refuse to repeal it—what will be the consequence then? Is not the great whig city of Boston decidedly opposed to the liquor law? and can the whigs afford to offend Boston, and thereby endanger the whig supremacy of the state?

It will thus be seen there are very strong reasons why the whigs should repeal the liquor law. And then, on the other hand, there are very strong reasons why they should not. On the one hand, if they do, they are fearful of utter annihilation; on the other, if they do not, they can rationally expect no further assistance from the ultra-repealers. In avoiding Scylla, they rush upon Charybdis, and both are fatal.

The whigs have now the Governor and Council, three fourths of the Senate, and two thirds of the House, and can do precisely as they please. They will repeal the liquor law, if they dare, and we can hardly see how it will be possible for them to avoid doing it. Should they muster up courage enough to "do the deed," some plausible excuse will be invented to please the temperance folks, and we shall find them again, next November, as busily employed as ever in distributing and voting the whig ticket.

In the above extracts, there is much truth, mingled with considerable error. But both the truth and the error are so briefly and yet so plainly stated, that we copy them as a good foundation for remark.

It is quite true, that any moral question, coming into politics, does and must trouble the mere political partizan. And it is true that the Whigs in Massachusetts have a majority in the government.

But it is not strictly true that they can do, in regard to this law, what they please, as a party,—any more than it is true that the Democrats in Maine can do what they please. The democratic majority in Maine is unquestioned, and yet, being divided on this subject, they can do nothing—certainly neither division of the party can do its own pleasure.

Warned by the disasters which befal the democrats on our right hand in Maine, and by those which threaten the whigs on our left in Massachusetts, we presume our shrewd politicians keep an eye on such a dangerous customer, somewhat in the same way as the ancients used to look at a comet, expecting presently to see it strike the earth, and do some terrible mischief, they hardly know what.

Now in Massachusetts, in Maine, and we believe in New Hampshire also, there are many "honest but extremely foolish" men of all parties, who think that the interest of temperance is of the first importance, and that some great evils can be diminished by law. Such foolish men are apt to be very obstinate, and some of them have no more reverence for a seer or party than they have for a wig or a cocked hat.

The mere partizan cannot understand them; nor can they understand him. Between them we think it quite likely there may be a collision; but we don't think it will upset the State of New Hampshire, nor the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. We shall keep a sharp look out, let our readers know when the Comet strikes, and give the particulars, as we do of other disasters.

☞ The Washington papers say that M. Bodisco, the deceased Russian Minister, on his death bed, stated his age to be 86: yet he exhibited no marks of decrepitude, and very few of age, except white hair and beard.

Between eight and nine hundred cases of shoes were received at the station house in Haverhill, Ms., in a single day, for exportation.

GOES UNWHIPT.

We learn from the Springfield Republican, that Rev. B. W. Wright, of Pelham, charged with the abduction of Miss Julia Ann Gray, before the Police Court of that city, was discharged from arrest on Tuesday, the counsel for the prosecution abandoning the suit, because the evidence in the case would not bring it within the technicalities of the law, as interpreted by the Supreme Court. He stated that Miss Gray was induced to visit New York, in the belief that it was with her parents' consent. Finding how the case was, she refused to remain with Wright in New York, and left that city on her return, the afternoon of the same day they arrived there.

Mr. Leonard, who appeared for the Commonwealth, said the intent to seduce the girl could not be proved, but inasmuch as the actual offence was not of that extent which would constitute a "misdemeanor" in the eye of the law, he should not oppose a motion for his discharge. The defendant denied that he was guilty of any crime in the affair.

So this clerical scoundrel, like some others that we wot of, goes "unwhipt of justice" so far as the criminal court is concerned. But we presume his clerical brethren will put him on the track of dismissal and disgrace, in short order.

Though there may be no misdemeanor in the eye of the law,—in the eye of the Gospel the misdemeanor is very great. Such an old sinner can plead no youthful indiscretion, no sudden impulse. He was a deliberate, crafty, pitiless wolf, in the guise of a shepherd, aiming to devour the lambs of the flock. Unmask him, and turn him out!

☞ The Concord, N. H., Phœnix mentions that the people of that city were favored with a very interesting discourse on the subject of temperance, last sabbath evening, at the Universalist Church, by Rev. Mr. Fay, of Nashua.

The Phœnix remarks:

We are glad to hear the pulpit speak out in those earnest and persuasive tones which were exhibited by the lecturer on this occasion.—Mr. Fay is a natural orator, and his winning manner, combined with the weighty and important subject on this occasion, gave him access to the hearts of a crowded auditory, whom he enchained to the close of his admirable address. We are happy to learn that this Sabbath evening Temperance Lecture is to be sustained in the different churches in course, by the clergymen, either personally or by exchange.

☞ The Portland Watchman, speaking of a certain law, says:

"This law saves to the people of the State $4,000,000 annually. It carries comfort—peace and pleasure into thousands of families, where once reigned disorder, poverty, wretchedness, rage and sorrow. It provides clothing, wholesome food, and means of education to thousands of children, who, were it not for the restraints this law imposes, would never enjoy these advantages. It saves large numbers of our young men; reduces our taxes, empties our jails, work-houses, and houses of correction; lessens pauperism, diminishes crime, and causes joy and gladness to many a desolate and broken heart. Every substantial interest of community is enhanced and benefitted by it. Churches are multiplied and increased; Sabbath Schools more generally attended; and the valuable pecuniary, moral, social, and religious interests of the State are generally promoted by this salutary, humane and christian law."

We have purposely omitted a few words, in order to let our young readers guess, if they can, what law it is.

THE "SOFTS" VS. THE "HARDS" OF NEW YORK.—The New York Times states that the excitement of city politics has been revived within the past few days by legal proceedings instituted in the Superior Court against the Democratic General Committee of 1851, by Joseph W. Howard and Chas. Brown, proprietors of Tammany Hall. It appears that during the year 1852, the general committee of the city Democracy consisted of three members from each of the twenty wards, and all the meetings were held at the "old wigwam" up to the time of separation. This was before the days of "hards" and "softs." Ugly scenes were sometimes witnessed at Tammany during the exciting fall campaign of 1852, and plaintiffs in the new suit now claim the sum of $1617 for the use of rooms, damage and destruction of property, "refreshments and illuminations" from January 5th to December 17th, 1852. The summons and complaint for each of the sixty "hard" and "soft" politicians have recently been served.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF A WICKED DELUSION.—The steamer Massachusetts brought off from Nantucket, an individual by the name of Luther Crocker, who was conveyed to the Insane Asylum at Worcester, Wednesday morning. He has been bereft of reason by the spiritual rappings. Mr. Crocker is the same person whose sudden disappearance occasioned so much alarm at Nantucket, a few days ago, and who was finally found, after a protracted search, in an old barn in a remote portion of the Island, in a perishing condition—New Bedford Standard.

TESTIMONIAL.—Acting Consul Elliot of Boston has given information that the British government have awarded a gold medal, which is now being prepared for presentation, to Captain Young, of the American schooner Waldron Holmes, of Provincetown, in testimony of their sense of the courage and humanity which he displayed in rescuing and saving the master and crew of the British bark Cairo.

LIBERATED SLAVES.—Messrs. M. M. and F. T. White of Cincinnati, recently inherited an estate in North Carolina, a part of which was eleven slaves. They were offered $10,000 for the slaves, which they refused, and the liberated slaves recently passed through Cincinnati on their way to Indiana, where they will settle as agriculturists.

LOCAL.

CITY MISSION.—There will be a meeting of the City Missionary Society on Monday evening, at half past seven, at the Fleet Street Vestry. The object of the meeting is to hear the report of the committees, appointed at the annual meeting.

The friends of the Society are invited to be present.

THE LAST CHANCE.—Have you seen it? if not go either this afternoon or evening.—We speak of Chappell's great Kinetoscope of Cuba, which has taken our citizens so much by surprise and given such perfect satisfaction the past week. Major Felch, the gentlemanly manager, has been greeted with crowded houses each night. On Wednesday afternoon near one thousand children attended, and were highly gratified. It will be repeated by request again to-day. We recommend ladies and children to go this afternoon at 3 o'clock.—The Major tells us that the Temple will be darkened and the exhibition equally as good as in the evening. None should miss seeing it this evening, it being the benefit of Miss Merrill, the beautiful songstress; and Master Signor Morillo, the renowned and youthful figure dancer. Go early and secure good seats.

MUSICAL LETTER.—As we stated a day or two since, a gentleman in Epping received one of the pianos at the Gift Concert in this city last week. He formerly resided in Portsmouth, and was once associated with Mr. Moses in music. He now acts as agent for the Chronicle in Epping, and in a business letter to us, remarks incidentally as follows:—

The piano which ticket No. 51 in the Gift Concert drew, is received by me. It is a splendid instrument—just what I had a right to expect from the experience which Mr. Moses possesses. I regret that Mr. M. leaves your people. As you are well aware, I was one of his earliest friends; and I have ever taken a lively interest in his advancement in his favorite pursuits. When formerly associated with him in the practice and cultivation of the "divine art," I cannot recollect an unpleasant act, or unkind word between us. I was early aware of Mr. Moses' musical talent, and his untiring industry to excel, and cheerfully yielded what I saw his peculiar abilities merited. Mr. Moses to his friends was always true, while to his opponents he was a perfect "hard." He is a person of cultivated musical taste and feeling,—thorough in the science of music, and severe in practice. This has lost him, as is usual, many friends. No thorough teacher of music can ever be popular, at least for any length of time; for the public taste at the present day is for fashionable polkas and negro melodies. The old masters are scarce known to our modern music teachers; and their compositions, the work of their whole lives, are never studied. Here, at a distance, "from the loop holes of retreat," I hear of the performances of both sacred and secular modern music, and my ears are not disturbed by its dissonance. I am left to enjoy, with a few congenial friends, the practice of the rich old chorals and sublime choruses of the (though dead) yet living mastsrs, whose like we never shall see again. Yours, &c., W. F. L.

We admire the rich old musical compositions, perhaps as much as our correspondent; but we think there is much modern music worth the hearing. We say, keep the old tunes, and give us new also.

☞ Considerable excitement was created at Phillips's Academy, Exeter, on Thursday last, while the school was out at noon, by the building catching fire. The funnel in the lower room runs near the wall, and the excessive cold day required more heat than usual—which set the lathing on fire. A hole was soon punched in the side of the building, and the flames quenched without much damage being done.

SUPERIOR COURT.—The Superior Court closed its winter session at Concord on the 18th inst., after a term of thirty-seven days. Extended opinions were given on eighty-four cases, thirty-three divorce cases were granted; seven petitions for divorce were denied, and in forty-three cases, questions were examined and decided, or the actions disposed of without any extended opinion being given. A decision of the case, Portsmouth & Concord Railroad Co. vs. Jones, so long expected, was not given.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES.—Every city, town and village ought to have a free public library. The Great Falls Journal, speaking of the Village Library in that place, says the institution is now in a very flourishing condition. Its number of volumes is 2857, and a large number will be added the present year, as the arrangements for the purchase of books are being perfected. The Journal calls upon every person who takes an interest in the prosperity of the village, to remember that this is a public library, and that the addition of each subscriber goes to increase the number of volumes, and exerts an influence which cannot be estimated. It is understood that the Manufacturing Company make their usual liberal donation. Much interest is felt in this library, and its rooms are thronged on the evenings appointed for the exchange of books. We need something of the kind in Portsmouth, or what perhaps would be as well, the public should make liberal donations to the Library of the Mercantile Association, which now now numbers about five hundred volumes, and urge upon the young the advantage to be derived by joining such an institution.—Such opportunities to participate in public debate, and such facilities for consulting the various standard works, for facts bearing upon their subjects, are valuable and should be appreciated.

SHIP LAUNCH.—This forenoon, at 11 of the clock, Messrs. Fernald & Petigrew will launch from their yard, the ship Express, 1050 tons burden. She is owned by Peter Marcy, of New Orleans, Richard Jenness, Washington Williams, Daniel Marcy, and the builders, of this city. She will be commanded by Capt. Thomas M. Weeks, late of ship Piscataqua, and is intended for the general freighting business.

A CASE OF STABBING.—A serious affray occurred in SouthNewmarket, N. H., on the 20th inst., between two men by the names of Geo. York and Arthur McCann, which was nearly attended with fatal results. The two men had been drinking during the day, and in the evening McCann called at York's house to get some articles which he said his wife had left there. York became angry and attempted to strike him with an axe, whereupon McCann struck him with his fist. The enraged man then drew a knife, and stabbed McCann twice in the abdomen and breast. McCann then escaped, and succeeded in reaching the house of a neighbor, where his wounds were dressed, and he is improving, although still considered in a critical situation by his physician. York has been arrested and committed to jail to await his trial at the February term of the Court, to be held in Exeter.

CASE OF HYDROPHOBIA.—Sarah R. Thompson, a girl seven years of age, resident at Halifax, Mass., was bitten by a mad dog on the 20th of December. She was immediately taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital, where the wound received proper attention, and she returned home apparently in good health. Last Friday morning, however, she was again seized with symptoms of hydrophobia, and was taken to the Hospital.—On Saturday evening she was attacked with the most violent symptoms of the disease, and died at two o'clock on Sunday morning. This is the first case of hydrophobia that has ever been treated at the Massachusetts General Hospital. George Cox, of Middleboro', aged 46, was bitten at the same time with the young girl, but as yet no symptoms of hydrophobia have made their appearance in his case.

SETH T. HURD.—We observe by our Pennsylvania exchanges, that this gentleman, who is a lawyer of considerable eminence, and a leading whig of Pennsylvania, is a prominent candidate for Governor of that State. Mr. Hurd is, we believe, a native of Dover, but when quite young removed with his parents to New Durham, Strafford county.

COCKNEYISM.—Stepping into the street last evening we were startled at the cry "New York City 'all burnt," issuing from the brazen lungs of a newsboy. Imagine the consternation depicted on our countenance, till it recurred to us that the City Hall in New York had been destroyed by fire, and that cockneyism is almost as prevalent in Boston as in the metropolis of England.—Boston Atlas.

KOSZTA.—The New York Mirror says that Koszta has found friends in the Meades, the Daguerreotypists. They intend to teach him their art gratis, and when he shall have become perfected in it they will give him a set of apparatus, with which he can travel through the country.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The San Francisco.—The amount contributed by the Corn Exchange for the San Francisco rescuers was $4600, and is to appropriated as follows:—Capt. Creighton, $1600; Capts. Low and Shauffer $800 each, and the balance to be applied for a chronometer watch for each.

FOREIGN NEWS.

By the Atlantic, arr. at New York, Liverpool dates are received to Wednesday the 11th inst. Cotton and provisions have varied but little;—while breadstuffs have gone up another notch. Political and warlike matters are not much changed.

Eastern Affairs.—The Atlantic brings little definite intelligence to add to the important news brought by the Niagara. It is confirmed that on Dec. 30, part of the allied fleet made an attempt to enter the Black Sea, but were prevented by the tempestuous weather.

To the latest dates, Russian ambassadors had not withdrawn from London or Paris.

From Vienna, it is stated, seemingly authentically, that Austria asked Russia if she would consent to an European protectorate over the Christians in Turkey. To this the Czar replied that he would consent to no interference whatever, between himself and Turkey.

On the Danube little was doing, owing to the weather. There had been three slight affairs, in all three cases the Turks were successful.

There is a report that the Turks had stormed Karukel. Although it is likely, it is not yet confirmed.

Great Britain.—There is no British news of interest. Consols are firm at 92 3-4.

France.—France has called out an additional contingent of 40,000 men, to replace 70,000 men detailed for Turkey.

Spain.—Mons. Turgot has been appointed Grand Master of the Legion of Honor; supposed on account of Mr. Soule wounding him.

Young Soule has published a long letter, explaining the difficulty with the Duke of Alba.

China.—Shanghae, Dec. 19.—The insurgents had evacuated Amoy, and the Imperialists perpetrated horrible massacres upon those they met with.

Canton was quiet.

Liverpool Markets.—Breadstuffs have advanced again; Wheat 6d per bush.; Flour 2s per bbl.; Indian Corn 2s per qr. Pork very dull; Cheese continued scarce; Lard is dearer and in demand.

CONGRESS.

Senate.—Thursday, Jan. 26.—Mr. Shields from the Military Committee, reported back the House bill for the relief of the United States troops, sufferers by the San Francisco disaster, with amendments, which include among those relieved such officers and seamen of the Navy as were on board the steamer under orders. Also, that six months pay and rations be allowed to the officers and troops; and that the widows and minor children of those officers and troops shall be allowed pensions in the same manner as if they had been killed in battle. The amendments were concurred in and the bill passed.

House.—The House went into Committee on the President's message.

Mr. Clingman moved that instructions be given that they inquire into the expediency of so amending the patent laws as to prevent the extension of patents beyond 14 years.—the motion was agreed to, and the Committee rose, when the House concurred in the resolution of reference.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Deficiency Appropriation Bill, &c.

Mr. Smith of Virginia spoke on the subject of New York politics, regretting the introduction of the subject into the House. At one part of his speech, Mr. Campbell rose to the point of order, reflecting on Mr. Smith for agitating the slavery question. Mr. Smith said he despised a trick worse than he did a Free Soiler. When the gentlemen, under the pretence of a point of order, uttered that sentence, he could but express his surprise that the gentlemen so forgot himself.

Mr. Campbell—Will the gentleman yield the floor?

Mr. Smith—I decline.

Mr. Campbell—Then I cannot reply.

Mr. Smith—If the gentleman wants to find me he can see me as soon as the House adjourns—(sensation)—these interruptions naturally disturb me.

After some further remarks by Mr. Smith and the others, the debate was closed by limitation, and the committee, without disposing of the Deficiency Bill, rose.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Mr. Redfield's nomination as Collector of New York was confirmed in the Senate to-day, by a vote of 35 to 8. He received all the Democratic and Free Soil votes present. The eight nays were Southern Whigs.

The New York Democratic Delegation held a meeting last night, and determined upon opposing the Nebraska bill. The 'Softs' to a man voted to oppose it, and several 'Hards' also.

The Ohio Delegation also held a meeting this afternoon, and it was rumored that their decision was unanimous against the Nebraska bill.

It is said that the administration heard of the New York meeting last night, and advised the speech of Gov. Smith to-day.

The Collector of New York.—Washington, 27th.—The Senators who voted against Collector Redfield, were Messrs Dixon and Thompson of Bentucky, Bell and Jones of Tennessee, Benjamin, Toombs and Badger—all Whigs. Mr. Seward condems the removal of Judge Bronson, but voted for Redfield. Mr. Butler and other Southern Senators voted aye under protest against Freesoilers.

Mr. Dawson was the eighth Senator who voted against Mr. Redfield's nomination. The "Hards" wanted the Whigs to unite with them, but Mr. Seward declined, and the attempted coalition failed.

The Erie Troubles.—Erie, Penn., Jan. 26.—It is understood that a despatch has been received by the United States Marshal from Attorney General Cushing, instructing him to proceed immediately with the repairs of the railroad, and to forward word instantly to Washington if he is interfered with, in which case troops will be sent on without delay.—Judge Thompson is endeavoring to allay the excitement among the people.

Miss Adelaide Phillips is the fifth American who has within the last few years succeeded on the Italian stage.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

A Very Merry Measure, to a Very Sober Song.

BY A MAN IN HIS HONEYMOON.

Oh, ladies, will you hear a truth,
Of late too seldom told you:—
Not deem—be begs it of your ruth—
The writer over bold to you,
For, by the pulses of his youth,
He never yet was cold to you,
And, therefore, 'tis in sober sooth,
That he would now unfold to you
What may—apart from rythmic lights—
Be called the sum of "Woman's Rights."

For you, the cool, sequestered bowers—
For us, to kneel and sue to you;
Your feet upon the path of flowers
We struggle still to strew to you;
For you to drop the healing showers
Of kindness, (pitying dew to you,)
On failing health, and wasted powers—
The task is nothing new to you.
"Oh these indeed"—'tis love indites—
"These are unquestioned 'Woman's Rights.'"

"All hail"—we cry—"the stormiest hours,
If thus a joy we woo to you!
For us, of life's drugged bowl, the sours,
If so the sweets cause to you!
When many a heavy lap was ours,
Fond retrospection flew to you—
Good husbands, and unstinted dowers,
And smiling babes accrue to you!"
And, let me ask, what maiden slights
These latter mentioned "Woman's Rights?"

The faithfulness, the grace, the high
Pure thoughts of life we gain by you;
The vision of a softer eye,
The finer touch attain by you.
Weak hopes that unto death are nigh
Outleaning, we sustain by you;
And when misfortune sweeps the sky,
Our anchored hearts remain by you.
Long days of toil and restless nights,
Would ill repay these "Woman's Rights."

When mildewed spinsters, in the sere
And fruitless leaf, proclaim to you
That "if you know your wrongs' as clear
As they your rights' could name to you—
The tiger, wounded by a spear,
Would be a creature tame to you,
While tyrant man, in guilty fear,
Would bow his head in shame to you,"
Reply, "Sour grapes!" and quench the "Lights"
Of this new creed in "Woman's Rights."

Why quit the calm and holy hearth,
That is heaven's antepast to us,
To face the sterner scenes of earth—
The troubles that are cast to us!
Why change your soul's unsullied mirth
For woes that rush so fast to us
That we would dully curse our birth,
Were not your sphere at last to us,—
That sphere of peace, which well requites
The loss of these Un-sexing Rights.

New York Times.

A Great Church.—An immense Catholic cathedral will be constructed in New York next spring—the largest in America. The building will be 350 feet in depth by 105 in breadth, and will be surmounted by an immense dome, having a diameter of 104 feet. There will also be two lofty towers. The height of the nave will be 102 feet. The materials to be used are almost wholly stone and iron. The building will contain sixteen chapels and three organs, one of which will be of great size. Its location will be on the Fifth avenue and Forty-eighth street. The cost is expected to be about $350,000.

Thacher's Tooth Soap

Of charcoal and orris, is the best preparation for the TEETH that can be imagined. Its use renders the Teeth delicately white, the Breath perfectly sweet. One can enjoy one's Breakfast, Dinner and Supper so much after its use, that one almost thinks he has a new sense and taste. Use it by all means. Prepared and sold by

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,
Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

Henry B. Renwick, L. D. Gales, J. H. Lane, Principal Examiners.
T. M. Peale, Thomas H. Everett, F. Southgate Smith, Wm. Chauncy Langdon, Assistant Examiners.

From long acquaintance and intimate official relations with Mr. Cooper, I fully and heartily concur in the foregoing recommendation made by my late colleagues.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

Important information to inventors. The Subscriber late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837 determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, to persons in those offices. Ignorance in inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can have avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as solicitor of patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Patent Office, ——.
"R. H. Eddy, Esq., Boston, Mass.
"Sir:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,
"Yours, &c., THOMAS EWBANK,
"Commissioner of Patents."

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

This Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as Nature's Kindest Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. V. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. V. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. 6&7iw

"A Splendid Remedy."

The Great Remedy is at last discovered Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub lic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"$500 (50). On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner,'

IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be beleived, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.

The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this

in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

LOSS OF OLD RELICS.—The dwelling-house of Mr. Thomas P. Way, No. 71 Fifth street, New York, was burglariously entered on Tuesday evening by two young Germans, who opened the front door with a false night-key, went up stairs, and stole silver ware, jewelry, &c., valued at nearly $1000. In a case to which these rascals gained access was deposited an ancient time-piece, known as the George Washington Watch, which was purchased by Benjamin Franklin while he was Commissioner to London during the Revolutionary war. To this watch was attached a heavy gold fob chain, twenty-two carats fine, with dog's head and diamond eyes, also a seal composed of the original Washington coat, bearing date 1791, and in which were set thirteen brilliant diamonds representing the thirteen original states. This property, too, the thieves carried off. The watch is made of gold, of old fashion, with gold dial, steel hands, double cases, No 9595, and made by R. Bridge, London. As the thieves were leaving the house, Mr. Way's son entered the front door, and seeing that they were detected, the fellows, with smiling countenances, said—"Good evening, sir; how do you do?" The young man, thinking they had been with his father, allowed them to pass out doors.—N. Y. Tribune.

A GROWING STONE.—Mr. William Beach, a journeyman printer, of Auburn, N. Y., writes to the New York Tribune that he has in his possession a stone, of which he says:

"The stone is oval, diamond-shape, having eighteen sides, being about five-eights of an inch in length and half an inch in thickness. It has been in my possession for the last nine years. During that time there has grown from its side another stone of like shape, about the size of a common pea, having eleven sides. The parent stone has not diminished at all, but rather increased. The color of the stone is a pure white, being perfectly transparent, excepting the shape of the stone giving prismatic colors of light which grow out of the convergence and divergence of its many sides. Also, in the smaller one, is a slight tinge of amber. It is quite hard, cutting glass with ease, though its corners and ends are quite obtuse."

AN OUTRAGE.—The Hamilton (Can.) Spectator says that one of the most disgraceful pieces of rascality ever perpetrated on this continent, was committed in that vicinity a few days since. A tea-party had been held in a chapel belonging to the Wesleyan Methodists, for the purpose of raising funds to defray a debt upon the building, and to erect a new pulpit. Their party was well attended, and the proceeds more than equalled their expectations; but after the visitors had left the chapel for the night it was forcibly entered by a band of miscreants, who after regaling themselves on the remains of the supper and smoking a few cigars, proceeded to destroy everything which they could find. Candlesticks, plated dishes, and such other things as they could not render utterly useless by breaking, they thrust into the stove. The indignation of the entire community was aroused by the outrage, and every effort is being made to secure the discovery and conviction of the perpetrators of the deed.

A VALUABLE TABLE.—The following table, compiled from the calculations of James M. Garnet, Esq., of Virginia, will be found exceedingly valuable to many of our mechanical readers:

A box 24 inches by 16 inches square, and 22 inches deep, will contain a barrel, or 10,852 cubic inches.

A box 24 inches by 16 inches square and 11 inches deep, will contain half a barrel, or 5,476 cubic inches.

A box 16 inches by 16.8 inches square and 8 inches deep, will contain one bushel, or 2,150.4 cubic inches.

A box 12 inches by 11.2 inches square and 8 inches deep, will contain half a bushel, or 8,075 cubic inches.

A box 8 inches by 8.4 inches square and 6 inches deep, will contain one peck, or 537.1 cubic inches.

A box 8 inches by 8 inches square and 4.2 inches deep, will contain one half a peck, or 268.8 cubic inches.

A box 7 inches by 4 inches square and 4.8 inches deep, will contain half a gallon, or 131.4 cubic inches.

A box 4 inches by 4 inches square, and 4.2 inches deep, will contain one quart, or 67.2 cubic inches.

The measures come within a small fraction of a cubic inch, of being perfectly accurate, as near indeed as any measures of capacity have ever yet been made for common use.

TOO GOOD TO BE LOST.—The members of the Presbyterian Church, (N. S.) in the slaveholding states, have of late showed their displeasure against the American Home Missionary Society, because they send so much more aid to the West than the South. This has lately led to the formation of "Southern Aid Society," and many northern men have lent their names. A few days since a thorough western man met a northern minister somewhat prominent in the "Southern Aid Society," and addressed him thus:

"Dr. ——, I have a petition to present to your Society."

"Ah! what is it?" said the Doctor.

"That you forthwith send a minister to preach the Gospel at Norfolk, Va., where they have fined Mrs. Douglas for teaching colored children to read."

MONDAY, JAN. 30, 1854.

THE GORDIAN KNOT IN MAINE.

The judges of the Supreme Court in Maine, six in number, have given their opinion on the questions submitted to them by the House of Representatives. The points decided are that abridged for telegraphing:

First—That the Senators elect, though less than a majority of the whole board, may decide on the election of Senators, and that the House cannot fill vacancies without the concurrence of the Senate.

Second—That the Senators should send up all vacancies at one time, and that the House may refuse to go into convention until this is done.

Third—That if both branches concur, they may lawfully fill one or more vacancies without acting on the others.

The Portland Argus, of Jan. 28, contains the opinion in full; and the Argus says, "we have no time for comment on it this morning."

The judges decide that no Senators, except those chosen by the people, have any right to vote in Convention, on the choice of remaining Senatorial vacancies.

The decision sustains the action of the House,—and does not sustain the holding back of the Senate.

We suppose both Houses will now proceed to business.

BOOTS IN MILFORD.

A writer in the Salem Register, recommends the establishment of the Boot Manufacture in that city, as Danvers is close by with a store of leather, and as there is money enough, people enough and room enough in Salem. To help his argument he gets the following facts from the Depot Master at Milford, Mass. on boot-making in that town:

Eight years since, the subject of a branch railroad to Framingham was agitated, at which time the business of this town was rated at $427,000 per annum; while a recent canvass shows the following figures, viz. 1,339,108 pairs of boots were manufactured during the past year, amounting to $2,513,756, and the sum total, trade and manufacture, to nearly $4,000,000.

Four years ago the population was about 4,400; now it is estimated at 7,500.

You inquire how many persons are employed in the manufacture of boots. I can not answer, for the reason that our manufacturers do not know. When they "put out" one or more cases of stock, it is charged to the head of a family, perhaps. Can not tell how many persons are engaged in making up said boots, all the members of a family, from grandsire to stripling on the "stitching bess," are employed.

In regard to the transportation of boots and leather, I can only repeat what I said to you while you were here. In three months, ending Sept. 30, I forwarded 18,900 cases of boots, nearly one half of which went directly to New York, but the balance were sent to Boston and Albany. The books of one firm show sales amounting to $72,000 per month. It is not unusual to forward 600 cases of boots in a day. Have received 92 tons of leather for one firm in three months. In December, 1852 (the only month footed by me,) I received 194 tons of leather; and I have no hesitation in saying that, since that time, my books would show an increase.

In two months, ending Nov. 30, I received and forwarded to the treasurer of the Boston and Worcester railroad, for tickets and freight, $8,918.18. I could, if time would admit, give you the amount of business done at this station the year past, but can not at present.

I might say, as a matter of curiosity, that the first fourteen days of January—working days I mean—I have received, per railroad, 790 bbls. flour; 1,726 rolls of upper leather; 4,734 sides of sole leather.

I am warranted in saying that nearly seven-eighths of our people are engaged in the boot manufacture.

Census Statistics.—The following table, copied from the Boston Chronicle, is compiled from the newly published quarto volume of Census returns:

	Population.	Dwellings.	Families.
United States,	19,987,589.	3,268,142	3,598,045
Great Britain,	26,816,451	3,646,247	4,313,358
Ireland,	6,515,794	1,047,756	not given
Austria,	36,514,227	not given,	8,216,507
Prussia,	16,231,187	do.	2,691,055.

The number of births in the United States is put down at 548,835; marriages 197,029; deaths 271,890. In England and Wales, births 593,422; marriages 141,599; deaths 368,916. In Prussia, births 691, 562; marriages 148,892; deaths 498,862. The number of persons in the United States engaged in commerce, trade and manufactures, is put down at 1,596,265; in agriculture, 2,400,583; Government offices, 24,966. In Great Britain the occupations of the people are divided thus: Commerce, trade and manufactures, 3,092,787; agriculture, 1,490,785; government offices, 16,865.

Our readers will perceive that these figures make our population, in the United States, quite too small. On looking at the Abstract of the Census, we perceive that the above table gives only the number of free inhabitants, omitting over three millions of slaves.

The actual population of the United States in 1850, was 23,191,918.

Doctors on a Strike.—We learn from the Worcester Spy that the physicians of that city have unanimously resolved to increase their fees so as to correspond in some degree with the increased expenses of living. They will charge for an ordinary visit $1; for a night visit $2; and for a consultation visit $3. Perhaps a decrease in the amount of sickness will be the result.

Our Fishermen.—We are sorry to learn that most of our fishermen, discouraged by the ill success of the last two years, and the more rigid application of the law here than elsewhere, which deprives them of the bounty, intend to abandon the business and sell their vessels. Some design removing to Gloucester and Beverly. One man who has had five or six vessels engaged in fishing for the last twelve years gave us a statement yesterday, from which it appears that had his vessels been employed during that time at Gloucester instead of here, it would have made a difference in their favor of more than $16,000.

It seems to us that it is proper to have regard to the spirit of a law rather than to its rigid technical interpretation. Indeed it is well known that there are many laws which nobody expects should be applied to the full letter of them and rigidly enforced.—Newburyport Herald.

It is, we believe, very well known, that the fishing bounties all along shore, used to be paid to all sorts of fishermen, who went in vessels of the proper size, and the proper number of months. The Cod fishery was named, as that was the principal fish—but pollock, halibut, and mackerel, if caught, did no harm whatever. In more recent days, a distinction has been set up and sustained, between mackerel and cod fishing—and in some ports bounties have been dispensed, with less ceremony and restriction than in others. On this account it is, we suppose, that the fishing vessels are now moving from Newburyport to Gloucester.

MUSIC IN BOSTON.

The Boston Courier of Saturday, announced a concert by the Germanians on the evening of that day, and said:

The society will be assisted by Mrs. E. A. Wentworth, vocalist, and by Mr. Heller, pianist. It will be seen, by the programme, that on this occasion the Society will perform a greater amount of light music than heretofore. That there is a difference of opinion among the patrons of concerts as to the character of the compositions to be performed, is plain enough. A lighter class of music than usual will be acceptable to those who would like a change from the elaborate symphony. The engagement of Mrs. Wentworth will be approved by the subscribers to the concerts.—She has been so well received whenever she has appeared before the public, that it will be gratifying to them to hear Mrs. Wentworth in the Germania concerts.

This shows, we suppose, that there may be more than one kind of good concerts; that all tastes, among the most cultivated audiences, are not reducible to one standard; and that in song, as well as speech, most people wish for a variety of performance. Different character of pieces, different style of execution, and different degrees of weight and power, may all consist with excellence of music; and indeed are all requisite to make up a grand miscellaneous concert.

The two thieving policemen of New York, who have just been pardoned by Gov. Seymour, have applied to be restored to the situations from which they were evicted by the verdict of a jury. They will probably apply for arrears of wages. They were appointed to watch stores, and broke into one and stole goods therefrom.

Governor Seymour must be a modern Solomon, to pardon such fellows as these; and the new city government of New York ought to be ornamented with long ears, if they make watchmen of these convicted thieves.

Decline of Drunkenness in England.—The London Daily News comments upon the decline of drunkenness in the higher classes, believing it to be especially true, with regard to this vice, that in changes of society the prevalent vices go out at the lower end.

Half a century ago, Mr. Pitt was known to be killing himself with port wine, and nobody spoke or thought of the catastrophe in the way we should now if such a thing was happening. Ministers and M. P.'s said foolish and mischievous things in public, and were only declared to be drunk. Gout and other diseases consequent upon excess were so prevalent as to make old people now wonder what has become of them. The spirit decanters were brought out in the evening in the middle class houses, and the wine merchant's bill was an annual expense to the shop-keeper which few would think of now. Half a century of improved cultivation of mind, of expanded travel, of multiplied amusements, and, not least, of a partial introduction of lighter wines, has prodigiously elevated the personal morality of the higher and middle classes."

The Great Republic.—A survey of ship builders, called by the underwriters to examine into the condition of this ill-fated ship, made their report yesterday, in which they state that she can be fitted for sea for $275,000.

The unloading of the Great Republic is going on in New York. Upwards of one-third of the cargo was destroyed by the fire. Of the remainder, a large portion has been recovered entirely uninjured, the rest damaged to a greater or less degree. Over 800 tierces of beef, 2000 barrels of rosin, and 300 tierces lard, have been removed in sound condition. A large quantity of flour has been taken out damaged to the extent of seventy-five cents or one dollar per barrel. The corn comes out clean, and, although damaged by water, is good for distilling purposes, and worth about 40 cents per bushel. The wheat in bulk is in about the same condition. It is supposed that the whole cargo will be removed by next Wednesday. The hull, it is thought, will sell for $30,000, and it is thought probable that Mr. McKay will purchase it and tow it round to Boston for rebuilding.

Mr. Edward Wilder, a valuable citizen of Fitchburg, was killed instantly, on Wednesday, by the upsetting of a load of wood which he was driving to market.

LOCAL.

ORDER IN PUBLIC ASSEMBLIES.

Mr. Felch, the gentleman who has just closed an exhibition of the kinetoscope of Cuba, called for order in his assemblies, demanded it even from the boys, and would have it.

This reminds us of a frequent complaint which we have heard against the pounding, kicking, whistling and hooting, which pass for applause at concerts, lectures, &c.—but which are in reality a great nuisance to all decent and tasteful people.

One other practice also has been complained of, viz. that of whispering or talking in an undertone at Lyceums and Concerts. There is no legal power to prevent this, perhaps; and it might be difficult to suppress it by order. But if any person, indulging in the practice would consider for a moment what the effect would be if all were buzzing, they would hardly be disposed to persist in it.

The half-hour between opening the doors and beginning the lecture would seem to be ample for getting off small talk enough to last over an hour and a half—at the end of which time the thread of discourse may be resumed and spun ad libitum—as the parties walk home, or perchance after they walk in.

A loving couple, as we suppose they were, got behind Uncle Toby one evening lately, and the old gentleman "came within one" of criticising their talk instead of the lecture; but he recollected himself in season. To avoid such accidents, it would be well to speak very low, or to save the tender sentiments for a more private interview.

Lectures.—Mr. Remond is to give an anti-slavery lecture in the Temple on Monday evening.

Rev. Henry Giles lectures before the New Lyceum on Thursday evening,—and Rev. Henry Ward Beecher some time in the week, probably.

Rev. Mr. Armitage lectures at the City Lyceum on Thursday evening.

☞ The holy rite of Confirmation was administered to twenty persons at St. John's Church, on Friday last, by the Right Rev. Bishop Chase.

Launch.—The beautiful ship Express, was launched on Saturday, at about half past ten A. M., the builders being obliged by the strong wind to let her run about half an hour before the time set for launching. She was fully masted on the stocks. We learn that she is to load with ice for New Orleans.

☞ Sunday was the coldest day of the season, thus far. We did not see a glass till 9 o'clock, A. M., and then the mercury stood at 9° below 0. If such weather should continue for several days, our boasting friends at Portland will be obliged to make Portsmouth the depot of their British line of steamers.

At sunrise it was so cold that different thermometers could not mark the temperature alike. In four glasses, in different parts of the city, the mercury stood at 12, 12, 14 and 21 below 0.

M. BODISCO'S FUNERAL.

This solemnity was attended at Washington last Wednesday, by the President of the United States, and by all the members of his Cabinet; by the President of the Senate and many members of Congress, both Houses having adjourned over to give them the opportunity of attending; by the Diplomatic Corps, in full official costume; by the Mayors of the two cities, and by a multitude of citizens of Washington and Georgetown.

The procession was formed at 4 o'clock P. M., and in lengthened order attended the remains to the Cemetery of Georgetown, where the sublime Episcopal offices for the dead were impressively read by Dr. Pyne, and the solemn scene was closed.

The funeral of Mr. Bodisco furnished strong testimony of the respect and regard entertained for the deceased by all ranks and classes of persons amongst us. The array of carriages was unusually large, even for the funeral of one of high official station, and great numbers of private citizens identified themselves with the occasion. The body was conveyed in an open hearse in a coffin of the best material, but plain and unornamented, followed on foot by Mrs. Bodisco and her children, and the remaining members of the family and suite of the deceased, all the way from the residence on 21 street to the cemetery on the heights. This circumstance was peculiarly touching and appropriate, following as it did the affectionate example of Mr. Bodisco himself, on a very recent occasion, at the funeral of a near relative of his wife.—National Intelligencer.

Christmas and New Year at Deer Island.—We are informed, says the Boston Pilot, that the recent holiday season passed very agreeably among the 1200 inmates at Deer Island. A good chowder, and a fashionable hop in the great dining hall of the establishment, in which several hundred men and women participated, were among the ceremonies in honor of Christmas; while the evening of the New Year was also kept up in a becoming manner by the hardy laborers on the Island. A thousand blessings were showered on the head of the considerate and humane superintendent, Dr. Moriarty, on the occasion; and the fun cost the city nothing. The inmates got along without extra refreshments, oysters, cordials, &c., and the fiddling, also, was thrown in by two gallant chevaliers from Ann street.

High Prices of Provisions.—Flour was retailed on Tuesday in this city at ten dollars per barrel. The present high price is caused by a great shipping demand from England, France and Germany. Dealers, we understand, express an opinion that flour will advance to fifteen dollars. Beef is held at 15 cents per pound, butter at 28 cents, and potatoes $3.50 per barrel.—N. Y. Evening Post.

[We do not know how high a panic may carry up the price in the United States, but we will venture the prediction, that no flour purchased above the present market price will pay any profit shipped to Europe this year.]—Newburyport Herald.

It is said that the Willards have purchased a square of land in the city of Washington, on which they are making preparations to build a hotel which will accommodate more than a thousand persons. It is their intention to have the hotel open for the public in two years. It is to be called the "Metropolis for all Nations," and a very ridiculous name it will have.

The Printing Office.—Mr. Winthrop, in a recent lecture before the Charitable Mechanics' Association, made this remark in regard to a printing office as a good school:—"There is an atmosphere in a printer's office, which, some how or other, puts notions into boys' heads, too,—an atmosphere which is apt to make quick blood run quicker, and impulsive hearts beat higher, and active brains work harder, until those who were only indented to set up types for other people's thoughts, are suddenly found insisting on having other people to set up types for their own thoughts."

The religious or denominational friends of the Rev. Gardner Dean in New Bedford, have had several meetings of late, and called for proof of any charge that has been, or might be, made against his moral and religious character by reason of his recent mysterious disappearance. To one appearing against him, it was voted to extend to him the hand of sympathy and confidence, and cordially recommend him to the regard of Christians of every name, and especially to churches of his own communion in every part of the country.

A great branch of Massachusetts industry is the manufacture of boots and shoes. The aggregate value of these made in that State is $37,000,000, or more than of all the other States combined—and far exceeding that of any other manufacture in the Commonwealth. About one-third of the above amount is shipped to New York and the remainder is sent to the South and West, to California, the West Indies, South America, Australia, the Sandwich Islands, England, and the European continent.

The property of the Thompsonville Company (which Company failed a year or two since,) at Thompsonville, Ct., costing a million of dollars, has been purchased by a company formed at Hartford, for $200,000. The new company start with a capital of $500,000, over $400,000 of which was subscribed in Hartford in one day, and intend to resume work in the mills as soon as possible. Starting under such circumstances, they can scarcely fail to be highly successful.—Newburyport Herald.

Gilbert's Polypodium.—The following note from Rev. Mr. Bryant, pastor of the Pleasant street Church in this city, is one of the many gratifying evidences received by the inventor and proprietor of this invaluable medicine, in favor of its efficacy:

Mr. Gilbert, Sir:—For several years I have been seriously afflicted with Chronic Bronchitis. During this time, I have suffered much from cough, weakness of the vocal organs and debility. For some three months I have been making use of the extract of Polypodium prepared by yourself. I have found the disease gradually yielding to this remedy. My health has gradually improved, and my system seems to be gaining its former healthy tone. I feel that I can conscientiously, earnestly recommend it to all who are afflicted in a similar manner. Yours truly, Charles Bryant.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25.—The steamship United States has arrived from Aspinwall with the mails, passengers and specie. Left at Aspinwall steamer Ohio for New York, with one million dollars in gold dust.

The Congress of New Grenada had levied a duty of ten per cent. on the estimated profits of vessels arriving at and departing from Aspinwall.

The sloop-of-war Cyane was at Aspinwall about to leave for Carthagena, to convey the engineers who were to explore the route of the Oceanic Canal across the Isthmus of Darien.

It was reported that a revolution had occurred at Bolivia.

Dates from the City of Mexico have been received here. There was much excitement at Chihuahua in consequence of the new treaty with the United States. The leading men say that they will annex themselves to the United States rather than submit to the provisions of the treaty.

The town of Tahula on the Mississippi was destroyed by fire, yesterday, together with 8000 bales of cotton.

MONTREAL, Jan. 28.—Gavazzi Rioters.—The trial of the Gavazzi rioters is proceeding at Quebec.

The Court has ordered the acquittal of four for want of evidence, and the rest are put on their defence.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Mr. Douglass intends opening the debate on the Nebaska Bill next Monday.

The statement that the N. York Democrats had held a meeting at which it was agreed to oppose the bill of Mr. Douglas is unfounded. It is quite clear, however, that the Delegation will go against it. Senators Houston, Rusk and Bell will also oppose it.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, Jan. 27.

SENATE.—The correspondence transmitted to the Senate this morning, consists of a letter from Secretary Marcy to the President, submitting a copy of a letter from Cardinal Antonelli, the Pope's Minister of Foreign Affairs, addressed to the State Department; another from the Pope himself, recommending M. Bedini to his kind reception, and a despatch from Lewis Cass, jr., our Minister at Rome, of a date subsequent to the other, in which that functionary alludes to an interview he had with Cardinal Antonelli, who expressed himself as being gratified with the kind reception extended to the Nuncio in the United States, and spoke of the satisfaction it had given to the Pope. After the reading of the correspondence,

Mr. Cass made a personal explanation touching an article in the New York Express, charging him with doing an injustice to the people of New York in his remarks on the Bedini riots. He denied the charge in toto.

The Senate then took up the private calendar, and after passing several bills, adjourned to Monday.

HOUSE.—The House went into committee on private business. Nothing of interest was done. Adjourned to Monday.

DEATH OF A REVOLUTIONARY VETERAN.—One by one they are passing from us. We learn from the Worcester Transcript that Mr. Joel Howe of Spencer, died at his residence in that town a few days since, at the age of 93. Mr. Howe was a patriot of the Revolution, and had for many years been in receipt of a pension from government. He was a Whig, and at the last election voted for Washburn and Plunkett. He leaves a widow and ten children to mourn his loss. His death, which resulted from a fall, was the first death which has occurred in his family during a period of sixty-three years!

Great fires, that are so frequent in the United States, rarely occur in London and Paris, from the security afforded in the substantial architecture in these places. Stone and iron stair cases, partition walls of brick, double walls, floors supported on arches, slate or tile roofs, and heavy walls, mark the architecture of London and Paris. The inflammable nature of the material used in constructing American houses gives an abundant scope for fire.

The Gale of Sunday night last was very destructive on the Ohio river. Of the Pittsburg coal fleet fifty boats were known to be lost, and it was feared at the last dates that many more were sunk also. A number of lives were lost by the destruction of these boats. The loss already known in Cincinnati reached $52,000.

A FEARFUL FALL.—About half-past 11 o'clock Wednesday night, a seaman named Nile Lemont, who had taken lodgings in a chamber in the third story of William Traut's boarding house, 12 Ann street, Boston, while laboring under an attack of delirium tremens, crept out of his room upon the roof, and reaching the gutter, swung himself off. For a few moments he clung to the gutter with his hands, but losing his hold, he dropped a distance of thirty feet, to the sidewalk, badly crushing both of his ancles. He was taken to the North Watch-House, when Dr. Clark was called to him, and ordered his removal to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 26.—Judah Touro's will is dated the 5th inst. It appoints four executors, giving $10,000 to three of them, and making the fourth residuary legatee.—Nearly $450,000 is bequeathed to different public institutions, and for charitable purposes, including the following:—$80,000 for establishing an Alms House in New Orleans; $5000 to the Hebrew Congregation in Boston; $5000 to each of the Hebrew Congregations in Hartford, New Haven, New York, Charleston and Savannah; $5000 to the Orphan Asylum, Boston; $5000 to the Female Asylum, Boston; $10,000 to the Massachusetts Female Hospital; $20,000 to the Jews' Hospital Society, New York; $10,000 to the New York Relief Society for indigent Jews in Palestine. Also, $50,000 to the agent of said society for ameliorating the condition of the Jews in the Holy Land, and securing the enjoyment of their religion. Also considerable bequests to other Hebrew Congregations throughout the United States, and several handsome legacies to individuals.

ENGLISH PASSENGER ACT.—The Washington Union, of Jan. 15, publishes an official notice, stating that information had been received at the State Department, from the United States consul at Glasgow, to the effect that instructions have been forwarded to the emigration offices both of Liverpool and Glasgow, by her Majesty's emigration Commissioners, limiting the dead weight of all vessels sailing under the passenger act to two-thirds of their registered tonnage. Every passenger ship will be required to have three bower anchors on board before obtaining her clearing certificate.

"WINE CELLARS OF CINCINNATI AND VICINITY."—In a communication under this head in the Cincinnati Gazette of last week, Mr. R. Buchanan gives a list of five individuals and firms in that city and immediate vicinity, with eight cellars, who last year put up 245,000 bottles of sparkling wines, and he estimates that the same will put up 310,000 bottles during the present year. He also put up 205,000 bottles of still wines last year, and his estimate for the present year is 115,000 bottles.

THE FUND FOR THE POOR WOMAN OF THE SAN FRANCISCO.—The Boston Courier has received $26 for Miss Carroll, and at the Transcript office about $40 have been sent in for her relief.

Thirty Bakewell sheep, raised in New Jersey, five years old, and estimated to dress 160 pounds each, rolled up in a woolly covering almost half a foot deep, were sold for $18 apiece in New York last week.

In Onionta, Otsego Co., New York, a man sent his boy, ten years of age, to Mr. Shepherd's still for whiskey. The boy helped himself, and drank about a pint. He was carried into a neighbor's house, and died the next day.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Mosquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Linimeut, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in supplying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be required by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by expectoration from the Lungs, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETIZER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. T. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. T. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621wly

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"(800 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., TUESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1854. VOLUME 3. NO. 156.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE
is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.
TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.
☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

Selling off at Reduced Prices.
THE Subscriber has determined to close off at a great discount from his former prices, his entire stock of WINTER GOODS.
In order to secure a complete sale of every article, he will sell all of niucpence prints, consisting of 3000 yds. best qual. dark Merrimack Prints, for 10c.
4000 " dark fast colors sixpence Prints for 6½c.
200 " all Wool Ladies' Cloth, best quality, at $2½, former price $3.
2000 " Merrimack & Amoskeag Sheeting at 8½c.
500 " (in remnants from 1 to 5 yds each) stout Satinets, worth 75 cts, from 2 to 3 shil'gs.
1800 " dark shilling DeLaines for 12½ cts.
600 " Fig'd & Plain all wool DeLaines, 42 to 50.
And every other article usually kept in a Dry Goods store, at correspondingly low prices.
His customers and the public generally are particularly invited to call and examine this stock before making their purchases, as it is rare that such an opportunity occurs of getting desirable goods so very cheap. H. A. BIGELOW, d16 15 Market st.

No. 22 Market Street, Up Stairs.—No. 22.
J. E. HAM,
TAILOR & DRAPER.
HAS just received another lot of fashionable Pantaloon Goods, Velvet Vestings, &c. &c., which will be made to order as low as can be had at any other establishment in this city.
Particular attention is giving to cutting Pantaloons, which is indeed one of the most difficult garments in the department of dress, and has heretofore received too little attention. The success we have had in this branch of our business enables us to ENSURE ALL with an easy and becoming FIT.
Gentlemen in want of any kind of Garment can be furnished at very short notice.
In the Coat Department, our customers have practical proof that we CANNOT BE BEAT.
Customers furnishing their own cloth will be attended to in the best possible manner.
☞ Wanted immediately 2 COAT MAKERS, to whom the highest prices will be paid.
Apply at No. 22 Market Street, up stairs.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'
IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be beleived, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.
The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this
CELEBRATED STOVE
in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

A HARD PAPER.

The New York National Democrat, is a daily paper, devoted to the interest of the Hards. The Democrat gives the following ballad, purporting to have been sung under the office window by a wandering bard.

Pea Nuts and Pennsylvania.

Let Pennsylvania raise her voice,
The "Keystone State" is glorious—
Let all the Erian mob rejoice
They are—they are victorious!
For Bigler is the Governor,
A wight full dull and dreary—
He rather would have civil war
Than lose the votes of Erie.

The "war of roses" once we had—
'Tis now the "war of gauges;"
Each Erian, either drunk or mad,
The furious conflict wages:
Their pea-nuts, pies and all the rest
To sell they are determined,
Despite the public interest
And judges grave and ermined!

Their wives who "wear the breeches," are
The hewers down of bridges,
They'd rather "rip" a railway car
Than do the needful stitches:
Their Mayor's an imperious "King"—
A villain born for riot,
And Lowrie, like an evil thing,
Is lowering upon quiet.

Let Pennsylvania take a hint,
Her borders we environ—
She would not like to lose the Mint,
Nor lose her tax on iron;
There is, besides, on coal a tax,
A painful imposition—
On railroads, if she use the axe,
We'll "ax" for its remission.

The Erian women, all allow,
Are jo ned in strict communion,
With those "old women" who are now
The statesmen of the Union.
Else had the troops of whom we boast
Put down this drunken mania,
And taught a lesson neede i most
By pea-nut Pennsylvania.

We tell the scoundrel Erian mob
We will not bear dictation,
Nor sell to their nefarious job
The interests of the nation;
For Bigler care we not a—clam;
Of Harrisburg we weary,
The Eagle-bird of Uncle Sam
Ne'er knew of such an ERIE!

The Democrat adds:

What more he might have said or sung we know not; for, taking up in both hands a copy of Secretary Marcy's "note" to M. Hulseman, and opening the window noiselessly, we dropped the ponderous missile on the occiput of the itinerant musician beneath. He fell to the earth, "as falls on Mount Avernus the thunder-smitten oak." The letter was too much for him, and, as it had sent thousands before him to sleep, it knocked him prostrate and senseless. Let us hope that the police (in their new uniform) will keep an eye on this villain for the future. He is a thorn in the side of our editorial happiness.

LOSING THE RECKONING.

A worthy farmer, inhabiting a section on the lower border of this town, somewhat isolated from the rest of mankind, turned out his oxen on Friday night and prepared for a day of rest. On the following morning, the necessary domestic duties having been attended to, and composing himself for a quiet enjoyment of the day, he was not a little startled by hearing the shrill whistle from the locomotive, as the train over the D. & N. Railroad passed down through the valley. Concluding, however, that some emergency had induced the company for once to violate their established rules, the event passed off with the other incidents of the day, and the shades of evening hovered over a household that had fully reposed from its labors. With a characteristic spirit of industry, our friend was up betimes on the morrow, his oxen yoked, wood loaded, with which he started for Bethel.—An unusual inactivity along the road attracted his attention, but not sufficiently to leave his mark, and he was having his team into the heart of the village, when to his inexpressible surprise, he encountered the villagers passing into their respective houses of worship. Here was a dilemma! The fact that he miscalculated in the days of the week was no less apparent than that he was within a few rods of the market; but as this was not exactly the time to deliver it, with a promptitude that amply testified to the purity of intention, he hauled his load to the road side, where it would be as conveniently out of the way as possible, unhitched his oxen, and hurried home, to stay any further proceedings there, which might be as little in keeping with a proper observance of the day as his had unconsciously been.—Accidents will happen, in view of which it becomes us to guard ourselves, as far as possible, against their disagreeable results; and, as appropriate to the case in point, we would add the wholesome injunction—Forget not the assembling of yourselves together.—Danbury (Con.) Times.

PERSONAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.—A case is related of a poor man suffering from hydrophobia, who was cured by draughts of vinegar given him by mistake, instead of another potion. A physician getting intelligence of this event, tried the same remedy upon a hospital patient, administering a pound of vinegar in the morning, another at noon, and a third at sunset, and the man was speedily and entirely cured.

Major Howell, a brother-in-law of Col. Jefferson Davis, Secretary of War, is about to leave New Orleans, it is said, with a choice party of gallant spirits, to aid the Turks, and to gain glory on the battle field.

PATENTS—THEIR EXTENSION.

Why are Patents granted? and why are they granted only for a limited time?

They are granted for the purpose of encouraging and stimulating useful inventions; and their term is limited, in order that the benefit of the inventions may pass from the inventors to the public.

The Letters Patent secure to the inventor an exclusive right to all the gain he can get out of his machine, either by working or sale, for so many years—and in consideration of this bonus, the law tells him, Now this Monopoly is over; let every body that pleases, use the invention freely.

Why should a patent ever be renewed? Only because the inventor, or patentee, for some peculiar reason, has not realized an adequate reward for his contrivance.

It has happened, however, in the history of patents in this country, especially of patents granted within the last 25 years, that many of the fattest patents have been renewed, and the most lucrative monopolies extended! We do not know that this has been done in any case by direct bribery,—but any persons who have read the revelations made by the New Hampshire Patriot and the Capital Reporter, in respect to some cases of renewing patents, may remember that certain enormous fees were paid to some lawyers, who happened also to be influential politicians, and who could work through the newspapers, and on members of Congress by lobbying, as it is commonly termed.

We are induced to mention the subject now, by a dispute in the newspapers about the merits of a passage in the President's Message. The following paragraph, from the Boston Post, has been widely circulated by papers of all descriptions.

It is said that General Pierce is the first President of the United States who ever called the attention of Congress, in a Presidential message, to the merits of American inventors. He says: "I commend to your favorable consideration, the men of our country, who by their inventions and discoveries in science and art, have contributed largely to the improvements of the age, without, in many instances, securing for themselves any adequate reward."

But per contra, the Atlas replies, in a way which does not give the President credit for quite so much purity of intention, as the above remarks of the Post. The Atlas says.

We noticed the paragraph above quoted from the message, when it first appeared. We thought it singular, but we were so green as to suppose that that high functionary intended to recommend some general law for the benefit of inventors and the promotion of the useful arts. Nor did we get our eyes open until we learned that there was to be a grand onslaught made upon Congress, by certain huge patent monopolists, for an extension of their patents; and until we saw the Washington Union, the President's organ, advocating the extension of one of those patents. Then, the President's regard for inventors, and its motive, were palpable—the enigmatical paragraph in the message was explainable.

The "inventors" alluded to by the President, we understand, are the rich and overgrown proprietors of the patents for Colt's revolving fire-arms, the Woodworth planing machine, the valuable India rubber patents, and Hoe's printing press—patents which $20,000,000 could not purchase if they were extended, and which yearly levy a tax of millions upon the community.

We have here copied but a small part of the article from the Atlas, omitting those parts not essential to the case. The reader will be his own judge of what the President means; if he intends that these rich patentees above named should be endowed with millions more by a renewal, we dissent from him; but if he means to make it easier and cheaper for a poor inventor to get a patent, then we agree with him and wish him success in his efforts to reward the ingenious.

Time will show what the truth is, in this matter, and then we can judge better than now, as to the merits of the President's recommendation.

ANOTHER ADVANCE IN FLOUR.—The late advices from Europe have caused a further advance in the price of flour in this market. Some holders are not disposed to sell even at an advance of 50 cents per barrel, anticipating a further advance in Europe. The stock of flour in our market is small for the season, and this, no doubt has had some effect on the price. The wholesale dealers are asking for Southern $9 25 a $9 50 for superfine; $9 62 1-2 a 9 75 for fancy; $10 for extra; Genessee extra is selling at $10 25 a 10 75 per bbl., cash. The East Boston and Suffolk Mills in this city, also advanced their price to $12. Retail dealers are selling good qualities of Southern and Western at $12.

There is but little corn in our market, and sales are making by wholesale dealers at $1 05 a 1 10 for yellow and $1 for white per bushel, cash.—Boston Traveller.

FRENCH CLAIMS.—The Dover Gazette says:—

We are rejoiced to notice that Mr. HAMLIN, of Maine, chairman of the Select Committee on French Spoliations, has reported a bill appropriating $5,000,000 to pay the claims. We have long advocated the payment of these claims, from a sense of the justice which should long ago have been done the sufferers; and now that they have passed away, let justice be done their heirs. Government assumed the debt—let it be paid.

THE NEBRASKA BILL.—The statement that the New York "Softs" in Congress had met and agreed to vote against the Nebraska bill of Senator Douglas, is pronounced to be premature. A Washington letter-writer states that with the aid expected from the state Legislatures, a prospect of a considerable degree of agitation on the subject, and taken together with the excitement that will be got up against the accession of new slave territory from the South, we shall have quite an occasion for another Compromise. The next Compromise will probably be to bring in Annesonia and Lower California as slave states, and Nebraska and Kansas as free states.—Boston Courier.

We have so little faith in the predictions or promises of Washington letter writers generally, and in the great men whose words they echo, that we simply pass the above along, for what it may be worth. That there will be agitation in Congress, we doubt not—there must be, among the mass of President Makers there, most of whom are bent on saving the Union—for the sake of their favorite candidate, or themselves.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says, under date of the 27th,

The Nebraska bill stands no chance in the House. The Northern men generally will kick in the traces; and the South are fearful that if the Missouri compromise is abrogated it may lead to a reopening of the whole slavery question—the repeal of the Fugitive Slave law, and eventually the passage of the Wilmot proviso by an overwhelming Northern vote. Meantime, the President and Cabinet are shivering; and already indications are observable of a backing down from their position, which has been so valiantly maintained ever since Tuesday last. As a proof of this it need only be stated that persons known to possess the President's confidence—in fact, his conscience keepers—loudly proclaim throughout town their bitter opposition to the amended Nebraska bill.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The first train to Boston on the Eastern road, on Saturday, came near having a serious accident just this side of the Beverly depot. A wheel of the forward car broke, throwing the car from the track; after which it ran some twenty rods, and then pitched down an embankment about fifteen feet. There were a dozen passengers in the car when the wheel broke, some of whom succeeded in reaching the second car, and the others were carried over in it, but fortunately, and almost marvellously, none of them were injured. The accident was very similar to the one in Andover, when young Pierce, the President's son, was killed, and if the train had been in rapid motion, nothing could have prevented a general wreck.

The car was badly damaged, seats broken, and set on fire by the stove, but the flames were speedily extinguished with snow. Several ladies who took seats in this car when the train left here, removed from it to another car at Ipswich.—Newburyport Herald.

Some time ago several laborers engaged in digging on the Marysville (Cal.) levee, picked up a purse containing $2000 in gold dust.—After some dispute, one of the men obtained entire possession of it, and lodged it in the banking house of Adams & Co., for safe keeping. The others prosecuted for their share, and in the course of the trial, what was their dismay (says the Herald,) to discover that the prize by law belonged to the county, it being laid down in the statutes that all sums found exceeding $25 shall be advertised, and the balance left from paying the necessary expenses shall be paid into the county treasury.

FIRES.—There was a great fire in Duane street, New York, on Saturday night. The loss is estimated at from $150,000 to $175,000. The principal sufferers are Peter Morris & Co., proprietors of the Columbian Foundry, $100,000; Turner, Lane & Morris, glass cutters, $15,000; C. D. Brant, clock manufacturer, $20,000. There was an insurance on the whole of about $50,000.

The American Car Company's works in Chicago were partially burnt on Sunday morning. The iron foundry, blacksmith and moulding shops, were entirely consumed.—Loss not yet estimated, but is undoubtedly very heavy.

FIRE IN WORCESTER, MASS.—On Sunday morning about half-past 1 o'clock a fire broke out in the large and splendid block, known as the "Flagg Building," situated on Main street, which was entirely destroyed. During the progress of the fire the north end of the Flagg building fell, and completely demolished the two-story block adjoining, owned by Mr. Wm. Dickenson.

The loss of the store keepers and mechanics in the buildings was about $17,000; insurance about $10,000. One bookseller lost $5000 with no insurance.

The "Flagg Building" was valued at $30,000—insured for $15,000. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary, as the Museum, where it originated, had not been occupied for two weeks.

The weather was intensely cold, the mercury in the thermometer reaching 10° below zero at 3 o'clock A. M. The water froze in the hose of the engines.

FROM AUSTRALIA.—The schooner Castillian has arrived at Callao, from Port Phillip, with Melbourne dates to November 2d.

The steamer Great Britain, which left Liverpool Aug. 11, arrived at Hobson's Bay, Australia, Oct, 16th. The quantity of gold coming forward had been very large, and the arrival of the Great Britain had caused more activity and a slight advance of from 6d to 9d an ounce. The quotation at Port Philip was £3 17s 8d. At Melbourne the quotation was £3 16s 6d.

The accounts from the diggings are favorable—new diggings still continue to be found. A fair business was doing at Melbourne, but prices had not improved, and in some articles there was a downward tendency. Flour had slightly declined—best samples selling at £33 per ton. Teas in demand. Coffee lower, and heavy stock on hand. Hams and provisions in fair demand. American barrel flour is quoted at £3; Duxall and Gallego, £3 5d a £3 10d.

LOCAL.

PORTSMOUTH AND KITTERY.

These two old towns have no really conflicting interests. The events and efforts which benefit the one, cannot help being a benefit to the other. Therefore we are always amused, never offended, with the sharpest and most pointed paragraphs like the following, which we copy from the Portland Argus of Monday:

SHIP BUILDING.

Editors Eastern Argus:—The Boston Courier of yesterday evinces a desire to enlighten the public as to where the ships of the U. S. Navy were built, &c., that the due credit may be rendered to whom it belongs. To this end it gives a "list of the naval vessels of the United States, with the places"—as it says—"where they were built, that there may be no mistake with regard to the matter. In the list it states that the Alabama, Congress, Santee, Saratoga, Portsmouth, Preble and Saranac—"acknowledged to be the finest vessels of their build and battery in the world"—were built in Portsmouth, N. H. The Courier has probably been led into this geographical error by a covetous misrepresentation peculiar to the people of Boston, and made more particularly notorious by their newspaper editors and writers, who feignedly would have "the rest of mankind" believe that they own all the land and water that joins them: with all the enterprise pertaining thereto.—The truth is, the U. S. Navy Yaard, on the Piscataqua River, is in the old democratic town of Kittery, in old York County, in this State of Maine. Allow me to remark here also, that a large majority of the deservedly famous Piscataqua ships, erroneously called "Portsmouth ships," are Kittery, Maine, ships, and the results of Maine industry, enterprise and skill. And while Portsmouth may be justly proud of some ships built within her borders, still she is largely indebted to Maine for her Goodwin, Rayneses, Fernald, and others, whose enterprise, money and skill have long saved her from becoming "a mere fishing village."

We wish her increased and permanent prosperity in all her enterprises; and would not covet a single laurel, justly hers. Will she not make the amende honorable, and henceforth render "honor to whom honor is due." By this golden rule should all be able to say

DIRIGO.

Ellsworth, Me., Jan. 28th, 1854.

All this about Kittery and the Navy Yard is as true as a book; but what of it? The workmen on the Kittery-built ships, many of them, live in Portsmouth;—and the workmen, some of them, who work on the Portsmouth yards, live in Kittery.

If the builders and owners of the ships named, when they go South for a freight, will just label their ships "built in Maine," the effect will be to depress their chance a little, among those who do not know how the Piscataqua is located.

We wish the down easters, and the Bostonians, and all the rest of mankind to understand, that when we speak of Portsmouth built ships, we include those built at Kittery, Eliot, &c.—exactly as a skipper with a load of wood or timber for Charlestown Navy Yard, says he is bound to Boston. Nobody in Portsmouth would feel very badly, if there were a ship yard in every half mile from Kittery Point to Salmon Falls.

EXETER MORAL POLICE.

The Exeter News Letter contains an account of a large meeting of citizens held in that town on Wednesday evening 25th, to consider the evils of intemperance there, and to devise remedies.

The meeting seems to have been the response to a temperance movement by the ladies, which reads as follows.

The Ladies of Exeter feeling that the reputation of the place, the cause of morality and religion, the peace of our families, the happiness of our lives and the character and future prospects of the young, are deeply involved in the results of the Temperance movement in which the citizens of the town propose to engage, are impelled by the depth of their interest and by a sense of duty to express in this form their sympathy for the effort, and their earnest desire that decided action should be entered upon, and persevered in, till the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquors shall be wholly suppressed, and shall not be permitted to recommence. Signed by 534 names.

The gentlemen's meeting resolved,

1*st*, That what our eyes see and ears daily hear of personal drunkenness in the streets, of wretchedness in families, of disease and even death occasioned by the free use of intoxicating liquors, imperiously calls upon us to rise, as a united community, to devise and enter upon some method by which this evil shall be mitigated.

2*d*, That we regard it not only as our duty, but as one of the greatest kindnesses to the retail liquor dealers themselves, to induce them to stop the sale of liquors; and that, therefore, we will exercise that kindness by personal persuasion and influence; and if these are insufficient we shall proceed to exercise that kindness by legal prosecution.

The meeting backed up these resolutions by choosing a town committee of eight, who should choose a prosecuting committee of five and a secret vigilance committee of 25; and by opening a subscription to raise $1000 by pledges, to be assessed when wanted.

This movement is not to make new laws, but to execute the existing license law.

MUSICIANS.—The Great Falls Journal, after noticing and complimenting an instrumental concert in that town, on the violin and piano, a few days ago, by one Mr. Perabo and son, says:—

"We are glad to learn, for the credit of this community, that Mr. Perabo will remain in this vicinity and give lessons on the Piano and Violin; and hope that he may learn some of the already accomplished teachers of Strafford County to play something besides Yankee Doodle and Auld Lang Syne."

We feel some interest in musical matters in the adjacent county of Strafford, and hope our neighbors have got another real artist located among them. But there have been good musicians there, and if we mistake not, are now; and it is not every foreigner who comes along making great pretensions, whose success is a "credit to any community." We have known some such to profess to teach vastly more than they knew themselves.

A CHANGE.—On Monday morning at 8 o'clock the Thermometer stood at 13° below zero. At 8 o'clock P. M., at 23° above—making a change of 36° in twelve hours.

TO UNCLE TOBY.

I read that 'bout the School House, master Dennett and the rest,
And in my pleasing reverie, with head upon my breast,
I saw the raftered ceiling and the pegs behind the door,
The caps that hung upon them, and the neatly sanded floor,
The brush wood near the chimney, lopped off of handy trees,
The urchin too that fanned the flame, with cap between his knees!

I like you, Uncle Toby, with your odd, quaint fashioned way
Of writing of the buried past and joys that had their day.
As through a placid stream we see the sandy bottom white,
So, Toby, plainly lies your heart in everything you write;
Your thoughts are troops of memories, and kindness leads the van.
For like Abou Ben Adhem, you love your fellow man

You treat the past as lovingly, the past forever fled,
As we would treat the memory of our beloved and dead;
I like you better for it, Tob; the heart is insincere
That cannot turn to golden youth and gem it with a tear.

They tell me you are aged, Tob, that you have marked the flow
Of many winters, icy winged, and summers come and go;
But I am sure "exceeding peace" is king within you now,
Though time, the wretched limner, hangs his sign out on your brow;
And when they tell me years have robbed the beauty of your mould,
I smiling turn and ask them, Tob, "Has Toby's heart grown old?"

Gilbert's Polypodium.—The following note from Rev. Mr. Bryant, pastor of the Pleasant street Church in this city, is one of the many gratifying evidences received by the inventor and proprietor of this invaluable medicine, in favor of its efficacy:

MR. GILBERT, Sir:—For several years I have been seriously afflicted with Chronic Bronchitis. During this time, I have suffered much from cough, weakness of the vocal organs and debility. For some three months I have been making use of the extract of Polypodium prepared by yourself. I have found the disease gradually yielding to this remedy. My health has gradually improved, and my system seems to be gaining its former healthy tone. I feel that I can conscientiously, earnestly recommend it to all who are afflicted in a similar manner. Yours truly, CHARLES BRYANT.

ARRIVAL OF THE OHIO.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.

The steamship Ohio from Aspinwall, Jan. 18, arrived at this port this morning, with 300 passengers and one million of dollars in gold dust.

U. S. ship Albany sailed from Navy Bay, Jan. 17th, for San Juan del Norte, all well.

The steamers Golden Gate and Uncle Sam left Panama on the evening of the 1st of Jan. for San Francisco, with 1100 passengers.

Business was dull at Valparaiso. A fair business was done in freights at unchanged rates.

The revolution at Bolivia, before reported, broke out at Lopaz, and extended to other places.

THE ERIE WAR—EXCITEMENT RENEWED.—Buffalo, Jan. 27th.—The lines are down west of here, but we learn privately from Erie, that a meeting was held on Wednesday evening at Fairview a few miles west of Erie, at which several Erie rowdies attended and endeavored to excite the citizens to a breach of the law. The U. S. Marshal is now at Erie superintending the repairs of the road.

ERIE, Jan. 27th.—There has been great excitement here to-day, consequent of the return of the Kilpatricks and others from Pittsburgh. Cannons were fired to notify the country to turn out and give them a reception. The crowd made a rush to tear down the State street bridge, but Judge Thompson and others interfered and stopped them. The crowd then dispersed.

Messrs. Walker and Tracy, Directors of the railroad were notified by a committee last night to leave the town, but they refused to go, and there are strong indications of their being mobbed.

HARRISBURG, PA., Jan. 28.—Charter Annulled.—A bill annulling the charter of the Franklin Canal Company passed the House, and was sent to the Governor for signature.—Gov. Bigler will leave here this evening for Erie.

BUFFALO, Jan. 28.—The Erie Troubles.—All is reported quiet at Erie. The U. S. Marshal has gone to Barbor Creek to relay the track and bridge. Gov. Bigler has telegraphed to Erie that the State has taken possession of the Western road.

THE SAN FRANCISCO.—Washington, Jan. 30.—The President has ordered a Court of Inquiry on the facts relative to the wreck of the steamer San Francisco, the conduct of the army officers and troops on board, &c. Gen. Winfield Scott will preside.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

On Saturday last, the ball cartridge factory of Mr. French, at Ravenswood, Long Island, a few miles down the East River from New York, exploded, causing a terrible loss of life, blowing the bodies into fragments and scattering them in every direction. It is believed that from 20 to 25 persons were killed, as thirty hands are usually employed in the building, and all who were inside at the time were killed excepting two. They were mostly boys and girls employed in filling the cartridges. Three girls belonging to one family are among the victims. All the buildings within a circuit of two miles were violently shaken, and the windows in the vicinity smashed.

The scene at the ruins was horrible. The building itself was blown to atoms; the fragments and machinery, with mutilated bodies and disjointed limbs of the human victims, being scattered about the fields. The remains of thirteen bodies were so far recovered and fitted together as to be identified. There were over 50,000 ball cartridges in the factory, besides a considerable quantity of powder. The balls flew in all directions. No person out of the building was seriously injured.

Another account says that the number ascertained to be killed is but fifteen. Many others, however, are shockingly mutilated, and are lying in a precarious condition. Some of them have been removed to the hospitals, some to Blackwell's Island, others to the care of their friends. Mr. French, the proprietor of the Factory, was in the employ of Hitchcock & Co. of New York, dealers in munitions of war. Great indignation and threats were manifested towards him by the friends of the victims, and it is rumored that he left the place from fear of personal injury.

The magazine, containing between two and three tons of powder, was situated within a short distance of the factory, but fortunately escaped. The following is a list of the killed as far as ascertained:—Ann Burns, 25 years of age; Mary Hague, 16; George Malcomb, 13; Mary Malcomb, 18; John O'Brien, 13; John Downy, 13, supposed to have been blown to atoms, as portions of his clothing were found, but his remains could not be recognized; James Grinly, 12; John Riley, 10; Ellen McDonnel, 20; Matthew Hand, 15; James Foley, 12; Emma Ryan 20; and Matthew Ryan, 16.

Every dwelling-house in the immediate neighborhood was shaken almost to its foundations. The Rev. Mr. Waite, an Episcopal clergyman, residing near the manufactory, was forced to remove with his family to a neighbor's house to obtain shelter from the inclement weather, every window in his own house being blown completely out. All the dwellings in the immediate vicinity were in the same state.

A stage happened to be passing at the time, and the concussion was so great that the glasses in the windows were shattered into a thousand pieces. Mr. French's house, which is about thirty rods from the factory, was very much damaged, the windows and a portion of the furniture having been destroyed. Persons who were in the City Hall at Williamsburg felt the shock, and it was the general impression that it was occasioned by an earthquake. The excitement in the vicinity of the casualty was very great during the afternoon, and the scene was heart rending.

EPISCOPACY.—According to the late Diocesan reports to the General Convention, the present condition of the Episcopal Church in the United States is as follows: Number of Clergy 1,687, of Communicants 102,890, or one of the former to every sixty-one of the latter. The Christian Witness makes some corrections &c., which give in round terms the number of clergy as being 1,700, of communicants 103,000.

MEDICAL TOPICS OF THE PRESS.—The London Lancet records a remarkable poisoning case, treated by Dr. Thomas R. H. Thomson, with remarkable success. A woman, 50 years old, had taken four dessert-spoonfuls of a yellow syrup, which she afterwards found out was a mixture used for poisoning flies. A few hours after swallowing this compound, she experienced a burning heat in her throat, and griping pains, and finally had a violent fainting. By threats and solicitations, she was induced to take several basins-full of magnesia gruel—in all about eight ounces of magnesia—and on her rallying somewhat, a mixture of gum acacia, olive oil, lime water, and tincture of henbane, every hour, was administered, with plenty of thick solution gum, and thin flour porridge. This treatment was eventually successful, though the woman must have taken at least two scruples of powdered arsenious acid and as much of the chromate of lead. Dr. T. says that in all cases of poisoning with arsenic, he should be disposed to try light, recently-prepared magnesia again, as it is so easily mixed, and so safe. In the case referred to, not less than eight ounces were used in two hours.

GREAT MEN.—The nearer you approach great men, the smaller they become. In the history which will be written a thousand years hence, when the Atlantic will see a railroad suspended from balloons, connecting New York with Liverpool, the Duke of Wellington will figure as a demi god—a hero with three rows of joints, and a sword of such magnitude that it took twenty men and a derrick to draw it from its "cabbard," as Mrs. Harris would say. To the neighbors of the Duke, however, his highness appears to be simply a crabbed little man with bandy-legs! Just think of that, a bandy-legged man conquering Napoleon! How it punctures the bubble of romance, don't it?

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Muscito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green St.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

SAMUEL COOPER,

Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the Islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d6 1wly

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1854. VOLUME 4. NO. 1.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

Is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,

A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

Selling off at Reduced Prices.

THE Subscriber has determined to close off at a great discount from his former prices, his entire stock of WINTER GOODS.

In order to secure a complete sale of every article, he will sell all of ninepence prints, consisting of 3000 yds. best qual. dark Merrimack Prints, for 10c.

4000 " dark fast colors sixpence Prints for 6½c.
200 " all Wool Ladies' Cloth, best quality, at $2¼, former price $3.

J. E. HAM,
TAILOR & DRAPER.

HAS just received another lot of fashionable Pantaloon Goods, Velvet Vestings, &c. &c., which will be made to order as low as can be had at any other establishment in this city.

Particular attention is giving to cutting Pantaloons, which is indeed one of the most difficult garments in the department of dress, and has heretofore received too little attention. The success we have had in this branch of our business enables us to ENSURE ALL with an easy and becoming FIT.

Gentlemen in want of any kind of Garment can be furnished at very short notice.

In the Coat Department, our customers have practical proof that we CANNOT BE BEAT.

Customers furnishing their own cloth will be attended to in the best possible manner.

☞ Wanted immediately 2 COAT MAKERS, to whom the highest prices will be paid.

Apply at No. 22 Market Street, up stairs.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'

IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.

The subscriber ,having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this

CELEBRATED STOVE

in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

JOSEPH H. CLARK,

SLAVE PLOT IN KENTUCKY.—We learn from the Louisville Courier, that Henry Co., Ky., has recently been the scene of considerable excitement, arising from the discovery of a plot of some slaves to murder a family because they thought one of their number had been sold, and make their escape to Canada. The family which it was proposed to murder was named Herndon. One of the servants, suspecting that his master had taken another off to sell him, told his views to several others, and it was agreed to throw a stone in at the window and kill a little boy.

The lady of the house, it was expected, would be alarmed and run out, and then she was to be murdered. This done, the negroes were to divide, one party to flee at once for Canada, and the others remain until the return of their master, who was to be killed, and the money which he was supposed to have received for the servant he had taken with him, to be appropriated to their use. This scheme was carried out so far as to throwing the stone through the window, but the boy at whom it was directed, escaped, and the hearts of the conspirators failed. The neighbors coming in, and inquiring about the stone which had been thrown, the negroes talked so as to draw suspicion upon themselves, and being stopped, confessed the plot, implicating a large number of negroes and one white man. Several of the slaves concerned have been sold.

A letter from New Castle, Ky., the residence of Mr. Herndon, says: Until the numerous grog shops which are selling slaves liquor by the wholesale and retail are put down, and slaves kept under strict discipline by their respective owners, such outbreaks will continue.

A NEW HAT.—"There is nothing," says the Groton Mercury, "so well calculated to raise a man's spirits as a new hat. A new hat stirs up his ideas; he broods no more over misfortune, his thoughts are of fame, wealth and happiness."

We don't believe that. Seriously, soberly and religiously, we don't believe it. It don't stand to reason. Why, man alive, there was a time when even we had a new hat. It was a long time ago, we grant; they who were young men then are all dead now, but then it is a fact—we once had a new hat. It looked then very much as new hats look now. We put that hat upon our head, and used to wear it out of doors, exactly as men wear new hats now. Our recollection of the event is distinct and vivid, so that we cannot be mistaken —

Our spirits were not raised by such a trifle, although our hat was, whenever we passed a stranger or the minister—boys used to be mannerly in those days. Our ideas were not stirred up by a new hat; it took a new comb to do that—and we thought no more of "fame, wealth and happiness," with a new hat, than we did with an old one.

The Groton man has an axe to grind, or new hats to sell, depend upon it, or he would not tell you such a story. Our advice is—don't buy his hats, unless you need them, nor even then, unless they are of a good quality, and you can pay for them. You will feel much happier, depend upon it, with an old hat you have paid for, than with a dozen new—bought on credit, or paid for with money belonging to your creditors.—Lowell Advertiser.

MAKING CANDLES ON SHIP BOARD.—A schooner, belonging 'down East,' left Holmes's Hole just previous to the late storm, having on board no oil or candles, and little or no water, though the pilot, (Mr. Joseph Claghorn, of Holmes's Hole,) was informed that there was an abundance of "small stores" on board. During the night of the gale, when the vessel was in Bo ton Bay, the melancholy discovery was made that there was no oil on board! The binnacle lamp was out, and the compass could not be seen. In this situation the pilot, though a most skilful man, could not shape his course, and to lay to would have been sure destruction, as the vessel would have drifted on to Cape Cod. In this dilemma, the captain's wife, notwithstanding the extraordinary fury of the storm, and the tossing to and fro of the vessel, found a cake of tallow in the cabin, and having procured some material for wicking, melted the tallow, and proceeded to make candles of about two and a half inches in length, and continued at this labor most of the night, supplying fresh candles when needed. By this timely and efficient aid, the pilot was enabled to shape his course for Boston harbor, where he arrived in safety.—Vineyard Gazette, Edgartown.

SEAMAN'S CHEST FOUND.—Jan. 17th a seaman's chest came ashore on the west side of Buzzard Bay, in West Falmouth, and is now in possession of Mr. Richard S. Swift. It contained some valuable clothing—no linen of any kind—a small tuck Bible, in the fly leaf of which was pasted the following lines:

"A parent's blessing on her son,
Goes with this holy thing;
The love that would retain the one,
Must to the other cling;
Remember 'tis no common toy,
A mother's gift—remember, boy!"

A daguerreotype of a lady, supposed to be the mother of the owner of the chest, was also found. The word "Boston" written with chalk, was upon the chest, which is painted light blue. No name, nor any initials were found. It is supposed that the owner must have been on board one of the vessels wrecked in Vineyard Sound in the late gale, having sailed just before from Boston. The Bible and daguerreotype will be, after the 31st inst., at the counting room of the Traveller.

Now it is Certain

THAT THE BAY STATE STOVES are the best in the market; therefore all good housekeepers should provide themselves with one immediately.

THE FISHING BUSINESS.

The Boston Transcript, in speaking of the prosperous condition of industry in Massachusetts, says:—

The facts revealed in the returns of the Savings Banks, the condition of our manufacturing establishments, the increase of business upon our railways, the general prosperity enjoyed by those engaged in commercial pursuits, alike indicate that as a community, the citizens of the State have every prospect of a year of pecuniary success. Prominent among the exceptions to the above pleasing enumeration, must be placed those of our people who have hitherto been engaged in the Fisheries. For this most worthy and enterprising class, the past year was an unfortunate one, and we cannot see much hope for the future. If the capital now invested in it could be readily and advantageously transferred to other channels, we are confident but few would be found to continue in the business.

These remarks, to a considerable extent, are as true of other New England states, as of Massachusetts. In regard to the Fisheries, they apply equally as well to New Hampshire and Maine.

We see no prospect whatever, of improved laws, increased and liberally applied bounties, or adequate protection to fishermen. If this business were a southern instead of a northern interest, it might be otherwise; but is is of no use to discuss that question in this connexion.

We speak now, of things as they are, and not as they ought to be. If we were the owner of half a dozen fishing vessels, with the usual fishing gear and shore buildings and fixtures, we would put the best half of the schooners into the coasting trade, where such vessels are wanted and will pay well; take care of the gear, and wear it and the remaining vessels out together.

The present fishermen would find employment as seamen, at better wages; and when the government, which declines to take care of the fisheries as a nursery for seamen, wishes to man the navy,—let it find seamen where it can, and as it can.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

The telegraphic account of the Portland Argus tells us that on Monday the Senate proceeded to organize. Wm. Trafton was chosen Secretary, having 7 votes. Assistant Secretary C. A. Gordon, 7—Messenger, Joshua M. Waterhouse, (of Portland), 7—L. S. Moore, of Limerick, was chosen President, having 7 votes. Only seven votes were cast.

The Committee on Senate votes reported all vacancies, and that Clark of Lincoln, whig, is elected by the people. Accepted.

In the House, no business done. Propose a convention to fill vacancies, to-morrow at 12 o'clock.

The Advertiser's account says, that the seven senators have elected not only a President and Secretary, but also all the petty officers, including a Chaplain;—the Whigs protesting against such action, and not voting. Mr. Vinton made an able speech against the movements. All vacancies were then reported, Clark declared elected, and a proposition made for a Convention to fill vacancies. The Senate then adjourned.

The House waited for the action of the Senate till 1 o'clock, and adjourned before the Senate adopted the proposition for a Convention.

The State of Maine says:

A message was sent to the House proposing a convention of the two branches at 12 o'clock to-morrow (this day) to fill the vacancies in the Senate. The House concurred.

There is a little discrepancy between the accounts; but on the whole there is but little doubt that the two Houses convened on Tuesday, and that the wheels of government will now begin to roll onward.

If we understand the Argus report, in regard to Clark of Lincoln, there would have been a tie in the Senate, if Mr. Clark had been seasonably declared to be elected.

CITY MISSIONARY SOCIETY, BOSTON.—The annual meeting was held in Park Street Church on Sunday evening, a large audience being present. From the annual report of the Society's operations the past year, it appears that Eleven female and eight male missionaries were employed, who made 41,619 visits to 8924 families; visits to the sick 5281; funerals attended 19; tracts distributed 217,431; 287 Bibles and 300 testaments given to the destitute; 350 persons induced to attend public worship; 593 children gathered into Sabbath Schools, and 344 into Public Schools; 1525 social religious meetings held; 37 persons hopefully converted; 169 persons furnished employment; 1297 families afforded pecuniary aid; 3586 garments given to the poor; 89 temperance pledges obtained.

This mission, it will be understood, is sustained by the orthodox congregational churches of Boston only, as the ministers who took part in the services were Messrs. Stone, Adams and Kirk.

The ministry at large, so called, is a similar institution sustained by Unitarians; there is also an Episcopal organization for nearly the same objects; and some other denominations have societies of the same character.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 30.

DEBATE ON THE NEBRASKA BILL.

SENATE.—The Nebraska bill was taken up, when Mr. Douglas took the floor, and proceeded to explain the principal features of the bill. He said there were two points he wished particularly to explain. These were—first, with respect to the rights of the Indians; and secondly, the question of slavery. The first, he said, were fully protected. With regard to the other, he asserted that the committee had taken the principles of the Compromise acts of 1850 as their guide, and had made each and every provision to accord with those principles, recognizing the right of the people to self-government, free of all control, except by the Constitution of the United States, and restricting them upon no particular subject by their position north or south of any arbitrary geographical line.

The second bill reported by the Committee had for its object to make that plain which in the first one seemed to be in doubt or uncertainty in some places. The first bill was understood as repealing the Missouri compromise, and in some places as not doing so. As the bill was intended to carry out fully the principles of the compromise of 1850, and as they considered that the compromise had suppressed the Missouri compromise, that fact had better be plainly and distinctly stated. This was all he had intended to say, had the discussion gone on last Tuesday. On that day, when he proposed to say this much, the Senator from Ohio and the Senator from Massachusetts asked that it be postponed till this day, to give them time to examine it. To this request he yielded as a matter of courtesy to them.

Mr. Douglas then alluded to the address subsequently published by Messrs. Chase and Sumner, in which he said the motives of the Compromise were misrepresented, and the bill itself falsified, and the coarsest epithets heaped upon its author. Mr. Douglas spoke with considerable feeling on this point, denouncing the signers of the address as Abolitionists, as violators of the Sabbath, inasmuch as their address purported from its date to have been written on the Sabbath, when all the other members of Congress were at church. He then adverted to the fact that this address had been sent to the Ohio Legislature purporting to have been signed by a majority of the Ohio delegation. He believed that the statement that it had been so signed was wilfully false.

Mr. Chase of Ohio attempted to get the floor for an explanation, but Mr. Douglas refused to yield, accompanying the refusal with such language to Mr. Chase that the Chairman pronounced him out of order.

Mr. Douglas then proceeded to deny that the early policy of the government was to exclude slavery from all the territories, but only in the Northwest; justifying his position by a historical summary of the doings of Congress and government in that regard. He contended that the Missouri Compromise line was maintained up to the time when California and New Mexico was acquired, when on his motion the Senate voted into a bill a provision for extending that line to the Pacific.

The proposition was rejected in the House by northern votes with Free Soil proclivities, and thus the solemn compact was violated, the geographical line destroyed, and slavery agitation let loose again upon the country.—Had the North been faithful to the Missouri Compromise in 1848, there would have been no agitation, no excitement, no alarms. It was that defeat of it, that abandonment of it then, that plunged the country into a slavery agitation, disturbed our domestic peace, and defeated the Senator of Michigan for the Presidency. It was bad grace in those who had themselves proved false to the sacred compact to arraign him before the country for that which was accomplished in 1848 by their own faithlessness and treachery.

Mr. Douglas again adverted to the address of Messrs. Sumner and Chase, reviewing it in detail, and pronouncing many of its statements to be wilfully false.

After he had concluded there were manifestations of applause in the galleries, but they were promptly checked by the officers.

Mr. Chase then got the floor.

HOUSE.—Mr. Churchwell offered the following joint resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs:—

Resolved, That the people of this Union have ever viewed with the deepest concern, the renewed intervention of powers in the affairs of countries not embraced within their borders, particularly when such intervention had avowedly for its object the repression of generous political sentiments, and they will never permit such an interference on this continent without physical resistance to it.

Resolved, That while the United States of America are disposed to observe in a spirit of good faith international obligations, they desire a similar observance of such obligations by all the nations of the earth, and that they can never behold with indifference, the obliteration of an independent state by a third power because of the political freedom of such state.

Does this refer to Cuba, or Mexico, or Hayti? or what does it mean?

POWDER MILL.—The great explosion at Long Island, which destroyed so many children, it seems was caused by gross carelessness or reckless disregard of life in danger. It was said the room where most of them were at work was warmed by a stove! At any rate, the telegraph says the coroner's jury have brought in a verdict censuring the proprietor, Mr. French, and he has been held to bail in the sum of $2000.

THE GREAT REPUBLIC.—The underwriters have accepted the abandonment of this vessel, she is paid for, and the business settled. She will probably be sold in about a fortnight, and will very likely be converted into a steamship as a propeller. She is now entirely empty, and vessels adjacent appear very insignificant contrasted with her immense hulk, as they lie near her at the wharves in New York. Capt. McKay has collected the insurance on her to the amount of $225,000. He goes on soon to Liverpool in the new ship Lightning.

LOCAL.

NEW VOLUME.

Time slips off so easily and noiselessly, that we had well nigh forgotten to say a word about the close of vol. 3, or the beginning of vol. 4, of the Daily Morning Chronicle. We begin a new volume this day, with new hopes of usefulness to the community, and of gain and pleasure to ourselves in the prosecution of our daily and almost ceaseless task. We make no new promises; but refer our old readers to the past as the best pledge we can offer for the future;—and our new readers and advertisers to their own convictions of the convenience and utility of a daily paper in Portsmouth.

☞ On Monday evening, at the Temple, a respectable and numerous audience listened to an Address on American Slavery, delivered by Mr. Remond, a colored man, of Salem, Mass. The address was a very eloquent, spirited, and in some parts indignant exhibition of some plain and undeniable features of an odious system. He dwelt not at all on horrible details, but attacked the system itself, as upheld by prejudice and fashion, cowardice and avarice. His lecture was favorably received and frequently applauded.

NEW LYCEUM.—The lecture on Tuesday evening, at the Temple, was by that popular lecturer, Rev. Henry Giles, on the Genius of Shakspeare.

The character of his genius, and its hold on the popular mind, were displayed by the lecturer, in Shakspeare's Humor, Pathos, Passion and Thought. The lecturer's definitions and analysis of passion were striking and beautiful. He gave as a reason for not considering Imagination in Shakspeare as a fifth attribute, distinct like the four above mentioned, that his imagination transfused itself through all the rest, and was at once their central fire and their circumambient lustre.

The lecture was closed by a brief dissertation on Woman, at once apologetic for not noticing Shakspeare's female characters in the previous part of the lecture, and honorably and finely tributary to true female character.

The next lecture is to be by Rev. H. W. Beecher; time not fixed.

A COLD LODGING.—A man in this city, last Sunday night had been drinking spirits with two boon companions, and all three of them had found themselves vastly wiser in their own conceit than those who abstain from such luxuries. One of them, Solomon by name, was the wisest of the trio if it is wise to drink, for he drank the deepest and was considerably drunker than the others. At 9 o'clock or thereabouts, it was proposed by a fellow boarder of Solomon's to go home, but Solomon would not go to his boarding house, preferring to walk a mile and stay with Bob. When they got about half way, Solomon had a second thought, though not exactly a sober one: he would go no further. Bob left him and went ahead, getting home after much toil and some falls.

Solomon's travels after this were lonely and dark, and rather cold, with the thermometer somewhere between twelve and twenty below zero. He has no accurate knowledge of his transactions during the night, but in the morning, about 5 o'clock, he was found on the steps or piazza of a house, chilled all but to death, with his hands and feet badly frozen.

He has barely escaped death; and having medical aid and good nursing, he will probably recover after a month or two of great suffering.

Who would not drink? What young man will be so weak as to let it be known that he abstains on principle, from beverages so precious and useful?

YOUNG AMERICA.—On Tuesday afternoon Messrs. Kimball and Hoyt's School, (not the building, but the boys,) to the number of thirty or forty, rode out together with their teachers, in a long string of sleighs,—cheering merrily as they passed our windows.

FROZEN TO DEATH.—The Concord Capital Reporter says that on Sunday Morning, (Jan. 29,) a man named Lorenzo Butterfield, aged about 35 years, was found dead in a shed attached to the house of Mr. Simpson, at the lower part of the city. It is probable that he froze to death in a state of intoxication. A flask was found beside him containing about a glass of rum: and from marks upon the snow, it is evident that he had fallen several times before reaching Mr. Simpson's His home was about two miles further on, and he probably turned into this shed for shelter.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW, for November, (Leonard Scott & Co.'s American Reprint,) well sustains the high reputation which this Quarterly established at its very commencement. The contents are: 1, Life and Times of Madam de Stael; 2, Protestantism in Italy; 3, American Novels; 4, John DeWycliffe, D. D.; 5, Language and Literature of Modern Greece; 6, Candle Making and Christianity; 7, Domestic Service—Nelly Armstrong; 8, Weld's History of the Royal Society; 9, The Religious and Political Relations of Russia. This is the first number of a new volume, and offers a favorable opportunity to subscribe,

THE LONDON QUARTERLY for October, 1853, contains: 1, the Institute of France; 2, the Murder of Thomas a Becket; 3; Louis 17, the Dauphin in the Temple; 4, the Holy Places; 5, Diary of Cassanbon; 6, Electro Biology, Mesmerism and Table-Turning; 7, the Life of Haydon.

TERMS.—For any one of the Reviews $3 per annum; for two, $5; for three, $7; for all four, $8. For Blackwood $3; for do. and three Reviews, $9; for do. and four Reviews, $10—invariably in advance.

PREPAID POSTAGE.—The project for changing the rates of postage, reported from the Committee of the House of Representatives, fixes the rates of postage at three cents per half ounce for the distance of three thousand miles, and at six cents for any distance above that up to six thousand, and that all postage shall be prepaid. There can be no doubt that the prepayment provision would save much pecuniary loss and much labor to the post office department. The Washington Star states that about 900 bushels of dead letters are received at the post office department each quarter, three fourths of which are of course unpaid. As a class, the editors and publishers of newspapers would be greatly benefitted by the proposed change in the law. —Boston Journal.

There is no doubt whatever, that the universal prepayment of postage is the true system, and if once established, it would be almost universally popular.

THE STORMS IN GREAT BRITAIN.—The terrible and destructive storms which were experienced on our coast, and throughout the interior of New England during the last week in December, were also felt on the other side of the Atlantic. The English papers teem with accounts of the discomforts, the perils, the deaths, and fatal shipwrecks, consequent on the unusual cold and tempestuous weather. As in New England, weddings were postponed—railroads were blocked up with snow—preachers and lecturers disappointed their audiences—men and families were frozen, and the wrecks of fishing vessels, colliers, coasters, and other vessels on the coast of England, Scotland and Ireland, and loss of life, have seldom been equalled. On the East coast of England, the gales were particularly severe. Sixty vessels were driven ashore in the neighborhood of Hartlepool and Tees, and the wrecks of other vessels are strewn along the coast. Some of the details given of shipwrecks are intensely thrilling.—Boston Journal.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—The N. Y. Express says that a gentleman in New York recently had his premises entered twice by thieves, and various articles stolen. With the intention of giving them a warm reception if they should come again, he arranged matters in such a way that upon opening a gate, through which they were obliged to pass, a heavy weight would fall and probably crush them. At eleven o'clock, after all his family had retired to bed, as he thought, his eldest daughter, who had left home in the early part of the evening, and was not expected to return that night, did return, and as she raised the latch the suspended trap, two hundred pounds in weight, came down with crushing force. Fortunately, the young lady made an involuntary step backwards, just in time to save herself, the weight falling at her feet. Her father, hearing the noise, seized a shot gun, and rushed down into the yard, when, what was his surprise to find that he had imperilled the life of his own daughter.

Gilbert's Polypodium.—The following note from Rev. Mr. Bryant, pastor of the Pleasant street Church in this city, is one of the many gratifying evidences received by the inventor and proprietor of this invaluable medicine, in favor of its efficacy:

MR. GILBERT, SIR:—For several years I have been seriously afflicted with chronic Bronchitis. During this time, I have suffered much from cough, weakness of the vocal organs and debility. For some three months I have been making use of the extract of Polypodium prepared by yourself. I have found the disease gradually yielding to this remedy. My health has gradually improved, and my system seems to be gaining its former healthy tone. I feel that I can conscientiously, earnestly recommend it to all who are afflicted in a similar manner. Yours truly, CHARLES BRYANT.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ASIA.

Brilliant Victories of the Turks!

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The royal mail steamship Asia, Capt. Lott, from Liverpool Saturday, the 14th, arrived at this port about noon.

The allied fleets to the 3d inst. could not enter the Black Sea, owing to storms, but on the 3d inst. they all proceeded into the Black Sea, except six ships left at Bercos Bay to guard the Bosphorus.

The Czar is not supposed to view the entry of the fleet as a declaration of war, but has ordered all his own fleet to return to Sebastopol.

On January 4th the Turks gained a brilliant success on the Danube, having stormed and captured the Russian entrenched camp at Citale, near Kalafat, and put 2500 of the enemy to the sword.

Also attacked a body of 18,000 Russians, sent to relieve Catale, and after a sharp encounter, compelled them to retreat.

The Russians are thus driven back from the position by which they hoped to cross the Danube. The Turkish force in battle was 15,000 men and fifteen guns.

It is admitted that Omar Pacha has brilliantly out-manœuvered the Russian commander. Other advantages on the Danube were formally notified by the Divan on the first instant, to the Ambassadors of the Four powers. Details are not given, but are supposed to be the storming and capture of Karakai, with several skirmishes of less moment.

In Asia, the defeat of the Turks, under the weak generalship of Abdi Pasha, is confirmed, but General Guyon has gone to the army with full powers, and the spirit of the Turks has revived now that the allied fleets are in the Black Sea, with reinforcements which can be sent into Asia with safety.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29th.

STEAMER BURNT AND SIXTY LIVES LOST.—The steamer Georgia, from Montgomery, Ala., caught fire on Saturday night, and was totally destroyed, with most of the cargo, consisting upwards of 1000 bales of cotton. Loss of property over $80,000.

Second Despatch.—It is estimated that sixty persons were drowned or burned on the Georgia. All the baggage and money were lost. The boat was valued at $28,000.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.—Hartford, Jan. 30.—About one half of the buildings of the Hayward rubber mills, in Colchester Conn., about 20 miles east of this place, were destroyed by fire Saturday night. It was discovered about 12 o'clock, and evidently commenced in the grinding mill. The buildings destroyed contained all the machinery for preparing the rubber, the engine room, cutting room, &c. A large new building, all ready for the reception of new machinery, and the business office, was also burnt. George Stark, one of the superintendents, was burned to death. His body was found near where his desk stood, and it is supposed that he went in to save his papers, and became insensible by suffocation. About 500 hands will be thrown out of employment. It was a large establishment and the loss must be heavy, but we have heard no estimate of the amount or of the insurance.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The great Telegraph Case of O'Rielly and Morse has been decided in the United States Supreme Court. The Court held that Morse was the first inventor of what he lawfully patented, and that O'Rielly's Columbian instrument was an infringement. Also, that Morse in his eighth claim patented more than he discovered or invented, and therefore that the patent is invalid. This goes to make valid the House, Bain and other patents, and Morse's pretences that he had patented and secured to himself the whole art of telegraphing, falls to the ground. He is confined to the mode described in his specifications, and must hereafter drop his eighth claim to preserve even his patent. Thus a great principle has been established in the patent law.

Harrisburg, Jan. 30.—ERIE NUISANCE.—Governor Bigler has left for Erie. He has invited General Parviance and W. F. Packer to act as superintendents of the Franklin road, and continue the travel until the further action of the Legislature.

M. M. and F. T. White, of the firm of White, Wells & Co., wholesale grocers, Cincinnati, recently liberated eleven slaves.—These gentlemen inherited them, with an estate, on the eastern coast of North Carolina; and, though they offered $10,000 in cash for them, they magnanimously determined to give them their liberty.

Lewis Giffard of Dartmouth, M., was found dead about 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, between his house and his blacksmith shop. It is supposed that he slipped upon the ice in the pathway and fell, mortally injuring himself internally.

Mr. Isaac Davis, of Roxbury, N. H., was disabled on Monday last, while alone in the woods, by a falling tree, and lay five hours in the cold, at the end of which time he was found. It was several days before he could tell how the accident happened.

The Mormons possess a large establishment at the Salt Lake city, for the manufacture of beet sugar—or rather of beet molasses, and turned out large quantities of the latter article during the last fall.

O. K. Farwell, of Plymouth, Vt., married a girl of seventeen on a short acquaintance, and because she afterwards refused to live with him blew out his brains.

A WORD OR TWO ABOUT BED COVERING.—People are often 'short' in that golden product called common sense—and in relation to nothing more than bed-covering. What one sleeps under has a vital connection with the health; and many a day is made miserable just as the sleep of the preceding night has been beneath proper or improper clothing. A popular writer has the following:—

"Three-fourths of the bed-covering of our people consist of what are miscalled 'comfortables,' viz: two calico cloths, with glazed cotton wadding laid between and quilted in.

"The perfection of dress, for day or night, where warmth is the purpose, is that which confines around the body sufficient of its own warmth, while it allows escape to the rest. Where the body is allowed to bathe protractedly in its own vapor, we must expect an unhealthy action upon the skin. Where there is too little ventilating escape, what is called insensible perspiration is checked, and something analagous to fever supervenes. Foul tongue in taste, and lack of morning appetite, betrays the error. In all cases the temper suffers, and 'my dear, this is execrable coffee,' is probably the morning salutation.

"How much is the rosy health of poor children due to the air leaking bed rooms of their parents—and what a generator of pale faces is a close chamber!

"To be healthy and happy, provide your bed with the lightest and most porous blankets. The finer the better. The cheapest in price are the dearest in health. 'Comfortables' are uncomfortable and unhealthy. Cotton, if it could be made equally porous and keep so, we should prefer to wool. The same for daily underclothes. But more than all else, let your chamber be well ventilated. Knock in a hole somewhere to give your escaping breath exit, and another to give fresh air to your lungs in place of what they have expired. So shall you have pleasant dreams at night, and in the morning, cheerful rising, sweet breath, and a good appetite. These blessings combined, will secure to healthful parents a household of bright rosy checked memorials of rich and fruitful affection."

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded: all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It was English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,

Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.

References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 23 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am acquainted with.

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is in great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.

"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills,
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved succesful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621wly

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($60 00.) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

THE SOULE DUEL.

The elder Mr. Soule, our minister to Spain, was known to be a sort of mad-cap before he went out thither; and so when some strange stories came back about duels being fought by himself and son, (a chip of the old block,) the public believed them all without much hesitation. It turns out, now, however, that they are not more than half true. We can notice but a part of the errors.

The Marquis of Turgot, the French Ambassador, wounded by M. Soule in his duel with him, has been made a grand officer of the Legion of Honor.

It was reported that the decoration was conferred as an approval of his conduct in the Soule affair, but the correspondent of the London Morning Post says that Napoleon reprimanded Turgot for accepting the duel, and that the decoration—which was bestowed as a testimonial of his diligence in the international copyright treaty—was withheld from him fifteen days as a warning not to fight with American Ministers in future.

Mr. Soule's son has published an account of his duel, in a letter to the Bayonne paper, which contained what he considers an unfair account of the circumstances of his duel with the Duke of Alba. He says, among other things:

The dress of my mother had nothing at all to do with the insult which was thrown upon her. Her toilette which consisted of a dress velvet, from the hands of Mdlle. Palmyre, was that of a woman of taste and of good society, who knows how to unite that regard which the exigencies of the world command, with the respect which a lady owes to herself.

Then as to the fight itself, he says:

You give me twenty three years of age. I am hardly twenty two; but you take care not to mention that the Duke of Alba is thirty six, that he had many years of instruction with the sword, and that he had twenty three days to exercise himself after having received my challenge, which he declined by explanations ample and satisfactory, before sending me his, which I accepted without hesitation and at the instant.

If we understand this paragraph, it means that Young Soule resented the insult offered to his mother by challenging the ill-mannered Duke, who declined this challenge, (which was for something,) by making an ample and satisfactory apology. Well; to men of common sense, who had no artificial sense of honor, this would seem to be the end of the matter.

But no! the Duke now, like a fool, sends back a challenge, for nothing in the world, that we can see, inviting young Soule to fight, which he accepted, as he says, on the instant. Of this gratuitous battle, we copy the whole bulletin, drawn up by the seconds, and therefore presumed to be authentic.

"The undersigned seconds and witnesses of the enounter which took place on the afternoon of Wednesday, 14th instant, between His Excellency the Duke of Alba and M. Nelvil Soule, do hereby declare that the same commenced at twenty minutes before four of that afternoon, and was suspended at ten minutes before four, and being renewed five minutes later, was again suspended, past four o'clock. The undersigned, having perceived that the fatigue of both the combatants proceeded from the bad state of the ground, and still more from the great weight of the Spanish swords with which they fought, changed these for other lighter ones, with which the combat, being again renewed at four o'clock and ten minutes, was continued until the undersigned thought themselves obliged to give a new rest to combatants, which was repeated three times more, and for the space of five minutes each. As in the last but one of the pauses there had been an occasion in which the combatants drew near and addressed each other courteous words, the seconds believed that the time had arrived to see if any means could be found to put an end to the duel with honor to both parties, taking advantage of that faverable incident, and although that could not be done there, in the following pause insisting in that idea, they succeeded in procuring upon the ground itself a reconciliation frank, loyal and without conditions, equally honorable to both antagonists.

In consequence of this the undersigned agreed immediately to declare definitely terminated the conbat, annulling completely its causes, and destroying all the writings which had passed between the combatants during the whole course of the affair."

If this be not sublimely ridiculous in itself, no painting of ours could make it appear so. That such hotspurs as the Soules must challenge the Duke who insulted the lady, or be disgraced in the eyes of duellists, we can easily understand; and can preserve our gravity while we think that somebody might have been killed.

But of the actual duel, where no point of honor, nor any other point that we can see, was involved, we can only think with a smile, and speak of as the smallest kind of boy's play? The seconds were wise men to burn all the documents; for they must have been extremely silly.

We cannot see why the challenge should have been given, or if given, why accepted. And the finale is worthy of the performance

"equally honorable to both antagonists." Exactly equal, no doubt, and very honorable, to put any decent ending to so silly a farce.

It is to be hoped, for the credit of the nation, that neither congress nor the president will ever notice the affair. And it is also to be noted, that conformity to court fashions in dress or form, cannot change foreign ministers into gentlemen, nor give them common sense, unless their education and previous endowments have given them these needful qualifications beforehand.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, FEB. 2, 1854.

GEORGE AND BARTON.

Quite an interesting, though not very important dispute, is going on in the Concord Patriot and the Reporter, between Col. George and Col. Barton, relative to offices sought by or offered to the latter.

Col. George says:

"The only 'plan' for 'crushing out' the paper of which I have ever heard, came from Col. Barton himself, soon after the inauguration of General Pierce. Col. B. was then an applicant for the office of Secretary of Minnesota Territory. One of the main reasons urged for his appointment was that thereby his paper would be stopped, and the democracy saved the mischief which might result from its continuance."

Mr. Barton replies:

"Who urged such an argument? Certainly we never did."

Col. George continues:

"Col. Barton was afterwards a candidate for the office of Naval Storekeeper at Portsmouth, and upon the appointment of Hon. John R. Reding to that office, desired an appointment as Inspector at Portsmouth, under Col. Clement. His personal request for me to see Col. Clement about his appointment, his expressed desire to stop his paper provided he could obtain the office and sell his printing materials for $1200, my offer to contribute any reasonable amount towards raising a sum to save Col. B. from loss—the offer of the office of Inspector from Col. Clement—Col. Barton's written acceptance of the same—his subsequent change of mind and the reasons which induced it, and the course he has since pursued, are well known and remembered, both by him and by me."

To this, Col. Barton answers:

"Now, every thing essential in this statement is purely false. We never sought the place of Inspector at Portsmouth; we never solicited Col. George to speak to Collector Clement in our behalf. The whole matter embraced in the above sentence can be answered in few words. We did desire the appointment of Secretary of Minnesota Territory, and the friend who made the request, for we never in person or by letter asked Gen. Pierce for any thing, assured us that the place had been promised us, and that he "had no doubt" that we should receive the appointment. A week afterwards, when the appointment of another gentleman to that office had been announced, we received a letter from Mr. Atherton, expressing the President's regret that he could not give us the Secretaryship of Minnesota, at the same time saying that perhaps some other place could be given us that might be as acceptable. We immediately answered Mr. Atherton's letter, saying that if the office of Naval Storekeeper at Portsmouth had not been disposed of, we should like that. Very soon after we received a letter from Col. Hibbard, requesting us to meet him at Haverhill, where he was attending Court. Upon the receipt of a second letter from him, we went to Haverhill, where Col. Hibbard made us the offer, as we then understood and still believe, as coming from the President himself, of either an Inspectorship at Portsmouth, and which was represented to be worth $1500 a year, or the Marshalship of New Hampshire, which we had previously held under Mr. Polk, and which we knew to be worth from $300 to $400 a year; but the offer was accompanied with the condition that the State Capital Reporter must be discontinued! It could not be disposed of to any one to be continued as a democratic paper. As we subsequently learned, it might be sold out to the whigs, to the abolitionists, to any other party, but it was a sine qua non that it must be stopped as a democratic paper. We agreed to consider the matter, and inform Col. Hibbard the result of our conclusions. In two days after we wrote Col. Hibbard, absolutely declining either office with the conditions attached, and for the simple reason that we had $2000 invested in the Reporter, which must be sacrificed every cent of it; for detached from the Reporter, as a democratic paper, the materials could not be sold for any thing.

We do not pretend to judge between the contending parties; we merely present what seem to us the prominent points in each statement; that our readers may get some idea of the quarrel. It cannot be perfectly understood without more room than we can give it.

THE GORDIAN KNOT, UNTIED.—Despatches from Maine, of Jan. 31, state that all the Senatorial vacancies being reported, the Legislature, in Convention, filled all vacancies in the Senate, as follows:—

Second District, two Wild Cats; 3d, two Whigs and one Wild Cat; 4th, one Morrill Democrat and two Whigs; 5th, two Morrill Democrats and one Whig; 6th, two Whigs; 11th, two Whigs; 13th, two Morrill Democrats. The Senate consists of 16 Whigs, 10 Wild Cats, 5 Morrill Democrats. The Coalition majority in the House is about 20, in the Senate it is 11.

PERHAM'S GIFTS.—The Boston Times of Wednesday morning says:

The report that Perham's Gift enterprise had failed, is false. The tickets still command the usual price, and are nearly all disposed of. The gifts will probably be distributed this week.

THE NEBRASKA BILL.

We have already published some remarks by Senator Douglas, on his Nebraska Bill.—We now publish some extracts from the speeches of Messrs. Sumner and Chase in reply:—they were delivered on Monday.

Mr. Chase, of Ohio, closed his speech as follows:

He truly assured the Senator from Illinois, that in writing the address the Senator had not for one moment occupied his mind. The Senator was alluded to in the postscript, but only as the author of the bill. The Senator exaggerated his own importance—had considered himself the whole committee, and took upon himself all that was said of the measure. He knew the gigantic stature of the Senator's importance. He knew the immense power and influence the Senator exerted over the country. He knew the Senator was surrounded here by a large and powerful party, and he knew the disadvantage under which he labored, in a controversy provoked by the Senator. He knew the odds against him. He and the Senator from Massachusetts stood alone. They were in a small minority.—They were but two in a body of sixty-two.—He thanked the Senator for having brought this address so prominently forward. It would now reach and be read by thousands who would not have seen it. The people will read it, and they will decide upon it. He denounced this bill, because it took from the people of the territory the boon which has been so long secured to them by a solemn compact. He defined the language and the terms used by the address as appropriate to the proposition which would introduce slavery into territory which had been declared to be forever free. He denied that the Compromise of 1850 was intended to repeal the Compromise of 1820. He thought that upon examination, the authority of Messrs. Webster and Clay, which he, Mr. Douglas, had asserted as sustaining him, would be found wholly different. Having then explained the groundlessness of the charge made against him by the Senator, he would defer till to-morrow his arguments on the merits of the bill.

Mr. Sumner, of Massachusetts, said:

Before the Senate adjourns I crave a single moment. As one of the signers of the address referred to by the Senator from Illinois, I saw only the enormous proposition and nothing of the Senator. The language used is strong, but it is not stronger than the exigency required. Here is a measure which reverses the time-honored policy of our fathers in the restriction of slavery, which sets aside the Missouri Compromise, a solemn compact, by which all the territory ceded by France under the name of Louisiana, was forever consecrated to freedom, and which violates also the alleged compromise of 1850, and this is to open an immense territory to the ingress of slavery. Such a measure cannot be regarded without emotions too strong for speech. It cannot be justly described in common language. It is a soulless, eyeless monster, horrid, unshaped and vast—fitly pictured in the verse of the poet—"Monstrum horrendum informe ingens cui lumen ademptum,"—and this monster is now let loose upon the country. Allow me one other word of explanation. It is true that I desired that the consideration of this measure should not be pressed at once with indecent haste, as was proposed, even before the Senate could read the bill in which it was embodied. The people have a right to be heard on this monstrous scheme; and there is no apology for this driving galloping speed which shall anticipate their voice, and its consequences must despoil them of their right.

The Senate then adjourned.

BURNING IN EFFIGY.—The Boston Times states that Bedini, the Pope's Nuncio, has arrived in Boston; and that the German Catholics of that city held a meeting to give him an indignant reception. Accordingly on Tuesday night, at about half-past eleven o'clock, the Democratic Europeans assembled on the Common to the number of about one thousand, and burned the Pope's Nuncio in effigy. After making all suitable demonstrations about consuming the man of straw, three groans were given, and the crowd adjourned to the front of the Bishop's house in Franklin street, singing, whistling, blowing horns, shouting, &c. Upon their arrival in front of Bishop Fitzpatrick's house, they commenced groaning, and called for "the Butcher Bedini," and some trifling missiles were thrown against the windows. Three groans were then given for the Pope's Nuncio, and then three cheers for "the Turkish victory." Cries of "down with Bedini" filled the air, followed by groans, and cheers for the Turks. Mazzini and Kossuth were severally cheered, and the crowd gradually moved away toward the South end.

CURIOUS ATTACK UPON A SHERIFF.—A colored woman, who has been serving in a family at Buffalo, absconded last week with $100, stolen money. An officer followed her to Hornellsville—perhaps Hornetsville—where she declared herself to be a fugitive slave, and that the charge of robbery was false. The officer was attacked by a mob, who would not allow him time to send to Buffalo to prove the quality of his mission, was arrested for assault and battery, and the thief was permitted to run. This is the best abolition joke of the season.—Boston Courier.

Exactly: and no such joke would be possible, but for the existence of most unrighteous laws. Almost every fugitive slave yet secured, has been arrested on some false pretence of the officers; and now a black criminal gets clear from an officer on the false pretence of being a fugitive slave. "How this world is given to lying."

Felix Rachel, the brother of Mdlle. Rachel, the French tragedian, is expected in the United States shortly, to make arrangements for a professional tour in the United States of his sister.

PORTSMOUTH SHIPS.

It is a very well known fact, that Portsmouth built ships enjoy a high reputation in all the great freighting ports; and as we have been building ships here a great many years, it is rather late in the day now for any body to gainsay the justness of that reputation, or to show that the credit belongs elsewhere. We repeat our declaration, that we largely value the mechanical skill or business talent of the ship builders in Kittery, Maine, and reassert that their interests and ours are one and indivisible. But in connexion with our previous remarks on Portsmouth and Kittery ships, we will state one fact which we have just learned on good authority, viz. that the carpenters on the Maine side of Portsmouth harbor, when describing their ships at the Custom House, certify that they were built in Portsmouth, N. H.

All the ships that are built on the Piscataqua are considered as Portsmouth built ships; and we cannot see who can be injured by such a consideration.

NEW ENGINES.—The two new engines No. 1 and 6, were out on Tuesday afternoon, and were tried on Market Square, performing very well. The company of No. 6 were out in a neat uniform, accompanied by a drum and fife.

THE POPE'S NUNCIO.

Last Monday was an exciting time in the Senate at Washington. There was a debate on the subject of the recent riot at Cincinnati, and Archbishop Bedini, the alleged cause of it, sat looking on in the gallery. The disputants were some of our ablest men and promising presidential candidates—to wit, Messrs. Cass, Mason, Douglas, Butler, Dawson, Everett and others. And stranger still, there was a remarkable unanimity among these statesmen of opposite sections—so much so that it is really a matter of doubt as to which of them is best entitled to the Catholic vote of this country.

They all seemed to be equally struck with a holy horror of riots in general, and with a blessed ignorance of this in particular. Some of them, too, spoke handsomely of the distinguished visitor—but here Mr. Everett bore off the palm decidedly; for he had met him in "many of the best private circles of society in Massachusetts." But the whole thing was well managed.

Who is this Bedini, the Pope's Nuncio?—He is an Italian Archbishop. In 1848 and '49, during a portion of the patriotic events in Italy, he was governor of Bologna. He contributed towards quelling the republican agitations in a way that has never been forgotten by the European exiles among us who were conversant with the facts. However, he lost not his hold on the affections of Pius IX.;—who now sends him to this country on matters connected with the Catholic Church. While in the vicinity of Cincinnati, the stories of his conduct as Governor of Bologna—how he murdered fifty young men whose names were given, how he had ordered republican women to be caned, and how he had tortured and shot in cold blood Ugo Bassi, one of the noblest and most innocent of the patriots—stories such as these, we say, were printed by the German exiles. They were not denied by Bedini. Accordingly the exiles met—as they had a right to do—for the purpose of expressing their opinion of such character by burning him in effigy. They were ruthlessly fired upon by the police, for which the whole corps is now on trial before the courts. This is the riot, upon which the presidential aspirants have ventilated their stock of patriotic terms.

We do not mean to applaud the conduct of these Germans at Cincinnati—but we do say that, so far as we have found the facts they have done nothing to draw out these Senatorial regulators of public opinion, who have sat week after week and seen public tranquillity at Erie violated, property destroyed by mobs, the mails stopped, the laws outraged, the courts derided and their officers imprisoned—who have seen all this without calling for information or indulging in a single sentence deprecatory of public riots.—Portland Advertiser.

The New Haven Palladium says that the house of Rev. Dr. Cox, at Manhasset, L. I., was burglariously entered on Friday night of last week, by some persons, who examined all the drawers, but strange to say, left all the silver untouched. They ate up the pies, roamed over the house, and took off two old overcoats—leaving the new ones—a few towels and a pair of spectacles. Mrs. Cox had received a present of a dozen elegant silver fruit knives, on Christmas, which were on the piano. The buglars opened the case to see them, but let them remain.

Dickens says, in his "Child's History of England," that, "upon the whole, it is not so bad a thing to be a commoner," considering that the families of three of the proudest dukes in England originated with Moll Davis, Nell Gwin and Mrs. Palmer, women whose reputation was the contrary of "doubtful."

Gilbert's Polypodium.—The following note from Rev. Mr. Bryant, pastor of the Pleasant street Church in this city, is one of the many gratifying evidences received by the inventor and proprietor of this invaluable medicine, in favor of its efficacy:

MR. GILBERT, Sir:—For several years I have been seriously afflicted with Chronic Bronchitis. During this time, I have suffered much from cough, weakness of the vocal organs and debility. For some three months I have been making use of the extract of Polypodium prepared by yourself. I have found the disease gradually yielding to this remedy. My health has gradually improved, and my system seems to be gaining its former healthy tone. I feel that I can conscientiously, earnestly recommend it to all who are afflicted in a similar manner. Yours truly, CHARLES BRYANT.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.

SENATE.—Mr. Foot, of Vermont, introduced a bill to incorporate the National Pacific Railroad. Referred.

Mr. Clayton called for the correspondence relative to the Sandwich Islands.

The Nebraska bill coming up in the Senate, Mr. Chase asked for a postponement in order to allow him time to examine more thoroughly into certain historical facts brought forward by Mr. Douglas yesterday.

An extended discussion ensued when, on motion of Mr. Foot, the bill was postponed until Friday.

A bill was passed granting to Wisconsin alternate sections of land for the construction of railroads.

After an executive session, adjourned.

HOUSE.—This morning Mr. Richards, from the Committee on Territories, reported the bill for organizing Nebraska and Kansas.

Mr. English stated his objections to the Nebraska bill, the chief of which related to the delicate question of slavery. Though a native of a free State he was willing that all the States of the confederacy should have slavery or not, as they pleased, and he desired to extend the same privilege to the territories, giving them the right to decide through the Territorial Legislatures. He gave notice of an amendment to that effect.

A confused discussion ensued on a motion to refer the bill to the Committee of the Whole, when

Mr. Dean, of New York, (soft) gave notice of an amendment, as follows:

Add to 14th section, Provided, that nothing in this bill contained shall be construed to legalise or establish slavery or involuntary servitude within the Territories, or either of them. The confusion was so great the Speaker, several times, suspended all business until quiet was restored.

The bill was finally referred to the Committee of the Whole. The report of the minority offered by Mr. English was ordered to be printed; only one member voting nay.

A bill was passed ceding to Illinois that part of the Cumberland road lying within said State.

Mr. Olds reported a bill to secure the transmission of the United States mails, having reference to the Erie difficulties. After a discussion it was referred to the Committee of the Whole. The House then went into committee on the Deficiency bill.

ERIE, Jan. 31.—Last evening the repairs on the railroad were completed. This morning the Company commenced moving a platform for the purpose of making a connection of the two roads. A large number of persons being assembled along the line, the rioters immediately raised a yell of defiance, as a signal, fell to work and tore up the track on Sassafras and Chestnut streets. The police took possession of the ground as speedily(?) as possible, but most being in favor of the mob they did not do so until they tore up two squares of the road.

Until exterior aid is called in, the rioters must triumph.

THE ALLEGED DEATH FROM WHIPPING.—Of the Death of Malachi Wilson of Danvers, alleged to have resulted from a severe whipping by a private school master at South Windham, Conn., the Hartford Times says: "He was whipped for uttering a falsehood.—The stick used was within three-fourths of an inch in diameter at the largest end—a stout rod, evidently. The boy's jacket was cut, and one of his companions testified that he saw a mark on his arm shortly after the whipping, but it did not appear from the evidence that his back was mangled, as had been stated. But testimony was given that the boy did not show any ill effects from the whipping, but that about a week subsequent to it, he was skating on the ice, when he fell, and remarked that he felt as if something had given way here, placing his hand upon his chest.—Shortly after he commenced spitting blood and died." The Willimantic Medium thinks the boy died from internal bleeding, disconnected entirely from the whipping.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT—NARROW ESCAPE.—The first outward freight train on the Old Colony Railroad, on Friday, met with an accident, which, singular to say, ended without loss of life. An axletree of one of the middle cars broke, as the train passed Neponset bridge, letting the longest portion of the broken axletree down upon the sleepers. In this manner the train proceeded to North Braintree, a distance of ten miles, before the accident was discovered. The iron fragment made tearing work in its course. At the Quincy depot it cut in twain a two inch plank. The car was not thrown off the track, nor was any person injured. Two cars were considerably smashed up.—Boston Times.

FIRE IN QUEBEC—THE PARLIAMENT HOUSE DESTROYED.—Quebec, Feb. 1.—The Parliament House with the buildings attached were entirely destroyed about two o'clock this morning. The fire was not discovered until some time after it had broken out, notwithstanding a sentinal was on duty at the spot. When it was observed it had obtained too great a power to be subdued. The fire originated in the south wing, from the furnace, it is believed. Part of the valuable library was saved, but the Historical Society's library and apparatus were almost entirely destroyed. The insurance on the building is £30,000; and on the Provincial Library £6000. It is not known which insurance office is the heaviest loser.

CONDEMNATION OF A SLAVE VESSEL.—New York, Jan. 1.—Schooner N. H. Gambrell, recently of Baltimore, sent here from the Coast of Africa, charged with being engaged in the slave trade, was yesterday condemned in the United States Court, and ordered to be sold.

SULLIVAN THE PRIZE FIGHTER.—Yankee Sullivan, the Boston Four Corners prize fighter, failed to appear for trial in Berkshire county on the day assigned. He sent word that he was sick and his case was continued. Sullivan will wool Berkshire county famously. He has laughed in his sleeve ever since he dodged out of jail—and took tea with the sheriff at his family table.

MORMONS.—The Journal of Commerce tells the following capital anecdote of Jo Smith, the Mormon. Some persons visited him during his troubles in Illinois, and the conversation turned upon self defence. He was asked what he thought of the words of scripture which required him who had been smitten on one cheek, to turn the other also. "A very remarkable passage," he answered, "spoken by Jesus himself, and strikingly illustrative of his thorough acquaintance with human nature. A man may strike you at first under a mistake, or without intending any harm; and you ought not to strike back immediately, but turn the other cheek and give him an opportunity to explain, or if he is in earnest, to repent the offence. However, you need not turn a third time, but if a man strikes you twice, then into him like a thousand of brick."

FISH STORY.—The Halifax Morning Chronicle says a most extraordinary fish was caught in the salmon net of Mr. Axel Hamilton, of Dundora, in the Donegal bay, last week. It is a beautiful creature; the head, shoulders and waist resemble a woman, the lower part that of a salmon. The eyes are beautiful, and its arms, when touched, become stiff, and the whole body appeared sensitive at the touch. Many persons considered it a young mermaid.

The Fejee mermaid at the Boston Museum was very beautiful when she was young.

Miss Martinau tells a story of an old woman who was urged to cross the river Forth in a ferry boat at the time that a storm was brewing. She hesitated. The boatman asked if she would not trust in Providence. "Na, na," said she, "I would not trust in Providence as long as there is a bridge at Stirling."

A bill has been introduced into the Legislature of Kentucky to prohibit the sale of slave children under the age of five years, separate from their mothers.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, &c.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV, late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc. which street, New York.

SAMUEL COOPER,
Late Chief Examiner in the United States Patent Office,
Procures Patents in this and Foreign Countries.
References.—The undersigned Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office; and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby Specifications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the Islands of that vicinity, where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precluding the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.
PROF. MOTT'S PILLS.
"He should be most honored who relieves the most distress."

When the head is racked with pains,
And dizziness creeps o'er the brain;
When sleep forsakes the aching eyes,
And health on fevered pinions flies,
When indigestion throws its shade
Like shadows where our graves are made,
Professor Mott's reviving Pills
Are just the cure for all such ills.

These Pills have long held a conspicuous place in the practice of medicine, for the cure of the many ills to which females are subject. They are composed of entirely vegetable ingredients, and are a Safe & sure remedy for Female Diseases occasioned by imprudence and exposure. In every instance these Pills have proved successful. The thousands of females who are subject to so much suffering can be permanently cured by the use of the above medicine.

Observe that each box has the fac simile of the proprietor, CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, upon it. The above Pills can be found at 45 Hanover street, and No 1 Cornhill, Boston.

N. B.—Persons residing out of the city can have them forwarded by mail (free) to any part of the country, by enclosing one dollar in a letter, directed CHAS. Y. ARNAULT, Boston, Mass. d621wly

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($00 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

J. E. HAM,

TAILOR & DRAPER.

HAS just received another lot of fashionable Pantaloon Goods, Velvet Vestings, &c. &c., which will be made to order as low as can be had at any other establishment in this city.

Particular attention is giving to cutting Pantaloons, which is indeed one of the most difficult garments in the department of dress, and has heretofore received too little attention. The success we have had in this branch of our business enables us to ENSURE ALL with an easy and becoming fit.

Gentlemen in want of any kind of Garment can be furnished at very short notice.

In the Coat Department, our customers have practical proof that we CANNOT BE BEAT.

Customers furnishing their own cloth will be attended to in the best possible manner.

☞ Wanted immediately 2 COAT MAKERS, to whom the highest prices will be paid.

Apply at No. 22 Market Street, up stairs.

The 'Lowell Coal & Gas Burner.'

IS now taking the lead as a Coal Burner, in all places where it has been introduced. It is so unlike all other Stoves, and so superior to them, that the whole truth would hardly be believed, except by those who have used them. One ton of coal burned in this Stove will generate as much heat as two tons consumed in any other Stove extant.

The subscriber having secured the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this in this place, respectfully invites all interested to an examination of it at his Ware House, 15 Daniel street, where it may be seen in operation day and night.

CELEBRATED STOVE
